Not Quite so Fast.

Looking at it in the light of what might have been the serious outcome of the accident that happened to the hook and ladder truck Saturday afternoon at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, the actual results were of a most fortunate character. Various reasons are offered as an excuse for the accident, but it is a fact that the incident was just such as many who have watched the response of the fire apparatus in the past have feared might occur some day with terrible effect to the city property, the drivers and firemen and lives and limbs of unfortunate persons who might be in the way.

Miraculously, however, the outcome of this accident did not involve serious loss or injuries to anyone concerned. Its possibilities, though, were such as to make one shudder at the thought of what might have happened had not the pole to the heavy truck struck where it did—against the iron pillar to the side of the entrance of the store into which the horses, truck and men were headed with a momentum that would have proved horribly ruinous had the pole swerved six inches from the autual point at which it was brought up with a compact sufficient to snap and splinter it like a reed.

To a large number of people who witnessed the accident the opinion seemed to prevail that the driver was to blame because he had attempted to make the sharp turn at the corner at a speed that a proper exercise of judgment and knowledge of the conditions would not permit. The fire department officials who have investigated the accident, however, say that this is not so. The driver says that one of the horses attached to the truck slipped just before reaching the corner, and that he was unable to get the horse on his feet and under control before the point was reached where the team had to be guided with careful precision in order to make the turn in safety.

The corner at Park avenue and Second street is one of the most dangerous in the city for the fire department. Both thoroughfares are comparatively narrow, and in the business hours the point is generally filled with carriages, bicycles and pedestrians. In the face of these conditions, it would seem as though good judgment would incline the drivers to approach the corner with the utmost care and at a reduced speed, so that the chance of such an accident as that of Saturday afternoon might be reduced to a minimum. Not only that—the drivers should also be prepared for miscalculations such as a horse slipping and losing his foothold. And the way to be prepared for that contingency is to be going at a speed that can be reduced quickly between the fire department headquarters and the corner. Such conduct may result in a loss of four or five seconds in getting to the scene of the fire, but it might a thousand times be twice that time than run the risk of another such accident as that of Saturday.

The safety and preservation of human life and limb takes precedence over any effort to respond to a fire in record-breaking time.

The Paterson Press says that Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, known in Washington as "the man who looks like McKinley," scored a good point on Senator Kean at a dinner to New Jersey delegates in Philadelphia given Tuesday night by Dr. Leslie D. Ward of Newark. Senator Kean has been looked upon as the man behind Frank Bergen's candidacy for the seat in the House now held by Mr. Fowler The Senator made a little speech in which he assured his fellow guests that he believed in continuing in office men who had rendered good service in the House of Representatives for years, because of the influence they can command by reason of their experience in the House. Mr. Kean concluded by declaring that he hoped for and expected the re-nomination of the New Jersey Congressman whose terms are nearing completion. Congressman Fowler, came next on the list of speakers, and said: "I most heartily indorse the views of the junior United States Senator from New Jersey, particularly that part that refers to the re-nomination of the Congressmen." The apt reply was greeted with cheers and laughter.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The Bound Brook Electric Light Company recently caught one of its customers using a large amount of electricity without paying for it. In fact he overdid the matter and was caught. Somehow or other this party found out that his meter had wheels inside which revolved and registered when the light was lighted. By boring a little hole in the side the meter and inserting a small wire, he got a cheap light, while his meter took a vacation. In fact the cheapness of the light gave the scheme away, and his little hole and wire were discovered. He has since settled with the company and has promised to pay for what he gets in the future.

FRESH FROM THE PLAINS.

He Knew He Had a Half and Was Bound to Make the Call.

When a young fellow is in love, and particularly when he is in the presence of the object of his affections, he can never do himself justice. He can talk more brilliantly to anyone else in the world. He suffers from mental inertia and never thinks until it is too late of the bright things he might have done, says the Detroit Free Press.

This one has the disadvantage of having spent the last several years on a ranch where the chances for culture, self-suppression and all that sort of thing, are but little better than with a semicivilized tribe. He came back here for a winter's vacation and, in the course of his continuous attentions, took her to church. To this man of out-door life the influences were somnolent, and she deftly recalled him several times just as he was dozing away to temporary oblivion.

At the passing of the contribution box he was alert with appreciation and confidence. He put up his finger to arrest the attention of the collector. He ran his hand into his pocket and looked startled. Then he explored his other pockets, becoming more agitated and redder as the search went on.

"By Jove! Mertie," he exclaimed, "I put in a half sure, just to make this call. Deuced queer!" and he kept on diving while a subdued titter from all sides accompanied his efforts.

"Say, old man, I'll mail it to you, and that's on the dead."

The man with the plate laughed cheerily, said it was all right, and moved on. He had worked back half a dozen pews and was still wrestling with his mirth.

Then he heard a clear whistle, looked back and there saw the youth from the ranch with his half-dollar high in the air and looking triumphant. It was all so freshly natural that the congregation were pleased and the rector sought an introduction.

Strawberry Bavarian Cream.

One quart of berries, half a cupful of cold water, half a box of gelatine, one and one-eighth cupfuls of sugar, one pint of cream. Soak the gelatine in the cold water for two hours, or until thoroughly dissolved. Mash the berries and press them through a sieve that is fine enough to keep back the seeds. Add the sugar to the juice and stir until it is dissolved and mix with the gelatine. When it begins to set, fold in carefully the cream that has been whipped stiff. Turn into a mould and stand on the ice until it is thoroughly set.—N. Y. Tribune.

Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 25.—Among the attractions which the Juniors advertise for their Fourth of July celebration is a balloon ascension, similar to the one which took place at Lincoln Decoration Day. They will also have all manner of races and numerous other attraction. Altogether it will be one of the largest celebrations that Dunellen has seen for a long time.

A young lady cyclist from Plainfield received a bad fall on North avenue Saturday evening, which was caused by her lamp falling off and getting caught in the front wheel. She was assisted to her feet by a companion. It was found that she was badly bruised, but she managed to remount her wheel and return home.

Schephlin's bowling greens were thronged with visitors all Saturday afternoon, most of them coming from New Brunswick. The greens were in perfect shape and a number of games were played.

Rev. Oscar Voorhees, of Three Bridges, a cousin of Governor Voorhees, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church church yesterday.

The team from Metuchen, which the Juniors expected to play Saturday, failed to put in an appearance, consequently there was no ball game.

Rev. John McMurray, of the Monroe Avenue church, Plainfield, will deliver the missionary address at the Methodist church next Sunday.

George Day auctioned off the remainder of the Bowyer goods Saturday. Only fair prices were realized.

The Misses Florence and Nellie Brown have left for an extended visit with relatives at Atlantic, Ga.

H. L. Terry and family, of Westfield, visited Mrs. Emily Apgar, of Front street, yesterday.

A little son arrived at the home of M. F. Wirtz, Thursday. Dr. Whitford is in attendance.

George Taylor and wife, of Montclair, are visiting the former's brother, N. H. Taylor.

Miss Violetta Staples will give a birthday party to a number of friends tomorrow.

Sportsmen were out in full force Saturday at the shoot of the Dunellen Gun Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dodge, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with friends in town.

L. T. Frazee has finished decorating the exterior of Garretson & Gray's office.

Charles Coriell, Jr., has returned from a visit with out of town friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Naylor visited friends in Bound Brook yesterday.

A special meeting of the Borough Council will he held this evening.

Maurice Barick and wife entertained friends from Newark yesterday.

Louis Vroom spent yesterday with friends at Metuchen.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, June 25.—Children's Day exercises were held in the First Baptist church last evening and a pleasing programme of songs and recitations was given by the children. An appropriate address was made by Rev. Frank Fletcher. The following children took part: Welcoming address, Herbert Casterline; "Suffer the Children," Maud Ruple; "Resolutions for a Child," George Coriell; "Ungarnered Sheaves," Bessie Tappen; "Tots Speech," Frank Coriell; "A Happy Day," Ethel Garretson; "A Little Girl's Advice," Carrie Smith; "Little Flo's Letter," Bertha Nelson; "I Would'nt," Willie Piddington; "Watch Your Words," Katie Krause; "A Busy Small Boy," Lester Nelson; "Our Dear Ones," Iva Dayton; "Opportunity," Eddie Johnson; "Little Roger's Prayer," Ethel Gaskill; "No Money," Lewis Conover; "God is Love," nine little girls and "Blessing Others" by five little girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson were taken entirely by surprise Saturday evening by about twenty friends from New York, Brooklyn and vicinity, who called upon them in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. The party met at the home of Mrs. Danz, and then proceeded to the house in a body, where a most delightful evening was passed in a social way. Refreshments were passed at 11 o'clock at the conclusion of which the guests left for home, wishing Mr and Mrs. Johnson many returns of the day, and some of the out of town guests were so taken with the beautiful scenery about New Market that they remained over yesterday in order to see more of it.

Christian Wenner died at his home Saturday morning after a brief illness at the age of seventy-one years. The funeral services will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. Interment will be at Samptown. He was a machinist by trade and was employed at Elizabethport.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 25—What came near being a fatal bicycle accident happened Saturday morning on the hill near the Fanwood station. Wm. Smith and another young man were racing on their way from the Fanwood station to the village. As they were coming down Kyte's hill at a fast rate of speed Herbert Douglass, who was riding behind Seeley's truck, turned out to pass the wagon and collided with Smith who was ahead. The collision threw Smith nearly twenty-five feet over his handle bars, and landed him upon the side of his head on the macadamized roadbed, injuring him quite badly about the head and body. Fortunately Douglass was uninjured. Smith's wheel was wrecked by the accident.

Very pleasant and interesting Children's Day exercises were held in the Baptist church yesterday morning. The Sunday-school rooms were prettily decorated. The interesting programme, consisting of recitations, responsive readings and special music, was thoroughly enjoyed. George E. Hall, of Plainfield, a former superintendent of the school, made the address of the day and was warmly received by his many friends in the school.

The Republican voters of the township will hold their primary to elect delegates to the Congressional convention, which meets in Elizabeth Thursday, in Excelsior Hall, this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. August Klemser, of Bartle avenue, have been entertaining Mrs. Klemser's sister and children, Mrs. Frederick Miller, of New York.

The class in stenography, which was organized in town last week, will meet for their first lesson this evening in the parlors of the Baptist church.

Dr. J. H. Parks led the monthly conquest meeting of the Baptist Young People's Association in the parlors of church last evening.

Horace Hand, of Plainfield, has been visiting at the home of his grandmother, Mrs Jacob V. Coles, of East Front street.

Mrs. John Robison and daughter, Miss Louise, have returned from a pleasant visit with relatives at Albany, N. Y.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, June 25.—The firing of firecrackers on the Westfield streets has become such a nuisance that the police have been ordered to stop the firing of all explosives in the business streets until July 4.

Colonel E. W. Hine was at the meeting of the Westfield Township Committee and informed the committee that his company was ready to build the street railway from Westfield to Mountainside, and that if the route over which the company has a franchise was not satisfactory to the committee or the people they would accept any practicable change suggested.

William Stitt has been appointed official dog catcher of Westfield and will receive fifty cents for each dog caught and killed. It will cost $2 to redeem a dog from the custody of the catcher.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 25.—The new houses on Third street are getting their finishing coat of paint and will soon be ready for occupancy.

Some from here attended communion service at Marconnier chapel yesterday.

Mr. Nielson, of New York, was the guest of Daniel Laing over Sunday.

RELIGION OF SOVEREIGNS.

Few Who Have Occupied the Thrones of Europe Have Been Pious.

Kings are rarely pious, though they are still more rarely unbelievers. There have been plenty of bad men upon European thrones, and the lives of few kings will bear study through an ethical microscope, but we can recall only one, King Frederick the Great of Prussia, who was a scoffing unbeliever, says the London Spectator. He even sneered at the British ambassador for saying that he would do something or other by "the help of God," and asked, with his nose in the air, whether the English counted God among their allies. "Yes, your majesty," was the crushing reply, "and the only ally who asks no subsidy from us." The temper displayed in Frederick's jest is, however, most unusual among sovereigns, and though when they win victories they are often accused of hypocrisy for publicly professing their belief that God rules all, and it is more probable, in spite of their usual conduct, that the profession has been sincere.

Many sinners believe, and sovereigns, who perceive so plainly the complexity of human affairs, and the powerlessness even of the greatest to control events, must feel more than any men the necessity for aid and guidance from some power higher than themselves. Who else is to give success to plans which are so large that foresight fails, and orders must constantly be given the future effect of which it is impossible to know? It is certain, at all events, that they all say so, and we see no reason for supposing that they are all liars, or are only going through a form. On the contrary, the loneliness of sovereigns, who all, however much advised, think that they govern, their consciousness of a separate position, and their belief that when all is said they must bear rule by some special permission, and therefore must have some peculiar relation to the Most High, all tend to make them at least strongly convinced theists.

Expensive Gun Tests.

Experts of the ordnance bureau of the war department say that the cost of firing the 12-inch guns of the coast defenses, which are the largest now in use, is approximately $600. A charge consists of about 300 pounds of powder, valued at $300, and about 800 or 900 pounds of shot, at an average cost of 30 cents a pound.—Indianapolis News.

The Man of It.

"Poor Lot!" exclaimed a lady in the art gallery as she paused in front of a painting representing the family leaving the doomed city. "I wonder what he thought when he beheld his wife transformed into a pillar of salt?"

"I suppose," replied her husband, "that he thought he would now have a chance to get a fresh one."—Chicago Evening News.

Oldenburg.

Oldenburg. Der Großherzog Peter von Oldenburg (Nikolaus Friedrich Peter), geboren am 8. Juli 1827, ist in seiner Sommerresidenz zu Rastede gestorben. Der Großherzog regierte seit 1853; er war vermählt mit der Prinzessin Elisabeth von Sachsen-Altenburg und hinterläßt zwei Söhne, den Erbgroßherzog Friedrich August, geboren 1852, und Herzog Georg Ludwig, geboren 1856.

Mecklenburg.

Schwerin. Die Ausführung des in unserer Stadt zu errichtenden Landesdenkmals für den Alt-Reichskanzler Fürsten Bismarck wurde dem Bildhauer Wandschneider in Charlottenburg übertragen. Von den beiden Entwürfen, welche der Künstler seiner Zeit im Großherzoglichen Museum hier ausgestellt hatte, faßte der eine den ersten Kanzler als Diplomaten auf, während der andere die Reckengestalt Bismarcks als kriegerischen Helden im Waffenrock mit Helm und Pallasch wiedergab. Dieser Entwurf ist zur Ausführung bestimmt worden.

Braunschweig. Anhalt. Lippe. Waldeck.

Oelsburg. Unter entsprechenden Feierlichkeiten erfolgte bei dem Kaliwerke Oelerse der erste Spatenstich zu dem Förderschacht. Letzterer muß eine Tiefe von circa 1000 Meter haben, ehe die Förderung beginnen kann. An seiner Fertigstellung wird Tag und Nacht gearbeitet. Etwa 150 Arbeiter sind bereits angenommen.

Dessau. Der frühere Direktor der anhaltischen Landesheil- und Pflegeanstalt für Geisteskranke, Sanitätsrath Dr. med. Moritz Fraenkel, beging sein 60jähriges Doktorjubiläum. Der alte Herr steht im 87. Lebensjahre.

Stadthagen. Die Getreidefirma M. Ascher hat ihre Zahlungen eingestellt. Der Inhaber der Firma ist verschwunden.

Wetterburg. Die Dienstmagd Bollwein wurde erdrosselt aufgefunden. Als der That verdächtig ist ihr Geliebter, der Kutscher Assauer, verhaftet worden.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Die Zweite Kammer bewilligte 50,000 Mark für Lungenheilstätten, ferner 20,000 Mark per Jahr und zwar zunächst auf drei Jahre, für die hiesige Künstlerkolonie, 11,600,000 Mark für die Erweiterung des Eisenbahnnetzes und 870,000 Mark für Vermehrung der Betriebsmittel in 1900 auf 1901.

Lampertheim. Anhier wurde unter großer Betheiligung der den hessischen Kriegern von 1870 auf 1871 wohlbekannte Johannes Günderoth zu Grabe getragen. Zwölf Mal machte derselbe zu jener Zeit, oftmals unter größter Lebensgefahr, die Fahrt durch Feindesland, um den Truppen der hessischen Division die Liebesgaben zu überbringen, die ihm anvertraut waren.

Mainz. Der von der Stadt berufene Sachverständigenausschuß, dem die Beurtheilung der auf das Ausschreiben eingelaufenen Pläne zum Bau eines neuen Stadttheils am kurfürstlichen Schloß oblag, hat seine Berathungen beendigt. Den ersten Preis, 3000 Mark, erhielt Pützer in Darmstadt, den zweiten, 2000 Mark, Sutter in Mainz, den dritten, 1000 Mark, empfingen Genzmer u. Euler in Wiesbaden.

Worms. Jüngsthin waren 200 Jahre verflossen, seitdem ein Buchdrucker Namens Kranzbühler die Erlaubniß erhielt, in Worms eine Buchdruckerei zu betreiben. Seit jener Zeit ist das Geschäft dauernd in der Familie geblieben und hat immer ein Kranzbühler an der Spitze desselben gestanden. Vor 125 Jahren begründete dann die Firma die „Wormser Zeitung." Zur Erinnerung an diese beiden Thatsachen feierten der gegenwärtige Chef Eugen Kranzbühler und seine zahlreichen Angestellten dieser Tage ein Fest.

A young lady in New York City relates the curious case of her sister who suffered from a sort of nervous dyspepsia—that was what the doctor called it. She was despondent low-spirited, inclined to imagine all sorts of things. One thing especially seemed to be in her mind; that was the idea that abscesses were forming in different parts of her body. The sister who tells the story had found Ripans Tabules a specific for headache, and generally had a supply on hand. One day, more in joke than in earnest, she said to the afflicted one: "Try these: they'll cure you." Well, she did try them, and strangely enough the Tabules did cure her. The despondency left her. This was nearly a year ago. She took less than a dollar's worth in all, and has not taken one for over eight months now.

FASHION HINTS.

Bodices and the Accessories Which Accompany Them.

The glace paper taffetas so much liked last year for waists and chemisettes have given place to a taffeta of a less brilliant, but also less stiff, variety, which lends itself better to tucks and plaits and is more readily cleaned where it has become defaced. Liberty satin is more pretentious and is much used with guipure applications.

Bodices of white or light colored cashmere are to be worn at the seaside and mountains. Others of tucked organdie and lace are placed over a colored silk underbodice.

The ends of the regate cravat so much worn with shirt waists are now drawn through a flattened ring of gold or silver.

The latest decoration for thin bodices consists of little flowers of colored enamel, which are pinned here and there among the lace and drapery. Daisies, primroses, irises, buttercups, cornflowers and wild roses are the favorite designs, and sometimes real flowers of the same variety add to the decoration. Enameled insects are also used—butterflies, dragon flies and beetles of brilliant coloring.

A picture is given of a walking costume of plaid wool. The material is cut bias, and the skirt is quite plain, gathered at the waist behind. The bodice, which forms a slight blouse in front, has a guimpe of embroidery and lace, the collar and the edge of the plaid portion being trimmed with bands of narrow black moire ribbon. The belt is of black moire, and the tight sleeves are plain. The hat of fancy straw is trimmed with white ostrich plumes and a Louis Quinze bow of black velvet and has roses under the brim.

SUMMER MODES.

New Items For the Warm Weather Wardrobe.

A new cravat worn with tailor made gowns is a wide plain or fancy ribbon with a deep chenille fringe. The fringe is 12 or 15 inches deep, and each strand of the chenille is as large around as the little finger.

Foulards are now made which will stand water without being discolored or spotted. This is a welcome improvement, especially for seaside wear.

For summer wear there are skirts of cloth, covert suiting, cheviot or serge which have no lining either separate or attached. They are made in every respect like lined skirts with that exception and have a tailor finish of straps, stitching, etc. They are plain or have fans let in at the bottom of the seams or are completed with a circular flounce.

The picture shows a costume of gray blue satin cloth. The skirt closes at the side, the edge being cut in square stages, each fastened down by a cut silver button. Each stage lies over a plait, and at the back there are lines of stitching in square stages on each side of the middle plaits. The tight bodice is also stitched and cut in stages. It has a short basque and is decorated with buttons. The yoke, vest and collar are of white cloth embroidered with light blue and silver, and the plastron is of plain blue surah. The hat of beige straw is trimmed with pink poppies and gray green foliage.

Decorations Most In Vogue For Summer Hats.

Hats of drawn silk are again promised, taffeta or moire with chine designs of flowers being the material. Flowers arranged in motifs, such as crowns, Louis Quinze knots and four leaved clovers, will also be seen.

Never has there been a greater variety of trimming for both gowns and hats than now. For the latter the flowers employed are suited to the season in which they are worn, snowdrops and chrysanthemums, for example, being set aside in favor of summer flowers of the garden or field. Repeated mention has already been made of the immense quantity of fruit used, and bunches of wheat, barley and rye or oats are now seen so much that all women who pretend to elegance of attire must abandon them save for garden hats. The wheat heads may be relinquished without regret, however, as they are strongly suggestive of the funeral decorations seen in the undertakers' shops.

The picture shows a gown of hortensia voile, the back of the skirt being incrusted with guipure at the foot and the side having an embroidered garland of roses and leaves. The bodice is crossed and draped in front, closing with small enamel buttons. There is a sort of scarf collar, embroidered with roses at the back and fastened by two buttons in front. The plastron and high collar are embroidered, as are the tight sleeves, and there is a chemisette of plaited white mousseline de soie. The light straw hat is trimmed with pink roses and foliage.

Novel Ideas For Petticoats For the Summer.

Black silk with a pompadour design in colors makes very pretty and useful petticoats.

A novel idea for petticoats is the removable flounce. Petticoats of light silk are quickly soiled around the foot, and some clever person has thought of using a deep flounce of white or ecru batiste, linen or tursore silk, trimmed with lace. This is tacked in place and can easily be ripped off and washed.

A new way of decorating white lawn and batiste petticoats is to put under the embroidered flounce a flounce of colored batiste. At the top of the white flounce are placed bows of ribbons matching the color of the lining batiste. Another petticoat novelty is the deep flounce composed of lengthwise tucks, which are left free near the foot and are of universal length, forming points. The lower, untucked part of the flounce is enriched with lace and insertion.

The picture given today shows a costume of silver gray poplin. The skirt is plaited at the sides and back and is otherwise plain. The bodice is close fitting and fastens under the arm, having a wide belt with applications of flowers of luxeuil lace. The bolero of the same kind of lace forms sleeve caps, and the sleeves themselves are plain and tight. The collar is stitched. The cravat is of white mousseline de soie, with choux. The hat of gray mousseline de soie is trimmed with large pink poppies and a wing of black spangled lace.

CHINA IS MORIBUND.

Nothing Can Save the Empire from Ultimate Disintegration.

For Years the Country Has Been Terrorized by Secret Societies of Which the Boxers Have Not Been the Worst.

[Special Correspondence.]

THE chief point to which the interest of the world is at the present time directed is, of course, the Chinese empire. Opinions regarding its future seem to be divided correspondently with the ambitions of those nations who, jointly and severally, as the case may be, are desirous of becoming the arbiters of its coming fate. It is useless for the politicians whose machinations have so materially aided in bringing about the present deplorable condition of affairs to try to impress the public with the belief that the origin of the disturbance was primarily of an internal nature, due entirely to the ignorance and degradation of the people themselves. In an un-Christian nation, with a population estimated at from three to four hundred millions, covering a territory considerably larger than the United States, excluding Alaska, 30 times as large as France and 24 times greater than the German empire, with a million villages and towns, besides 1,700 walled cities, some terrible customs prevail and dreadful crimes are frequently committed; but the same state of affairs has existed for centuries. Missionaries for years have been doing a great work for individuals, but the "little leaven" has not, thus far, seemed to accomplish much for the "whole lump." Yet things might have improved gradually had not outside greed for money, land and power waged too active a warfare against the traditions of the slow-going Mongolians who are so little susceptible to change and whose civilization has been the almost imperceptible growth of ages.

MAIN GATE TO TIEN-TSIN.

Whatever the cause, the record of recent events transpiring in that unhappy country does not make pleasant reading.

There are a great many Chinese societies, and there are few Chinamen who are not members of one or more of them. An innocent man, because he cannot help himself, may belong to one of the most criminal. He must join or be killed. The dues are heavy and the larger the membership the greater the income of the chief officers. Some of the associations are entirely harmless. Some correspond to our trades unions, others are of a political character, while there are some little better than bands of robbers. Many of those whose origin was for a laudable purpose have degenerated.

The society of Boxers is said to have originated 250 years ago and to favor the overthrow of their Manchu rulers and the restoration of the revered Ming dynasty. The secret societies accompany the Chinese wherever they go. European governments have made great efforts to stamp them out at all points where they have jurisdiction. A great struggle was made at Singapore, where it is believed they are practically suppressed. That many of the crimes committed on our own Pacific coast may be traced to these organizations is well known. It is impossible to imagine the terrible events transpiring in China at the present time, which are ascribed to the Boxers. But a whole nation cannot be judged by the acts of a part of its worst members. While millions are in a state of deplorable ignorance in a country with twice as many inhabitants as North and South America, Africa and Oceanica combined, the Chinese as a whole are far from being barbarians. The last half century has added materially to our knowledge regarding China, which had previously managed to keep her affairs pretty well to herself, requiring nothing from the outside world and certainly contributing nothing to its welfare.

Europe and America cannot absolutely look down upon people whose real history is contemporary with that of legendary Rome, and whose fabulous history so far antedates that of all other nations, except, perhaps, Egypt, that its fantasies bear a certain mark of dignity.

Heathen China was a civilized power long before the Israelites were delivered from bondage in Egypt, was 700 years old when they crossed the Red sea, and had a settled constitutional government in the time of Abraham. The Chinese are not such navigators as might be expected of a people with 4,400 miles of coast, yet they invented the compass 2634 B. C., over 400 years before Babylon was said to have been founded by Nimrod, the grandson of Ham.

The Chinese were carrying on, very much as they do at the present day, their pursuits of "agriculture, commerce and literature," when Joshua's trumpet sounded outside the walls of Jericho, while the "chosen people" were waging all their fierce battles, when the Psalms of David were first sung, while the temple of Solomon was in process of construction, when the great seer, Isaiah, was pouring out his prophecies, while Daniel stilled the lion's roar and the three young men walked unharmed through the fiery furnace. They had a grand canal 1,200 miles long before Columbus discovered America. Their great wall was built 220 years before the birth of Christ.

This is not the first time anarchy and confusion have reigned in this country, which numbers centuries as we do years, but heretofore affairs have seemed to adjust themselves.

For a period of over 100 years ending A. D. 420 conditions were much worse than at present. Now representatives of many nations are transporting munitions of war into this hoary old land, that their own "citizens resident there may be protected." The Chinese have progressed so slowly that the masses are totally incapable of utilizing our modern artillery, should some of the guns fall into their hands, yet they were familiar with the use of arms and gunpowder 2,000 years ago. We consider the introduction of printing as one of the most important landmarks of the progress of our civilization. The Chinese practiced the art 500 years before the birth of Caxton, and manufactured paper 150 A. D. They were engravers 1000 B. C.

A TERRIBLE WARNING.
(Heads of Boxers Executed for Murder on Public Exhibition.)

China's population is so great that it is impossible to realize the numbers as we speak them. It is said that all the citizens of Canada could be placed in one Chinese city. The daily death rate is 33,000, or about 1,000,000 per month. Equal mortality in this country would nearly bury the whole United States in a year and a half. The appearance of the great walled cities is very interesting to occidental eyes. Peking, the capital, perhaps more so than any other. It is in two sections, the Tartar and Chinese towns. The latter was, at first, a suburb and was inclosed during the sixteenth century. It is rectangular in shape, its walls measuring ten miles in length. The Tartar city joins it at the north, is square and surrounded by high walls 14 miles long. Inside the latter is the Imperial city, also with high walls and gates through which foreigners are allowed to pass freely. In the heart of the Imperial city is the home of the emperor, the "Forbidden City," into which no foreigner may be admitted. The legations are situated near each other in the southern part of the Tartar city. Peking is adorned by numerous temples representing Confucianism, Buddhism, Mohammedanism and the resting places of numerous Chinese idols.

Although there is said to be power in numbers, large bodies are apt to be very unwieldy. The Chinese empire in its integrity seems fast becoming a thing of the past. Demands which a few years ago would have been treated with disdain are now acceded to in the most servile manner. Seaport after seaport has been ceded to different nations. Corea has entirely escaped from the jurisdiction of China. Russia practically rules Manchuria and has grasped her interior borders in Ili and Turkestan. The Japanese have acquired the camphor forests and lofty mountains of picturesque Formosa, while the French have secured control of Annam.

The fate of India is a fair index of what would happen should England gain control of China, and the conditions of the masses in Russia faintly indicates what the Greek church would be likely to accomplish if grafted on to Confucianism.

QUEER LOVE STORY.

Mrs. Wright's Honesty Has Led to Her Becoming a Wealthy New Yorker's Fiancee.

Honesty in giving up $1,500 which she found and might have kept without fear of detection, has borne good fruit to Mrs. Kate Wright, of New York. The man who had lost the money has since fallen heir to $1,000,000, and now offers to share it with her as her husband.

Mrs. Wright is forewoman in a Worth street book bindery. In July 1899, when she was pretty Kitty Scully, a young man came to her home in Brooklyn and asked for her hand. "Sam Wright shall never be your husband," declared Kitty's father. And the young man was ordered never to show himself there again.

SURPRISING THE LAWYER.
("See What I Have Found," Said the Young Woman.)

But Kitty's heart went along with him. She disappeared the same night, leaving a note informing her parents that when they saw her again she would be Mrs. Samuel Wright.

Three months ago Mrs. Wright, still beautiful, but sad-faced, went to the office of Lawyers Rosenthal & Rosenthal to begin divorce proceedings. On the stairs she found a wallet. It contained a great many greenbacks of large denomination.

"See what I have found," said the young woman.

"Why, that's my wallet!" exclaimed Joseph Pionier, brother of Alfred Pionier, who has since become deputy chief electrician at the Paris exposition, and who at that time had an office in the same building as Mrs. Wright's lawyers. Mr. Pionier's card and other papers indicating his proprietorship were in the wallet, and so Mrs. Wright surrendered it without hesitation. She refused to accept a reward.

"I don't see why I should be rewarded for giving up what never belonged to me," she said.

A few weeks later the Pioniers went to Paris, and since then Mrs. Wright has obtained her decree of divorce, with permission to resume her maiden name. The other day the mail carrier handed the young woman a letter, postmarked Paris. It was from Joseph Pionier. After telling her of the death of a multi-millionaire uncle, he winds up with the following clause:

"I have been thinking a good deal about you. Although I met you only four times, I fel convinced I can never love anybody as I love you. When you get your divorce, do you think you can make up your mind to marry again? I'm determined to win you. I'll not take 'No' for an answer. Make me happy and tell me you will consent to be the wife of your sincerely loving Joseph Pionier."

"He's a nice enough young man, even without his wealth," was the young woman's comment. "Any girl ought to feel happy to be his wife." And then she added:

"I guess he'll be glad when he hears I got the divorce."

JOHN WORTH KERN.

Gubernatorial Nominee of the Democrats of Indiana Is an Experienced Politician

John Worth Kern was born in 1849 in the village of Alto, Howard county, Ind. After a course in the common schools he entered the University of Michigan and was graduated from the law department in 1869. He began his profession as a lawyer at Kokomo, Ind., and in 1871 was elected city attorney, which he held for many years.

Mr. Kern devoted several years to criminal practice. In 1884 he was elected to the office of reporter of the supreme court. In 1886 he was renominated, but was defeated, after which he took up the practice of law in Indianapolis. In 1882 he was elected to the state senate and served during the sessions of 1893 and 1895. In 1897 Mr. Kern was appointed city attorney for Indianapolis, which position he still holds.

SHE WAS TRUE BLUE.

And Was Perfectly Willing to Overlook Any of His Minor Shortcomings.

"The time has come, for me to speak," he said, going over to the mantelpiece and leaning his head abstractedly against the cold, hard brick. "My dear, before we are married, and while there is yet time to pause, my conscience bids me tell you the truth about myself. I have deceived you. I am not the noble-hearted, unselfish, refined and altogether desirable man you have been led to believe. I have deceived you even about my age. Not only am I 40 instead of 34, but I am a widower. I stay out nights when I feel like it. I smoke all over the house, am a crank about my meals, find fault all the time, hector the servants, never go anywhere to oblige anyone else, drink more than I ought to, swear regularly, and, in fact, am a vulgar, disagreeable, hidebound, gruff, inhospitable, irritable, inconsiderate, insufferable nuisance."

"Tell me," said the fair creature he addressed, relates Life, repressing with a conscious look of pride an inward shudder, "you own the house and grounds that you showed me, don't you?"

"I do."

"And the beautiful government bonds you asked me to look at, the 500 shares of D. A. B., the 200 X. Y. Z., the 400 U. P. W. debentures, and four acres in the heart of the Manhattan shopping district are all yours, aren't they?"

"They are, dearest,"

"Then," said the undismayed and still radiant creature by his side, "my darling, with all your faults I love you still."

The Breath.

A tainted breath has lost many a friend. It is a true kindness for some member of the family to tell the afflicted one of her trouble, which may often be removed by proper measures, and the knowledge of which is, after all, easier to bear than the sudden withdrawal of her friends at her approach. If the lungs are sound and the stomach healthy, then the cause probably lies in the teeth. No time should be lost in putting them in perfect condition. Nothing is more vulgar than the pungent breath perfumes sold for that purpose. The breath of a woman should be as the fragrance of a flower—an exhalation of the beauty and wholesomeness within. An attempt to mask an unpleasant condition, says the Ledger Monthly, is foolish, futile and uncleanly.

A dainty and fragrant mouth-wash, to be used after meals, instead of too frequent brushing, especially when the enamel of the teeth is thin, consists of: Pure water, six ounces; eau de cologne, five ounces.

Fine table salt and common baking soda, dissolved in tepid water, make a good mouth-wash. It corrects the tenderness of the gums arising from an acid condition of the stomach.

The City of Paris at the Paris Exposition

Reproductions of Historic Spots of the Famous Capital in "Old Paris."

NOTHING more interesting can be found in all the great Paris fair than the exhibits of the city of Paris. To the visitor from foreign lands, and especially from the western world where we have delighted in the romantic history of this beautiful and ancient capital of the French people, the scenes presented of the old town will be unusually interesting.

Foreign governments have erected magnificent pavilions as a home and meeting place for the people of the lands which such buildings represent, but the city of Paris has erected a building which it opens to all the world, and visitors from every land and every clime will use it. The pavilion of the city of Paris is situated at the angle of the quay de la Conference and the Invalides bridge directly opposite the long line of pavilions erected by the foreign governments. Its main facade, which impresses one as being a simplified facade of the Hotel de the Ponte Vecchio of Florence. It has houses built on each side, where stores are filled with jewelry and ancient bric-a-brac. It is there also where the Jews and landlords kept their banks, exchanges and pawnshops.

One of the curiosities is the Maison du Grand Coq, for it was the cradle of journalism. It was in this house that, in 1651, Theophraste Renaudot founded the first weekly newspaper, called the Gazette. This paper still exists under the name of the Gazette de France. Renaudot is said to have been the inventor of advertisements, for he had an "address office" in which he kept the names and addresses of all the prominent citizens, professionals and merchants.

Renaudot's statue to-day stands in one of the busiest squares of the city, opposite the Palais de Justice. There he sits, busy noting down what transpires around him. Renaudot is the patron of reporters.

"OLD PARIS" FROM THE RIVER SIDE.

Ville of Paris, runs parallel to the Seine for a distance of 300 feet. It is a noble building and will attract much attention from every visitor as the representative building of the host city.

But beautiful as the Paris pavilion is, and worthy as the object of its erection as a home and meeting place for the visiting guests, it will be far from the interesting feature that "Old Paris" will prove.

"Old Paris" may be but one of the "side shows" of this great fair, but even at that it is one that every visitor will see. It depicts the famous French captital in the days of the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. It doesn't pretend to be a reconstruction of an integral part of the city in those days, but is rather a small city in which are combined the interesting features of the city of the time mentioned.

It is divided into three parts or three groups of constructions. The quarter of the middle ages, which extends from the Porte Saint Michel to the Church of

But these historic buildings form but a part of the interesting features of this part of the great fair. Its chief attraction will be the feats and tournaments which will enliven the programme each week, and which will be but repetitions of those which took place during the middle ages and the days of the reconstruction. Then, too, the people, dressed in the ancient costumes, will be another great attraction.

This miniature city of the ancient time is built upon a platform near the Alma bridge on the banks of the Seine. The platform measures some 6,000 square meters, half of which extends over the river.

One of the most gigantic foundations that was built for this exposition was the widening of the quays, by means of shafts sunk into the Seine. For the increasing of the grounds on which Old Paris is built, shafts were sunk five and a half meters deep. It was calculated that with the filling in every square meter could stand the weight of 4,000

A SCENE IN "OLD PARIS" ON A FETE DAY.

St. Julien des Meutriers. This is the oldest quarter. Then comes the quarter of the Halles, and after that the one which consists of various groups, such as the old Chatelet, the Pont au Change and the Palais.

The famous Porte Saint Michel is the one reconstructed at the entrance of Old Paris. It is of medieval architecture, and it was destroyed in 1684. It is interesting to know that it stood where the fountain stands in Place Saint Michel, almost in the heart of the Latin quarter.

From the Porte Saint Michel you enter into the Rue des Vieilles Ecoles, and then into the Rue des Remparts, where one finds the famous Maison des Piliers. This house was the cradle of the franchise of Paris. It was the first Hotel de Ville. It was there that the merchants of water held their meetings. Water at that time was an object of trade, as wine is to-day. The merchants of water were an important corporation, for everybody had to buy more or less water.

Near the Maison des Piliers you will find one of the towers of the old Louvre. During the time of the first kings of France the Louvre was built to serve as a fortress and not a palace. The constructions on the grounds on which now stands the Louvre were destroyed several times before the present palaces were built.

It would take up too much space to enumerate all the historical buildings which this Vieux Paris contains. The Pont au Change in aspect resembles kilogrammes, and each shaft can support a weight of 25,000 kilogrammes.

And on this exhibit has been builded the exhibit par excellence of the great fair. BERNHARD BRISTOL.

Remnants and the Ladies.

At Lawrence recently, says the Atchison Globe, it was decided that a woman was insane because after death her house was found to be so full of remnants of dry goods that there was barely a pathway left from the bed to the door, and from the table to the stove. If the judges were right, what woman can escape the charge of being, if not insane, at least slightly unbalanced? Every woman yields to the remnant habit. She buys remnants, though closets and bureau drawers at home are full of them. She has no use for them, but reasons that they will come in handy "some day." They include all kinds of material, from remnants of lace to remnants of bed ticking. If there is any cure for the remnant habit, no husband has yet found it out.

One On the Speaker.

While the national house of representatives was all a-murmur with general conversation one day last week, Speaker Henderson rapped loudly with his gavel and said, sternly: "The chair will please preserve order." The house roared, the speaker looked sheepish, and after a minute or two the member who had the floor proceeded with his remarks undisturbed.

SPORTING.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The unusually large crowd present at the Gentleman's Driving Park Saturday witnessed some of the finest events that have been seen on this popular track in some time. The event which secured the most attention was the one between D. C. Smalley's "Ned Davis," N. B. Smalley's "Fred" and A. I. Smalley's "Belle." The first heat resulted in a dead finish between "Ned Davis" and "Fred" with "Belle" two lengths behind. The time was 2:31. The second heat resulted in a clean victory for "Ned Davis," who led on the home stretch, winning in 2:26½. The second event was between Charles Browers' "Albert L" and Thomas Brantingham's "Myrtle Twig." The former won both heats, the first in 2:27 and the second in 2:25. The third and last event was between C. L. Wright's "Fairmount Maid," John Osborn's "Woven Wind" and C. Brower's "Simoleaf," which resulted in two straight heats for "Fairmount Maid" in 2:32½ and 2:32. A. C. Vail's "Rover B" trotted two exhibition miles attached to an ordinary road wagon. The two miles Saturday were trotted in 2:30 and 2:27½.

ON THE DIAMOND

A ball team from the American Engine Works, of Bound Brook, met with defeat at the hands of the Pond Tool Works team Saturday by a score of 18 to 8.

The local letter carriers played a return game with the Elizabeth carriers at the latter place yesterday, and were defeated by a score of 24 to 12. The battery of the Plainfielders was Shea and Reville.

The "Bag Times" was the name of a team that played the St. Mary's team on the Washington avenue grounds Saturday and came within one run of defeating the latter team. The score was 10 to 9.

A spell of sleepiness took hold of the Arion ball team Saturday in their game with the Clinton avenue nine on the latter's grounds, and before they awoke to the fact that they were playing ball their opponents had piled up forty runs. The Arions managed to secure two, however, and ceased playing at the end of the seventh innings.

C. E. Hepburn and wife, of East Second street, will return today from Boston, where they have been spending a week.

Mrs. J. Hervey Doane and family, of LaGrande avenue, are enjoying themselves near the Orange Mountains. Mr. Doane spent Sunday with his family, returning home this morning.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MAKE AN EXPLANATION

ous to the health of the children during many months of the year.

Charles W. McCutchen has presented the Board of Education with $2,000 to erect and equip a Manual Training building and carry it on for a year. This generous gift has been accepted, but it will be useless unless heated, and the proposed apparatus will be sufficient to heat it without additional cost. It is proposed to place the new building in the rear of the present building, and this will necessitate the removal of the closets. These were built eighteen years ago and are now much out of repair; beside being inadequate for the requirements of the large number of children in attendance. It is proposed to place an adequate number of sanitary flush closets in the basement.

The yearly cost for these improvements will add about two cents to the tax rate.

A member of the building and grounds committee will be at the schoolhouse every evening this week from 8 to 9 o'clock, and will show the plans to any one wishing to see them, and explain the proposed system as fully as possible.

Justus H. Cooley, M. D.,
Member of the Board of Education.

"Aloha's" Summer Course.

The steam yacht "Aloha," belonging to J. W. Johnson, of LaGrande avenue, started from Elizabethport Saturday morning on a cruise to the Thousand Islands where Mr. Johnson has a summer home. The party will go up the Hudson to Troy and thence through the Erie canal to Oswego. There they will cross Lake Ontario and steam down the St. Lawrence River to Alexander Bay. The party includes J. W. Johnson, Harry F. Johnson, Herbert G. Johnson, William Buckalew, Harold A. Wills and James Mumford.

Dr. Levering's Address.

Dr. Ida Faye Levering, a medical missionary from India, gave a most interesting talk on her hospital work among the leagues at the First Baptist church last evening. Dr. Levering is a New Jersey woman, a graduate at the Woman's Medical College, of Philadelphia, and her opportunities for a grand work among the suffering women and children at the Nellore Hospital and in the Dispensary have not fallen to the lot of many women.

Caught by Bicycle Cops.

Roundsman Frederickson and Patrolman Mattox were summoned to the saloon of Michael Watson on Grant avenue this morning on a hurry call. They found that Watson had been having trouble with some would-be customers. The men fled but were soon run down by the officers on their bicycles, Michael Crowley was arrested and locked up for a hearing later. The other one was allowed to go.

Rev. Mr. Murphy Returning Home.

Rev. T. Logan Murphy, formerly pastor of the Holy Cross church, will arrive in New York tomorrow on the Red Star liner "Kensington" after spending the winter abroad. His wife and daughter will remain at Paris. He will spend some time with his sons in this city.

Church to Close During August.

At a meeting of the board of trustees and the official board of the Congregational church, held yesterday, it was decided to close that church during the month of August.

Miss Estelle Ruoff, of Brooklyn, left for home Saturday after a week's visit with Miss Kittie Homan, of West Fourth street.

THE LATEST SKIRTS.

Close at the Hips, Full in the Back and Very Wide About the Foot.

The latest news from Paris is rather startling as regards skirts. After having been told that the close-fitting habit skirts were to be fashionable no longer, and that only skirts with back breadths gathered or laid in single, double or triple box plaits were to be worn, some of the smartest gowns that have lately been seen have had plain backs, and many of the new costumes shown for summer are also so provided, we are informed in Harper's Bazar. Where the entire back is not plain and the skirt has a deep apron yoke in front, the yoke at the back will be narrow, and the effect will be quite plain, with no fullness at all directly in the back or over the hips.

The habit skirts of last season were not, however, cut quite as are these skirts, the latter having more fullness, which begins, too, nearer the belt at the back. The truth of the matter is that the more successful dressmakers do not now follow lavishly any very marked fashion, but take some pretty design, and modify it or improve upon it, to suit the wearer, and in this way the gown is not simply a reproduction to the exact line of a style that fashion has dictated as correct. At a recent entertainment at which a number of new gowns were worn no less than five distinct styles of skirts were seen, alike only in that they all fitted close around the hips, were full at the back and very wide around the foot, with ruffles and flounces and plaitings put inside as well as out, giving a finished look to the bottom of the skirt. Machine stitching is still a favorite trimming for cloth and heavier weight of materials, while lace, embroidery and open work chenille net are used on the lighter fabrics like silk and mousseline de soie.

TWO UGLY REPTILES.

The Jumbo-Jocko and Fer de Lance of Martinique.

Dangerous Serpents of the West Indies Described by a Well-Known Traveler—Their Extirpation Seems Impossible.

The largest snake I ever killed in the West Indies was a boa on the island of Tobago, writes Frederick A. Ober in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. I came upon the monster suddenly in a clump of bamboo, just as he was about to swallow a poor, inoffensive little agouti, an animal about the size of a rabbit. I fired in time to save the little creature from the cavernous maw that had opened to take it in. My aim was good, and after a brief but terrible commotion in the undergrowth, caused by its dying struggles, the boa lay limp and still. I dragged it out into the open and measured it. It was 14 feet in length, or more than twice the height of the ordinary man. I had heard of boa constrictors of the length of 30 feet, but this one of 14 feet was the largest I ever saw in these islands.

I afterwards learned that this boa is called the "Jumbo-Jocko" by the negroes, and that he has a preference for the bamboo clumps, where he entwines himself around the drooping canes, sometimes gorged and asleep, but more often very wide awake and on the lookout for prey.

The most venomous and at the same time most vengeful serpent I ever encountered was in the island of Martinique, French West Indies. It is there called the "fer de lance," or the snake with the iron-lance head. The ophiologists tell us that it belongs to the Crotalidae, or rattlesnake family, and have given it the exasperating name of Craspedocephalous lanceopatus. Call it by whatever name we may, it is certainly the most dreaded, best hated reptile of the tropical islands which it inhabits, and the mere mention of its name is sufficient to throw any native community into spasms of fear.

That the inhabitants of the regions it infests have good reason to fear

JUMBO-JOCKO AND ITS PREY.
(Monster Reptile to Be Found in West Indian Forests.)

this dread ophidian may be opined from the fact that, unlike the other species of the family to which it belongs, this one is actively and persistently aggressive. The rattlesnake or moccasin, for instance, will generally await attack, unless suddenly surprised, before inflicting its bite; but the "iron-lance," on the contrary, is said to seek out and spring upon inoffensive persons, in whatever section it may be abundant. Neither is it so sluggish as its congeners, being as active and alert as it is venomous, and even when quiet it is always coiled up in attitude of defense.

Its average length is about five feet, being less than that of the northern rattlesnake, although specimens have been shown over seven feet in length. It is, however, very thick through the body, while its head is broad and triangular, greatly resembling the head of a lance or spear, to which the natives have aptly likened it. In the island of St. Lucia, just south of Martinique, the natives call this serpent the "rat tail," because of the attenuated tail, resembling somewhat that of the rodent mentioned, and which terminates in a spine or claw. In color it is generally some shade of dirty yellow, but sometimes brown or blackish, probably as similative to its surroundings, in order to escape observation.

Like all members of its family, the "lance-head" is very prolific, from 50 to 60 young having been found in females taken in Martinique, where it is so abundant that every portion of that beautiful island is infested by it. No section is exempt, not even the populous towns, like St. Pierre, with its lighted streets and stores, its large hotels, churches and government buildings. It has bitten people in their beds, living in the settlements on the shore, and it has caused the death of explorers on the summit of Morne Pelee, 4,000 feet above the sea, far in the interior. It not only infests the botanical gardens in the suburbs of St. Pierre, but enters courts and houses, while the sugar plantations literally swarm with this terrible serpent, which finds there its chief food—rats and lizards.

Relic of Andrew Johnson.

Dr. John H. Girdner, of New York, who is a warm friend of William J. Bryan, has a coat which is interesting from its long tail to the tailor's band on the collar. It is a wedding dress coat which belonged to his grandfather, and it was made by Andrew Johnson, afterward president of the United States. At the back of the coat, under the collar, is a little clip of cloth marked "A. Johnson, Tailor." The coat was made long before Johnson attained any political prominence.

HILLSIDE GOLF TEAM DEFEATED PARK CLUB

Exciting Team Match Played on Links of Park Golf Club This Morning.

MATCH WAS WON 18 TO 8

MORGAN T. TOWNSEND DEFEATED WILLARD WADSWORTH ONE UP.

Whitney Baker Swamped J. H. Simpson, of Home Team—Glenney Played Best Golf, Making the Rounds in 88—Scores.

The long-expected golf match between the teams of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and the Park Golf Club was played on the links of the Park Golf Club this morning and resulted in a victory for the Hillside team by a score of 18 to 8. Each club was represented by a team of four men.

The closest match of the morning was between Willard Wadsworth and Morgan T. Townsend. Neither player was at his best, Townsend being particularly weak in his drives. At the end of the first round they were even up. One of Wadsworth's longest drives landed under a stop and could not be played. Townsend, the Park Club representative, had his opponent two up and one to play but Wadsworth won the last hole, finishing one down.

W. L. C. Glenny, of the Hillside Club, made really the best showing of anybody. Playing against W. J. R. Thiers, he made the rounds in 44 each. The first round was very close, Glenny standing one up at the end. Then Thiers' approaches and putts grew wild and Glenny pulled up rapidly in the second round, finishing six up. Thiers' best work was from the tee.

J. H. Simpson easily succumbed to J. Whitney Baker, losing his match twelve down. Baker played in good form. While Simpson's strokes were lengthy, they were decidedly wild at times. The first round was Baker's seven up. Simpson braced slightly in the second.

Augustus Faber played great golf against Howard Wright of the Hillside Club and defeated him seven up. Faber was three up at the end of nine holes. In the second round the Park Club player showed up in masterful form. He took the seventh hole in three and missed a two for the eighth by a few inches. His total score was 92, the best for any of the home team.

The score of the match was as follows:

Willard Wadsworth	0	M. T. Townsend	1
W. L. C. Glenny	6	W. J. R. Thiers	0
J. Whitney Baker	12	J. H. Simpson	0
Howard Wright	0	Augustus Faber	7

PULPIT SUPPLIES.

Arrangements for Month of August at First M. E. Church.

Arrangements have been completed for the pulpit supply at the First M. E. church during the month of August when the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, will be on his summer vacation. At the morning service there will be preaching by Rev. Dr. R. W. Rogers, of Drew Seminary; Rev. Dr. S. J. Herben, of New York City, and Rev. Dr. Jesse L. Hurlburt, of New York City. Rev. Dr. Herben will preach two Sundays.

During August the Sunday services will consist of a preaching service in the morning and Sunday-school and a praise service in the evening from 7 until 8 o'clock under the charge of the Epworth League.

BICYCLE COLLAPSED.

Lucky Escape for John King While Riding at a Fast Pace.

Both wheels of a bicycle upon which John King, of West Third street, was riding rapidly around the Gentlemen's Driving Park last night, collapsed, throwing King to the ground. Fortunately he struck on his side and received but a few scratches and bruises.

Both wheels of the bicycle were a total wreck. A number of other riders who were in the rear of King narrowly escaped running into him.

Freight Train Parted.

A heavy train loaded with freight, eastbound, parted on the Jersey Central near High Bridge last evening, and delayed travel for some time. The accident occurred near a down grade and the forepart of the train was unable to back up, necessitating the service of another engine to bring the rear half of the train down.

THOSE GOLDEN TRESSES.

ANNIE SEALS EXPLAINS HOW SHE CAME TO LOSE THEM.

Spark Accidentally Set Fire to Her Hair and it was Necessary to Clip Them Off.

Of late considerable has been said in another newspaper about how a young woman and her friend went out for a ride and in a fit of anger the latter cut the young woman's tresses from her head, and left her in a condition not to be envied. Threats of how much such damages were worth to the woman, and the calling in person of a certain young man, who tried to persuade her to call on City Judge Runyon and make a complaint against the horrible young man, all had a tendency to arouse suspicion and the ire of the people. All of the latest news about this terrible deed found its way easily, without names, into the columns of a newspaper, and the reader was horror-stricken.

Yesterday a Daily Press representative called on the young woman in question, Miss Annie Seals, of 439 West Second street, and from her obtained a true account of the affair, which was substantiated by her mother, and Wm. Claasen, the tonsorial artist, who manipulated the shears that cut the golden tresses.

Last week Wednesday Miss Seals and her friend, John Kennedy, went for a drive, and during their absence they stopped at South River. When not far from this place, and while on the way home, Mr. Kennedy lit a cigarette and the sparks flew in the direction of Miss Seals. Some alighted in her hair which was burning rapidly when Mr. Kennedy discovered what had happened. He then took his hat and smothered the fire, which by this time had burned considerable of the hair. That which Mr. Kennedy pulled out was brought home, and when the house was reached he secured a pair of scissors and started to trim Miss Seal's hair. He soon discovered that he could not do it satisfactorily, and William Claassen was sent for. The latter came at once and properly cut the young woman's hair. All of this was done in the presence of Mrs. Seals and Mr. Kennedy. Miss Seals has a portion of the cut hair at home which she showed the reporter, and Mr. Claassen has the other part, which he will have made into a chain for Miss Seals.

The young woman feels greatly injured by the erroneous reports published about her, and she says there is not a word of truth in them. She says that she and Mr. Kennedy are the best of friends and always have been. Had he cut her hair purposely or with vicious intent, she would have brought action against him, but as he did not she will do nothing about it.

LEHIGH'S NEW LINE.

There are Rumors That Various Roads Want It.

The new line of the Lehigh Valley Railroad being constructed through the Greenville section is rapidly nearing completion. It runs parallel to the New Jersey Central Railroad from Communipaw to a point within a short distance of the dividing line between Jersey City and Bayonne, where it connects with its main freight line running across the Newark Bay to Waverly. It is said that the line from Communipaw to Constable's Junction now in use by the Lehigh Company is owned by the Standard Oil Company, and that the Lehigh Company has been paying trackage for the privilege of running its trains over it.

This line is but a few feet from the New York Bay shore front and would be a most convenient connection for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to the water front owned by that company, now being filled in for the future erection of wharves and piers. It is rumored that this line has already been purchased by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. This company is pushing its work in the New York Bay as rapidly as possible.

Leased for Postoffice Site.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 26.—A ten years' lease, given by A. Edward Woodruff, of Rahway, to the United States Government, was placed on record here Saturday at the office of the county clerk of Union. Mr. Woodruff in it agrees, for the sum of $700 a year, to lease the premises owned by him on Irving street, between Cherry street and Vail place, to the government for a postoffice.

Well Known Real Estate Dealer Dead.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

FOR SAFETY OF GUESTS.

Important Improvements to be Made to the Park House in Next Two Months.

Beginning with next Saturday the Park House will be closed for two months, during which time a number of improvements, which have been contemplated by the management for some time, will be made to this popular hostelry. Most of the house's regular guests leave for the summer months and it was decided to do it at this time.

Among the intended improvements are five new bath rooms, new interior painting and papering and new carpets. A special feature will be the erection of fire escapes and the placing of electric fire alarm bells in the halls, which will make it one of the safest hotels in the State.

There are at present forty-eight guests in the house, forty-three of whom are booked for September 15 and some earlier. The past season has been a successful one and the management expects a full house all next fall and winter.

ACCEPTED WITH REGRET.

HOSPITAL BOARD ACTED ON RESIGNATION OF DR. ENDICOTT.

Complimentary Resolutions Unanimously Passed and Dr. Endicott Elected a Consulting Surgeon of Hospital.

A set of resolutions very complimentary to Dr. George W. Endicott was unanimously passed at the regular monthly meeting of the board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, held last evening, when the resignation of Dr. Endicott from the medical staff of the hospital came up for consideration. The resignation was accepted with great regret and the board recorded its high appreciation of his long-continued, faithful and efficient services and tendered him their thanks therefor.

The resolutions were as follows:

WHEREAS, George W. Endicott, M. D., who has served as a member, on the surgical side, of the medical staff of the hospital continuously since it was first opened for the reception of patients Dec. 1st, 1881, a period of more than eighteen years, has presented his resignation and asked to be relieved from further duty as a member of the staff, therefore

Resolved, That the resignation of George W. Endicott, M. D., as a member of the medical staff of the hospital be and the same hereby is accepted.

Resolved, That the resignation of Dr. Endicott as a member of the staff is accepted with extreme regret, and that in accepting such resignation this board records its high appreciation of his long-continued and faithful and efficient services to the hospital, and tender to him the thanks of the board therefor.

Resolved, That George W. Endicott, M. D., be and he hereby is appointed a consulting surgeon of the hospital and that, as such, he be entitled to all privileges of members of the medical staff, but shall not be required to participate in the ordinary care of patients.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent by the secretary to Dr. Endicott and to the secretary of the medical staff.

The board also filled two vacancies in its own number caused by death and resignation, by electing Former Mayor B A. Hegeman, Jr., and Councilman George T. Rogers as governors of the hospital.

SAY FARE IS TOO MUCH.

Patrons of Cross Country Trolley Criticise the Schedule Made for the Passengers.

The fare charged on the cross country trolley line is five cents from Westfield to Lambert's Hotel at St. George avenue, or ten cents to the Pennsylvania Railroad station; and to Boynton Beach 15 cents is charged.

There is some dissatisfaction over the charge of ten cents to the railway station in Rahway, and some claim it is extortion to charge five cents from Lambert's Hotel to the station, and urge that a five-cent fare is all the trolley company is entitled to. The fare of 15 cents to Boynton Beach is deemed reasonable.

Off For His Vacation.

FAIR SAILING AT G. O P. PRIMARIES

Delegates to State and Congressional Conventions Elected Without Opposition.

WILL SUPPORT FOWLER.

DELEGATIONS ALL EMPOWERED TO FILL VACANCIES.

Delegates Were Elected According to Nominations Published—Big Turnout in Fourth Ward—The Primary Officers.

Everything was calm and serene at the Republican city primaries, held last evening, when the Plainfield representation at the coming Congressional and State conventions were chosen. There was only one ticket in the field in any of the wards so the candidates were naturally unanimously elected. The Fourth ward had a big turnout, but the absence of a contest only brought out a corporal's guard in the Second and Third wards.

There were thirty five out at the First ward primary, held in the vacant store, 120 East Front street. The primary officers were Amos Andrews, judge; A. J. Stiglitz, inspector; Horace G. Adams, clerk. At the business meeting Councilman J. F. Buckle was made chairman and Chas. S. Smick secretary. The delegations were empowered to fill vacancies.

Seventeen voters turned out in the Second ward primary at the Bryant School. Assemblyman Charles S. Foote was made chairman of the business meeting with Fred M. Letson as secretary. The primary officers were Charles B. Morse, judge; William H. Drayton, inspector; W. P. Spangenburg, clerk. The delegations were instructed to fill vacancies.

Up in the Third ward primary at the High School building fifteen Republicans turned out. The primary officers were J. W. Murray, Jr., judge; J. Smith Garrettson, inspector; Nathan E. Titsworth, clerk. At the business meeting, Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass was chosen chairman and Nathan E. Titsworth, secretary. The delgations were given power to fill vacancies.

One hundred and four voters were present at the Fourth ward primary in Reform Hall. Clarence L. Murphy was made chairman and Robert Craig secretary. The delegations were given the right to fill vacancies. The primary officers were Harry C. Runyon, judge; Fred J. Huff, inspector; Fred H. Firstbrook, clerk.

Although there was no suggestion of any instructions for the delegates, it is understood that the delegates to the Congressional convention will support Charles N. Fowler for re-nomination in case of any contest. The Congressional convention will be held at the Lyceum Theatre, Elizabeth, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The delegates chosen in the different wards were as follows: First ward—delegates to the State convention, Charles S. Sminck and James F. Buckle; delegates to the Congressional convention, L. V. F. Randolph, William Gloak, S. P. Hill and J. E. Flannery. Second ward — delegates to the State convention, J. B. Dumont and J. E. Keeley; delegates to the Congressional convention, Joseph E. Morse, Charles S. Foote, William N. Runyon and George P. Mellick. Third ward—delegates to the State convention, Ernest R. Ackerman and Robert Rushmore; delegates to the Congressional convention, J. W. Murray, Jr., J. Frank Hubbard, J. Smith Garretson and William C. Kinney. Fourth ward—delegates to the State convention, James Stewart, William Newcorn and Frank H. Smith; delegates to the Congressional convention, Robert L. Lee, John Brown, H. C. Runyon, George Leighs, Frank Marsh and James Morrison.

A caucus of the Plainfield delegation will be held before the convention when the chairman of the delegation will be elected and the other honors apportioned. It seems very probable that City Judge William N. Runyon, that popular young Republican from the Second ward, will be chosen chairman of the delegation.

Union County Tax Board's Plans.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 26.—The annual meeting of the Union County Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes for the purpose of fixing the county valuations and also the tax rate for 1900, will be held at the Court House here July 16th. The assessors are now busy preparing their books for the meeting.

TIE PLAYED OFF.

Second Contest in the Team Play For the Gilbert Cup on the Hillside Golf Course.

Last Saturday the play for the Gilbert cup for fixed foursomes at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course resulted in a tie between Miss Edith Hyde and C. W. Fisk and Miss Edith Tracy and Thomas R. VanBoskerck, each making a net score of 101. The tie was played off yesterday afternoon between 5:30 and 8 o'clock, and proved to be a very close and exciting competition. On the first four holes Miss Hyde and Mr. Fisk were six down, but by clever playing they cut this lead and from that time they played close on strokes. The competition was won by Miss Hyde and Mr. Fisk, who, with a handicap of five, made a net score of 102, while their opponents with a handicap of four scored 105 net. Up to the last hole the contestants were even, but Miss Hyde and Mr. Fisk had the best of it on the wind-up and made a pretty finish. This cup will be played for again on Thanksgiving Day.

JERRY'S AIM WAS POOR

SPECIAL OFFICER CASH UNABLE TO KILL A MAD DOG.

Shot Twice at the Canine, But Both Times the Bullets Went Wide of the Mark.

The serious need of a little practice in markmanship among the city police officers was clearly shown yesterday afternoon by the exhibition which Special Officer Jerry Cash gave while attempting to shoot a mad dog belonging to Thomas Oakly, of West Fourth street.

The animal was seized with fits about 5 o'clock which rapidly developed into madness. It ran around the yard yelping and gnawing at the fence and other objects. Officer Cash was sent for but upon his arrival he declared his pistol was at home and he could shoot with no other. A double barrelled gun was procured for him and Jerry blazed away with both barrels. But strange to say the dog was unhurt and the officer gave up in disgust and declared his intention of sending for Dog Catcher Frisbie.

Mrs. Oakly, who was in the house, bravely decided to shoot the creature herself. Just then Jerry VanWinkle called for her to give the pistol to him and he would shoot it, which he did.

It was about 7 o'clock before it was killed. Mrs. Oakly and her children were the only ones in the house at the time, Mr. Oakly not arriving until some time afterward. The dog was a small black and tan and was a great pet in the family.

HIS JOKE A PROPHECY.

After Saying His Last Picture Had Been Taken Price Dived to Death.

"Take good care of that picture. It's the last one you'll ever take of me," laughingly said yesterday DeForrest M. Price, twenty years old, who was about to take a swim in the South River, near New Brunswick, after his picture had been "snapped" by a friend.

The words were meant in jest, but proved prophetic.

Price, a splendid swimmer, dived overboard. He did not rise, but his friends thought he was staying under to show how well he could dive. When five minutes had passed they became anxious and secured a boat. After searching for several hours his body was found some distance down the river. His head had struck some floating timber and he had been stunned and drowned.

Champion Bad Boy.

Harold Cole, an incorrigible boy of Mountainside, aged ten years, was taken to the jail at Elizabeth Saturday by Officer Marsh. Cole, it is alleged, stole a bicycle, poisoned the neighbors' dogs and chickens, and in a general way made himself a terror in the neighborhood. It is reported that he tried to induce Lillian Forster, the four-year-old child of Charles Forster, to eat candy which he had dipped in rat poison. The court will be asked to commit him to the reform school.

PATRIOTIC SONS HERE.

JOINT MEETING SONS OF AMERICA IN THIS CITY.

National and State Officers Were Present—Banquet Ended the Affair.

Plainfield was filled last night with visiting camps who came to this city as the guests of the Patriotic Sons of America on the occasion of an official visit from National President John G. Horner, of Palmyra, N. J.; State President F. A. Pope, of Somerville, and National Representative John Metz. Delegations were present from Somerville, Rahway, New Brunswick, Jersey City, South Amboy, South Plainfield and Sterling. The Somerville contingent came in a chartered trolley car which was very prettily decorated. The Elizabeth camp also came by trolley. South Amboy came by stage with a fife and drum corps.

The evening's programme began with speeches by the different officials, after which the old time favorite, John Carney, gave some of his best Dutch impersonations. A quartette from Somerville rendered some excellent selections and phonographic selections under the direction of Charles Mowen completed the programme. The guests to the number of 150 were then invited to sit down to a collation which had been prepared and a general social time followed. It was after midnight before the visitors left for their respective towns, all of whom were well pleased at the good time which had been furnished them by the local camp.

LOVE LAUGHS AT BAD LUCK.

Repeated Misfortunes Prevented Miss Kline's Wedding, but She Is Mrs. Rosenthal at Last.

A series of misfortunes in the family of Hyman Kline, of Somerville, ended Saturday with the marriage of his daughter, Miss Ida Kline, and Isaac Rosenthal, of London, England. The ceremony took place at 5 o'clock in Germania Hall. The day for the wedding has been set several times, but circumstances have made the postponement necessary.

About a month ago, just before the wedding was to take place, G. Underlentz, Mr. Kline's son-in-law, was badly injured in a runaway. About a week later Hyman Kline was attacked by a horse so that he was disabled. Two weeks ago a thief entered Mr. Kline's barn and took off his horse and wagon containing about $200 worth of valuable goods.

At last the arrangements for the wedding were completed when news came from Bernardsville of the death of Mrs. Meyer Kline, wife of the bride-elect's brother. Nothing serious happened last week, so the couple took advantage of their opportunity and got married.

HEAVY DAMAGES.

Central Railroad Settles With Victims of Seabright Accident.

Order of discontinuance were Saturday entered in the Supreme Court in the suits brought against the Central Railroad of New Jersey for damages for death and injuries resulting from the running down of a surrey at Seabright, last August, a compromise having been effected with the railway company.

Juan Terry Trippe gets $1,000; Lucy Adeline Taippe, as administratrix of Juaneta T. Terry, $3,000; and individually, $5,000; Charles W. Trippe, as administrator of Charles W. Trippe, $3,000, and individually $5,000; and Lucy Adeline Tripp, as administratrix of Kate Louise Terry, $3,000.

Naval Reserves' Annual Cruise.

The date upon which the New Jersey Naval Reserve will start on its annual cruise has been changed by the Navy Department from July 27th, the original date, to July 13th. The Prairie will anchor in the North river, and will take the reservemen aboard as she did last year. The cruise will probably be along the Long Island shore, with a few days' stay at Gardner's Bay for boat drill and sub-calibre practice.

Inspecting Waterways.

The Hon. Theodore E. Burton, chairman of the river and harbor committee of the House of Representatives; Congressman R. Wayne Parker, of Newark; Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, and Benjamin F. Howell, of New Brunswick, as guests of the joint waterways committee, made an inspection of Staten Island Sound and other waters contiguous to it on Saturday.

PROMINENT G. A. R. MAN DROPPED DEAD.

E. C. Morse Passed Away Suddenly While at Work This Morning.

JUST ASKED FOR A CHAIR.

HIS WIFE IS CRITICALLY ILL WITH HEART TROUBLE.

Resided in Plainfield for Thirty-five Years—Prominent and Active Among the Veterans—Also an Odd Fellow.

The death of Ephraim Constantine Morse, of Jackson avenue, occurred very suddenly about 8 o'clock this morning while he was engaged in papering a room in a house on South Second street, opposite the Pond Tool Works, which is owned by the Jersey Central Land Improvement Company. He had been at work only a short time, when he complained of feeling bad. He asked a member of the household to get him a chair, and as he sat down he fell to the floor dead.

Word was at once sent to his family, and very quickly the news spread throughout the city and borough, where he was universally known and esteemed. The sad task of breaking the news to Mrs. Morse, who has been critically ill for some time past, was left for the family physician, Dr. Carman. Mrs. Morse has been troubled severely with heart disease, and it was feared that the shock would be too much. When told of her husband's death she appeared dazed and did not seem to realize what had happened. Other members of the family were grief-stricken. County Physician Westcott was notified and, after he pronounced the cause of death heart disease, permission was given to remove the body to the home on Jackson avenue.

Mr. Morse was born in New York City, October 2d, 1844, and when the Civil War broke out he enlisted in Co. I, 73d N. Y. Vols., and served three years with honors. Soon after the war he moved to Plainfield and has lived here about thirty-five years. By trade he was a painter and paper hanger and he followed that line of work from the time he came to this city. After coming to Plainfield he was married. Mrs. Morse's maiden name was Mary Pangborn, and she was the daughter of Ira and Agnes Pangborn, and was born in Plainfield. She has two children, George and William Demarest, by her first marriage, and by the second marriage there are three children, Mrs. Walter Walker, Miss Agnes Morse, of the borough, and Mrs. Daisie Schutt, of Bayonne City.

Mr. Morse was one of the most prominent members of the G. A. R. of New Jersey. Two years ago when W. C. Smith was department commander, he was assistant adjutant-general. He was a charter member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., of this city, and has held nearly every position in the Post. He always evidenced a close interest in G. A. R. affairs and worked hard and incessantly for the organization. He never tired in in his work to advance the cause of the veteran and the Grand Army and at all departments and local encampments he was a prominent and active figure. Not only in Grand Army circles, but in Odd Fellowship he was active. He was a member of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., and held many of the offices in that organization, where he was highly regarded.

Mr. Morse was a son of Constantine Morse, of Raymond, N.H., and he has one brother, John, who resides in Cincinnatti. This morning when he left the house he was just as well as usual and nothing strange was noticed. He bid all an affectionate good-bye as was his custom, and he appeared to be very happy and cheerful.

Soon after he died Dr. Zegilo, who happened to be in the neighborhood, was summoned and in his opinion death was due to heart trouble.

A Tug-of-War.

A new feature for the race meet at the Gentlemen's Driving Park track July 4th has been arranged. A tug-of-war will take place between firemen teams from the machine shop and the foundry of the Pond Tool Works. A prize of $30 will be awarded to the winning team. Of that the association will put up $10, J. H. Staats, of the Hotel Kensington, $10, and the teams $5 each.

A CLEVER SWINDLE.

Spanish Schemers Try to Defraud Various Americans.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Dwight Reed, United States vice consul at Madrid, has brought to the attention of the state department a clever and ingenious swindle which has been attempted upon various persons in this country by certain Spanish schemers. The consul transmits a sample letter which was used in the attempt to defraud. It was sent to Mr. H. Stenl of Buffalo and was signed "Louis Samper Stenl," and in it the writer claims and explains a close relationship with the recipient of the letter.

"Louis Samper Stenl" recites a long series of untoward happenings and complications which financial aid alone can relieve. He had come into possession of $650,000, confessedly an embezzlement from the Spanish government, but in order to insure his money against recovery by the officials has deposited it in a Mexican bank, payable upon presentation of a check accompanied by a certain countersign arranged between himself and the bank. Certain legal steps have been taken against him, and in lieu of ready money to defray his part of the proceedings he has been put in prison, and his personal effects, including a valise in which reposes the "countersigned" check for his fortune, are about to be sold at auction. In return for timely financial aid from his "blood relation" he promises a quarter of his fortune, his daughter's share of the money during her minority and his everlasting gratitude. His daughter is at a convent, and the prior is the sole possessor of his secret. He asks that a reply be sent to Todero Runez, Calle de Swivela, Chamberi, Madrid. The latter is a nephew of the prior, but is ignorant of the existence of the check, and the writer cautions that the answer be sent in an envelope inclosed within one addressed to "Runez."

Similar communications have been sent to persons all over the United States, the writer in most cases assuming the same name as the person addressed. During the past year, Consul Reed says, parties have come from Boston and New York all the way to Madrid, only to find themselves victimized. The consul has been besieged of late by inquiries from the recipients of the letters asking some information about the signers of the communications. He has endeavored to answer them all, but in view of the growth of the swindlers' overtures he finds the task becoming great. Steps probably will be taken to hunt down the offenders and mete out proper punishment.

NEW SWEDEN CELEBRATES.

Thirtieth Anniversary of Settlement in Maine.

NEW SWEDEN, Me., June 26.—Maine's Swedish settlement celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of its existence yesterday. More than 3,000 persons, including Swedes and Americans, took part in the celebration, and the founder of the colony, Hon. William W. Thomas, Jr., accompanied by Governor Powers and other distinguished guests, was present.

Mr. Thomas delivered the oration of the day. He told the story of New Sweden from the time the first colony of 51 Swedes followed him over the ocean into the woods of Maine. The notable growth and prosperity that have ever attended the colony were pointed out in the facts that the 51 souls whom Mr Thomas led into the Maine woods in 1870 have become 2,000, and from a valuation of $8,000 their property has increased to a value of $1,143,500, and the colony is a happy, contented and model community, with fertile farms, pleasant homes, schools and churches.

Mr. Thomas presented to the Swedes a signed photograph of King Oscar and an autograph of congratulations and best wishes from the king. He also presented a signed photograph of President McKinley, with his kindly greetings.

Governor Powers also addressed the colony.

Read what this citizen says:—

Mrs M. A. Hall of 219 Prescott place says:—"For several years I had a dull aching pain across my back at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position all night and stooping, lifting or bending forward aggravated the pains. A kidney weakness which was very distressing and inconvenient also existed and though I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared.

ALLIES AT TIEN-TSIN

A Junction Formed For Attack on Chinese.

FEARS FOR SEYMOUR'S COMMAND.

Situation Grows More Gloomy, and Absence of News From Peking Is Thought to Mean Destruction of Relief Force and Legations.

LONDON, June 26.—The British cruiser Terrible has arrived at Chefu from Taku with the latest news, which is as follows:

"Eight hundred Sikhs and 200 Welsh fusileers have affected a junction with the American, German and Russian forces which had been cut off by the Chinese about nine miles from Tien-tsin. It was proposed to deliver an assault upon the Chinese forces at Tien-tsin last night (Sunday)."

It is not clear what forces united. It would seem that one relieving force, cut off, had been relieved by another. At any rate, it is apparently certain that the allies arrived in sufficient force at Tien-tsin Sunday to attack the besieging Chinese.

"Foreign official opinions here," says a dispatch from Shanghai to The Daily Expdess, dated yesterday, "incline to believe that the worse has happened to the legations at Peking and to Admiral Seymour as well. Even if the legations were safe on June 19 there is no guarantee that they are safe now. The situation, in fact, grows more and more gloomy. The entire absence of reliable news from the capital seems to justify the worse construction which can be put upon it.

"Bad news comes from Nanking, where the unrest is said to be growing hourly. Viceroy Liu Kin Yih has telegraphed the British authorities that he has ordered the five Chinese cruisers which have been lying off the harbor here to proceed to Nanking."

"General Ma's army," says a correspondent at Shanghai-kwan, "consisting of 4,000 men, left a week ago for Peking, and General Sung Ching's forces, numbering 2,500 men, left for the same place on June 15.

"A careful estimate of the number and armament of the Chinese troops around

GENERAL R. H. HALL.

Peking puts the total at 360,000, and it is calculated that these troops possess 220 7 centimeter Creusot guns, 18 Krupps and 150 Maxims.

"Their supply of ammunition is practically inexhaustible. It has been mainly supplied by a German firm at Carlowitz. Fully three-fourths of the Chinese forces are badly drilled, wholly undisciplined and quite unfamiliar with modern weapons."

Another Shanghai dispatch says:

"Li Ping Heng, former governor of Shangtung, who is intensely antiforeign, has gone to the Kiangyin forts, on the Yangtse. He has declared his intention of resisting the landing of British forces in that region."

MINISTER WU'S MOVE.

China's Representative at Washington Seeks an Armistice.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The chief development yesterday in the Chinese situation was the effort of the Chinese minister, Wu Ting Fang, to secure an armistice in the operation of American troops until Li Hung Chang could reach Peking and bring about a cessation of the disorder. The proposition is rather a novel one and is based upon the representations of the viceroys of the important provinces of the Yangtse-kiang valley that they can maintain order without the aid of foreign troops and that the presence of the foreigners would act merely as an incentive to disorder.

Nothing was heard from Admiral Kempff on the casualties of the first engagement of the American marines with the Chinese or on the outcome of the second engagement, which was to have occurred Saturday or Sunday. The only dispatch received by the secretary was a belated one from Admiral Kempff asking for instructions as to whether he should co-operate with the other naval forces in taking the Taku forts. This must have been sent some days ago, as the Taku forts were taken the middle of last week.

The state department remains without information from Minister Conger or any other source, the only dispatch received being from Consul John Goodnow, at Shanghai, saying he had heard nothing from Peking since the 14th inst. On the whole, the day was one of anxiety and a lack of definite information on the main points.

General Hall will command the American land forces in China.

Fake Dispatches From China.

BERLIN, June 26.—The Kreuz Zeitung warns the public against crediting dispatches from Chinese officials, especially those from Sheng, director general of railways and telegraphs. The recent optimistic utterances of the French foreign minister, M. Delcasse, were founded upon one of Sheng's cablegrams that has since been proved false. The paper further complains that the recent Russian communications continue to place the facts in a false light, and it instances a statement by The Official Messenger of St. Petersburg, which represents the Boxers as the only disturbers and the Chinese government as innocent. The views criticised do not prevail in German official circles. The Chinese minister here, Lu Hai Hounn, in the course of an interview said: "The empress cannot be deposed Chinese piety would not permit dethronement. But perhaps it would be possible through friendly means to intimate to the old empress that she should abdicate after having ruled so long. An experiment could be made with the emperor, surrounding him with competent counselors of whom there is no lack today among the Chinese." Germany will send to China all available vessels besides those already there.

WORD FROM KEMPFF.

Last News From Relief Expedition Received June 12.

CHEFU, June 26.—United States Consul John Fowler has received from Rear Admiral Kempff the following:

"Only one communication from Peking has reached me since communications were interrupted on June 10. It was dated June 12. No direct or indirect news from the ministers since.

"About 450 foreign troops, including 56 American marines, went to Peking to guard the legations. A force of 100 Americans, uniting with a total force of 2,500 men of all nationalities represented here, went on June 10 to open the road and to relieve Peking. This movement was by permission of the Chinese government.

"The last news from the expedition was dated June 12, when the expedition was at Lang-fang. The railroad has been destroyed behind it since.

"Any news that can be obtained or effort made for the relief of the legations and the lives and property of foreigners should be done at any hazard.

"All energies and forces here must first be directed to the relief of Tien-tsin, particularly as it is the key to Peking."

Troops Land at Taku.

TSING-TAU, June 26.—Eight thousand allied troops have landed at Taku including 1,200 Germans. A French officer who has succeeded in getting through from Tien-tsin to Taku says that the Russians alone have lost 150 killed and 300 wounded. The German gunboat Iltis, up the Tien-tsin river, reports that masses of Chinese are nearing Tongku and that an immediate attack is expected.

CLOSING ON FREE STATERS.

Final Round Up by Roberts' Forces Several Days Hence.

LONDON, June 26.—Lord Roberts' six columns are converging apparently so as to close in upon the Free Staters, although decisive results cannot be expected for several days. A number of Boers who were supposed to be within the wide flung net have broken or rather stolen through General Rundle's Ficksburg-Senekal lines.

The Canadians were engaged in the Honingspruit fight last Friday. General De Wet's men first cut off a Canadian outpost of mounted rifles at dawn, two being killed, Lieutenant Triglis and four others being wounded and three being captured. The Free Staters then attacked the camp where there were 50 Canadians and two companies of Shropshires, though without much effect, as the men were well intrenched.

The foreign military attaches who were with Lord Roberts are now in Cape Town, en route for Europe. United States Consul Hay of Pretoria is going to Machadodorp in the interest of the British prisoners and to see President Kruger.

Eighty Hollanders have been lodged in jail at Standerton for destroying property prior to the British occupation. The wives and children of the Boers are surprised that the British do not loot, but pay for what they get.

The Boers derailed a construction train near Standerton on June 24. Two trainmen were killed and four badly hurt.

A party of Brabant's horse near Ficksburg saw a camp of khaki clad men and walked in only to find themselves among the Boers. The visitors surrendered.

The Lourenco Marques correspondent of The Times, telegraphing yesterday, says:

"The Boers are losing a large number of horses from the cold and from lack of food, and the survivors are in miserable condition. The inadequacy of the Boer commissariat is telling on the burghers."

The Times editorially adopts the suggestion of a correspondent that Johannesburg should be the capital of the Transvaal colony, "because the traditions of Pretoria are corrupt."

Greene to Succeed Quigg.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The Republican county committee at its special meeting on July 5 will elect General Francis Vinton Greene to the presidency made vacant by the resignation of Lemuel Ely Quigg. Senator Platt made the announcement last night. The leader of the state organization was forced to capitulate. His capitulation was brought about by the strongly worded letter sent to the senator on Sunday by Governor Roosevelt, by General Greene's telegram to the senator yesterday and by Senator Depew's presentation of existing facts to Senator Platt in a conference yesterday afternoon that lasted for two hours.

Ice Trust Not Indicted.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The grand jury has dismissed the complaint which had been brought against the officers and directors of the American Ice company, better known as the Ice trust. The complaint, charging them with conspiracy, was presented to the grand jury by Assistant District Attorney Unger, representing Colonel Gardiner. The jury heard but three witnesses and after a brief deliberation reported to Judge McMahon in the court of general sessions that the evidence was insufficient to warrant the finding of an indictment.

A Chapter of Shootings.

WICHITA, Kan., June 26.—Sheriff Neal Morrison was wounded and two of his deputies were killed near Cloud Chief, O. T., while pursuing George Casey and William McKee, who had broken jail at Arapahoe. At Granite, a new town in Greer county, Cattle Inspector Gilmore, William Anderson, another man and a woman engaged in a game of cards. They quarreled, and all fell upon Gilmore, who shot and killed his three assailants.

Relief of Kumassi Near.

LONDON, June 26.—The government has received dispatches from Ashanti indicating that the relief of Kumassi should be accomplished this week. About 850 men of the British central African native forces sailed June 22 for Ashanti, where they will be employed to quell the rising. This is the first time that British central Africa has been called upon to partake in the responsibilities of the empire.

State Music Teachers' Association.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 26.—The New York State Music Teachers' association has convened its twelfth annual meeting here and will continue in session four days. At the preliminary meeting 100 vice presidents were in attendance, the largest number in the history of the organization, and the session was presided over by the president, Thomas Impett of Troy.

GROSVENOR TO QUIGG

Ohio Congressman on Alleged Platform Mutilation.

OMISSIONS IN NEW YORKER'S DRAFT

Mr. Quigg's Rewriting of the Republican Platform Changed It Materially and Left Out Much of Importance.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The Post today prints an authorized statement from Representative Grosvenor of Ohio in reply to the statement by Mr. Quigg, the New York member of the resolutions committee of the Republican national convention, denying certain allegations of Mr. Grosvenor of mutilation of the Republican platform by Mr. Quigg.

The Grosvenor statement is as follows:

"I have read Mr. Quigg's statement. I hold in my hand the original document which was handed over to him with certain interlineations of no very material importance, but which required the redrafting of one entire page and a part of another. Otherwise it was the platform agreed upon by the committee and the subcommittee, and no man connected with the transaction will put his name to any statement contradicting mine. It is in my possession, having been handed to me by Senator Foraker after he recovered it from Mr. Quigg the day following the action of the convention on the platform. It contains interlineations in the handwriting of Senator Foraker and others. It contains the extract from the message of the president of the United States proclaiming the policy of the Republican party in the matter of the government of the islands. It contains a plank distinctly proclaiming the policy of the Republican party in the matter of legislation in reference to our island possessions in the words I gave in my letter to the New York Journal. It contains a direct approval of the policy of legislation in favor of the merchant marine of the country. All of these are omitted from Mr. Quigg's platform.

CONGRESSMAN GROSVENOR.

"I had this document when I made the statement to the New York Journal, and I had the positive evidence of the truth of every statement I made, and any one so desiring can come to me and examine the documentary evidence to which I have referred, which will convince any man of the truth of my statement. I have read the statement of Senator Fairbanks, which does not say anything. It is not a question whether he approved of the change of the platform or not; it is a question of whether or not the revision which Mr. Quigg calls the rewriting of the platform by him changed the whole character of the document. I refer to one single statement of Mr. Quigg, and that was that the platform was considered to be too long. The platform as handed over to Mr. Quigg contained 2,000 words; the platform adopted as written by Mr. Quigg contains 2,343 words.

"I shall have nothing more to say about this matter. The document is in my possession at this date and will be retained by me until I can return it according to my promise to Senator Foraker. The Republican party will not be seriously affected by the matter for the reason that we have the two great speeches delivered in the convention and will have the letter of the president accepting the nomination.

"Mr. Quigg's statement in regard to myself are matters of not the slightest importance to me, and the controversy ends right here and now."

Madden Says He Did It.

CHICAGO, June 26.—Martin B. Madden of Chicago, who was a member of the committee on resolutions at the Philadelphia convention, said that it was he and not Lemuel E. Quigg who substituted the word "isthmian" for the word "Nicaragua" in the Republican national platform. Mr. Madden frankly admits that he alone is responsible for the change in the canal plank and does so in justice to Mr. Quigg, another member of the committee on resolutions, who has been charged with eliminating the specific term "Nicaragua."

Envoys Get American Money.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The National Boer Relief Fund association, of which Hon. W. Bourke Cockran was chairman and Mr. George W. Van Siclen secretary-treasurer, has concluded its operations and turned over its net collections to the Boer envoys, Messrs. Fischer, Wolmarans and Wessels, instead of sending them to Dr. Hofmeyer at Cape Town or to Dr. Leyds and Dr. Muller in Europe. The envoys sail on the steamer Aquitaine Thursday, June 28.

Inhuman Parents Arrested.

WHEELING, June 26.—William Graigg and wife were arrested at Moundsville by the Humane society officer on the charge of murder. The case is one without precedent in West Virginia, the allegation being that the pair were ordered to provide medicine for their sick child, which they did not do, and the child died. The developments will be awaited with interest.

Will Renounce Imperial Rights.

VIENNA, June 26.—It is officially announced that Archduke Franz Ferdinand the Austrian heir apparent, will formally renounce the right of succession to the imperial throne on Thursday next. On the following day he will wed Countess Sophie Chotek, his morganatic marriage being the reason for which he will withdraw from the succession.

Killed by Falling Rock.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 26.—John Davis, aged 60 years, miner, and Andrew Eck, driver boy, aged 16, were instantly killed by a fall of rock in the Hillman vein colliery, this city.

Relentless Rheumatism Conquered.

Up to recently it could have been said that science had advanced no positive cure for rheumatism, but a hospital specialist, delving after a cure for this tormenting disease, one day hit upon just the right formula, and in Dr. Holtin's Rheumatic Remedy to-day the medical world recognizes at last a cure.

No matter how bad your pains may have been or are; no matter of how long standing; no matter how many remedies you have tried, Dr. Holtin's Rheumatic Remedy will not only help you at once, but it will cure you for ever and ever. This magnificent remedy will cure all forms of rheumatism, muscular, acute, articular, gout, neuralgia, or sciatica, because it drives out of the system at once the uric acid that makes all the trouble and brings the muscle fibers back to their normal condition.

Don't be induced to take a substitute, but insist on having

and you will find immediate and blessed relief from pain and suffering.

ROOSEVELT'S TRIP.

No Politics In His Visit to Oklahoma City.

CHICAGO, June 26.—The Times-Herald today says that Governor Theodore Roosevelt will leave New York city next Friday for Chicago, arriving in this city Saturday and leaving the same night for Oklahoma City, where he will attend the reunion of his old regiment, the Rough Riders. He will not come west as the Republican vice presidential candidate, but as a private citizen, glad to meet his soldier comrades again and be welcomed by them. On arriving in Chicago he will become the guest of Paul Morton, second vice president of the Santa Fe road, in whose private car he will make the journey to Oklahoma.

A year ago when Governor Roosevelt attended the Rough Riders' reunion at Las Vegas Mr. Morton placed his private car at his service, and the same was accepted. On the homeward journey from Las Vegas Mr. Morton proffered the car for use again this year, and the governor accepted the tender. His presence in Chicago is therefore in keeping with his promise given in June, 1899. Mr. Morton said yesterday:

"I have a telegram from Governor Roosevelt, in which he says that he is certainly going to Oklahoma City, but desires it thoroughly understood that he is not making a political trip and that any speechmaking demanded of him will be responded to only in the character of a private citizen. I presume he does not propose to talk politics until he has been officially notified of his nomination for the vice presidency. We shall leave here some time Saturday for Oklahoma City, where the Rough Riders will be the entertainers."

The stay of Governor Roosevelt in Chicago will be very brief.

INJUNCTION ISSUED.

Mails Over St. Louis Transit Lines Must Not Be Molested.

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—In the United States circuit court Judge Elmer B. Adams issued a temporary injunction restraining William D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Car Employees of America, and others from interfering with the operation of mails over the St. Louis Transit company's lines. The injunction names over 100 men, most of whom are members of the association over which Mr. Mahon presides.

The coroner's jury sitting in the inquests on the bodies of Edward Thomas, George Rine and Edward Burkhardt, strikers who were shot and killed on Sunday, June 10, in a riot in front of the barracks of the posse comitatus, returned verdicts to the effect that Thomas was killed by deputies in the discharge of their duties and that the other two men were killed without justification by parties unknown to the jury. The verdict is of homicide in all cases, but no persons were held responsible.

TAYLOR GOES TO NIAGARA.

Kentucky's ex-Governor Makes the Trip Followed by Detectives.

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Broken in health and spirit, ex-Governor William S. Taylor of Kentucky started for Niagara Falls last night. He was accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, and four detectives followed close at their heels. Two of the officers represent the state of Kentucky and bear warrants for the arrest of Mr. Taylor upon charges growing out of the assassination of Governor Goebel. The other two are employed by Mr. Taylor to guard his person.

His stay in this city was devoid of pleasure. He accepted but one invitation and denied himself to everybody who called upon him at the hotel where he made his headquarters.

It is understood that Mr. Taylor will not be surrendered to the Kentucky authorities by Governor Roosevelt and that he will be immune from arrest until he shall return to Indiana, where he is now making his home, or until such time as he shall return to Kentucky of his own volition.

Drowned at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 26.—Dr. Howard P. Balliet of Philadelphia came to Atlantic City Sunday to act as an usher at the wedding of an old sweetheart, Miss Lizzie Stewart, who was married last evening, but before the ceremony was performed Dr. Balliet was dead. He took a bath in the ocean shortly after noon and was drowned within sight of scores of people. The accident was one of the saddest that has occurred here for many years.

England Orders Cartridge Belts.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 26.—Thomas C. Orndorff, the government contractor, has received an order from the British war office for the Orndorff cartridge belt. He is at work both here and through his English branch in the manufacture of the belts, and at least $300,000 worth of them are to be turned out. The English branch of the factory is running day and night, and the belts are taken as fast as they are turned out.

RATHBONE REMOVED

Inspector Fosnes Now Director of Cuban Posts.

BRISTOW COMPLETES HIS WORK.

The Appointee Well Qualified For the Work—Mr. Rathbone, Though Not Under Arrest, Will Not Leave the Island.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The postmaster general has issued an order removing from office Estes G. Rathbone, who had been suspended by a former order from the position of director general of posts of Cuba, and detailing Martin C. Fosnes, an inspector in the postal service, to perform the duties of director general of posts until further orders. Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow has been relieved from further work in Cuba and has sailed for home.

Yesterday's action in removing Rathbone, Postmaster General Emory Smith said last night, was not taken because of any fresh developments in the Cuban postal frauds affecting the deposed director. When Mr. Bristow, who has been conducting the investigation, left the island, he designated Mr. Fosnes as acting director, and to simplify the matter and avoid a makeshift arrangement Mr. Smith decided to appoint Mr. Fosnes as director, his tenure to be "until otherwise ordered." Mr. Smith was not prepared at this time to say how long the new appointment would last.

The appointee is said to be well qualified for the position, having been in charge of the postoffice inspection work in Philadelphia and was one of Mr. Bristow's principal assistants during his work in Cuba. The suggestion has been made that Mr. Bristow will visit the island again later on to see that matters are working smoothly, although if he does go it will be mainly in a supervisory capacity.

Mr. Smith was not prepared to say whether or not former Director Rathbone would be arrested for any connection he may have had with the existing condition of affairs in the island postal department. The determination of that question, he said, would be left entirely with General Wood, the military governor of the island, who would be guided by the developments shown by the investigation concluded by Mr. Bristow. Mr. Rathbone, Mr. Smith said, would not leave the island, as he would be wanted as a witness in the cases of the other officials against whom charges have been preferred.

FRAUD TRIALS BEGUN.

Custom House Cases First—An Exodus of Schoolteachers.

HAVANA, June 26.—Senor Andrade, the new fiscal, says in regard to the custom house fraud cases which were brought up today that he believes he can secure convictions in most of them. So far as the postal cases are concerned, he says that he cannot proceed until all the papers are in his hands. Consequently he is unprepared to make a statement respecting them at present, but he understands that he will receive the entire charges within the next few days.

Havana was practically given over yesterday to the teachers chosen to attend the summer school in Boston and to their friends. The United States transport Sedgwick took 310 women teachers and the United States transport Crook 205 men.

The Sedgwick will call at Matanzas, Cardenas and Sagua, the Crook touching only at Matanzas. Bands and special tugs were chartered for the early morning, but it was soon learned that no one would be allowed to go on board the transports before 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The crowds therefore visited the city, exploring in all directions, especially among the public buildings. It was estimated that fully 2,000 residents and friends devoted the day to saying farewell.

The fortunate teachers seem to be in excellent spirits and to be anticipating with keen pleasure a residence of three months in the United States. The Crook left about 5 o'clock and the Sedgwick much later.

Much Damage by Floods.

ATLANTA, June 26.—Reports received here from many points in Georgia and portions of Alabama and South Carolina show that the recent heavy rains inundated a vast territory and caused enormous damage to bridges and farming property. Crops, including cotton, corn and especially fruit which was nearing maturity when the wet season began, have been greatly injured and caused a loss of a vast amount to the farmers of the southern states. The rainfall has been unprecedented. All the streams are out of their banks and carrying away bridges and ferries in large numbers. The substructure of the handsome new bridge over the Ocmulgee river at Macon was carried away yesterday. Reports say the Savannah river at Augusta, Ga., was 25 feet at noon and rising two inches per hour. The mills there are closed down on account of back water in the canal.

Count Muravieff's Successor.

LONDON, June 26.—The Paris correspondent of The Daily Express says: "Four Russian embassadors are here by accident or design—Count Cassini, embassador to the United States; Count de Melidoff, embassador to Italy; Count Kapnist, embassador to Austria-Hungary, and Prince Ourossoff, embassador to France. It is said that Count Muravieff's successor at the Russian foreign office will be one of these, and I am informed that Count Cassini stands the best chance."

Thirty-seven Dead Bodies.

ATLANTA, June 26.—Thirty-seven bodies have been recovered from the wreckage of the Southern train which went into a washout one mile and a half from McDonough Saturday night. The injured who were sent to McDonough, Macon and brought here have left for their homes. Many bodies of the dead have not yet been identified and remain at the undertaking establishments waiting to be claimed by relatives or friends.

Showers In India.

LONDON, June 26.—The viceroy of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, cables that frequent showers have fallen in the Deccan and elsewhere, but that copious rains are wanted in order to enable the natives to engage in plowing and sowing the autumn crops. The famine situation is unaltered. The governor of Bombay wires that there were 10,277 deaths from cholera out of 15,479 cases during the week ending June 16.

An Industrial Chance.

The proposition which the Central Railroad of New Jersey has submitted to the Board of Trade in the matter of two valuable industries being desirous to locate along the line of their road, ought to receive the prompt and earnest attention of the progressive business men of this city. To acquire a new industry that would employ 800 or 1,000 men—such as the automobile factoty is represented to be—would be of inestimable advantage and benefit to the material interests of Plainfield.

As for the general public utilities that are necessary to such an industrial plant, Plainfield excells or equals any town in this section. Of course, what special concessions could be made to a concern intending to locate here is a matter that would have to receive serious consideration, but it seems as though the city ought to be able to hold out sufficient inducements to favorably impress the projectors of the enterprise.

During the past three years Plainfield's industrial conditions have improved and increased in a fine manner. During that time there have been several factories in diversified lines established here, and all are spreading out rapidly and are pleased with the local conditions that confront them. There is no reason why more concerns employing skilled and unskilled help can not be induced to establish here also, providing the business men of the town regard the subject with the appreciation that it deserves.

As noted in the letter received from the officials of the Central other towns are making efforts to secure these two prospective industries. Plainfield should be up and doing in this matter.

Elizabeth is having hard luck in trying to float $3,100,000 worth of bonds to take the place of the same amount of the present debt adjustment bonds, which would then be called in. The finance committee of the City Council had fixed an upset price of $1.05 for the bonds, but the big financiers of New York refused to pay the premium demanded by the city officials. By this refunding process Elizabeth expected to acquire nearly $300,000 in cash over and above the sum necessary to redeem the old bonds, which would have permitted the city to have used the amount secured from the premium in making certain needed improvements for the municipality. Under the present administration Elizabeth's credit has been restored, and it is not at all likely that the experience of the past in settling the city debt for fifty per cent. will be repeated in the future. Under these circumstances the new bonds ought to bring a fair premium.

Former Senator Hill, through a close friend, says that under no circumstances will he become a candidate for Vice President on the Democratic ticket. It is more than probable that this stand of the New Yorker will prove positive and final, but there is no telling. Mr. Hill took the same stand several years ago when he ran for Governor of New York and was defeated. He declared up and down that he would not accept the nomination under any circumstances, but it is a matter of political history that he did just what he said he would not do. It does not seem at all likely that Mr. Hill will be the running mate of Col. Bryan, but nevertheless the positive declinations of politicians nowadays are not very far-reaching sometimes when the critical moment arrives.

A poll by the New York World of thirty-two Democratic national and State committeemen from all sections of the country on the question of who would make the best running mate for Bryan results as follows: For David B. Hill, 8; a New York State man (to be chosen), 5; Admiral Schley, 5; B. F. Shiveley, 3; Carter Harrison, 2; Fitzhugh Lee, 1; George Fred Williams, 1; Charles A. Towne, 1; Admiral Dewey, 1; no choice yet, 5.

State conventions are now to be held to choose Presidential electors, who are to be voted for by the people. New Jersey has ten electors, that number being equal to her Congressmen and United States Senators. The Republicans will hold their State convention for the selection of the two electors-at-large in September. Each of the eight Congressional districts will select one other elector.

The name of James O. Glasgow, editor of the Burlington Gazette, has been mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination for State Senator from Burlington county.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

No fair will be held by the New Jersey State Agricultural Society this year, and, as the proceeds of the sale of the Waverly Fair Grounds have been distributed among the stockholders, it is unlikely that the society will resume its fairs in the future. In that case, the State will have lost a useful and valuable institution, which has done so much to promote agricultural and stock-raising interests in New Jersey.—Newark Advertiser.

* * * * *

The New York papers note with surprise that the presentation of flowers was barred from the Plainfield school commencement. The edict against flowers was issued here a year ago. It should go forth everywhere. Nothing could be more cruel than to see graduates with rich parents overwhelmed with floral offerings, while the children of parents not so favored by fortune get only a scraggy bouquet or perhaps no flowers at all. The public schools are common schools and should be democratic in all their parts. Everything should be done to encourage the patronage of the poor, as the rich can take care of themselves. If the rich and proud want flowers and frills let them send their children to private schools, for public schools are for the people and are maintained by the people.—Passaic Herald.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

It was not long ago that a young woman came to Plainfield from the middle West, where strawberries are a rather uncommon sight. She arrived just at the time when the berries were at their best in this section. One day while dining with some friends it happened that a dish of red raddishes was placed at the side of her plate. A glance at the dish gave her the impression that they were strawberries, so, to the astonishment of the rest, she carefully covered the radishes with sugar and prepared to eat them with a spoon. Explanations then became necessary.

The Newark Call has the following to say of a former Plaiefield boy: "Johnny Keefe, the local trick rider, is to be in evidence at the races of the New Brunswick Bicycle Club July 4th. He is to do a trick riding comedy act. The races take place at the half-mile track of the New Brunswick Driving Association in Highland Park. Keefe is considered to be one of the cleverest men in the trick-riding line. His 'tramp act,' 'fat lady,' 'man on one wheel,' etc, wonld amuse a misanthropist."

L. S. Schoonmaker and family, of Central avenue, have gone to Watch Hill, R. I., for the summer.

Walter B. Rittenhouse, of East Sixth street, left yesterday for Piercefield, St. Lawrence county, N. Y., after spending Saturday and Sunday at home. Rittenhouse is now chief engineer of the International Paper Company's mills at Piercefield.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

Yours for health, C. F. MYERS.

Domestic Finish Only.

With our new machinery we are making a specialty of the Collar and Cuff trade. No stretching of collars so common with laundries using the old-style gloss-finish machine. Have you heard about our new turn-down collar shaper? No? Well, try it; no break. Call and see us use it. Always welcome.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 26—On account of a fuse burning out in the electric lights the Borough Council meeting last evening was finished with the aid of a lamp. The most important business before the Council was a petition of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company to erect poles and string wires on certain streets in the borough in building their line to New Market. The ordinance was referred to the proper committee and will be acted upon at the next meeting. The Juniors petitioned for three extra marshals for the third and fourth of July and also for a permit to use the borough road for bicycle races. A permit for the erection of a merry-go-round was also asked for. They were all referred to the law and ordinance committee and will be acted upon at the next meeting July 2nd.

The Juniors and the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church have banded together for the purpose of gathering flowers and sending them to New York to be distributed among the sick and poor. The first lot will be sent tomorrow.

Emanuel Eckel and daughter, Edwina, of Westfield, visited Mrs. Henry Wiedenhaupt and Paul Kratzel Sunday for the purpose of bidding them good bye previous to their departure for Europe today.

James McEhar and family, of Brooklyn, arrived in town yesterday and have taken possession of George Churchill's residence. The latter and family have gone to Asbury Park for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John VanHorn, of Whitehouse, visited their daughter, Mrs. J. Emmons Henry, Sunday.

S. B. Merrill has returned from a two-weeks visit with relatives in Trenton and Philadelphia.

Mrs. George Gray, of Plainfield, has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Fred Schomp.

Miss Maud Giles, of Port Richmond, S. I., spent Sunday with her uncle, George Giles.

Rev. Mr. Mason, of Newark, will occupy the Presbyterian pulpit next Sunday.

Mrs. Catherine Maier has returned from a visit with relatives in Elizabeth.

George Huff moved Emil Sheidecker to Jefferson avenue, Plainfield, yesterday.

John Peters, Jr., and his sister, Elsie, spent Sunday at Somerville.

Cornelius Voorhees, of Newark, spent Sunday with C. M. Blaine.

Miss Pauline Kratzel spent Sunday with relatives at Bound Brook.

Edward Ayers is decorating the Vars building.

New Market, June 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Smalley, of Warrenville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. States Titsworth.

The funeral services of the late Christian Wenner were held from his house this afternoon. They were conducted by Rev. George Hauser, pastor of the German Reformed church, of Plainfield. The pall bearers were taken from the Plainfield Turn Verein Society of which the deceased was a member. Interment was in the Middlesex Hillside cemetery at Samptown.

Mrs. Henry Johnson, of Brooklyn, who is spending a week with her sister-in-law Mrs. Danz, enjoyed a pleasant drive to New Brunswick yesterday in company with Miss Hannah Danz.

A number of fine catches of bass and carp were made by Plainfielders yesterday at the pool below the dam.

William Roantree has secured the position of station master at Grace land on the Lehigh Valley.

David Lawson and Fred Clawson, expect to leave today for Atlantic City, for a two weeks vacation.

Frank Brown, of Oak Tree, is spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marsh.

Miss Lillie Waglow spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Brooklyn.

Dan Moody spent yesterday with friends in Plainfield.

Henry Gaskill is able to be out after his recent illness.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 26—The Republican voters of the township met in Excelsior Hall last evening to elect two delegates to the Congressional convention which meets in Elizabeth Thursday; also one delegate to the State convention which meets at Trenton in September. Geo. Ball and E. L. Hand were elected delegates to the Congressional, and E. L. Hand will also represent Fanwood at the State convention. A committee was appointed to reorganize the old Republican club, and in the near future the committee will meet to prepare plans for an active campaign in town this fall.

An entertainment to consist of music and tableaux will be given in Excelsior Hall next Saturday evening for the benefit of the Public Library of Scotch Plains. Refreshments will also be served.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will entertain a delegation from Morningside Council, of New York city, at their meeting tonight. A large turnout of members is desired.

Judge Clark finished his work of taking the census for the township and borough on Monday. The population of the two places will come very near the 1800 mark.

Mrs. Irving W. Quereau, who has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Randolph, has returned to her home in New York.

Rev. G. M. Shott has returned from New York city, where he attended the ministers' weekly conference meeting.

Miss Lena Bruchman led an interesting Epworth League meeting in the Methodist church last evening.

Mrs. Albert Darby, of Plainfield, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. John R. Marsh, yesterday.

Miss Susie Parse was the guest of friends in New York Monday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 26.—Quite a delegation from Camp No. 41, P. O. S. of A., attended a meeting in Plainfield of Camp 31 last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Braunsten returned home yesterday after two weeks' visit in town, accompanied by their nieces, Edna and Emma Eckert.

Wm. Richards moved into one of the new houses yesterday. This is the last of the houses to be occupied and still there is call for more.

The Sunday-school classes of Mrs. Schenck and Miss Colter will hold a picnic at Dayton's farm Wednesday.

Notices have been posted for the sale of the old school house to take place next Saturday afternoon.

LITERARY.

S. S. McClure has secured from Rudyard Kipling a series of stories of the South African war. The first, entitled "The Outsider," will appear in the July number of McClure's Magazine. This story introduces a young ignorant but self-important subaltern detailed to the command of a remote railway station who gets into serious trouble. As a character study, this is one of the most vigorous and amusing stories Mr. Kipling has ever written.

Big Job of Copying Records.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 26—The work of copying the records in the County Clerk's office was begun by the Fidelity Trust Company, of Newark, last night. The copyists will work from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m. From thirty to forty persons will be employed, and the job, it is calculated, will take from eight to ten months. Arrangements have been made with the county authorities by which the Newark company will pay for the light and any other expense that may be incurred in doing the job. The company wants to obtain a complete record of the documents filed in the Union County Clerk's office so as to be able to guarantee deeds and also simplify the work in the Newark office.

The Daily Press Thanked.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—At a regular meeting of the Loyal Temperance Legion a vote of thanks was ordered sent to the Plainfield Daily Press for the lengthy account given of the fountain exercises, and also for repeated reference through its columns to the fountain, which has greatly aided the worthy and humane object for which we have worked during the past year.

Laid Tracks at Night

The Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company stole a march on Caper Beams, of Sayreville, Sunday. Beams objected to the laying of tracks along his property. F. M. Lesher, of Easton, Pa., the contractor, carted material, and Saturday night, after midnight, he had a large gang of men on hand and the greater portion of the track was laid. This was done to prevent an injunction being obtained against the company.

News in Short Paragraphs That are Interesting to Read During the Spare Moments of Many Busy Plainfielders

—Philip Halfpenny will furnish the band for the Fourth of July race meet at the Driving Park.

—Look elsewhere first and you will buy at Peck's. Buy at Peck's once and you will not buy elsewhere.

—The recent warm spell has brought a number of new arrivals at the Park Avenue Hotel and the house is rapidly filling up for the summer months.

—Preparatory services will be held at the Crescent Avenue church next Friday evening. There will be a meeting of the Session afterward.

—This warm weather for breakfast you want sea food, and you want the best. We are the only daily receivers of fresh caught sea food. Rogers.

—The members of the Crescent Avenue church and the chapels connected with it will enjoy their annual excursion to Asbury Park on Tuesday, August 7th.

—Nagle, the West Front street druggist, sells pure drugs and his prescription department is second to none. He also makes a specialty of first class soda.

—A horse belonging to Mr. Phelps, of Westfield, broke its halter on West Front street, near Somerset street, Saturday afternoon and threatened to cause considerable damage. George Doodlestochs, of Mt. Bethel, captured the animal after a struggle.

—J. Edward Ruth, who is organizing a class in shorthand at Scotch Plains, says that he never represented himself to be connected with the Elizabeth Business College, but that he has been and is now connected with the Union Business College, of Elizabeth.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Mary Hull, of Washington Park, is home from Wellesley College for the summer.

Rev. W. C. Nelson and wife, of Summit avenue, are spending the summer months at Pine Brook.

Miss Emma Lunger, of Newark, spent Saturday and Sunday with her cousin, Miss Jennie Lunger, of Fairview avenue.

Benjamin Gavin, of Boston, who has been making a flying visit to his brother, E. P. Gavin, of Columbia avenue, has returned home.

James Best, of Craig place, who met with a bicycle accident a few days ago, has almost recovered from his injuries and will return to work today.

Dr. Ida Faye Lovering, of India, who gave a missionary address Sunday evening at the First Baptist church, was the guest of Mrs. David Boice, of Park avenue, during her stay in town.

Lawrence Tweedy, of Crescent avenue, accompanied by his two brothers and his cousin, Hartley Mellick, left Plainfield Saturday for his home in Texas. They will spend the summer there, returning to Plainfield.

NO SUNDAY TRAINS THIS YEAR.

But Asbury Park Hopes for the Change Next Year.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, June 26.—No Sunday trains in Asbury Park. That is the conclusion reached by the railroad company and transmitted by the Asbury Park officials Saturday in a communication from the company, explaining that the proposed change would necessitate an alteration of all time tables and put the company to no end of trouble and expense, which they do not feel inclined to incur at this season of the year.

This decision of the company gives out the hope that Sunday trains in Asbury Park will certainly come as a movement in the near future. The opposition of Ocean Grove and the protests of the ministers are not referred to in the official communication of the railroad.

Ill Advised Strike Settled.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Paterson, June 26—The trouble at the Phœnix Silk Mill, one of the largest factories in Paterson, is practically over. The weavers, all of whom are union men, refused to stand by the shop committee that ordered the strike Friday afternoon, and the firm has agreed to take them back at the old scale of wages. The strike was ill advised, three-fourths of the weavers say, and was the work of a few men.

Stuttgart. Im Hoftheater strikte neulich Abends der eiserne Vorhang. Trotz aller Anstrengungen vermochte das Maschinenpersonal nicht, den Widerspenstigen in die Höhe zu bringen. Die Vorstellung mußte deshalb unterbleiben, und das Publikum mußte wieder heimkehren, ohne das angekündigte „Glück im Winkel" genossen zu haben. Die Untersuchung ergab einen Kurbelbruch an der Maschine des eisernen Vorhanges; über Nacht wurde der Schaden ausgebessert.—Im Walde am Hasenberge wurden die Opfer einer Liebestragödie gefunden. Es waren dies der 23jährige Schreiner R. Mayer aus Frankfurt a. M. und die 18jährige Klara Schmidt aus Stuttgart. Das Mädchen lag mit einer Schußwunde todt am Boden; der Schreiner hatte sich einen Schuß in die obere Gesichtshälfte beigebracht und wurde schwerverletzt in's Krankenhaus überführt. Das Augenlicht Mayers ist jedenfalls verloren.

Ravensburg. Der Polizei in Zürich, Schweiz, ist der 17jährige Kaufmannslehrling Josef Kniele aus Ravensburg, der wegen Unterschlagung von 1400 Mark flüchtig war und steckbrieflich verfolgt wurde, in die Hände gefallen. Gegen 1000 Mark wurden bei dem Verhafteten noch vorgefunden.

Ulm. Bei der Landtagsersatzwahl im Landbezirk Ulm wurde der Kandidat der nationalen Parteien, Stadtschultheiß Haug von Langenau, mit 2120 Stimmen gewählt. Der Kandidat der Volkspartei, Haußmann, erhielt nur 190 Stimmen. Auf den Centrumskandidaten Gröber fielen 357 Stimmen, auf den Sozialdemokraten Dietrich 163 Stimmen.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Neulich Nachmittags ging ein schweres Gewitter mit Hagelsturm über Karlsruhe nieder. Der Sturm erfaßte das noch nicht ganz fertig gestellte Baugerüst des Oberlandesgerichts und riß es zusammen. Ein italienischer Arbeiter wurde von dem einstürzenden Gerüst erschlagen, sechs andere Arbeiter wurden verletzt. Der Riesenbau bildete nur noch ein Gewirr von Balken.

Heidelberg. Unserer Universität wurden von einer ungenannten Persönlichkeit 15,000 Mark zu Stipendien für junge Gelehrte geschenkt.

Mannheim. Ein Soldat des hiesigen Grenadier-Regiments, Paul Emil Lauth aus Frankfurt a. M., hat sich in der Kaserne mit seinem Dienstgewehre erschossen. Die That soll auf Streit mit seinen Eltern zurückzuführen sein.

Offenburg. Bei der Reichstagsersatzwahl im Wahlkreis Offenburg erhielten Bürgermeister Schüler-Ebringen (Centrum) 9534, Geheimer Oberregierungsrath Dr. Reinhard (nationalliberal) 9069 Stimmen.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Auch in vielen Gegenden des Reichslandes haben Nachtfröste großen Schaden gethan. Im lothringischen Weinbaubezirke erfroren die Reben, in den Nordvogesen wurde die Obsternte durch die Fröste vernichtet. Außerdem sind noch Gurken, Kartoffeln, Bohnen und andere Gemüse erfroren.

Waldwiese. Die 89jährigen Eheleute Lermond, die kurz hinter einander starben, haben ihr über 12,000,000 Mark betragendes Vermögen dem Bezirk Lothringen vermacht; es soll daraus ein Hospiz für alte Leute von 60 Jahren und darüber aus den Gemeinden Waldwiese und Rimeling errichtet werden.

Wilwisheim. Der Ortseinnehmer Stauff legte auf dem Sterbebett das Geständniß ab, drei Morde und verschiedene Brandstiftungen verübt zu haben. Die vom Amtsgericht in Folge dessen eingeleitete Untersuchung führte zur Verhaftung eines gewissen Buchert wegen Verdachtes der Mitthäterschaft am Morde des Ortseinnehmers Fuchs, des Vorgängers Stauffs. Der Vorfall hat große Erregung unter der Bevölkerung hervorgerufen.

BOY. Papa, what are Rye-pans Tabules?

BOY. Ann.
MAN. What does A. N. spell?
BOY. That spells Ann too.
MAN. Then Ans might spell Anns, might it not?
BOY. Sure!
MAN. What does R. I. P. spell?
BOY. Rip! Of course.
MAN. Then R. I. P. A. N. S. spells Ripans with the accent on the Rip not rye-pans.
BOY. But what does it mean?
MAN. Do you know the word C. A. B. A. L.?
BOY. Yes, my teacher told me about it yesterday. In the time of Charles I. the first King's Council consisted of five men whose names spelled Cabal, Arlington, Buckingham, Ashley and Lauderdale and people called them the Cabal, making the word from the initials of their name.
MAN. Well, RIPANS is a word created in a similar way. It is made up of the initial letters of six substances much used in medicine, Rhubarb, Senna, Peppermint, Aloes, Nux vomica and Soda, and your mother says that for profound depression and exhaustion and for that tired-away sensation a Ripans Tabule is a specific. Ripans Tabules are a remedy for stomach troubles and stomach troubles are the ills of nearly all sickness. One gives relief.

Wonderful Combinations of Charming Materials

They Are Being Shown in the Gowns for the Summer Season in New York

EVEN with the gorgeous displays which the shops and modistes are now showing us one cannot say that the summer display is complete. In fact, it will not be complete until the season is ready to close, if we are to believe the designers and makers of fashion, for they promise us a continual round of novelties that will keep the woman of fashion busy replenishing her wardrobe throughout the heated season.

This continual introduction of new novelties will not be in the line of design only, but in materials as well, and while some most charming things are now offered us from which to construct summer gowns there will be others quite as charming before the season is much further advanced.

But there is enough of the fashions already offered us to keep us busy choosing for weeks to come, especially those of us who are not blessed with sufficient of this world's goods to buy without consideration for the cost. And as for the fashion writers, there is enough to be seen to demand whole reams of paper to put it on.

One sees such wonderful colors, such charming combination, such novelties of garniture, that it is really hard to know just where one should begin to describe any of it. In combinations of materials there is everything that one can imagine, as, for instance, beautiful fancy printed muslins made up with tulle trimmings, and that gives some little idea of the wide range of combinations of materials and to what a startling extent they go. The pretty flimsy fabrics that are so bewitching are being made up in all manner of combinations regardless of the thread employed in their manufacture, and one sees combined in the same gown pretty silks, wools and cottons in the most charming manner.

Silks of the perishable and gauzy kind are being used in combination with all the latest wash stuffs. Then the pretty panne velvets that are so charming and popular are also combined with the new cotton goods that will be a feature of the summer season. But while all this may seem absurd when looked at in printed matter will prove unusually interesting when the garments so constructed are seen, and it is not alone the women who must count the pennies that are expended upon the summer wardrobe who are utilizing these striking combinations of materials, but the women who spend dollars without counting them are using them quite as freely. In fact, they are the styles of the day, and styles that are made by the leaders of fashionable society.

An idea of what some of the gowns made of these materials in their wonderful combinations may be had from a few descriptions. One that was decidedly charming was of white muslin made with a tucked skirt all around, being caught just below the knees, and having a loose flare around the foot. The bodice is lovely with rows of cream insertion around the stock and pointed yoke, with a wide lace beading over the shoulders extending in a short bolero with guipure lace that nearly covered the front. Wide velvet ribbon run through over the shoulders, with long loops in front.

Another of the more startling combinations was of a vivid red printed muslin and the sofest of red silk. This was made a princess, with the entire front of the printed red muslin. The silk was brought from one side over the printed muslin and draped with fancy buckles to the other side in three drapings on the skirt and three on the bodice.

A fascinating gown was of turquoise blue muslin trimmed with dozens of yards of narrow black velvet and numerous gold buttons. This gown was most elaborate, with a tucked bodice and a rounded bertha cut in vandykes. Wee gold buttons down the front on the elaborately trimmed bodice. The skirt was shirred from the waist line to just below the hips, having an extra shirred flounce around the bottom. This was all trimmed with the black velvet.

TWO CHARMING SUMMER GOWNS.

One that was pretty was a pink organdie with a white printed pattern. This was trimmed with real Valenciennes lace. The skirt had a Spanish flounce with machine stitching to finish, with a ruching above edged with the Valenciennes lace. The bodice was made with a white tucked yoke and a bertha of the organdie trimmed with the lace. A white taffeta bow at one side of the bodice, with a crushed belt of the same and butterfly bow at the left.

A gown that will be pretty for anything in the nature of a garden party was of a dainty grass green striped dimity, with a corded white stripe, trimmed with quantities of white tulle, white taffeta and grass green ribbon. One can easily imagine what the effect would be.

One of blue printed muslin would attract attention anywhere because of its charms. It was trimmed with sea green ribbon and cream lace, with the ribbon in tiny rosettes here and there on the bodice, also on the deep Spanish flounce.

Many of the really new muslins run to polka dots. One of the newest of these was a gown made of a white muslin with a pink polka dot trimmed with narrow pink ribbon, white lace and narrow black velvet.

Another of these was a very bright blue muslin with a white polka dot and trimmed with a narrow lace beading with white velvet ribbon run through.

Gluttons Among Animals.

Most people, if asked what animal eats the most, would probably say the lion or tiger. This is quite a mistake. Thirty to forty pounds of flesh will satisfy a lion, which, as an average specimen weighs over 450 pounds, is by no means extravagant. A bear has much more capacity than a lion and can make away with a small pig at a meal, say half a hundredweight of meat. Wolves are among the hungriest of the larger carnivora. A wolf will starve for a fortnight and then eat a third of his own weight at a meal.

Cost of a Mail Car.

A modern railway mail car, equipped with the latest contrivances, such as vestibules, automatic couplers, air brakes, etc., costs between $5,000 and $6,000. The government pays for the use of railway mail cars at the rate of $40 a year for a 50-foot car per track mile, and $50 per year per track mile for a 60-foot car.

Of Interest to Women at the PARIS Exposition

The Woman of Advanced Ideas Is Not Altogether Satisfied with the Big Fair

PROGRESSIVE American women who have visited the Paris fair have looked first for the Woman's building, and have found in it—a disappointment.

After all the controversy about the place women were to occupy at the Paris exposition it is hard to say just what our American women expected to find in the Woman's building, but from their comments it is implied that they did not expect to find it devoted almost exclusively to that side of the fair sex which revels in toilet preparations, hair dyes and the latest novelties in Parisian gowns.

True, on the main floor of the building there is a display of woman's work along the artistic and useful lines, such as embroideries, etc. But at no place in the building is there anything that would illustrate the new and advanced place women have taken in the world's affairs. The exposition authorities have preferred to consider the sex as simply the "adored charmer," the social butterfly or the thrifty housewife.

Of course, woman's work along the advanced lines is to be found in all departments of the exposition. The art buildings contain many paintings and bits of sculpture by women artists; throughout all the departments of liberal arts women have exhibits, and also in the agricultural departments, but they are not given an undue prominence because of the sex of the exhibitor, but must compete for prizes with the exhibits made by men in the various departments.

There are many who say this is as it should be; that the day is far past when women need any special consideration because of their sex along commercial and scientific lines; that it is fairer to the women themselves that her handiwork should be considered in the same class as that of men, and that a blue ribbon so won is far preferable to one won in a competition between women only. These may be right, but at the same time the progressive American woman has found in the Woman's building at the Paris exposition—a disappointment.

The exposition authorities call the building constructed for the use of women a palace. After one has looked at the building the word seems a misnomer. The "Woman's palace" would be better suited, perhaps, for use as a well-appointed country house than for anything else one can imagine. Had the authorities called it a mansion no one would have disputed the appropriateness of the name.

It is situated on the Champ de Mars, between the Eiffel tower and the Iena bridge across the River Seine, and is in an ideal location. The style of architecture is modern French, the whole consisting of a main building and two attached pavilions which are used as restaurants, tearooms, lavatories, cloakrooms and hairdressing saloons. On the ground floor of the "palace" proper there is the display of embroideries, etc., referred to above, while in the basement is a display of all that relates to hygiene, toilette and feminine elegance, and this is what our American women are objecting to, while to the French women it is one of the attractive features of the place. Such is the difference in the women of the two republics.

On the second floor of the main building there is a theater, a concert hall, a lecture room, a reading-room, a library and a drawing-room, all of which are reached by electric elevators. The theater on this floor offers to the progressive woman a grain of solace, for in it are presented plays written by women, but then, again, they are for women. The lecture hall she patronizes but little, for the lectures are upon subjects relating to the toilette, to home duties, to social etiquette, etc. There is practically nothing on higher education and kindred topics. In the reading-room one finds fashion and society journals, to the exclusion of all of the advanced reading.

There is one feature, however, which is attracting all classes of women from abroad, whether of advanced ideas or just "society butterflies." That is the course of lectures on the French language. Women of other nations who have found their supply of French deficient have taken to visiting these lectures during the moments when they are too tired for sightseeing, and so improving their French.

But above all else the building is a beautiful retreat for tired women. Its vine-covered walls are inviting, and inside everyone finds a welcome, no matter what her station or nationality may be. Unlike the different national pavilions, it is a home for every woman where she may rest from the fatigue of sightseeing, and gossip in whatever tongue she speaks with the assurance that there will be some one to understand. The authorities who designed the building and designated its uses may not have been so far wrong after all.

There is a building among the sideshow features which has many charms for the woman of fashion. It is the Costume palace. In it the finest costumers of Paris have vied with each other in producing effects that are startling in their richness of cut and material. It contains, besides, a full display of the fashions of the time, exact reproductions of all ages, and here the ladies may study the gowns their ancestors wore thousands of years ago.

All of these are displayed in a historic panorama that never fails to interest. One scene illustrates an incident in ancient Byzance. From an elevated platform a resplendent goddess slowly ascends a sacred staircase while priests and other orientals worship her. It is a scene taken from the history of Byzance two centuries before its capture by the Turks.

Many such scenes illustrative of the costumes of the time are taken from ancient history, but what is probably more interesting are the scenes from French history. One of these is a reproduction of the Roman baths in Paris, in which a Roman matron is teaching a young Gaul woman to enter the baths.

Another one shows the wicked Marguerite de Bourgogne, with her buffoon, standing near the fatal Tour de Nesle.

The days of the tournaments of old Paris are illustrated by a procession of the cavaliers entering, while in an inclosure near by stands an assembly of dames watching the fetes.

The famous meeting of the cloth of gold is illustrated gorgeously. French women of the court, all in gala attire, stand upon a balcony watching the historical meeting, for which the French nobility had sold their domains to be sumptuously attired.

In the scenes from modern history none is more charming than that which shows Josephine trying on the court mantle on the day before her coronation. The real mantle which figured in this historic ceremony cost 1,000,000 francs, and the imitation cost 80,000 francs.

Other scenes depict the fashions of the years in which world's fairs have taken place in Paris.

These historic scenes and the fashions which they portray, together with the gorgeous display of the fashions of the day, form an exhibit that is well worth any woman's time to see.

BERNHARD BRISTOL.

Wheel Has Come to Stay.

The world is a-wheel again, and the bicycle is a better, sounder and cheaper machine than ever before. Some years ago makers so cheapened their product that they could no longer afford to make a safe wheel for the money, but they failed as they deserved, and now the cheap wheel is a safe wheel. In lightness, ease of running, strength, speed, resiliency and comfort of riding the machine is as near perfection as it is likely to be. None of the recent additions or modifications has been of material consequence. This cheapening and improvement have popularized the wheel with thousands who, a dozen years ago, could not afford to ride on it, although for that very reason it has estranged a few of the select. Society, it is said, now refrains from it. Yet people still ride and will continue to ride for all time to come.—Golden Days.

A Lord of Creation.

Friend—I heard your wife giving you fits again this morning.

Jinks—That wasn't my wife. That was the servant girl.—N. Y. Weekly.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

The engineering shops of the University of Michigan recently completed a speaker's stand for the platform of University hall. The new stand is adjustable as to height and angle of inclination.

President Eliot, of Harvard, is a good horseman and frequently spends a part of his vacations in riding through New England. When at such times he passes a country schoolhouse he never fails to dismount and visit it if the school is in session.

Rev. W. G. Archer, business manager of Lincoln university, tells the story of an old lady in Thornton home who had but $100 in the world, the income from which is six dollars. Out of this income she gives one dollar a year to the endowment of Lincoln university.

It is refreshing to find a case of consistency where money is at stake. The Haines Gauge company of Philadelphia declines to furnish apparatus for the ships of the United States navy on the ground that the proprietors are members of the Society of Friends and are opposed to war. This is the first case of the kind on record.

The report of the churches in the Chicago presbytery, just issued, gives a total church membership of 20,349, a decrease of 814 on last year's report. This is said to be due to a severe pruning of the rolls. The money raised for missionary and philanthropic purposes during the year amounted to $559,243, compared with $528,538 the previous year.

The Outlook says that a stronger morality is beginning to inspire English municipal politics as a result of the pleasant Sunday afternoon movement, started 12 years ago but such men as Canon Scott-Holland, Rev. Bruce-Wallace, Flemming Williams and Bernard Snell. It was originated to induce the churches to take up the study of social problems.

There is no wholesome and sensible minister who does not wish to have the good will of every class in his congregation, but he especially covets the respect and confidence of the young men. This is not because they are wiser than their elders, nor because they are more spiritual, but because they are unconventional and sincere to the last degree.—Ian Maclaren, in Ladies' Home Journal.

Archbishop Temple, of Canterbury, is always made impatient of bores, especially clerical bores. One of the clergy of his diocese who had pestered him a good deal recently wrote an inordinately long letter describing a picture which he proposed to put up in the chancel of the church, and asking permission to do so. By the time his grace reached the end of the epistle his patience was quite exhausted, and he replied on a post card: "Dear Blank—Hang the picture!" The clergyman is still wondering how he ought to regard the reply.

Gossip of the Stage Stars

Honor for Maude Adams to Whom Honor is Due—Other Celebrities

TWO small American women will soon receive their meed of praise at the Paris exposition, one an actress and the other a sculptor—Maude Adams and Bessie Potter Vonnoh. Mrs. Vonnoh, better known as Bessie Potter, was until recently a resident of Chicago; and many in that city cherish remembrances of pleasant visits to the studio of this gifted lady whose small fingers have wrought such marvelous work. At the Art institute in Chicago one of the features of the exhibitions were the Bessie Potter figures, real modern fine ladies in miniature. The artist seemed to delight to mold her tiny figures from models of the Gibson sort, those divinely tall as well as divinely fair, but her most recent work is a decided departure from that style of feminine.

Maude Adams, you know, measures only five feet and weighs only 100 pounds, a quite different type from Ada Rehan, whose statue in silver had such a prominent place in '93 at the world's fair in Chicago. For Miss Adams a gold statue has been cast, which, with the base, stands six feet high. The pose is simple, one foot slightly forward and the hands hanging loosely at the side. The dress is very plain, the hair arranged simply, and the whole effect is one of great simplicity. It is folly, or worse than folly, to paint the lily and adorn the rose, and neither the real nor the golden Maud Adams needs much in the way of embellishment.

Not that Maude Adams can lay claim to much of the conventional stage beauty, but she has an individual grace and charm that would be marred by overdressing and too many diamonds. Lewis C. Strong, who has written so appreciatively of the little lady, speaks thus: "In figure, almost painfully slight and girlish; her face elfishly bewitching in its very plainness; her eyes large, blue and roguish; her hair ashen brown and delicately rippling; unusually gifted intellectually, and with a personality of the most persuasive magnetism, Maude Adams is to-day the most popular woman on the American stage."

To appreciate her you must see, hear and watch her, and never again will you think of her as plain. Both as Lady Babbie in "The Little Minister" and as Juliet she gives a real, living character, and makes you forget you are listening to the woes and weals of only a stage heroine. Critics are unanimous in praise of her Lady Babbie, but not at all so of her work as Juliet. To be sure, she gives an entirely original portrayal of that lovesick maid, breaks down many conventions, but without doubt presents a real, vital Juliet. She may lack the passion of some of the famous Juliets of old, but her youthful, girlish, appealing presence makes up for many omissions.

Miss Adams is young, very young, to be starring, and rich and famous. She was born at Salt Lake City in 1872, her father having settled in Utah with a party of Mormon missionaries. At the tender age of nine months she made her debut on the stage, was taken as an understudy for an infant that would cry most inopportunely.

Maude was carried on in a platter, and cooed and smiled at the audience in the most commendable fashion. Later she played Little Schneider in "Our Fritz" with J. K. Emmett, whom she remembered as being very kind to her. When 15 she joined her mother in a stock company in San Francisco. Miss Adams began to attract special attention when she became John Drew's leading lady. She has appeared with him in "The Masked Ball," "Butterflies," "Christopher, Jr.," "A Bauble Shop," and "Rosemary." But as Babbie in "The Little Minister" she is best known.

All eyes will be centered on Paris for the next few months, and the newspapers and returned travelers will have much to tell us of the amusements in that amusement-loving city. But we perhaps do wrong to speak of the stage as part of the amusements, for over in France theatrical things are taken very seriously by both actors and public; the audiences feel it their duty to keep the art of acting up to a high standard. Though critical in the extreme, the French people show an abandon of enthusiasm when they are pleased that seems strange to the reserved Anglo-Saxon. The other night at the conclusion of the new play presented by Sara Bernhardt, Sardou, the famous playwright, the actor, Coquelin, and M. Casimir-Perier, former president of the French republic, rushed on the stage and with kisses and embraces expressed their enthusiasm of the drama. The author, Edmond de Rostand, became well known in this country two years ago, when Richard Mansfield spread wide the fame of his "Cyrano de Bergerac." "L'Aiglon" (The Eaglet) is the name of his new drama.

James A. Herne, the author-actor, who was made famous by "Shore Acres," has a play this season, "Sag Harbor," that may prove a strong rival to the old favorite. In the east and in Chicago, where the play is now running at the Grand opera house, appreciative audiences pronounce it as good as "Shore Acres." "Sag Harbor" had a run of 107 consecutive nights in Boston, and the second large city favored is Chicago. Not until next September will New Yorkers have a chance to see the play in their town. "Sag Harbor" deals with a sleepy old whaling port on Long Island, and is a realistic picture of the life there, half rural and half nautical. There is plenty of fun and plenty of go in the play, although it is characterized by some as an almost tragic love story. Two brothers, Ben and Frank Turner, in love with the same girl, Martha Reese, give the tragic element, while the love story of Capt. Dan Marble (Mr. Herne) and Elizabeth Anne Turner supplies the comedy portion. The beautiful scenery of the shores of Long Island make a most picturesque setting for "Sag Harbor," and the stage representations are surprisingly lifelike.

WILLIAM CASTLEMAN, AN AMERICAN SINGER IN EUROPE.

Mr. Herne has given us American plays with the true ring to them, the touch of nature that can be understood by a large public. His first success was won in Chicago with "Heart of Oaks." His next plays, three in number, did not meet the popular taste, but the fourth, "Shore Acres," met with almost unparalleled success. Mr. W. D. Howells calls Mr. Herne the foremost American dramatist of the day.

Europe, it seems, is not the only place that can produce great tenors. Mr. William Castleman, of Louisville, Ky., who recently made his debut at the Royal opera house at The Hague, Holland, is declared the coming tenor. Mr. Castleman sang in a double bill "Cavelleria Rusticano" and "Pagliacci."

THE ASTROLOGER.

Electricity on Guard Duty.

Electricity is employed for guard duty in the Cincinnati zoological garden. A fence of fine wire mesh about eight feet high surrounds an inclosure in which there are a number of fine game birds. It was found that rats, cats, etc., climbed over this, so that two copper wires were stretched all around the top of the fence about an inch and a half above it and some distance apart. A switchboard was put on the side of an attendant's house, and at dark the watchman turns on the electric current, which is supplied from the electric light wires. The silent watchman accomplishes remarkable results in killing predatory animals.

SPORTING.

GOLF

Willard Wadsworth and W. L. Glenney, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, have entered the tournament to be played at the Garden City for one week commencing July 2d, for the National amateur championship.

There will be play for the vanHerwerden cup next Saturday morning on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. In the afternoon the Hillside team will play the Forest Hill team in the East Jersey Golf Association tournament.

The only event scheduled for the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course on July 4th, is a bogie handicap to be played at 10 o'clock in the morning. In the afternoon the members will visit the Park Golf Club course by invitation and take part in a competition for a prize.

The second round in the golf match between the reporters of The Daily Press and the News was played yesterday afternoon on the links of the Park Golf Club and resulted in a victory for Thomas Muir, of The Daily Press, over Francis E. Whiteside, of the News, three up. The Press team now leads 6 to 0. Muir's Scotch blood justified the claims of his friends and he won by playing great golf.

The ladies' team of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will play its third game tomorrow afternoon on the links of the Essex County Country Club, of Orange, against the ladies' team of that club. Against the comparatively easy team from the New Brunswick Golf Club, the Hillside players had no trouble. Orange possesses some crack women golfers, however, and the match will test the merit of the Plainfield combination.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will send its strongest team to Forest Hill Saturday afternoon to play the team from that club in the match in the East Jersey Golf Association. The Forest Hill team defeated the Elizabeth players Saturday and are putting up a strong game of golf. Reinhart, Glenny, Baker, the Fisks and Wadsworth will go to make up one of the strongest aggregations that has represented the Hillside Club on the links.

In the contest for the green committee challenge trophy on the the Park Golf Club course Morgan T. Townsend now leads with three victories. W. J. B. Thiers and Fred P. Taylor have each won one. The trophy is to become the permanent property of the member winning it the most number of times during the season. Townsend is undoubtedly one of the best players of the club and will make a strong showing for the trophy. His last two matches have been against players, who, while considered good players, are not in the very front rank. He had no trouble with them. His scores have shown consistently good golf and he will undoubted give the other experts a hard fight. His chief rivals at present are Fred P. Taylor, W. J. R. Thiers and J. H. Simpson. W. de la R. Anderson has been rather off in form of late and his absence from the city this summer will prevent him from figuring prominently in this contest even if his game was up to the old standard.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

For several years past the active members of the Plainfield Driving Club have, at considerable expense, given the public an opportunity to witness good races that would do credit to any track where the conditions are such that anyone so inclined could attend free of cost. The buildings, track and grounds have needed constant care and occasionally a race meet has been given to check in a measure the drain upon the treasury. One of these race-meets will be given on July 4th, and it will be of a very high order. This, together with the fact that no intoxicating liquors are sold on the grounds, should induce many Plainfielders to make that event one of profit to those concerned. Stages will meet the trolley on Park avenue and every thing will be done for the comfort of the patrons. The horse-loving public should make an extra effort towards spending a few hours with those who have taken all chances to make this meeting one of the events of the year.

ROD AND GUN.

Seeley Edsall, of Sandford avenue, who is a great lover of fishing, is trying his luck for a few days in the northern part of the State.

WHEEL PASSED OVER HIS LEG.

Frank Johnson the Unlucky Victim—Sent to the Hospital.

Frank Johnson, of North avenue, fell beneath a cart which he was driving on West Seventh street yesterday afternoon, and a front wheel passed over his right foot. The man was unable to rise, and he was picked up by Harry Fraleigh, who summoned the ambulance. It was feared at first that the limb was broken, but on examination at the hospital it was discovered he was suffering from a severe contusion. He was able to leave the hospital this morning. Johnson is thirty-three years old and is married.

Will Elect Officers.

This evening there will be a very important meeting of Local Union No. 57, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper-Hangers of America, and every member in earnestly requested to attend. There will be the final reading of the by-laws and the election of officers will take place.

Consecration Service.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church held a consecration service last evening, which was lead by Miss Lottie Wilson. There was a good attendance and the service was of special interest and help to all.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Nothing finer for breakfast than L. I. blue fish or Rhode Island scup, to be had at Rogers'.

—Rev. G. W. Gardner desires The Daily Press to say that he did not perform the marriage of Miss Saidee Rogers and William Kennedy.

—VanEmburgh prides himself in selling a most beautiful corset and a fine fitter—long or short. The price way down. You will never pay a high price after seeing these. Price given in their ad.

—The Plainfield Supply Company, of 133 North avenue, is very busy in furnishing the women of Plainfield with "Silkdown." This is one of the latest materials that is being used for sofa pillows. You can take pictures of your friends or any object and by sewing them together make a handsome cover for pillows, which can be washed when soiled. This house has the best facilities for finishing amateur work in the city, and a full and complete stock of cameras, photograph and golf supplies and bicycles can always be found.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Paul Symons, of East Third street, is ill at her home.

George Force, of this city, spent last evening in Westfield with some friends.

Miss Stella Illsley, of Union, is spending a few days with her uncle, Eugene O'Reilly, of North avenue.

A twelve-pound boy arrived last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Maguire, of West Fifth street.

Theodore Kurzhals, Sr., of West Second street, is quite ill at his home, and his folks are concerned about his condition.

Mrs. Alex. Martin and daughter, Annie, of East Sixth street, returned home today from a visit with relatives in New York.

Mrs. George H. Babcock, of West Eighth street, left today for Ashaway, R. I., where she will spend the summer at her old home.

Stephen Hope, the faithful janitor of the Bryant Public School, left today for Milford, Pa., where he will enjoy a well-deserved vacation of a week.

Ephraim Vail, who is in charge of F. A. Dunham's office, left this morning for the southern part of the state to look after some civil engineering.

Samuel Terry, of East Third street, who is confined at the hospital with paralysis, does not improve very much, although he is quite comfortable.

TEACHERS' VACATIONS.

One of Them, Miss Ada Terry, Will Become a Bride Next Week, and Has Retired From the Profession.

A majority of the borough school teachers have left town to spend the summer in various parts of the country. Miss Glass will spend her vacation at Ypsilanti, Mich.; Miss Montague and Miss Hart will spend the summer in the Thousand Islands, while Miss Walker and Miss Elsie Horton will enjoy themselves in Maine. Miss Bush has gone to her home in New Haven. Miss Sydenham has gone to Philadelphia, but will spend the summer at Wildwood, South Jersey. Miss Tantum will remain at her home in Ocean Grove. Miss Mackey will spend the summer at her home in Brooklyn, and Miss Acock will remain at her home in Trenton. Miss Frazee will go to Manasquan.

Miss Ada Terry is the only one of the corps of teachers who will give up her profession and single blessedness. Next week she will be married to Prof. Secor, instructor in mathematics at the State Normal School.

The wedding will take place at the home of the bride in Long Island, after which the couple will spend the summer at the summer school held at Ithaca. In the fall they will take up their residence at Trenton.

BOTH SCRAPPERS HELD.

Two Colored Men who Fought About a Girl Must Answer to Grand Jury.

The trial of Samuel Roberts, who was accused of stabbing Charles Kinney on Watchung avenue, a week ago Sunday night, was held before Justice Nash this morning. Both men, who are colored, got into a dispute over a girl, which resulted in Kinney's knocking Roberts down twice. Upon getting up the second time Roberts drew a knife and stabbed Kinney in the shoulder and thigh, inflicting deep cuts which bled profusely. He has been under the care of Dr. Pittis ever since the affair took place. At the trial this morning Judge Nash held both men in $50 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury, as Kinney was as much to blame as Roberts for striking the latter and knocking him nown. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., appeared for Roberts.

Fred Conroy, of the borough, who was arrested last Saturday for quarreling with "Corky" Goodman, was arraigned last evening before Mayor Smalley, and he was fined $2, the same as that imposed upon Goodman.

VIRTUES OF TACT.

Women Endowed with the Quality Are Sure to Hold Their Friends.

Tact is an indescribable art of saying or doing the right thing in the right place and in the right way, and it is an instinct rather than a cultivated grace. Tact seems Heaven-born. A veritable woman of tact is the best type of a Christian. She is unselfish and courteous under all circumstances. Tact is a most useful ally of truth. It prevents the infliction of a wound, says the Ledger Monthly.

How often we think of the story of the fairy. A fairy appeared to a young mother of three lovely little children—two girls and one boy. The fairy agreed to bestow with her fairy wand a gift upon each child upon one condition—that the mother should choose the gifts for the elder children, but she should be allowed to choose for the babe at the mother's breast. The mother consented. For her son she chose genius—for the elder daughter, beauty. "Now," said the fairy, "for the dear little babe I choose tact." "Ah!" says the young mother, with a clouded brow, "give her something better, I pray you." "Wait and see," said the fairy; "I consider hers the best choice." As years went by the mother found that little Grace had the priceless attraction—beauty and genius paled in contrast with the virtues of tact—which is a treasure that never loses luster, and adds so much to the sweetness and happiness of life.

A woman of tact whose watchword is unselfishness in thought and action, considers the feelings of others. She is agreeable to all in all conditions of life. She is a benediction in her home, and in the circle in which she moves. We are more and more convinced that we can meet with true social success only through consideration for others. The surest way to lose our friends and all in life that makes it worth the living is to try to grasp everything regardless of the rights and feelings of others.

When sympathy and tact are combined in the same person they give their possessor very great influence. Sympathy is the healing balm; tact, the dexterous hand that applies it. Tact depends upon sensitiveness of temperament combined with observation. It tells one when a subject is unwelcome, when an inquiry is painful, when condolence or congratulations are ill-timed. It softens the rough edges of unpleasant truths. Many people are full of sympathy which they do not know how to express. Tact points out the way to show it. Real sympathy has a wonderful power of winning confidence. If you are forgetful of the joys and sorrows of others, listen indifferently to their recital of them, you will never win their confidence. Real sympathy gives its possessor a wonderful power for good. To do all the good we can is to make the most of life.

Women endowed by nature with the quality called tact are the flower of their kind. They have the secret of charm, and will hold undisputed sway over the hearts of men and women. Others may be more beautiful and brilliant and witty, but for consolation in moments of discouragement, for counsel in your difficulties, you will seek the unselfish friend who rejoices with you in your good fortune and sympathizes earnestly in your misfortune, showing that gentle tact and innate refinement which is so beautiful.

Senseless Specks of Skin.

Most people have doubted their eyes when at some conjuring performance they have seen a man run needles and pins through both cheeks, evincing no pain as he does so. In reality, every person has hundreds of senseless specks of skin all over his body, through which he could run pins, or even cut them out, without feeling any pain, says the New York World. These dead spots are caused by the minute nerves which convey every sensation to the brain being either absent in these particular places or dead and senseless. But should anyone allow himself to be blindfolded, and then get one of his friends to prod him very gently with a clean needle, say all on one arm, out of every hundred pricks he will feel only about 60 or 70 at the most.

AMBITIOUS DREAMS OF TROLLEY COMPANY.

Wants to Extend Arlington Avenue Line Through to Oak Tree This Fall if Possible.

FINALLY ON TO METUCHEN.

LINES TO CONNECT NEW MARKET AND SOUTH PLAINFIELD CONSIDERED.

Lawyer H. C. Runyon is Now After Contents for the Connection Out Woodland Avenue to Oak Tree—Other Plans.

The Plainfield Street Railway Company has some ambitious dreams which it hopes to make realities at no far distant day. Its last accomplishment was the building of the Arlington avenue line, which, although urged by the property owners along that thoroughfare, was readily acquired by the company. The street railway business is a wonderfully profitable undertaking, as the capitalists behind the Plainfield Street Railway fully realize. Despite the statatements of the trolley promoters that the terms exacted by the City Council were outrageous, the corporation is carefully considering a still greater extension of its present lines in several directions.

The immediate desire of the trolley company is to extend the Arlington avenue line which now only reaches to the city line on Woodland avenue close by the Hillside cemetery. Harry C. Runyon, who has secured consents for the lines of the traction company in the past, is now engaged in securing permits from property owners along Woodland avenue to extend the line out Woodland avenue to Oak Tree, connecting there with the Lehigh Valley Railroad. This work is now in progress and Mr. Runyon is meeting with success.

The necessary percentage of consents will, it is expected, be secured in time to get a franchise from the Piscataway township authorities and build the line before the snow flies. That will mean considerable hustling, but the company is anxious to open out as far as Oak Tree this year and reach Metuchen in another year.

Despite all the statements to the contrary the Riker-Hine syndicate, which is the chief influence of the local and the Westfield-Elizabeth Company, will gladly build a line to Metuchen. A connecting line from Boynton Beach, now being considered, would make trolley communication between Plainfield and Metuchen of great value. Of course, such a line may not be built for several years, but the trolley to Oak Tree seems to have a fair prospect of being ready this fall.

Another projected line, now under consideration by the trolley promoters, is a continuation of the line that now extends to Monroe avenue and West Seventh street. It is proposed to run that line out West Seventh street to the end, then turning to the left and following the cross-road to the upper end of New Market. Whether or not it will be possible to cross the Lehigh Valley track at that point remains to be seen.

Before the New Market line is built the local trolley company wants to get a branch over to South Plainfield to connect at that point with the Lehigh Valley Railroad. It is intended to branch off the present line on West Fourth street at Plainfield avenue and follow the latter thoroughfare out to South Plainfield.

While the trolley system of the Riker-Hine syndicate is assuming large proportions, there is not yet any oudoor park established on the system unless Boynton Beach be included. Most of the big trolley corporations have a park of their own where a general assortment of attractions draw large crowds there during the summer months. Such an establishment is not at all unlikely to be located somewhere along the Plainfield-Elizabeth line, probably in the vicinity of Westfield.

No Vacations for Borough Cops.

The edict has gone forth that the borough marshals will get no vacation this year. Evidently the officials have an idea that the watchful policemen do not need any time off.

Returned Missionary to Talk.

Rev. Dr. Henderson, a returned missionary from India, will address the Christian Endeavor meeting at the First Baptist church Friday evening. Mrs. Ward will sing.

Will Become a Lawyer.

Francis Bach, of Somerset street, one of the graduates from the borough school this year, has decided to adopt the profession of practicing law.

TEA IN A STUDIO.

Delightful Informal Affair Given by Miss Harriet French—Exhibit of Drawings.

A very delightful informal tea and exhibition of drawings was given yesterday afternoon by Miss Harriet French, of Somerset street. Miss French's studio was filled with the clever drawings of her pupils and all showed remarkable ability in the execution of their work. Miss French is the instructor in drawing at Mr. Leals school and also has private classes of her own.

Miss French, was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. P. M. French, Mrs. Edward French, Miss Wood, of Virginia, and the Misses Whitney, Sadie Howell, Dora Waring, Katherine Dwight and Elizabeth Curtis.

Samuel Terry Was Afraid His Wife Wouldn't Get His Pension if He Died There.

Samuel Terry, of East Third street, who has been at the hospital under treatment for paralysis, took a notion that he wanted to go home during the early part of yesterday morning. He heard somewhere that if he should die anywhere except at home his wife would not get his pension. Accordingly he was taken home in the ambulance. There is no such law as mentioned. The Government does not pretend to tell a veteran who is receiving a pension just where he shall die. The law referred to provides that where the husband, who receives a pension, is legally or otherwise, separated from his wife, she shall not receive the pension when he dies. This is not the case with Mr. Terry. He will, however, remain at home, unless he can be persuaded to return to the hospital.

MURPHY MAKES APPOINTMENTS.

Members of Two Committees of Republican State Committee Named.

Franklin Murphy, chairman of the Republican State Committee, who sails for Europe today, with his family, to begin his duties of commissioner at the Paris Exposition, yesterday announced his appointments of members of the executive and finance committees of the State committee. The executive committeemen are Franklin Murphy, Edward C. Stokes, William Riker, Jr., John Kean, Edward J. Anderson, William Bettle, Samuel D. Dickinson, C. E. Breckinridge, David Baird, Mahlon Pitney and Richard B. Reading. The finance committee is made up of Franklin Murphy, Charles N. Fowler, Henry A. Potter, William S. Hancock and William Barbour. Neither Mr. Hancock nor Colonel Barbour is a member of the State committee, but the chairman was authorized by custom to appoint outsiders to the finance committee.

The executive committee held its first meeting yesterday afternoon in its new State headquarters, No. 42 Walnut street, Newark. Senator Stokes will be acting chairman until Mr. Murphy's return, in September. The secretary of the committee is Augustus S. Barbour, Jr. William Riker, Jr., is the treasurer.

Mr. Edwards Health Improved.

Manager Maze Edwards, of Music Hall, writes from Ann Arbor, Mich., where he has been sojourning with relatives, that he is so far improved in health as to be able to dispense with medical attendance and is gaining strength daily. Accompanied by Mrs. Edwards, he was to leave Ann Arbor this week for Houston Villa, Caseville, Mich., on the shores of Lake Huron—the summer home of Mrs. Edwards' sister, Mrs. James Houston, and family. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards will remain there until about the middle of August, returning home via Niagara in time for the opening of the season at Music Hall, which is fixed for Aug. 21st.

Meeting of Borough Voters.

There will be a public meeting of the borough citizens in the Somerset street school building next week Tuesday evening, at which time the question of authorizing the Board of Education to install a suitable heating and ventilating apparatus in that school. The plans can be seen at the schoolhouse any evening this week.

To Ride the Goat.

Court Plainfield, 1,144, Independent Order of Foresters, at their meeting to be held Friday evening, will initiate fourteen members. High Court Ranger Sharret, of Staten Island; A. W. Dick, Supreme State Deputy, of Elizabeth, will be present, and as business of importance will come up for consideration, a large attendance is desired.

On an Outing.

Almost thirty members of the ladies section of the Gesang and Turn Verein left this morning for North Beach where they will spend the day. They expect to return about 9 o'clock.

CLOSE OF LOYAL LEGION

TEMPERANCE CHILDREN ENJOY AN ENTERTAINING PROGRAMME.

C. Francisco Received a Gift for Having Raised Largest Amount for the Drinking Fountain.

The closing exercises of the Loyal Temperance Legion for the summer were held yesterday afternoon in the W. C. T. U. rooms. The reports showed that 30 meetings were held and that two-thirds of those attending were new members. The year began October 3d, 1899, and closed yesterday.

After the Legion sang a selection entitled "Prohibition," a recitation was given in a clever manner by Helen Woolley. Edward Honeyman read a selection entitled "The Difference Between Yes and No." Other recitations given were as follows: "Be Careful What You Say, Boys," Henrietta Walsh; "Grandma's Namesake," Amy Moore. Miss Mary E. Howlett presented to the Legion a handsome steel engraving in memory of a deceased member, Amelia Howard. The presentation was made by Mrs. M. C. Dobbins and was accepted by a few words from the president of Legion.

C. Francisco received a handsome gift from Mrs. Case for having raised the largest amount for the public drinking fountain. Irving VanWinkle also received a present for not missing a single meeting during the year, and Amy Moore was pleasantly remembered for having attended every meeting but one. After honorable mention was made of several members for faithful attendance, Helen Woolley favored those present with another recitation. After another song, "Only a Drop in the Bucket," by the Legion, short addresses were made by Miss Pettinger, Mrs. Case and Miss Howlett. In conclusion the members enjoyed guessing a few conundrums.

The closing feature of the programme was the ice cream and cake served to the members and friends present. Thus a very profitable and interesting event was brought to a close.

NEW FLAG POLE.

Gift to Hillside Club From J. T. Baker Has Been Placed in Position.

The ninety foot flag pole presented to the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club by John T. Baker, of Stelle avenue, was placed in position Monday afternoon by a gang of line men of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company. The pole was formerly located on the hill near the Streuli residence on Prospect avenue, which is now being torn down. Mr. Baker brought the pole and gave it to the club. It is now located close to the clubhouse and the club colors will be displayed from it hereafter.

CAUGHT A TURTLE.

Conductor Tingley Will Regale His Friends With a Layout.

The motorman and conductors of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway are making preparations for a mock turtle dinner at the expense of Conductor Lester Tingley, which is to be held at the lunch room in the waiting station in a short time.

The turtle has already been secured and is a large one weighing sixteen pounds. It was captured yesterday by Tingley who saw it from his car, lying in the low lands near the Jerusalem road. The prize was caught and brought to Plainfield. It will be kept in a barrel at the car house until all arrangements for the dinner are completed.

Entertainers Entertained.

About thirty of the young people of the Park Avenue Baptist church who participated in the Children's Day exercises of June 10th, were pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Hawkins, last evening, at her home on LaGrande avenue. Games were played and vocal and instrumental music rendered, after which refreshments were served. At a late hour the guests left for their homes, having spent a delightful evening.

To the Shore July 12th.

The excursion of the First Baptist church Sunday-school and its missions to Asbury Park will take place Thursday, July 12th, and the management has decided to carry every member of the Sunday-school and missions free. This is the first excursion out of the city this season and it should be a large one.

Tommy Timbo's Enterprise.

The trolley waiting room on Watchung avenue near North avenue was opened today by Thomas Timbo, and the place will be in charge of Jesse Hetfield, formerly of the trolley company, who has been employed by Mr. Timbo. The street railway company has nothing whatever to do with this waiting room.

WEDDED AT HIGH NOON.

Fashionable Nuptials of Bergen-Abbott Celebrated in Somerville Today—To Reside in Newark.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 27.—A brilliant wedding occurred at the Second Reformed church at high noon today, the contracting parties being Albert Van Syckle Bergen and Blanche Viedenburgh Abbott. Rev. E. S. Read, D. D., pastor of the church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Dr. Charles Dodd, of Peddie Memorial church, Newark.

The bride wore a handsome dress of white peane de soie over white taffeta, trimmed with Duchess lace. She wore a white chip hat, trimmed with white plumes and white chiffon. Also a diamond and pearl sunburst, a gift from the groom. She carried white bride roses.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Grace Garretson, wore an exquisite Parisian costume. The gown was ecru chuny lace made over white taffeta, trimmed with white chiffon and black velvet ribbons, and rhine stone buckles.

Charles Radcliffe, of Newark, was best man, and the ushers were Chas. Caufield, Dr. E. A. Miller, Newark; Wm. Maxwell, Fred. Thomas, Stewart Kenney and Chas. Fetterly, Somerville.

The newly-married couple will live at Newark upon their return from their wedding trip, where the groom is engaged in business with his father, E. E. Bergen, a commission merchant.

"THE GOVERNESS."

Clever Sketch the Principal Feature of Entertainment in Parish House of Church of Holy Cross.

A delightful entertainment was given in the parish house of the Church of the Holy Cross last evening under the auspices of the young people of the church for the benefit of the Women's Guild. The affair was well patronized and the audience was an appreciative one.

The first part of the entertainment was devoted to a mandolin solo by Everitt Murray, banjo solos by Fred VanEps and piano solos by Miss Howard. The many friends of Miss Howard gave her an ovation and presented her with a handsome buch of pinks, while the other artists were well repaid by the hearty applause given. Miss Barlow was the accompanist for Mr. Murray, Mr. VanEps and she also accompanied Raymond McGee, who sang two popular selections in good style.

Part second was a clever sketch entitled "The Governess," which was given by Miss Virginia Hegeman, Miss Sophie Barlow and Miss Frankie Burr. Miss Hegeman took the part of the Governess, while the other two young women were the pupils. The sketch was cleverly given by the young women and they were loudly applauded by their friends, who also presented them with handsome bouquets.

A. E Faber, Jr., was in charge of the programme and announced the several numbers in his usual excellent manner.

WESTFIELD CITY NEXT.

Steps Taken to Change the Form of Government.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, June 27.—The special committee of representative citizens and business men of this place, who were appointed by the Westfield Township Committee to look into the question of building a town hall for Westfield, met Monday evening and decided by unanimous vote that before the matter of town hall was considered the Township Committee should take steps to incorporate Westfield as a city.

The Township Committee were also present at the meeting, and agreed with the committee. At an early meeting the Township Committee will take steps toward this end and the old historical township of Westfield will be made the fifth city in Union county.

Anxious for Sunday Trains.

It will not be Founder Bradley's fault if Sunday trains do not stop at the Asbury Park station next season. The founder has his blood up, and is urging the hotel people to keep right on hustling. His latest declaration, made in Council meeting Monday night, was to the effect that if Ocean Grove is not willing to compromise by having trains stop at the North Asbury station on the Sabbath, steps will be taken that will result in trains stopping at the main station.

In Need of Repair.

The upper part of Westervelt avenue is sadly in need of some kind of repair. The condition of this part of the avenue is anything but what it should be.

TO NOMINATE ELECTORS.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION TO BE HELD SEPTEMBER 6TH.

Official Call Issued by Chairman of State Committee—Union Has Forty-six Delegates.

Chairman Franklin Murphy, of the Republican State committee, has issued the call for the State convention for the selection of the Presidential electors, to be held in Taylor's Opera House, Trenton, Thursday, September 6th. The call is as follows:

The Republican voters of the several counties of New Jersey are requested to select delegates to a State convention, to be held in Taylor's Opera House, in the city of Trenton, at 12 o'clock, noon, Thursday, September 6, 1900, for the purpose of nominating ten electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, to be supported at the ensuing election.

The basis of representation under this call will be one delegate for each 200 Republican votes cast at the last Gubernatorial election, and one for each fraction of the same over 100. The number of delegates which each county will be entitled to under this call will be as follows:

Atlantic, 31; Bergen, 35; Burlington, 34; Camden, 55; Cape May, 9; Cumberland, 27; Essex, 161; Gloucester, 19; Hudson, 111; Hunterdon, 16; Mercer, 53; Middlesex, 35; Monmouth, 41; Morris, 33; Ocean, 14; Passaic, 56; Salem, 16; Somerset, 18; Sussex, 12; Union, 46, and Warren, 14.

The county committee is requested to see that the representation is equitably proportioned on the basis of this call. In counties where the number of wards and townships exceeds the allotted number of delegates it is suggested that fractional representation be given, so that each ward and township may be represented in the convention.

Franklin Murphy, Chairman.
Augustus F. Barber, Secretary.

SCRATCH WAS FATAL.

Somerset County Farmer Died From Blood Poisoning Due to a Rusty Nail.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 27—Peter P. Kenney, a farmer living just north of town, died yesterday from blood poisoning, the result of a scratch on a boil from a rusty nail. His hand was swollen to twice its natural size and he suffered intensely for a week past. He was aged about 75. Mr. Kenney owned a valuable farm on high ground, north of Somerville, and sold a portion of the land to Rev. Edward Judson, of New York, upon which the Baptist Orphanage was constructed. A widow and several children survive him.

SOLEMN HIGH MASS.

Impressive Services Held Over Remains of Late Frank McVey.

The funeral services of the late Frank McVey were held at St. Mary's church yesterday, where solemn high mass was said for the repose of his soul. The services were very impressive and were largely attended. Delegations were present from the A. O. U. W. and the Pond Tool Works Benevolent Society, of which he was a member. The esteem in which the young man was held was shown by the large number of floral tributes which were sent by sorrowing relatives and friends. The pall-bearers were chosen from the members of the two lodges. Interment was made in St. Peter's cemetery at New Brunswick.

Town Owns Soda Water Fountain.

The Cranford Town Committee now has a soda water fountain, the result of a sale of a caterer's stock for unpaid taxes yesterday by Collector Crane. There being no bids on the fountain, the Town Committee was obliged to bid it in and turn it over to the town clerk as the custodian of town property. The collector will put the fountain in the town rooms today, and the Town Committee will decide soon what to do in the matter.

Firemen's Parade at Summit.

An effort is being made by several of the companies comprising the Summit fire department to arrange for a parade and celebration Labor Day, inviting all of the companies in that section of New Jersey to participate. The movement was inaugurated by the Firemen's Relief Association, and at a meeting held recently it was decided to apply to the Council for an appropriation to defray the expense of such a celebration.

No Evening Service.

On and after next Sunday there will be no evening service at Grace P. E. church. Instead evening prayer will be held at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoons. This change in the hour of service will continue during July and August.

MONSTER MACHINE.

Big Boring Mill Built by the Pond Tool Company for Use in Holland.

The Pond Tool Works completed the construction of and loaded on the cars yesterday a fifteen-foot boring mill, the largest of its kind that has ever been built in this shop. The machine has been placed in sections on three ordinary flat cars. It will be shipped to New York, thence by steamer to Rotterdam, where it will be erected in the plant of one of the largest concerns in Holland. This mill is a sample of some of the heavy work of which the local shop is capable and for which it is becoming noted all over the manufacturing world. The company now employs about 700 hands, and runs day and night gangs.

MUSIC DIDN'T SOOTH THEM.

Dr. Knott's Horses Took Fright at a Street Piano and Made a Lively Time of It.

A street piano was the direct cause of a short, but serious runaway, which occurred on West Seventh street, near Spooner avenue, yesterday afternoon. A team of horses attached to a road wagon and driven by Dr. Knott took fright at the musical instrument and bolted down Seventh street. Just beyond the corner of John street they freed themselves from the wagon, which was then almost a total wreck, and ran into the yard of John Mortimer. Directly in their path was a barbed wire fence which both animals struck with such force as to turn them completely over. They were caught by a young man who lives in the vicinity, and who held them until the Doctor's arrival. Besides the wrecked carriage, the harness was broken and both horses received a number of bad cuts from the barbed wire. One horse received a gash which necessitated twelve stitches to close it up.

GOOD ROAD IMPROVEMENTS.

Netherwood People Pleased With Work on South Avenue.

The residents of South avenue beyond the Netherwood hill, and bicyclists in particular, are well pleased with the work which is being done by the street commissioner on that street. Those who have had occasion to use this thoroughfare during the past few years, for either riding or driving, always complained of the loose stones and waterbreaks in the road. The street commissioner is now having the entire street re-stoned and put in first-class shape from the hill to the city line. This will make a complete stretch of fine macadam from Richmond street.

CONSUMPTION WAS FATAL.

Mrs. Amelia Uhlinger Passed Away This Morning After a Long Illness.

Mrs. Amelia U zinger, of McDowell street, died early this morning of consumption, from which she has been suffering for some time. She attended to her household duties as usual yesterday, but towards evening she was taken with a bad spell of the dreaded disease, and Dr. Buchanan was sent for. Upon the doctor's arrival he saw that the sufferer was beyond all aid and she passed away shortly after midnight. The deceased is survived by two sons and a daughter, her husband being dead about three years.

ENDEAVORERS SAIL AWAY.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Hoboken, June 27—With flags flying and waving adieu to friends the New Jersey Christian Endeavor delegates, who will attend the international convention in London July 14th to 18th, sailed yesterday afternoon on the Batavia, of the Hamburg-American Line. There were over 100 in the party.

The majority of the party will make the entire trip, sailing for home from Boulogne August 9th and reaching New York August 20th.

Funeral of E. C. Morse.

The funeral services of the late Ephraim Constantine Morse will be held tomorrow afternoon from the residence, 58 Jackson avenue, at 3:30 o'clock, and at Warren chapel at 4 o'clock. Interment will be in North Plainfield cemetery. The members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., Woman's Relief Corps, No. 10, auxiliary to the Post, Sons of Veterans, and Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., will attend in a body. The services will be in charge of the G. A. R. and I. O. O. F.

Resolutions of Condolence.

At a meeting of the G. A. R. held last evening a committee was appointed to draw up a set of resolutions on the death of their departed brother, E. C. Morse, and to extend an invitation to the Sons of Veterans to attend the funeral.

MATRON EYLER'S RULE CONDEMNED.

Special Committee of the New Jersey Legislature Reports to the Governor.

HER USEFULNESS GONE.

PUNISHMENTS INFLICTED UPON THE GIRLS IN VIOLATION OF RULES.

Board of Trustees Scored—State Home for Girls Should be so Conducted as to Merit Moral Support of the People.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 27.—The final report of the special committee appointed by the last Legislature to investigate the affairs of the State Industrial School for Girls, was signed and presented to Governor Voorhees yesterday. The report censures the present management of the school, and scores Mrs. Eyler's methods as principal and also criticises Mr. Eyler, the clerk.

The report says that, prior to 1897, the institution was considered a model reform school, discipline was good and the results were highly commendable to those in charge.

During the last two years, the report says, inexperienced persons have been engaged as permanent officers and teachers without any examination as to their quatifications for so responsible a charge, escapes have become more frequent, punishments have increased in a proportion greater than the number of the inmates, and a general feeling of suspicion and lack of confidence in the management of the home exist.

The present board of trustees, the report continues, is practically nullifying the humane measure which allows the inmates to be paroled under certain conditions, by not informing patients of the law. "This action on their part is in our opinion ample proof that they do not understand the temper and wishes of the people and the Legislature, or that they intentionally act arbitrarily in defiance of the wishes of these for whom they are merely trustees or agents.

"Corporal punishment has repeatedly been inflicted upon the inmates in violation of the rules without the knowledge of the trustees," the report asserts, and after relating the character of these, it continues:

"While these and other seeming cruelties of more or less harshness may be necessary and in vogue in similar institutions, and while the causes for the infliction thereof are not always given in the testimony before us, still we regard the regime of the present principal as most unfortunate, and believe that her usefulness to the State has been greatly lessened, if not wholly destroyed.

"The State Home for Girls is supported out of the public funds, and should be so conducted as to merit the moral support, helpful sympathy and approval of the entire State, and the inmates committed to the care of the State should not only receive kind and considerate care and be surrounded by the best influences, but that they are so treated and surrounded should be apparent to all the people and without any suspicious reservation. That this is impossible under the present management we are fully convinced."

Hopes to Sell Democratic Bonds.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 27—Alexander Kerr, a stalwart Republican, is hopeful over the prospect of getting a good price now for three $100 bonds of the State Democratic League, which were among the assets of the late Judge McCormick, and were purchased by Mr. Kerr for $1. Mr. Kerr has been in receipt of a couple of offers for the bonds lately, and he thinks before the campaign closes he will get even higher bids.

Delegates Favor Fowler.

The primaries held in Orange, West Orange and South Orange Monday night for the election of delegates to the Eighth District Congressional convention were slimly attended. There were no contests, the renomination of Congressman Charles N. Fowler being looked upon as a foregone conclusion.

Rev. Mr. Murphy Returns.

The Red Star liner, "Kensington" arrived in the upper New York Bay this noon with Rev. T. Logan Murphy, of this city, on board. His son, Clarence L. Murphy, was at the dock to meet him. Rev. Mr. Murphy came out to Plainfield at once and will spend some time with his sons here.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Morse, of New York, are guests at the home of B. J. Shreve, of Grove street.

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—Already a number of new scholars have arranged to enter the borough schools next year.

—Excellent progress is being made with the macadamizing of the upper part of Watchung avenue.

—A very important meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held tomorrow evening.

—The Plainfield Street Railway Company has about completed the work of macadamizing Arlington avenue along the line of the trolley.

—The improvements about the school property on Arlington avenue are nearing completion. In a short time the new iron fence will be erected.

—Ladies, clean your kid gloves with LaBelle glove cleaner. It is not a liquid, leaves no odor and can be used while the glove is on the hand. For sale only by Frank Rowley, druggist. tf —It has been suggested that a signal light should be placed at the corner of Park avenue and Randolph road, where the trolley crosses Park avenue, to warn pedestrians and people who drive when a car is approaching.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by L. W. Randolph. Trial bottles free.

LITERARY.

Even to the chronic theatre-goers of long experience, it may be a surprise to learn that one of the very oldest actors in point of service, still before the public, is Stuart Robson. Long association with youthful roles, and the freshness and vigor of his portrayals make it difficult for us to realize that his public career extends over nearly half a century. Yet in the July number of Everbody's Magazine appears the first installment of a series of articles by Mr. Robson in the nature of an autobiograph, and entitled "The Memories of Fifty Years." These are articles that will interest, not only theatrical people, and people who are interested in theatrical matters, but also everyone who likes good story-telling, new glimpses of history, and new views of famous people. The simple explanation for the most is on "Liquid Air." The story of Petroleum is told, and a brief account of the workings of the oil industry. There are fourteen other good articles and short stories.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Ephraim Vail is spending a few days in Philadelphia on business.

The Misses Rudd, of Clinton avenue, are entertaining company from out of town.

Mrs. Spicer, of West Seventh street, has about recovered from a recent illness.

Harry Lozier, of Pittsfield, Pa., is spending a few weeks with relatives in town.

Mrs. C. A. Baynon, of LaGrande avenue, is enjoying the summer at Clifton Springs, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Schloss, of West Front street, are entertaining company from Philadelphia.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of West Seventh street, has arranged to spend his annual vacation at his favorite resort, Saratoga.

James Carter, the elevator man at the Babcock building, started on his vacation yesterday, which he will spend in Brooklyn.

Dr. Rushmore, of Park avenue, has returned from Washington, where he has been attending the meeting of a medical association.

T. F. Budlong and family, of Madison avenue, will go to Lebanon, Hunterdon county, Saturday, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. George H. Babcock and son, George, of West Eighth street, left yesterday for Ashaway, R. I., where they will spend the summer.

Dr. Martha Stillman, of West Fourth street, returned yesterday after spending a week at Alfred, N. Y., and attending the commencement exercises of Alfred University.

AT KANSAS CITY.

Delegates Arriving—A Boom For Sulzer—Hall Progressing Rapidly.

KANSAS CITY, June 27.—The first arrivals for the Democratic national convention came in yesterday. They were John J. Fitzgerald, a delegate from Kings county, N. Y., and Jacob Ruppert, Jr., of New York city, an alternate at large. Both are quoted as saying they do not favor the free silver plank in the Democratic platform.

"There are so many issues more important," said Mr. Ruppert, "that I think free silver need not be mentioned at all. The party in the east will not stand for free silver."

Sterling Price of Paris, Tex., arrived here and began arrangements for opening headquarters for Congressman William Sulzer of New York, who is expected on Friday or Saturday. Incidentally Mr. Price started a boom for the New Yorker for vice president.

"The west knows," Mr. Price is quoted as saying, "that the candidate for vice president must come from the east. It ought to be New York. Hill is out of the question. Sulzer is the man who appeals to the elements we need to carry New York."

Although the Democratic national committee will not meet here until Monday next to select its temporary officers, considerable gossip is being indulged in as to the selection of temporary chairman. The Star last evening said that it lies apparently between D. A. Rose, mayor of Milwaukee, and Governor Charles N. Thomas of Colorado, with the chances in favor of Mr. Rose.

Gangs of men are working day and night to complete the new convention hall, and there is every assurance that Kansas City's promises of a suitable meeting place will be fulfilled. The hall directors say they will turn the building over to the national committee on Monday. Already the decorators have begun their work on the interior of the big structure, and the finishing touches and smaller details are being put on.

Charles A. Towne, Populist nominee for vice president and chairman of the Silver Republican national committee, has written that he will reach Kansas City on Friday. General E. S. Corser, secretary and treasurer of the Silver Republican committee, is expected to arrive today to begin active preparations for the convention, which will meet at the same time as the Democratic gathering.

Swallow Is Willing.

PITTSBURG, June 27.—The Rev. Dr. Silas C. Swallow of Harrisburg passed through Pittsburg on his way to Chicago to attend the Prohibition national convention. "The Prohibition party is certainly stronger than it was four years ago. I look for an increased vote all over the country. The stand that the administration has taken in behalf of the army canteen will be of great aid to the Prohibition party. I am not seeking the nomination for president, but if it is tendered me I shall accept. I will receive my greatest support in the convention from my own state, middle and eastern states."

The Ninth Leaves Manila.

MANILA, June 27.—The Ninth infantry regiment has embarked on the transport Logan, which sailed this morning for Taku. The men have been newly equipped with rifles and clothing, and they made a splendid appearance as they marched to the transport. The cruiser Brooklyn, Admiral Remey's flagship, which is to go to Taku, will take 300 marines from Cavite. The Brooklyn will coal at Nagasaki, Japan, before proceeding to her destination. The gunboat Princeton will follow her. General MacArthur has been confined to the palace for three days with a slight fever.

Illinois Democrats.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., June 27.—The Democratic state convention last night nominated Samuel A. Schuler of Aurora for governor and adjourned until today, when the ticket will be completed and the platform adopted. The following were selected as delegates at large to the Kansas City convention: Mayor Carter H. Harrison of Chicago, Alfred S. Trude of Chicago, Benjamin T. Cable of Rock Island and Congressman James R. Williams of Carmi.

Press Association Convention.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Nearly 300 members of the New York Press association met in their forty-fourth annual convention at Brighton Beach yesterday. Nearly every section of the state is represented by one or more delegates, and the programme, which is designed to occupy almost every moment of the members' time until tomorrow evening, when the annual banquet will close the convention, has been carefully prepared.

Miners Entombed.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., June 27.—Several pillars of coal collapsed in the No. 10 vein of the Beilson shaft at this place late yesterday afternoon, causing a gangway to be closed in, entombing Robert Taylor, a miner, and his Hungarian laborer. Another Hungarian laborer is also unaccounted for. A rescuing party is endeavoring to reach the entombed men.

BRIDGE WORK
In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

THE OUTLOOK IS DARK

New Outbreaks Threatened In Southern China.

GREAT UNREST IN CITY OF CANTON.

Natives Hurrying Out of the City For Safety—Li Hung Chang's Enemies Declare He Will Not Reach Peking Alive.

LONDON, June 27.—A fresh phase of the ebullition in China is the probability of immediate outbreaks in the great southern provincial centers. The populace there is daily assuming a more hostile attitude toward foreigners, and the latter perceive symptoms of a general rising, especially at Nanking, where, according to a dispatch to The Daily Express, dated yesterday, Kang Wu, one of the most truculent enemies of foreigners, has arrived by way of the grand canal, armed with full powers from the empress to deal with the southern provinces. The friendly attitude of Viceroy Liu Kun Yih toward foreigners has brought him into disgrace with Prince Tuan, president of the tsung-li-yamen.

The unrest at Canton is described by a dispatch from that city to The Daily Telegraph, dated Monday, via Hongkong, yesterday:

"It is feared that we are on the eve of a scene of bloodshed and anarchy in the two Quangs only paralleled during the Taiping rebellion. The signs of a murderous uprising are so manifest that wealthy Chinese are hurrying from Canton and the vicinity, taking their wives, families and valuables.

"Li Hung Chang has been again peremptorily ordered to Peking. His enemies declare that they will murder him before he can reach there. His presence alone restrains the revolutionary elements here. His departure will let loose the Black Flags and Red Girdles. Knowing this, Li's trusted officers are sending their families to Hongkong.

"The viceroy himself trusts the Americans in this crisis. He says that they alone want no territory, and he places himself largely, almost unreservedly, in their hands. At an important conference today he reiterated this statement.

"All the missionaries have been notified of the imminent peril through confidential runners. They are leaving Canton hurriedly, and only a few are now here.

"Commander McLean of the United States steamer Don Juan de Austria is the first here to protect foreign interests. He is capable and energetic and is re-enforced by her majesty's steamer Redpole. Two hundred foreign residents at Shameen are armed.

"The Canton population reaches 2,000,000, in addition to 250,000 living on junks and sampans (flat bottomed river boats). Most of these people are disaffected, and incendiary proclamations are increasing the number of the virulent."

Shanghai cables that the French consul there has received a telegram from San-tung asserting that 11,000 Chinese troops are making a forced march from Shan-tung to Peking.

Two Jesuit fathers and 100 native Christians have been murdered in the southern part of the province of Chi-li. The Chinese military authorities have been discovered recruiting at Shanghai inside the foreign settlement, and some agents have been arrested in the act of constructing intrenchments around the European concessions.

A Chinaman connected with war purchases for the Chinese government in Europe, who has been interviewed by The Daily Express, says that China has immense quantities of arms and ammunition and will "stagger humanity" if driven to defend herself.

CHAFFEE TO COMMAND.

The General Ordered to China—Viceroys' Request Ignored.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The purpose of the government to place an adequate military force in China was made perfectly clear yesterday, when orders were issued to Brigadier General Adna R. Chaffee to take command of the forces in China and to proceed at once to assume his new duties. More significant probably than the assignment itself was the wording of the formal orders to General Chaffee, issued late in the day by Acting Secretary of War Meiklejohn, directing him "to take command of the troops ordered to China" and to proceed to Peking by way of San Francisco and Taku, accompanied by his aids. It had been expected that the military forces would be concentrated at Chefu or some other convenient military base, but the direction to proceed to Peking, the capital of the Chinese empire, indicated a firm determination on the part of the government authorities to have a strong military force at the seat of the Chinese government. The announcement of General Chaffee's assignment and the orders to proceed to Peking came after the state department had declined to accede to a second proposition from six great viceroys of China that foreign troops be kept out of China until Li Hung Chang reaches Peking. In more formal manner, with the signatures of the six viceroys representing the greater part of the empire, Minister Wu repeated his plea of Monday that the foreign troops be kept out of the country. Secretary Hay laid the formal request of the viceroys before the cabinet meeting, but there was no disposition to vary from the president's determination, already made known by Secretary Hay to the Chinese minister, to send our forces to such points as were menaced and where our officials and citizens were in danger.

General Chaffee was in conference with the war department authorities much of the day and in the afternoon spent nearly an hour with Secretary Hay going over those phases of the Chinese situation in which diplomacy will have to be mingled with military action.

General Chaffee, who is staying at the Arlington hotel, was given a serenade last night by the Third cavalry band, of which regiment he was lieutenant colonel before the war with Spain. The general left the city this morning for San Francisco, whence he is to sail on the transport Grant for Japan and China. The only person accompanying him was Lieutenant Harper, one of his aids. The two travel on the Grant simply as passengers. The vessel also is to take two squadrons of the Sixth cavalry, which are intended for service in the Philippines, but will be delivered to China if the present condition of affairs continues to exist when the Grant reaches Nagasaki, Japan. At that place General Chaffee will receive whatever further orders the war department may have for him. He fully expects to go to Chefu, but as to whether he will go farther into China or not he was not willing to say last night.

The Taking of Tien-tsin.

CHEFU, June 27.—The Americans and British entered Tien-tsin, first silencing the guns of the arsenal and breaking through the Chinese lines. The foreigners were close behind. The Russians lost four killed and 30 wounded. The losses of the other nationalities were small.

Admiral Seymour's force is about ten miles from Tien-tsin. It is surrounded by Chinese troops and Boxers and hampered by the presence of sick and wounded.

It was reported that all foreigners were sent from Peking with a weak Chinese guard, and it is assumed that they are with Admiral Seymour.

One thousand Japanese are landing at Taku, and 2,000 more are expected tomorrow, when a battalion of French is also due.

The foreign admirals have appointed Captain Wise, commander of the Monocacy, to be commandant at Tong-ku.

The Netherlands cruiser Holland has left Java for Chefu.

Germany's Position.

BERLIN, June 27.—It is evident that Germany has been interchanging opinions with Russia and other powers during the last 24 hours and that the foreign office has been receiving new instructions from Count von Bulow, minister of foreign affairs, who is still having hourly conferences with Emperor William at Kiel. As a result Germany takes the position outlined by a high official of the foreign office as follows: "The German government does not yet see any cause to impute bad faith to the Chinese government and to saddle the responsibility upon Peking for the participation of Chinese troops in the Boxer excesses. At least, all reliable news received here thus far leaves the question of responsibility still open. This view is shared by other powers. For the same reason the question of dethroning the empress has not yet been discussed between the powers."

Missionaries Reach Hongkong.

HONGKONG, June 27.—The steamer Sam-chui arrived yesterday from Wu-chau, on the West river, with a number of lady missionaries. She reports that the other Europeans are preparing to leave Wu-chau, as the natives are conducting antiforeign demonstrations.

SHARKEY DEFEATED.

Ruhlin Knocks Out the Sailor In the Fifteenth Round.

NEW YORK, June 27.—For the first time in his pugilistic career Tom Sharkey went down to decisive defeat last night in the historic arena of the Seaside Athletic club, and big Gus Ruhlin, the Ohio pugilist, was his conqueror. It was a clean knockout that came after 15 rounds of fighting that made a memorable ring battle. Save in the matter of aggressiveness Ruhlin led from the face off in every feature of the game and at all times had the fight well in hand. Sharkey did not give up his place in the line of first class heavyweights without a desperate struggle.

More than 6,000 spectators went to the arena expecting to see Sharkey make a chopping block of Ruhlin, who was knocked out in a punch by the sailor two years ago. Few paid attention to the stories that Ruhlin had improved, and nobody expected him to put to sleep the man who has met all of the latter day pugilists of note without being stopped. Jeffries had failed to stop Sharkey in 25 rounds, and that fact was made the basis of the argument that Ruhlin would prove unequal to the task. But as the fight turned out all of these ideas and predictions were worthless.

Ruhlin fought Sharkey with beautiful judgment. He met the sailor's rushes, which were always in evidence, with straight lefts. These blows bruised the sailor's face beyond recognition and so blinded him that he was virtually helpless when Ruhlin knocked him down for the first time in the fifteenth round. Five times after that the plucky sailor was floored, but he hung on like grim death and was only beaten when Referee John White refused to allow the slaughter to proceed. Although Sharkey rushed all through the flight, swinging blows that were fearful in force, he did not land with enough effect to have Ruhlin bordering upon Queer street.

Michigan Republicans.

GRAND RAPIDS, June 27.—The Republican state convention was called to order this morning in the Auditorium. A full state ticket will be nominated. Daniel P. Markey of Port Huron was selected for temporary chairman. There are six active candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, ex-Congressman Aaron T. Bliss of Saginaw, Dexter M. Perry of Detroit, Justus S. Stearns of Ludington, the present secretary of state; Chase S. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie, the present state railroad commissioner; Mila D. Campbell of Coldwater, the present state insurance commissioner, and ex-Congressman James O'Donnell of Jackson. The number of aspirants for minor places on the ticket is also very large.

Earthquake In Connecticut.

STAMFORD, Conn., June 27.—Two slight earthquake shocks were felt in this town and neighborhood yesterday. The first was about 10 o'clock and lasted several seconds. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the shock was distinct and lasted 30 seconds, with a slight break. In brick buildings it was very noticeable. In residences dishes were rattled. Out on the sound the shocks were also felt.

Large Shipment of Gold.

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—The largest single shipment of gold that has ever been received at the Philadelphia mint reached here yesterday afternoon from the New York assay office. It is valued at $15,000,000 and will be at once coined. The metal was packed in boxes two feet long, six inches deep and eight inches wide.

Catholic Church Destroyed.

FRANKLIN, Mass., June 27.—St. Mary's Catholic church, one of the largest structures in town, was burned last evening, the vestments and service books alone being saved. The loss is estimated at $30,000; partially insured. The fire started in the front of the building near the door, but its origin is not known.

Crops Suffering From Drought.

GENEVA, N. Y., June 27.—Crops have been considerably damaged in this vicinity because of the exceedingly dry weather. Little or no rain has fallen hereabout in nearly four weeks. All grains will yield only about half a crop, especially hay. The yield of fruit has also suffered.

GUERRILLA TACTICS.

Orange River Commandoes Breaking Up.

CAPE COLONY REBELLION ENDED.

The Last Large Body of Troops Surrenders to General Warren—Baden-Powell Reports Continued Pacification.

LONDON, June 27.—The Boer commandoes in the eastern part of the Orange River colony appear to have been broken up by their leaders for the time into small parties that harass large columns of the British, incessantly cutting off scouts, sniping pickets, making a show of force here and there and bewildering the slow moving bodies. Commandant Christian De Wet, General Steyn's principal commander, is the genius of these guerrilla operations. He is the hero of the Boer side in these last days of hostilities.

The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Roberts, dated Pretoria Residency, June 26:

"Sir Charles Warren reports that the rebellion in Cape Colony north of the Orange river is now over. The last formidable body, under Commandant De Villiers, surrendered on June 20, consisting of about 220 men, 280 horses, 18 wagons, 260 rifles and 100,000 rounds of ammunition.

"General Baden-Powell reports that pacification is going on satisfactorily in the Rustenberg district."

Lord Roberts' columns are steadily contracting the circle of their advance.

Pretoria telegrams say that supplies of warm clothing are reaching Lord Roberts' infantry, who had been ragged and had suffered from the cold.

Commandant General Botha is uncommonly active east of Pretoria. The Canadians are doing splendid outpost work.

Sir Alfred Milner wries Mr. Chamberlain that all the securities deposited by the American and other insurance companies have been found.

Will Be Paid Promptly.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Director Merriam of the census bureau requests a contradiction of the report which has been circulated in some portions of the country to the effect that the census enumerators are not to be paid promptly. "They will be paid," he said, "as soon as their reports, properly certified to by the supervisors, are received. We require of necessity the certificate by supervisors, but when this is forthcoming we have the money with which to promptly pay all these claims." Of the 52,000 enumerators only about 1,000 or 1,200 have sent in their portfolios. The entire pay roll for enumerators amounts to $3,900,000.

Yellow Fever In Cuba.

HAVANA, June 27.—During the last three days there has not been a single new case of yellow fever at Quemados. All the nonimmunes are now confined in the retention camp at Marianao. At Santa Clara there have been no cases since the troops left the city. Major Habard, chief surgeon, who has returned from Santa Clara, says he finds the city was formerly considered most unhealthful for troops during the Spanish regime, and he advised that thereafter soldiers should not be kept there even in winter, especially as there are excellent camps not far away.

Big Check Recovered.

NEW YORK, June 27.—A check for $40,000, drawn by the New York Stock Exchange firm of W. L. Stow & Co. upon the Continental National bank to the order of the Corn Exchange bank and certified by the Continental bank, lay in the gutter at the corner of Wall and Nassau streets for awhile. It had been dropped by a messenger of the brokerage firm. Payment on it was stopped. A laborer picked up the check and brought it to the office of W. L. Stow & Co., who gave him $25 for his trouble.

Captain Powers Arrested.

LOUISVILLE, June 27.—A special to The Post from Harlan Court House, Ky., says: "Captain John L. Powers has been arrested here charged with being an accessory to the murder of Governor Goebel. Powers at once instituted habeas corpus proceedings. He holds a pardon issued by Governor Taylor while in office and was released once before on habeas corpus proceedings in Knox county. Captain Powers is a brother of former Secretary of State Caleb Powers."

Tennessee For Hill.

KNOXVILLE, June 27.—Sixteen of Tennessee's 24 delegates to the Kansas City convention polled by The Sentinel express themselves unqualifiedly for Hill, two more are for Hill with reservations, four are for "a man who can carry New York," one for a man "on whom New York and Indiana unite," and one is for "the strongest man in full accord with the platform." No delegate expressed himself specifically in favor of any other candidate than Hill.

Another Victim of the Wreck.

M'DONOUGH, Ga., June 27.—One more body, that of William Lawrence, section foreman, was recovered yesterday from the wreck of the Southern train. The swamps are being searched for miles below the wreck. Many bodies are still unidentified in McDonough. The railroad people are working 24 hours a day to repair the damage. Trains probably will be running by tonight.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: New York—South Valley, C. A. Lovejoy. Pennsylvania—Evitts, W P. Zembower; Portage, Caleb Plummer, Spangler, Eliza Kirkpatrick.

Ready to Fight China.

EL RENO, O. T., June 27.—A. M. Baldwin of this city has recruited a company of volunteers and offered their services to the government through Governor Barnes in case hostilities require the sending of more troops to China.

Dying From Finger Bite.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 27.—Corporal Barry of West Point lies at the point of death as the result of having been bitten on the finger while in a fight at Cold Spring about one week ago.

The Plague In Rio Janeiro.

RIO JANEIRO, June 27.—Twenty-five new cases of bubonic plague were officially reported yesterday. There have been 12 deaths from the disease this week.

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. S. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility, but "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

A LITTLE BIG WASTE.

DISTINGUISH between economy and wisdom. Sitting at home to save shoe-leather is economy, but it is scarcely wisdom. In the same way, doing without Ivory Soap is economy but it isn't wise; your risks are greater than all possible saving. Every cheap soap contains free alkali. Now, free alkali will eat its way through the new oil cloth on the kitchen floor Imagine then what it will do in a single Monday's washing! Is such economy wise?

The World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union congress at Edinburgh reelected Lady Henry Somerset president.

Lord Selborne announced in London that bids for beginning work on the Pacific cable would be invited almost immediately.

Two hundred Christian Endeavorers sailed from New York to attend the international convention in London. Three thousand in all will go from America.

Seventy-one million silver dollars have been transferred from the old Philadelphia mint on Chestnut street to the new building at Sixteenth and Spring Garden streets.

Prospectors Invade Reservations.

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 27.—The situation in the Kiowa and Comanche reservations is becoming serious on account of hundreds of prospectors flocking to the Wichita mountains, searching for valuable minerals. Five hundred prospectors are already there. The Indian police have orders from the interior department to eject invaders on the reservations, and if this is attempted bloodshed is feared. Rich deposits of ore have, it is reported, recently been discovered in the mountains.

Fitchburg Railroad Lease Approved.

BOSTON, June 27.—The lower branch of the legislature by an overwhelming vote of 147 to 39, with numerous pairs, passed to a third reading the bill approving the lease of the Fitchburg railroad to the Boston and Maine railroad for a period of 99 years. The size of the vote was a surprise even to the friends of the measure.

Fire In Carpet Mills.

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—Fire did damage to the extent of about $50,000 in the carpet mills of Thomas Boggs & Sons, at Pleasant and Allegheny avenues. The damage was confined principally to the stock, the building being only slightly injured. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

Jeff Davis For Governor.

LITTLE ROCK, June 27.—The Democratic state convention has nominated the following partial state ticket: Governor, Jeff Davis; secretary of state, John W. Crockett; attorney general, George W. Murphy; state treasurer, Thomas E. Little.

For India Famine Relief.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Fifteen thousand dollars has been received from the Kansas India famine relief committee and cabled to the interdenominational missionary committee at Bombay.

Watson at Suez.

SUEZ, June 27.—The United States cruiser Baltimore, with Rear Admiral Watson on board, en route for home, has arrived here.

A CITY SUBMERGED.

Mobile Treated to an Unprecedented Rainfall.

BUSINESS ENTIRELY SUSPENDED.

Over Twelve and One-half Inches of Water In Nine Hours Yesterday's Record—Inconvenience Caused, but No Lives Reported Lost.

MOBILE, June 27.—This city is literally under water. Streets in the business section are totally impassable, and all business is suspended, merchants, clerks and workmen being unable to travel from their homes to the city. Street car traffic has been abandoned. The only manner of locomotion is in butchers' and bakers' wagons. The deluge came on as the climax to a long period of heavy rain, and for hours the streets leading to the river have presented the appearance of swollen torrents. The Western Union Telegraph office has several feet of water over the floor, and ground floors of business houses in the lowland district are submerged.

Twelve and fifty-seven one-hundredth inches of rain fell in Mobile yesterday between 4 a. m. and 1 p. m. This is believed to be the greatest precipitation ever recorded in any one storm. All during Monday night the weather was sultry and at times threatening, and at 4 a. m. the wind sprung from the northeast and blew quite a gale. Shortly after that hour a gust of rain fell, but at 5 o'clock it began to come in torrents. It poured for two hours, and a total of three inches was recorded at the weather bureau. A lull came, and then a strong southeast wind blew, the sky became bright, and then the cloudburst followed.

Unlike the usual cloudbursts, this one was of bright leaden color and unattended by oppressive heat.

At noon rain fell in great sheets, and the entire city was inundated. It was simply impossible for houses in the down town districts to keep their doors open.

The flooded part of the city is occupied by negroes, and, although some houses suffered greatly and the flood washed away fences, the money loss is not large. No lives were lost.

No damage is reported from neighboring towns. The Mobile and Ohio road is washed out at Oak Grove, Mobile county. The south bound passenger train, due at 8:50 p. m., is held at Citronelle. The north bound train, leaving here at 8:30 p. m., is annulled. If there is no more rain, the schedule will be resumed today.

Stranded In Africa.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The matter of the shipment of American citizens at New Orleans and other points for South Africa on British transports carrying mules and horses to Cape Town and other South African ports has been frequently brought to the attention of the department of state, which is now in receipt of a dispatch from the consul general of the United States at Cape Town, dated May 30, pointedly referring to this matter. Hundreds of young men, it is stated, ship for the voyage at from $10 to $15 for the trip. They arrive without means, and while some of them enlist in the army, others become objects of charity, and still others reship for different ports. The most annoying feature of the situation, Mr. Stowe remarks, is that his consulate general is flooded with letters from the friends and relatives at home, which courtesy demands shall be answered, whereas the time spent in investigations that it may be necessary to make should be devoted to other duties.

Flagmaker Dead.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Miss Josephine Mulford of Madison, N. J., died yesterday at All Souls' hospital, Morristown, N. J., where she had gone several months ago in hopes of being cured of nervous prostration and other troubles brought on by overwork and worry. In March, 1899, Miss Mulford completed the largest American flag in the world as a patriotic emblem. The flag was entirely handmade by Miss Mulford and measures 100 feet fly by 65 feet hoist. The blue field is 40 by 35, each star measures 2 feet 8 inches across, and the stripes are five feet wide. Portions of it were made in different parts of the country to give it a historical value.

Knockers.

The Paterson Press is after the grumblers of that city—the ones who are constantly decrying and abusing the community which affords them a residential asylum and opportunities to make a livelihood. The class is not unknown to other cities, Plainfield not excepted. The Paterson paper speaks of them as "knockers." That word describes them to a dot, but it is interesting to read what our contemporary has to say on the subject, especially since its observations and conclusions are applicable as well to Plainfield as to Paterson:

There is a type of resident in this town that the community could very well spare. We mean the "knocker," who seems to think it an evidence of his smartness to run down the city in which he lives and everything connected with it. Is any great enterprise of an industrial nature talked of? "Oh, it never will go in Paterson." Does somebody suggest that we ought to have an opera house, or a music hall, or a hotel, of class in keeping with a city of 120,000 inhabitants? "Pshaw, you would lose your money; Paterson is a funny place—not like other big cities, you know; our people will never support anything like that." Is it hinted that we have grown big enough to exact the same returns from transit and other corporations that other large communities do in return for vast privileges granted? "Well, you see, you can't expect to do that sort of thing in Paterson; we shall have to encourage these people, and be easy on them; some day we shall grow to be as big as Newark or Buffalo, and then we can do differently." Does a business man come here full of "sand" and confidence to start up in some line of business on a metropolitan scale, and show his enterprise and courage by spending a few thousand dollars to fit up his place in accordance with ideas that belong to the dawn of the twentieth century? Hear the dismal voice of the knocker again: "Poor devil—I give him just about six months in Paterson." If Paterson really is behind the times, it is the knocker who keeps it so. If he could be deported to China to join the Boxers it would be the best thing that ever happened to our town. We do not mean the citizen who honestly and fearlessly criticises the administration of our municipal affairs in points where it needs improvement, such, for instance, as the street department, where for some reason we never have been able to attain the status of thoroughfares, not only cleaned, but kept clean. It is the progressive Patersonian, who really has the interest of his town at heart, that censures local government where it is lax. He is a very different individual from the dismal pessimist who was born with the idea that there is something inherently slow and poverty-stricken about the Lyons of America that is bound to put it behind other cities of the same size in the march of betterment, no matter how hard capital, brains and pluck may strive to push it to the front.

A Local Option Bill.

"A movement doomed to defeat" is the way in which the astute Newark Evening News sums up its opinion of the effort of the executive committee of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union to have the next Legislature pass a Local Option bill which has been prepared and will be presented at the next session of the Legislature.

This bill provides that the question of license or no license shall be submitted to the people of every municipality once in three years at the regular election for local officers. If the majority vote in favor of license, liquor will be sold under the usual regulations for the ensuing three years. If anti-license scores a majority of the votes, drought will prevail for a similar period.

Commenting in detail on the proposed law the News says: "With all due recognition of the zeal and sincerity of the Christian Endeavorers, it must be said that they are wasting their time in appealing to the Legislature. And it makes no difference in this respect whether that body be controlled by Republicans or Democrats. The Republicans passed a Local Option bill in 1888 and have no desire to repeat the experience. They were overwhelmingly defeated the following year, and ever since the bare mention of local option has sent cold shivers down the spines of the party leaders How it would be received by the Democrats is plainly evidenced by the speed with which the repealer of the Republican law was railroaded through the Legislature the following year.

"Before local option can again be successful, public sentiment must not only be strong enough to compel it but to sustain the party that enacts the measure. The result of temperance legislation in New Jersey in the past has been to defeat the party responsible for it and to swell the Prohibition vote. Under such conditions it is no wonder that neither of the two leading parties cares to court defeat by catering to the temperance sentiment."

The Boer commissioners depart from this country without receiving official encouragement in their brave struggle to maintain their just rights against a foe immeasurably stronger in numbers and resources, but it cannot be said that the great majority of the American people are not touched by the noble defense that Oom Paul's people are making against the British. For diplomatic reasons the United States has not officially acted so as to deprecate England's unholy war upon the Dutch of South Africa. But it is a fact that the Boers have almost the unanimous sympathy of the rank and file of the American people in the war that is being waged against them.

It is noted that the voluntary retirement of Frank Bergen from the race for the Congressional nomination in the Eigth District, leaves Congressman B. Wayne Parker as the only Republican Representative in New Jersey against whose renomination there is the slightest opposition. Mr. Parker's right to retain the position is being contested by former Comptroller John S. Gibson, who announced his candidacy two months or more ago. But Congressman Parker's renomination seems assured.

All political eyes and ears will be turned towards Kansas City one week from today.

The Glorious Fourth is just one week away.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Major Carl Lentz's statement that he can name twenty-five men in Orange, each of whom is worth more than $100,000, who pay no personal taxes at all has stirred up a hornets' nest in that colony of rich men. The Major is probably right, however, and the indictment could be brought against every city and town in the State. As a matter of fact it is notorious that people systematically shirk taxes on personal property, and adopt all sorts of cunning and dishonest devices to evade the assessment.—"Trenton" in New York Herald.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Very little is known in Readington, Hunterdon county, about the "new" woman, but that fact does not prevent the skirted beauties of the town from performing daring deeds and thinking for themselves. In their own way they outdo the newest of the new women in the realms of fashionable feminine clubdom, and occasionally their unostentatious performances find their way into print. In the Flemington Democrat-Advertiser the following was recently published: "While Mrs. John Cole, of Readington, was driving the cows to pasture recently she saw a large eagle in a tree. The bird had a chain fastened to its leg, which had evidently been broken when it gained its liberty. Mrs. Cole climbed the tree, which was nearly forty feet high, and captured the eagle. It measured over three feet from tip to tip, is brown in color and fierce."

—Unity Lodge, K. of P., will meet this evening and elect officers for the ensuing year.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y:

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the docter said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 27—About fifteen friends of William Beekman gave him a complete surprise by appearing at his home in honor of his sixteenth birthday. The party, which was gotten up by Willie Kennedy, proved a very pleasant affair and the evening, which was spent in playing games and having a general good time, passed very quickly. Before leaving for home refreshments were served and the guests departed wishing many returns of the day.

The residents of North avenue are willing that the street commissioner should trim the trees along that street but they do not like the idea of having the branches left in the gutters as was the case near the trolley terminus Monday night.

A horse belonging to W. G. Runyon took fright at a trolley car near the terminus Monday night and began rearing. It afterward fell, breaking the harness and receiving a number of small cuts.

Miss Violetta Staples entertained a number of her little friends at a party yesterday afternoon. Parlor games formed the chief amusement and the serving of refreshments concluded the party.

Thomas Costello and Terry Bonayne have entered for the Juniors Fourth of July races and have already started training. So far the odds are two to one in favor of Terry.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church held a special meeting at the home of Mrs. William H. Terry Monday.

The small boys are already making a nuisance of themselves by shooting off explosives which is against the borough ordinance.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sharp have returned from their wedding trip and have taken up their residence at Bound Brook.

The merry-go-round has arrived and will soon be in operation at Central Park. A tin type gallery is also on the grounds.

Advertised letters remain in the post office for William Swartz, A. P. Voorhees and J. P. Stites.

Theodore Apgar has left for Hampton Junction where he will spend a few weeks recuperating.

Mrs. Annie Abbott is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. George Abbott, of Somerville.

Mrs. Wilson Fredericks visited her sister, Mrs. DeWitt Smith, of Somerville, Monday.

Mrs. Peter Benward has returned from a visit with relatives at Asbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Sutphen visited friends in Somerville Monday.

Henry Moore is on the sick list.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, June 27—The members of the Saengerbund Society who acted as pall bearers at the funeral of Christian Wenner yesterday were Charles Duvier, Charles Felber, Jacob Grieb, Martin Heubner and Chas. F. Meyer, Sr., all of Plainfield.

No signs of improvement have been noticed in the condition of Miss Jennie Schenck, who has been sick for some time, and it is feared she may have to be taken to the Plainfield hospital.

Miss Grace Martin and Miss Jessie Totten, of Plainfield, spent Monday with Miss Mary Jenner.

The old school house at South Plainfield will be sold at auction next Saturday at 2 p. m.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 27.—Fanwood Council, R. A., held a large and interesting meeting in their rooms last evening. The council enjoyed a fraternal visit from a delegation from Morningside Council, of New York city. At the close of the council meeting the members of Fanwood entertained their guests at a collation at the Central Hotel.

The Republican voters of the borough held their primary to elect delegates to the Congressional and State conventions in the clubhouse Monday evening. Dr. F. W. Westcott was elected as a delegate to the Congressional convention, which meets at Elizabeth tomorrow. Henry L Hall was elected a delegate to the State convention.

Laing & Illsley, who have been holding a sale of cattle at Emery's Hotel for a week, have sold all their cattle, Stonewall Jackson, of Martinville, buying the last ten Monday.

The merry-go-round and photograph gallery, which have been located on Front street for several yyars, have left town and located in Dunellen.

Miss Winckler, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Reynolds, has returned to her home in Newark.

Miss Hattie Wilcox, of Brooklyn, has been visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Nancy Wilcox.

The Netherwood Euchre Club enjoyed a pleasant day's outing at Boynton Beach yesterday.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, June 27.—The long delayed matter of a crossing over the Central Railroad tracks at Osborn avenue, has been adjusted with the railroad and work will be commenced on the bridge in a few weeks.

No effort is being made in Westfield this year to raise funds for a Fourth of July celebration, so it is likely that there will be no public demonstration.

The Westfield Fresh Air Camp will be opened next Saturday. A party of fifty mothers and children will be installed there.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 27.—Tom Brantingham has added another horse to his string of racers. It keeps him very busy training the three.

The carpenters are rushing Mrs. McDonough's new house along now. The frame of one was raised yesterday.

Quite a number of farmers have commenced cutting hay. The crop is not very heavy.

Laing & Randolph will open their new meat market in Metuchen next Saturday.

The potato crop looks fine so far and prospects are fine for a good harvest.

The new switch tower will be a very pretty building when completed.

BISHOP DOANE HONORED.

Gets Degree From Trinity College. Predicts Good Results In China.

LONDON, June 27.—Bishop Doane of Albany went to Dublin today. Previous to sailing for home he will receive the honorary degree of D. D. from Trinity college, which is regarded as even a higher distinction than similar honors from Oxford and Cambridge, which he has already received.

When Bishop Doane was presented to the Prince of Wales at a state concert, the prince immediately introduced the subject of China, saying there was "bad business out there," and expressed the earnest hope of an early settlement of the troubles. Dropping into a serious tone, the Prince of Wales asked, "What do you bishops and missionaries think of Lord Salisbury's speech?" referring to the premier's recent Exeter hall address, in which he requested the missionaries not to get themselves martyred, or, if this was inevitable, to get themselves martyred as quietly as possible. The prince was much amused by the premier's frankness, but he was surprised when Bishop Doane, speaking for himself, said he took no umbrage at the speech, as he believed Lord Salisbury's utterances were statesmanlike. It must be remembered, the bishop continued, that Lord Salisbury was speaking solely in the role of a foreign minister, and his remarks were well worth consideration by missionaries the world over. The Prince of Wales was much gratified at this exhibition of breadth of mind on the part of the American prelate and shook him warmly by the hand.

Bishop Doane said to a press representative that he was much delighted with his visit to England and meeting the Archbishop of Canterbury, the dean of St. Paul's and other old friends, as well as meeting so many missionaries. Naturally he had heard about China and said: "I believe good to the Christian cause will be the outcome of these troubles. Whether that end will be achieved by war against all China or whether it will be preceded by a partition of the empire I cannot say. But it is certain that the spectacle of all the powers working harmoniously in the far east in such a crisis bodes successful missionary work in future years."

Don't Marry for Money

The Boston man, who lately married a sickly rich young woman, is happy now, for he got Dr. King's New Life Pills, which restored her to perfect health. Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Vor Kurzem starb die Private Frau Anna Herzig im Alter von 75 Jahren und mit Hinterlassung eines Vermögens von mehr als 200,000 Kronen. Wenige Tage vor ihrem Tode hatte die alte Dame ihrer Köchin Marie Stepanek, welche seit 27 Jahren bei ihr bedienstet war, ein Legat von 26,000 Kronen vermacht. Weitere testamentarische Verfügungen jedoch hatte Frau Herzig, welche gar keine Verwandten besaß, nicht getroffen, so daß der ganze Nachlaß dem Fiskus anheim fiel.—Der Brauer Anton Dengler, ein mehrfacher Millionär, hat aus Furcht vor Erblindung Selbstmord begangen.—Der Kistenfabrikant Edmund Zilger ist mit der Mitgift seiner ihm eben angetrauten Gattin nach Amerika durchgebrannt.

Cattaro. Die hier vorgenommenen Vorerhebungen über die Anlage von Minen auf Kohle und Mangan sind ungemein günstig ausgefallen. Es ist nun die Anlage einer Eisenbahn zwischen Teodo durch die Zuppa nach Budua geplant, die durch eine in der Höhe der Schiffsmasten die Meerenge „Catene" übersetzende Brücke mit der im Bau begriffenen Bahn Ragusa-Cattaro verbunden werden soll. Für Teodo ist der Bau eines neuen Marinearsenals in Aussicht genommen.

Czernowitz. In der Gemeinde Lipoweny entstand ein Brand, der über 80 Gehöfte einäscherte. Ungefähr 300 Personen sind obdachlos.

Gitschin. Bei einer im Revier des Fürsten Trauttmansdorff abgehaltenen Jagd wurde durch den Förster Ragensteiner die Leiche des seit November v. J. vermißten Jägers Franz Frantisek mit einer Schußwunde im Kopfe und einer durch die Brust aufgefunden. Der Jäger hielt das mit zwei Ladungen versehene Jagdgewehr schußbereit in den Armen. Es ist anzunehmen, daß Frantisek von überraschten Wilderern erschossen wurde. Bei der Leiche des Jägers fand man noch die ganze Bekleidung und die Uhr nebst einigem Baargeld vor.

Innsbruck. Anhier beging der Bahnbeamte Johann Graf von Thun und Hohenstein Selbstmord.

Röthis. Dieser Tage wurde dem Lehrer Künz das 20. Kind geboren. Von diesen Kindern sind 17 am Leben, 12 Knaben und 5 Mädchen.

Schweiz.

Bern. Einem Artikel der „Zeitschrift für Sozialwissenschaften" ist zu entnehmen, daß die Gesammtzahl der an schweizerischen Hochschulen immatrikulirten Studentinnen von 184 im Sommer 1890 auf 584 im Wintersemester 1898 auf 1899 gestiegen ist.—Der Neubau für das westschweizerische Technikum in Briel geht seiner Vollendung entgegen und soll auf Anfang des Wintersemesters 1900 bis 1901 bezogen werden. Er enthält 38 Lehrsäle nebst einer Anzahl anderer Räumlichkeiten.

Zürich. In Mailand, Italien, ist der aus Zürich gebürtige schweizerische Konsul Heinrich Cramer de Pourtales im Alter von 72 Jahren verstorben. Seit fast fünf Jahrzehnten weilte Cramer in Mailand, woselbst er als einer der größten Seidenindustriellen der Lombardei hohes Ansehen genoß.

Luzern. Im Mai stiegen in Luzern 16,192 Fremde, 1482 mehr als im Vorjahre, ab.

Schwyz. Bei Inbetriebsetzung der elektrischen Lichtinstallation verunglückte auf Rigikulm der 22jährige Karl Lanser von Ibach in Folge Berührung mit dem Starkstromdraht und war augenblicklich todt.

Glarus. Zum Zwecke des Erwerbes, der Erweiterung und des Betriebes des Stachelbergbades hat sich mit einem Kapital von 500,000 Francs eine Aktiengesellschaft gebildet.

Thurgau. Für das Schuljahr 1899 auf 1900 gewährte die Regierung an die obligatorischen Fortbildungsschulen im Ganzen 17,950 Francs oder 931 Francs mehr als im Vorjahr. Die Zahl der genannten Schulen betrug 142. Den Unterricht ertheilten 258 Lehrer in 11,967 Unterrichtsstunden; die Schülerzahl belief sich auf 2594.

Neuenburg. Im Neuenburger Jura sind heuer die Vipern sehr zahlreich. Man verlangt, daß der Staat und die Gemeinden auf deren Erlegung Preise aussetzen, um die Zahl dieser gefährlichen Thiere zu vermindern.

Genf. Nach 52jähriger Lehrthätigkeit ist der Universitätsprofessor Dr. Gabriel Oltramara in Genf im Alter von 83 Jahren in den Ruhestand getreten.

FASHION NOVELTIES.

Lace Capes Are Very Popular For Hot Weather Wear.

I do not know when I have had my spirit moved as it was the other day while standing in front of a window where all the most beautiful of the dresses of the season were displayed. In front of this window stood a pale little woman with one baby in her arms and another clinging to her skirt. The woman stood before the array of lovely things in her cheap and ill fitting clothes, and if ever there was a hopeless longing for the pretty things she might never possess it showed in her face. No philosophy is strong enough to prevent that desire for nice things.

If I could order things, I would have some one stationed at all the windows of stores, and when any one came along like this I would see that she had satin gowns for breakfast and velvet ones for tea if that happened to be the desire of the woman's heart. It is just as hard to be deprived of a velvet gown as one of simple calico.

LACE CAPE AND THE NEW SLEEVE.

Well, since I cannot order the universe as I would I will talk a little about the pretty things the other half can have. There was a white swiss muslin dress for a young lady. It was made up over a white lining, and all around the bottom there were set vandyke points of butter colored Irish point. The front part of the skirt was painted in a large and straggling design of pink mayflowers, and the waist and sleeves had a smaller design of the same. There was an organdie of the same design, and the flowers were painted over the stripes and dots of the regular pattern.

While speaking of the hand painted skirts I may mention a white net. This had a painted design of flowers-de-luce without foliage painted over the skirt and also the waist and sleeves. The net was white, and the lining was of white taffeta, and there was a trimming of lierre lace and pale lilac ribbons run through the holes. The belt was a draped affair of lilac silk. This was a very dainty dress and intended for wear at the grandest afternoon functions of the season. One can imagine the fine straw hat to go with this all covered with tulle and great crape flowers-de-luce.

I must mention one more lace dress, and this is of dotted net, the dots about as large as a nickel. It was made up over a lining of canary taffeta, and the skirt was cut off at the bottom to give place to a flounce of lierre, which is very popular this season. The waist is quite plain as far as trimming goes, but the sailor collar has reached the neck. This is one of the new fads, and where it is not made on the dress waist it is fastened on with pins and made of lace or of some light silk and bordered with lace.

Many of the shirt waists so called have the sailor collar of the same material as the rest, and it cannot be denied that they are pretty, though never before considered dressy enough for any fine afternoon costume. A white mull waist was made quite plain in every other way, and there was a sailor collar of the mull, but it was so large and so covered with fine lace ruffles that one saw but the collar, and this was postiche. That means that it is movable and can be worn with anything.

There was a fancy bathing suit made for a young millionaire, and perhaps some one would like to know what it looked like. It was of marine blue foulard with white silk in a band around the bottom and the collar. The knickers and the waist were in one, and the skirt was separate, but fastened very strongly. The knickers were short and gathered with elastic to the knees, and the skirt came scarcely to the knees. This had a band of white three inches wide and was further stitched with blue. The waist was blouse shape, and the sleeves were mere ruffles not more than three inches deep. At the joining of the sailor collar there was a pretty blue tie. White stockings and sandals complete this suit.

One of the most elegant of the new things is the lace cape. These capes are made of Spanish or chantilly lace and are so woven that by simply adding a collar they are finished and worn over light dresses. The effect is fine. They are not lined. Many small capes are also seen often made of net covered with narrower lace as ruffles, and they are finished at the neck with full ruffles and bows and ends of moire ribbon. Pretty capes are made of ostrich feathers, the plumes lying from the neck downward to the shoulders and those for the high collar standing up and the joining hidden under bows of moire or double faced satin ribbon.

Sleeves are growing more and more like those of olden time, and the cloaks have regular bell sleeves, wide at the bottom.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

FRILLS OF FASHION.

New Ideas in Hats and Finery for Followers of the Latest in Dress.

Taffeta silk Eton coats in either black or white are a very distinctive feature of fashion this season. A similar coat in black taffeta put in an appearance more than a year ago, but it was then a novelty, of course, while now it is a very evident mode. These little coats are tucked all over, or trimmed in various ways with stitched bands, and completed with an embroidered batiste collar and revers. They will be very much worn later on, with the thin gowns whenever an outside wrap is needed, and they are considered especially swell with the pique skirts and silk blouses, says the New York Sun.

In hats, beige tinted straws are very popular and gauze or tulle with one very large rose nodding at one side is a favorite trimming. Ecru tulle on a pure white straw with one immense rose of blue or pink at one side is charming. Tuscan straws in openwork designs are much worn, and crinoline braids form many a dressy toque, alternated with folds of chiffon or crepe. White straws are dyed to match the exact shade of the costume, and yet all the pretty light shades seem to be represented in the new straw hats. Rather wide trimmed sailor hats are almost universally trimmed with a scarf around the crown and a huge rosette bow at one side. This is variously made of soft taffeta ribbon, of gauze panne velvet and tulle, and can be purchased in the shops all ready for use. White panne with black polka dots makes a very stylish rosette and scarf, and several different pastel shades of ribbon are used in its construction.

If there can be a rage for any one item of dress it is exemplified this season in the cravats. They are on nearly every gown in some form and confront you in the shops in formidable battalions which defy description. It suffices, however, to say that this element of neck fixings is a feature not to be ignored, and any little fancy within the limits of good taste which you can originate by way of novelty is sure to add chic to your gown. But there is such a bewildering variety already that novelty seems to be out of the question. The narrow band, little more than an inch wide, made of silk and panne of different colors and covered with rows of stitching, is very effective over a tucked or lace-covered collar band. It is made with pointed ends and finished with three white silk tassels. Another feature of neckwear is the elegant clasp which holds the ends in place where they cross at the neckband.

A TELL-THE-TRUTH EDITOR.

In Plain, Unvarnished Terms He Gives the Facts Concerning a Local Wedding.

A western editor, who believes in telling the truth, relates the Indianapolis News, printed the following recently:

"Willie Shortlike and Annie Bloomers were married at the —— church last evening. The church was very prettily decorated with flowers and potted plants, borrowed promiscuously from over town from people who didn't want to lend them. The decorating was done under protest by some of the members of the church, who were asked to do so by the bride, and couldn't well refuse. The ladies are of opinion that if the couple were so bent on having a stylish wedding they should have been willing to have paid some one to chase all over the town for a day getting flowers together and then taking them home again.

"The bride wore a handsome Silverstein gown (made at home), and the groom was decked out in a $10 handme-down suit. The ushers wore cutaway coats, borrowed for the occasion. Sallie Potts was maid of honor, and the consensus of opinion was that she was two to one better than the bride. The young couple took the morning train for St. Louis, where they will spend more money in a few days than Willie can earn in three months.

"Willie says that now he's married he's going to settle down. Some of our merchants think it would have been better if he had settled up first. The groom gets a salary of $27 a month, which is about the allowance Annie has been used to for pin money. We wish, for Willie's sake, that the old saying that it takes no more to support two than one wasn't a lie.

"The bride sent us a shoe box full of conglomeration of stuff supposed to be cake. If this is a sample of Annie's cooking we are sorry for Willie. Our janitor's dog fell heir to the cake, and now he's lying in the cold, cold ground. But this wedding is none of our funeral. If Willie and Annie are satisfied we've got no kick coming."

The Value of Glycerin.

A teaspoonful of glycerin in a cupful of hot milk or cream will at once relieve the most violent attack of coughing. This is a simple, easily obtained and harmless remedy. Equally simple and quite as effective is the use of a diluted glycerin spray through an atomizer. This is applied directly to the inflamed or irritated surfaces, and gives almost instant relief. In attacks of influenza, colds in the head, sore throat and other troubles glycerin mixed with three times its bulk of water, boiled and cooled, is an invaluable remedy. A little practice will enable the patient to apply the spray, and the soothing and cooling effect is remarkable. Mixed with an equal quantity of sulphurous acid, glycerin is an almost unfailing remedy for throat troubles of all kinds, and, being harmless, can be used by all people. It must, however, be freshly made, as it keeps but a short time.—Detroit Free Press.

A History of the Division of CHINA Up-to-Date

Ports in the Empire That Have Been Leased to Foreign Nations and the Reasons for It

CHINA'S division among the nations may be said to have commenced with the leasing of valuable ports and harbors to foreign nations, and the establishment of spheres of influence by the nations controlling these ports.

While the Portuguese have controlled the island of Macao, near Canton, since 1537, and the English became owners of the island of Hong-Kong, in the same vicinity, by the treaty of 1842, no other nation had possessions on or near the coast of China until within a comparatively recent date. One result of the war betwen China and Japan was that Japan obtained the island of Formosa, lying 90 miles off the coast of central China. By this treaty Japan was also to have certain territory on the peninsula of Liaotung, which commands from the north the entrance of the Gulf of Pechili, the gateway to the capital of China; but on the urgent protest of Russia, France and Germany this was abandoned, and the mainland of China up to that time thus remained intact.

On November 4, 1897, however, the German government seized the port of Kiaochau, on the northeastern coast of China, asserting as the cause of its action the desire to obtain satisfaction for the murder of German missionaries by Chinese on November 1 of that year. This port was held by a German warship until the announcement of a treaty with China by which the port of Kiaochau and adjacent territory were leased to Germany for a term of 99 years, the German government being given the right to land troops, construct fortifications, and establish a coaling and naval station, while German subjects were to have the right to construct railways, open mines, and transact business in the rich mineral and agricultural province of Shantung.

One month later, on December 22, 1897, the Russian government obtained permission for its naval squadron to winter at Port Arthur, on the Liaotung peninsula, which it had, with Germany and France, in 1895, required Japan to abandon. On March 27, 1898, an agreement was signed by the Chinese government by which Port Arthur and the adjacent port of Talienwan were leased for a term of 25 years to the Russian government, the lease to be subsequently extended by mutual agreement. This lease included 800 square miles of territory and all harbors between Port Arthur and Talienwan, the harbor of Port Arthur and a part of Talienwan to be for the sole use of Russian and Chinese men-of-war, Russia to have the privilege of extending its trans-Siberian railroad line through Manchuria to Port Arthur and Talienwan, and to protect the same, during and after its construction, by Russian troops.

This action, by which the northern side of the entrance to the Gulf of Pechili, leading to the capital of China, was placed under control of Russia, being satisfactory to the English government, a lease of the harbor of Weihaiwei, on the opposite or southern side of the entrance to the Gulf of Pechili, was made to Great Britain on April 2 of the same year, 1898, the lease to be on the same terms as that by which Port Arthur was granted to Russia, and to continue as long as Russia should occupy the peninsula of Liaotung. Weihaiwei was occupied by Great Britain May 24, 1898, permission being given also to occupy the islands of Liukung and a strip of land ten miles broad along its entire length, with the privilege of erecting fortifications and occupying the adjacent coast for military and naval purposes, the walled city of Weihaiwei, lying within these limits, however, to remain under control of the Chinese government. On June 9, 1898, a lease was also made by England of an area of about 200 square miles on the mainland opposite its island of Hong-Kong, and surrounding the Chinese city of Kowloon, which city, however, was to remain under Chinese jurisdiction, the lease to continue for a term of 99 years.

The concessions of territory to Germany, Russia and England led to a demand for similar privileges by the French government, and on April 13, 1898, the Chinese government leased to France the harbor of Kwangchauwan, in the Leichau peninsula, on the southern coast, near to the French possession of Tonkin, and protecting in some degree the Gulf of Tonkin. This lease was also accompanied by the privilege of connecting the French teritory of Tonkin with the Chinese province of Yunnan and the city of Yunnanfu, the harbor of Kwangchauwan to be used as a naval station. The lease was for 99 years and similar in terms to that made with the German government for Kiaochau, carrying with it exclusive mining privileges in the area to be traversed by the proposed railroads. In view of this agreement, Great Britain therefore assumes that she has now the right to extend her Burmese railroads into the province of Yunnan, in southwest China, through an agreement made with China January 15, 1896, by which all privileges to France or Great Britain in the provinces of Yunnan and Szechuan should be given to both countries.

These concessions to Germany, Russia, Great Britain and France which followed each other so rapidly in 1897 and 1898, were followed in March, 1899, by a demand by the Italian government for similar privileges at the port of San Mun, and in April, 1899, somewhat similar demands are reported to have been made by Japan regarding certain territory on the coast opposite her island of Formosa.

THE FREIGHT TRAINS OF CHINA.
On These the Foreign Merchandise That Seeks a Market in the Empire Must Be Transported.

Of the nations now controlling ports and harbors in China, and operating in spheres of influence, Russia is by far the strongest from a military point of view. She has established in Port Arthur heavy garrisons of troops, and her attention has been given principally to the construction of fortifications and other military preparations. The other nations are interested more in commercial and industrial lines than in warlike preparations, and while England easily has the lead because of her long occupancy, yet Germany has been making long strides to the fore.

In 1898 German exports to China amounted to $10,424,000. The imports into Germany from China for the same year amounted to $5,164,600. German warehouses are located in Hong-Kong, Swantow, Amoy, Fuchau, Chefoo, Tien-Tsin and Shanghai—altogether about 105 establishments, of a total value of $30,000,000; these render material assistance to German trade. These houses ship great cargoes of tea, rice and feathers to Germany in return for machinery and iron products of every description.

In Shanghai there are German cotton and silk mills to the value of $1,000,000. In addition to this, German capital is invested in a great many English enterprises; for example, the docks, shipping and insurance companies of Shanghai. These interests are valued at $18,000,000. The German Shantung Railroad company has a capital of $3,000,000. The interests of private individuals of German nationality in China are valued at $2,000,000. In Shanghai, the German Asiatic bank does business with a capital of about $3,000,000. With the exception of a small vineyard in Chefoo, which is valued at $25,000, the Germans own no plantations.

In Japan there are 65 German warehouses doing business, with an aggregate capital of $5,000,000. German industrial enterprises in Japan are valued at $3,000,000. German interests in Formosa, which is ruled by Japan, amount to $1,500,000. In Japan's sphere of influence in Corea about $1,500,000 German capital has been invested.

In the aggregate, German interests in China and Japan are not far from $90,000,000 in value.

DANIEL CLEVERTON.

Some Points on Swimming by Champion Peter S. McNALLY

ARE YOU going to a summer resort this year? If so are you equipped with the practical knowledge of how to handle yourself in the water? Swimming as a diversion is one of the greatest accomplishments a human being can boast, for it saves life. As a sport young and old may derive more real, solid and healthy entertainment from it than almost any other form of exercise under the caption of sport. It is an axiom that cannot be successfully refuted that every person should be taught the art of swimming. It might also be said, the old fogies to the contrary notwithstanding, that when swimming is taught, the pupil should be instructed in the racing strokes so that if the occasion arises for speed in getting through the water, the rescuer will be able to reach the drowning person in time to save life.

The arrival of the summer season when thousands—aye millions—of people take their sport in the water, both in shallow streams and lakes and at the treacherous swimming holes and sea-side resorts, more than ever emphasizes the value of the art. Practical swimmers—those who could save you were you to be suddenly tossed overboard from a steamer, say, in a bay two miles from land, should be men who understand the theory and practice of applying the sport to pressing contingencies. In other words the man who is but an indifferent swimmer is in the position of the blind man attempting to lead a blind man, if he attempts a rescue.

MISS BESSIE MEIERS.
The Champion Girl Diver of the World.

I have it from the mouth of Champion Long Distance Swimmer Peter S. McNally, that swimming is the easiest of all sports to master. He should know, for he has accomplished feats in the water that almost any man would give a great deal to be able to duplicate. Peter is the undisputed champion in his class and has saved more lives by his practical swimming powers than any other man in the world not directly connected with a life-saving service.

McNally received a medal voted by congress as well as gold and silver trophies from the Massachusetts Humane society. He has saved 200 lives. The veteran says that every child should be taught the useful art. Leaving out the mere importance of the art for its life-saving virtues, he says physically it is the best of sports. I have heard it said by athletes who competed in amateur events for bronze medals that the dreaded malady—consumption—may be baffled by a life in the water. The chest expansion is greatly increased by swimming in races. One of the favorite grand opera baritones whose stage name conveys the idea that he might be a German, is in reality an ex-champion amateur swimmer from Australia. At one time he was in the newspaper business, and I learned from him that he developed his chest by swimming races, discovered that his great lung power—his expansion was nearly eight inches—sustained a powerful and rich voice and now he is ready to sing Carmen or jump into the ocean to save a fellow being.

THE RIGHT WAY TO DIVE

If women only realized what a boon swimming is to them they would have aquatic sports every favorable day at the summer resorts. The exercise rounds out the form, enlarges the breathing capacity, develops the bust and narrows the waist line and makes the skin ruddy with health. There is not an expert swimmer among the women to be met at the summer resorts who cannot teach a companion how to swim in one hour if the pupil will carefully attend to details. The most foolish thing in the world is instruction in swimming without water—parlor lessons, as it were. Thirty minutes of actual instruction in water are worth three years of theoretical teaching.

Confidence and the knowledge of the correct position are the two requisites absolutely necessary for learners. Miss Bessie Meiers, daughter of Capt. Thomas Meiers, is but a mere girl, but it is said that she is the champion girl diver of the world. No one has disputed her title. She has brothers and sisters who are very proficient in the art of swimming. Her father, too, is a regular "water dog," as he says. These children learned to swim quickly because the father commanded them to go into deep water, and they had confidence enough in him to obey. One of the members of Uncle Sam's life-saving crews of the Great Lakes, who is able to swim in surf about as well as a Kanaka, once told me that he learned to swim in two minutes by simply reposing confidence in his father, the master of a schooner. "Out in mid lake," said the life-saver, "he ordered me to jump in and told me how to move my limbs. I jumped and to my surprise I did not think of the bottom of the lake several hundred feet below me but of his lesson. And I began to swim immediately."

Champion McNally freely gives "pointers" on swimming that should be of use to learners. Beware of the tendency to remain on top of the water he says. Submerge as much of the body as you can and you will find that it is easier to propel your body in the water. To illustrate his statement, the champion has a way of telling swimmers that if their lower limbs were amputated and they were suddenly tossed into the water, even if they did not know how to swim, they would float as long as they kept the lungs filled with air. Water supports the body, and it is important that the legs be kept below the surface.

Diving is at once the most entertaining feature of the swimmer's repertory and the most essential. But Swimmer McNally says that most swimmers make mistakes in diving. The head should be drawn down slightly towards the chest, the arms stretched forward on a level with the breast and not raised above the head. The knees should be bent a trifle and an oblique plunge should be made with the body free—that is to say with the muscles as lax as possible. After the water has been entered the head should be thrown back with the face looking toward the surface and the back should be bent so that the body will rise quicker. Any movement tending to strike out or press downwards will assist the body in rising to the surface. Above all, if the water is not too thick, keep the eyes open when beneath the surface. Floating can be taught by rule but the experience of most swimmers is that a few minutes of instruction from a competent teacher is worth a few years of printed rules.

THE WRONG WAY TO DIVE

Another practical feature of swimming is the art of treading. If you can tread water—and there is no reason why every person who can swim should not tread—you will find that it is much easier to assist a drowning person. You have a perpendicular position in the water and may use the hands to greater advantage. In treading with the hands compressed against the hips, the feet describing a circle, the object of resting the upper part of the body is achieved. The other way consists in contracting one leg after another, instead of both at the same time, so that while one remains contracted the other limb is describing a circle. In the latter motion the thighs are somewhat distended and curved as if in a half-sitting posture.

McNally is certain that the practice of taking a cold shower bath before plunging into the water for a swim is a bad one. He claims that the body should be glowing with its own warmth—should be even moist. In the latter condition, contact with chilly water will produce a healthy reaction. If you are going to be in the water quite a time, walk briskly for a few minutes before taking the plunge, and if the water is quite chilly keep in motion.

Supplying Farmers With Agricultural BOOKS

It Is a Problem That Is Being Solved by the Aid of the Traveling Library

DURING the past 20 years there has been a wonderful impetus given to the growth of public libraries. Liberal-spirited men have built handsome buildings in which to house valuable collections of books, while others have endowed these institutions with sufficient funds to guarantee an ever-increasing supply of the new books that are issued.

But while this has been done for 20 years and more in the cities and towns, the farmer has been left without books suitable for his scientific training until within a very recent period. His village library has given him books of history, of fiction, of philosophy, of art, of many of the sciences, but practically none of agriculture.

The demand for books upon agricultural subjects has grown rapidly, helped along as it has been by the granges, farmers' clubs, farmers' institutes and farmers' reading circles, and in many cases these same agencies have helped to meet the demand.

For centuries agricultural investigators have gathered facts by observation and experiment, and have wrought out in library and laboratory improvements in farm practice. The learning and advances of one age has been preserved in libraries for the students of the next. Libraries have had a large share in making a science of farming possible. But the great total of agricultural operatives in the world have hardly been affected by science. The facilities of producing the books necessary to teach better ways are ample, but the problem of making them available to the masses has not been clearly solved in this country, while in most countries it has hardly been approached. The bulk of agricultural products are still wrung from the soil by main strength; Indian ryots, Chinese coolies and Egyptian fellaheen forming more than one-half of the agricultural labor of the world, and all farming by traditional methods of centuries ago.

In this country the first great step has been taken; the subject of providing suitable books for agricultural readers has been approached, and American farmers are showing an eager desire to accept the aid which they bring. The American farmer is a reader; he has shown himself capable of understanding and applying improvements in farm practice. He is the right man asking for the tested and approved results of agricultural science at the right time. To give him these means an increase in quality and quantity of American farm products.

Space will not permit our tracing the history of agricultural libraries in this country. Efforts have been made at the establishment and maintenance of such libraries since a few years after the close of the revolutionary war, and to-day some extensive agricultural libraries are in existence. The library of the agricultural department at Washington consists of 68,000 books, and at every state agricultural college and experiment station a good assortment of agricultural books are kept. But while these books are accessible to students and scientists, they are not accessible to the great mass of agriculturists scattered on the farms of the country, and it is to this class that the traveling agricultural library comes as a boon.

The traveling agricultural library movements originatel in 1892. Melvil Dewey, librarian of the New York state library at Albany, was the originator of the idea. Through it farmers and their families in the various states through which the idea has spread have been encouraged to read books on farming and domestic science.

All of these agricultural libraries are not composed exclusively of agricultural books, but all of them have at least some of this class of publications.

The state of New York has 50 lists of books suitable for agricultural communities, and these are loaned, under proper regulations, to existing libraries, to granges, farmers' clubs and similar organizations for a fixed period, and during that time are a circulating library for the community in which they are stationed.

In Wisconsin lists of books for agricultural reading are sent out by the state library commission to rural applicants, and offers are made to encourage the use of these books by farmers and their families. In this state it has been found that the smaller pamphlets and leaflets issued by the department of agriculture have been well received, while the larger and more difficult works have not proven so popular.

Connecticut supplies a list of agricultural books to existing libraries in rural communities.

Illinois has given the matter of traveling agricultural libraries considerable attention, and they are made an adjunct of the farmers' institutes. Two distinct branches of the work has been organized in the state. One deals only with strictly agricultural subjects, such as crops, stock, soils, fertilizers, etc., and the other is intended for the farmers' wives and daughters, and treats of subjects along the lines of domestic science. A. B. Hosteter, superintendent of the farmers' institutes of the state, has general charge of both of these branches, though the latter is under the immediate supervision of Mrs. Joseph Carter, Mrs. Emma T. Davenport and other women. Last year an appropriation of $15,000, made by the state, for the work of the farmers' institutes has aided greatly in the furtherance of the traveling library scheme, as a portion of the appropriation has been set aside for its support. These books, made up in sets of from 50 to 60, are sent out to the different branches of the institute as rapidly as possible, and are proving of great assistance to the farmers of the state.

SECTION OF THE LIBRARY OF THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Traveling libraries sent out in Indiana offers but one book on agriculture in each list of 20 books furnished.

The state librarian of Iowa is sending out 73 of these traveling libraries, in which there is a large number of purely agricultural books.

In Michigan the state librarian sends traveling libraries to every town and city in the state having an established library of 1,000 volumes or over which has associated itself with the state library for the purpose. Only a part of these books are upon the general subject of agriculture, but more volumes of this nature are being added as rapidly as there is a demand for them. Another method by which the Michigan farmers obtain the use of agricultural books is in connection with the farmers' institute, reading course and similar work conducted by Clinton D. Smith, director of the state experiment station.

TRAVELING LIBRARIES OF THE ILLINOIS FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Through the states of Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia many of the farmers are being provided with instructive agricultural reading by the Seaboard Air Line railway. These libraries contain from 40 to 60 volumes, and are sent by the railway company to different stations along the line, where they remain for a period of 30 days.

While the traveling library as applied to agricultural reading is as yet in practically a crude state of existence, yet it has brought a solution of the question of reaching the farming community with such books as will result in the betterment of the agricultural classes and increase the number of scientific farmers throughout the United States.

SPORTING.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, of West Front street, has purchased a White wheel of G. H. Kenyon, the popular West Front street bicycle dealer.

Charles B. Morse, of The Daily Press staff, has purchased a new Cleveland wheel of the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company to replace the one which was stolen from him.

Joseph Burke, of Park avenue, won the one-mile novice bicycle race at the Vailsburg board track last Sunday in 2:33 1-5. Burke rode a good race and won after a hard spurt at the finish.

The members of the bicycling division of the Y. M. C. A. will hold a run to New Brunswick tomorrow night, where they will visit the Y. M. C. A. of that place. The run was to have been held last week but was postponed.

A handsome diamond studded medal was received by Joseph Burke, of Park avenue yesterday, as a prize for a quarter mile novice race which he won at Vailsburg Saturday. There were seven contestants in the race but the Plainfield man came in first. His time was 33 4-5 seconds. The medal is of a very pretty design and is valued at $25.

The go-as-you-please century run of the New Jersey State Division of the American Century Wheelmen will be held on Sunday, July 8. Loving cups will be given to the two clubs having the most members in the run. There will be three individual prizes, one for the best time, one for the first one to finish and one for the last man in. It will be run over the A. C. W. twenty-five-mile course, starting at Elizabeth and running through Rahway, Westfield, Plainfield and return. Each rider finishing within fourteen hours will receive a gold A. C. W. bar. The entrance fee will be $1. For entry blanks address Frank Harth, Jr., captain of run, Elizabeth.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Several fast horses have arrived at the Plainfield Driving Club track for the July 4th races.

GOLF

The last round in the golf match between the reporters of The Daily Press and the News was played on the Park Golf Club course yesterday afternoon and resulted in a victory for M. F. Elderton, of the News staff, over Walter C. Dobbins, of The Daily Press staff, one up. Dobbins did clever work on the fair green, but lost the match on the putting green. In the eighth he was on the putting green in two and holed out in five. Elderton played a steady game and dodged the hazards in great style. The final result of the match was in favor of The Daily Press staff by a score of 6 to 1. The play was as follows:

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Common Council will hold an important meeting next Monday evening.

—There will be a business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church tonight.

—The Union Gospel meeting will be held as usual in the W. C. T. U. room in the Babcock building, Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock.

—Bills against the city must be in the hands of the City Clerk by tomorrow to ensure payment at the next meeting of the Council.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Alexander Milne and family, of Wilber avenue, have gone to the coast of Maine to spend the summer.

Mrs. Whitney Frazee, of South avenue, is rapidly recovering from her illness and will soon be able to be out.

Mrs. Eugene O'Reilly, of North avenue, who recently returned from the hospital, is now able to take short drives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Murray, Sr., of West Eighth street, left today for Point Breeze Camp, Wolfboro, N. H., where thep will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hervey Doane, of LaGrande avenue, have returned after spending a few days with relatives in Orange. Their son and daughter remained behind for a few days longer.

ON WRONG SIDE OF THE STREET.

Violation of a Rule of the Road Caused an Accident.

Leonard Jennings, of North avenue, has a badly-skinned and bruised face which he secured in a bicycle accident last evening. Jennings was riding down Park avenue, near Seventh street, when he saw another cyclist approaching whom he states was on the wrong side. The stranger kept on his course and Jennings was forced to turn into the curb with disastrous results. The front wheel of the bicycle was smashed and the frame buckled. The other cyclist escaped without injury, but Jennings secured a number of painful bruises beside the injured face.

Visited Westfield.

Delegations from Columbia and Central A. O. U. W. lodges visited Upchurch Lodge, of Westfield, last evening, and assisted in the initiation of several candidates. Deputy Grand Master Bauersachs, of this city, was also present on an official visit.

New Tribe of Red Men.

Great Sachem Wm. Newcorn was at Ramseys last evening and instituted another new tribe, Pocono, of the Red Men. The institution ceremonies were very successful and were followed by an entertainment.

Cemetery Improvements.

The improvements at the Methodist cemetery on Plainfield avenue have been completed and the public is invited to an inspection of the cemetery Friday afternoon from 2 until 8 o'clock.

Pythians to Elect.

At the meeting of Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias, this evening, there will be the annual election of officers. The nominations were made at a previous meeting.

Overcome by the Heat.

John Seay, stone layer for the city, was overcome by the heat Monday afternoon and is now confined to his home. Andrew Roach is taking his place.

A Fast Bicycle Rider

Will often receive painful cuts, sprains or bruises from accidents. Bucklen's Arnica Salve will kill the pain and heal the injury. It is the cyclist's friend. Cures Chafing, Chapped Hands, Sore Lips, Burns, Ulcers and Piles. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c. Try it. Sold by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

HILLSIDE WINS AGAIN.

DEFEATED PARK GOLF CLUB TEAM BY SCORE OF 11 TO 0.

Return Match Played on Hillside Club Course This Morning—Teams of Three Men.

The return golf match between the teams of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and the Park Golf Club was played on the Hillside Club course this morning. The Hillside team was again victorious by a score of 11 to 0. Each club was represented by a team of three men.

W. L. Glenny and W. J. R. Thiers met again and Glenny came out ahead eight up. It was Thiers' first experience on the Hillside links and he did 51 and 46, a total of 97, to Glenny's 44 and 42, a total of 86.

M. T. Townsend, of the Park Club, was matched against J. Whitney Baker this time and was defeated one up. It was a good game and very even from start to finish. Townsend was not entirely new to the course and played good golf. Baker made 44 and 41, a total of 85, to Townsend's 43 and 43, a total of 86.

There was another close match between Gustavus W. Faber, of the visiting team, and Dr. B. Van D. Hedges, from Hillside. Dr. Hedges won two up. Dr. Hedges was well in the lead at the end of nine holes, but Faber braced up toward the close and decreased the Hillside man's lead. Dr. Hedges' score was 44-44—88. Faber made 48 43—91.

The score of the match was as follows:

WORD FROM SEYMOUR.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

London, June 27.—A dispatch from Shanghai, dated last evening, says that communication with Admiral Seymour was opened by the Tientsin relief force Sunday.

Admiral Seymour was at that time said to be ten miles from Tientsin. Three hundred of the members of his party were reported sick and wounded, but only a few had been killed. The force was short of provisions, and was returning without having rescued the legations.

Paris, June 27—The French Consul General at Shanghai, telegraphing under date of yesterday, announces that the allied troops have entered Tientsin.

He states also that the foreign Ministers have departed from Pekin for the north, accompanied by Chinese escort. It is supposed that they are headed for Shanghai Kuan, following the course of the great wall.

WITHDREW FROM FIRM.

Captain Aspell's Partnership Arrangement Did Not Prove to be Very Satisfactory.

The troubles of the firm of J. W. Aspell & Company, a corporation incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, are over. Captain J. W. Aspell, of Navesink Highlands, was the sole proprietor of a wholesale establishment on Broadway, New York, last year. He took three New York men into the business with him on the condition that the new firm was to become responsible for his debts. The contract didn't provide for it. Robert M. Clark, Captain Aspell's lawyer, applied to the Court of Chancery to settle the trouble. Today the case was settled by the withdrawal of the New York men after receiving the amount they had paid into the concern.

BICYCLES and MOTORS

NEARING PERFECTION.

Great Improvement Noticeable in the Construction of This Season's Cycles.

Progress is the watchword of modern society. Without it business would almost come to a standstill.

It was a bicycle maker in the early days who remarked that he would not make a perfect bicycle if he could; for then he could not look forward to improving it.

Whether the makers of the early chainless bicycles could have achieved perfection is scarcely doubtful. But at any rate they did not. They had the pleasant task of marking a distinct advance each year. Perhaps the greatest of all has been recorded with this season's machines.

A rider who last year tried a chainless of excellent reputation, and gave it up as a hopeless case on account of its heaviness and deadness, was induced to try one of the same make a short time ago. He became an instant and willing victim to its fascinations, and is now constantly singing its praises.

Perhaps he judged the previous machine too hardly, doing it scant justice. In like manner he may exaggerate the improvement noticeable in the present one. There is an improvemnt, of course, and a decided one; but this is no more than was to have been expected under the circumstances, and it should be taken as a matter of course.

Improved processes, both as to the cutting and assembling of the gears, have been brought into use. They would have given gratifying results, even had the improvement stopped there. But it went farther.

The reductions in weight, although not as material as has been claimed in some quarters, have served to put the finishing touches to the transformation that has taken place. Buyers are no longer handicapped by any marked difference in weight or running; it is only the increased price that is to be offset against freedom from dirty chains.—Bicycling World.

LABOR-SAVING DEVICE.

Its Inventor Thinks That It Will Make the Insertion of Inner Tubes a Pleasure.

Bicycle riders who use double-tube tires will find the invention shown in the illustration a very useful article to aid in the insertion of the inner tube in the shoe Louis Baebler, of St. Louis, Mo., is the inventor of this device, which he describes as a curved rod, to one end of which is attached the end of the inner tube in such a manner that it will fold over the rod as the two are forced into the tire. The overlapping of the tube around the rod will tend to maintain the former in its proper position and prevent it from twisting, as it is apt to do when pulled through by a cord. In forming the attachment between rod and tube the latter is folded over the end of the former, and held in place by a tubular thimble. When the tube is in place the thimble is removed, allowing the rod to be drawn out, which operation is easily accomplished on account of its tapering shape.—Chicago News.

OLD QUESTION REVIVED.

Riding a Wheel Before Breakfast Again Made the Subject of General Discussion.

The old, old question: "Should exercise be taken before breakfast?" is again being raised in the columns of the daily press, and we incline very much to the opinion of those who consider it deleterious in the extreme to that frail mass of organic matter called the human system. It is a most injudicious proceeding to ride on an empty stomach, or rather with an empty stomach. When one considers that before breakfast has been absorbed no food has passed through the stomach since the previous evening, some nine or ten hours before, and that the digestive organs have been idle for at least six hours, it follows that the system has been "feeding on itself," drawing on its reserves, so to speak, for at least a half-dozen hours. Until the matutinal meal has been eaten the body is therefore at its lowest ebb, and is in no condition to support muscular fatigue. Through the medium of food we not only provide fuel for maintaining the natural warmth of the body, but we also revive the strength-staying power, and that condition of the system which fortifies us against "chills," colds, weariness and infection. Early morning exercise should therefore be avoided until the digestive apparatus has been set going. A cup of coffee and a biscuit does not take long in preparing, and it will serve to stave off that feeling of ennui incidental to the hungry rider.—Golden Days.

POLLUTION OF THE RAHWAY MUST STOP.

Cranford Boating Association Has Decided to Take Part in the Movement.

MILL OWNERS ARE BLAMED.

IT IS CHARGED THAT THEY DUMP IMPURE STUFF IN THE STREAM.

The Pollution of the River a Menace to Health and Spoils the Pleasure of Boating of Cranford Residents.

Residents and mill owners of Springfield and Millburn, together with the factory owners of Orange Valley, whose places border on the main tributaries of the Rahway River, have received notice that an additional effort to stop the pollution of that stream will be made. Besides the authorities of Rahway, which city gets its water supply from the river, and who have interested the State Board of Health in the matter, the Cranford Boating Association has taken up the cudgel and engaged counsel, who has been instructed to carry the case to court if a more amicable abatement of the nuisance is not obtained.

The purification of the Rahway River has been more or less agitated for the past four or five years, but it was not until recently, that is, within the last year, that definite action has been taken to put a stop to the alleged contamination. The stream has its head waters in the valley section of Mulburn and South Orange. These tributaries unite at the boundary line of Millbury, Springfield and South Orange, forming the principal stream, which acts as the dividing line between Springfield and Union Township for over three miles. It then flows through Cranford and Rahway.

The entrance of the Cranford Boating Association into the fight gives indication that a determined effort will be made to clear away the contamination. This association, which has for its officers Harvey Hiller, as commodore; J. Snock, vice-commodore, and C. B. Williams, as secretary, and also has a membership of about two hundred residents of Cranford on its rolls, and they are determined to spend some money in fighting the matter.

The Rahway River flows through Cranford, and yearly the river carnival, held under the Boating Association's auspices, takes place in August. The banks of the river are lined with handsome residences and considerable money has been expended in beautifying the property. The people need the river to a considerable extent for boating purposes, and the number of handsome craft seen on the river is large. This has also been the means of attracting desirable residences to the place.

Within the past two years it has been noticed that the hitherto clear water has become almost black, and last summer, for the first time, it gave off an offensive odor. Interest in the boating on this account has lagged, as it was noticed that impurities in the stream clung to whatever they came in contact with, and left on the boats a dirty black color. An investigation of the source of pollution has been made under the association's directions and it is claimed evidence was found on which its proposed action is to be based.

Closing Exercises.

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock the students and friends of the Plainfield Business College will meet in their rooms, over the City Bank, for their closing exercises. Lawyer George H. Bruce, of New York and Plainfield, will deliver an address. Expert music has been provided. Various literary exercises, followed by the presentation of diplomas to twenty graduates, and closing with a social entertainment, will fill up a pleasant evening.

Price of Milk May Go up.

There is a movement on foot among certain local milkmen to change the price of milk per quart. Some claim that they cannot comply with the regulations of the Board of Health and sell milk for 6 cents a quart and then have more than half of the bill charged, with the possibility of never getting the money. The price for milk talked of is 8 and 10 cents per quart.

Inspection is Asked.

The public in general and lot owners in particular are invited to inspect the Methodist cemetery on Plainfield avenue tomorrow afternoon from 2 until 8 o'clock. The recent improvements are now entirely completed and the cemetery is in excellent condition. The superintendent and the cemetery committee will be present.

PAINTERS' UNION ELECT.

Officers Chosen for the First Year — Discussion of Plans for the Future.

The members of Local Union, No. 57, Painters, Decorators and Paper-Hangers' of America, held their first meeting Tuesday evening for organization, at which time the following officers were elected: President, Samuel Terry, Jr.; vice-president, Franke Burke; conductor, Arthur McDonald; preceptor, Leslie Marsh; warden, Elvin Marsh; board of trustees, Edward Cranston, Theodore Murray and Charles Conover.

After the election of officers there was a discussion of plans for the advancement of the interests of the Union and such action will be taken from time to time as shall protect and further the interests of the members. The meeting was a very satisfactory one and the organization promises to become a strong one in this city.

MISS DUMONT WILL WED

HER HUSBAND WILL BE COL. BELKNAP, OF LOUISVILLE, KY.

Announcement Made Yesterday—Great Surprise, as Only a Favored Few Knew of it.

Plainfield society circles will be greatly interested in the following dispatch from Louisville, Ky.:

"Announcement was made yesterday of the engagement of Colonel Morris B. Belknap, of Louisville and Miss Marion S. Dumont, of Plainfield, N. J. The wedding will take place July 16th at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dument, and only the families of the contracting parties will be present.

"The news comes as a great surpise to Colonel Belknap's friends here and elsewhere, for only a favored have up to this time been in the secret. Miss Dument has several times been the guest of Miss Ethel Allen, now Mrs. Gage, of New York, who is a niece of Colonel Belknap. It was on one of these visit that the acquaintance began.

"Colonel Belknap is a member of the firm of W. B. Belknap & Co. As president of the board of trustees for several terms he has done great service in behalf of this city. During the campaign of the First Kentucky in Porto Rico and for some time before that he was lieutenant-colonel of the regiment."

SUNDAY NORMAL SCHOOL.

Novel Educational Idea for Those Who Teach in Local Sunday-schools.

The Sunday-school teachers who have been attending the class taught by Dr. Stearns are making an effort to establish a Sunday normal school. The idea is to hold the session at a time when more persons can attend. The teachers and many others could attend such a meeting on Sunday morning. It has come to the knowledge of those interested that a gentleman of training school experience, formerly of Springfield, Mass., and thoroughly versed as a Hebrew and Latin scholar, as well as in Biblical literature, has been conducting services in this city. If he can be secured to open such a normal school it would be well attended, no doubt. Many teachers feel the need of having the lessons presented fresh each Sunday-morning so that they will be better able to teach in the afternoon.

ANTI-TRUST FACTORY SWATTED.

A New Jersey Thunderbolt Evidently Subsidized by the Rubber Octopus.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, June 28.—Lightning struck the new factory building of the India Rubber Company at Milltown last evening. The big chimney was split and the walls were cracked. This factory is being built to run in opposition to the Rubber Trust, which closed its Milltown plant. The operatives who were left without employment have been active in the new enterprise.

Delegate Manning for Sulzer.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 28.—Congressman William Sulzer has succeeded in making one convert to his Vice-Presidential boom by his recent visit to Elizabeth. This supporter is City Clerk Manning, who announced that he is for Sulzer so long as the latter remained in the field. This is somewhat of a surprise as it was thought Mr. Manning would be a strong supporter of David B. Hill, for whom he has always had a great admiration. Mr. Manning wanted to see Hill nominated for President in 1892. With Sulzer eliminated from the race, then Mr. Manning will likely be found ranged under the Hill banner, if that gentleman's name is presented to the convention.

AMONG THE LAST OF THE JUNE WEDDINGS

Bauer-VanDyke Nuptials Celebrated in Pretty Fashion Last Evening.

A PROFUSION OF FLOWERS.

BRIDE'S HOME ELABORATELY DECORATED FOR THE OCCASION.

Several Juveniles Took a Pretty Part in the Ceremony—Bride Was Gowned in Handsome Dress—Couple Will Reside in Somerville.

One of the prettiest weddings of the month took place last evening when Miss Maude Eleanor VanDyke, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. VanDyke, of 226 East Front street, became the wife of William D. Bauer, of Somerville, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. The event took place at the home of the bride's parents at 7:30 o'clock.

The home was decorated with flowers, ferns, palms and daisies. In the front parlor, where the ceremony was performed, there was a profusion of ferns, palms and daisies, banked about the fire-place, in front of which the bridal party stood. The rear parlor was also prettily decorated in green and white, the prevailing colors, and in the hallway the balustrade was completely covered with greens and daisies. From this point leading from the hall through the parlor to the altar, on either side, there was roping of greens and daisies, forming an aisle. At the foot of the hall stairway there stood Frank and Edna Burdick, cousins of the bride, and in the centre were stationed Benjamin Cooley and Elsie Tier. The girls were dressed in white and the four stood as attendants to the bridal party as they entered the parlor from the hallway, and then joined the party at the altar.

The Mendelssohn wedding march was rendered on the piano by Miss Minnie Coddington, of Somerville. The bride and groom, accompanied by the best man, Howard Bauer, of Asbury Park, brother of the groom, entered the parlor preceded by the flower girls, Mildred, Marguerite and Madalene Sutphen, cousins of the bride, of Liberty Corner. Mildred and Madalene Sutphen carried baskets of flowers, and Marguerite Sutphen carried the wedding ring, with which the couple was married. The flower girls were prettily attired in dresses of white, trimmed with ribbons.

The bride was prettily gowned in white French organdie over white silk, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. At the altar the bridal party was met by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, who performed the ceremony, and by Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who offered prayer at the close of the ceremony. Rev. Mr. Woodruff, pastor of the M. E. church, of Scotch Plains, and Rev. Mr. Condit, pastor of the M. E. church, at Liberty Corner, were also present, but did not assist in the marriage.

The ceremony was that of the Reformed church, and the responses were given in a clear tone by the bride and groom. Following the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Bauer received their guests and their best wishes, which were showered on them. A wedding supper was then served and during the early part of the evening the newly-married couple left the city to enjoy their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside at Somerville, where the groom has a responsible position as assistant postmaster. The couple take with them the heartiest wishes from their many friends for a happy and successful married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Bauer received a very large number of useful and elegant presents, including china, silverware, cut glass, furniture, embroidery, goldenware, buffet, writing desk, and many other things too numerous to mention. The bride is a most estimable young woman, and both she and her husband are very popular among a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

There were guests present at the wedding from this city and many points in New Jersey, including Somerville, Newark, New York and Brooklyn.

To Fix Things for Kansas City.

W. T. Hoyt, of this city, who is officially connected with the Missouri & Pacific Railroad, has gone to Philadelphia to arrange for the transportation of a large number of delegates who are going to the Democratic convention to be held in Kansas City next week.

FOWLER'S NOMINATION TODAY IS ASSURED.

Will be Chosen at Eighth Congressional District Convention to be Held in Elizabeth.

NO OPPOSITION EXPECTED.

NAME WILL BE PLACED IN NOMINATION BY ESSEX DLEGATE.

Nomination Will be Seconded by Delegate From Twelfth Ward of Elizabeth and by One From Plainfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 28.—Congressman Charles N. Fowler is to be renominated this afternoon if the plans of the Republican leaders of the Eighth Congressional district do not go astray. The convention of the Eighth district is in progress at the Lyceum Theatre, as this edition goes to press, having been called to order shortly after 3 o'clock.

After the temporary organization is effected, there will be a short recess in order to allow the committees to meet after which the convention will reconvene and hear their reports. The nomination of a Republican candidate for Congress is the real business of the convention and that is not expected to take a great deal of time.

The honor of nominating Fowler will go to Essex. The nomination will be seconded in short speeches by the Twelfth ward of Elizabeth, Fowler's home ward, and Plainfield. It is expected that City Judge William N. Runyon will be chosen chairman of the Plainfield delegation and that he will have the honor of seconding the Congressman's nomination.

According to the plans of the leaders, there will be no opposition to Fowler's nomination. The Bergen boom had the wind completely taken out of its sails by Mr. Bergen's positive statement to a Press reporter that he was not a candidate. There may be a "dark horse" from Essex, but it is hardly likely as the Essex delegation is quite solid for the Elizabeth man.

FARM BARNS BURNED.

Lightning the Cause of a Big Blaze Near Bound Brook Last Night.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 28—Lightning struck one of the large barns on the stock farm of L. V. D. Shepherd, situated one mile north of this town, last evening about 7 o'clock, causing a total loss of the building together with the contents, which consisted of a large amount of grain, wagons and farming implements. Mr. Shepherd is a breeder of fancy horses, but luckily nearly all of the stock was in the fields at the time of the fire. There were three horses in the barn, and it was found impossible to rescue these, as the structure very soon became a mass of flames. The fire department of this place was speedily upon the scene, and did good work in saving the house and other buildings. The loss is over $5,000, partially covered by insurance.

PAST FOUR SCORE POINT.

Lambert H. Heyniger, Aged 82 Years, Passed Away Quietly This Morning.

Lambert H. Heyniger, an old resident of Plainfield, passed away quietly at his home on Grant avenue early this morning. Death was due to his advanced age, as he was eighty-two years old. He is survived by a wife and four children, one son and three daughters. Another son, Frank, died in Colorado a short time ago.

Mr. Heyniger came to Plainfield from Brooklyn and engaged in the flour and feed business which he continued until a few years ago, when he disposed of his store on Somerset street and retired from active life. He was well known among a large circle of friends, both in business and private life.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery Saturday.

Important Meeting of Juniors.

An important meeting of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held this evening. Election of officers will take place, and the matter of the National council suspending the lodges of New Jersay will come up for consideration.

G. O. P. Banner Tattered.

Last evening's rain and wind played havoc with the Republican banner on North avenue, and the glorious stars and stripes are in a sadly tattered condition.

TANGLES ON TROLLEY OVER TICKET SYSTEM.

Complicated Scheme of Tickets and Fares Makes Trouble for Employes and Patrons.

ALL RIGHT IN THEORY,

BUT IN PRACTICE IT REQUIRES AN EXPERT ACCOUNTANT.

So Many Different Kinds of Tickets Required That Conductors Skip Some Fares and Again Try to Collect Twice.

The decidedly complicated system of transfers, tickets and fares on the Elizabeth-Plainfield line of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company is causing all sorts of trouble for the company's employes and no end of discomfort for their patrons. The trouble is that it requires almost an expert accountant to keep track of the business, and some of the conductors have managed to make a pretty mess of it.

In their efforts to get the various franchises necessary to complete the through line, the company was compelled to sign certain contracts that provided for specified rates of fare between certain places. The officers decided that 15 cents was the smallest amount for which they would carry passengers from Plainfield to Elizabeth, and so they had to do some wonderful contriving to make everything come out right. A strange and wonderful scheme was evolved that necessitated some eight different kinds of tickets.

Now this scheme is all right in theory. It's the easiest thing in the world to sit down in a comfortable office and explain how it is to be worked, but when it comes to the practical working it is far different. To begin with each conductor has to carry a supply of all the different kinds of tickets. Then there is opportunity for innumerable blunders and they are frequently taken advantage of.

Sometimes the conductor forgets to take up the fare at all but more often he wants a cash fare after a ticket has been given. When the car is crowded and the conductor has to hustle, countless mistakes are made simply on account of the complicated scheme. To one who has some understanding of the method it is not hard, but to a stranger it is decidedly unpleasant. The stranger simply pays cash and then naturally objects to being charged more than the rest of the passengers who are somewhat acquainted with the ways of the road.

The tickets themselves are not based on any general plan and it is impossible to buy one from Plainfield to Elizabeth or Elizabeth to Plainfield. A ticket can be secured from here to Roselle and after that a cash fare is collected.

Anyone desiring to go to Westfield station can go from the North avenue station for five cents but if they happen to get on a Westfield car with a transfer they have to pay again. Returning the fare from Westfield station to the North avenue station is five cents but no transfers are given. A passenger from Scotch Plains gets a transfer. While those who have followed the troubles of the trolley line understand the reasons therefore, but to a stranger it seems rather unreasonable.

SPEEDWAY WANTED.

Horsemen Want a Place for Fast Driving of Their Steeds.

The question of establishing a speedway in this city is again being seriously considered by lovers and owners of good horses. There seems to be a strong demand for such a course, where the relative merits of fast horses can be measured. There are a large number of fast horses in this city and vicinity and the owners believe that there should be some place where they can have an opportunity to try the speed of their racers. In the near future some action will be taken in this matter and it is hoped that something definite will be accomplished.

Teachers on a Lark.

The members of the Primary and Junior Teachers' Union went to Johnston's Drive this morning to enjoy their annual picnic. The left the North avenue switch at 9:45 o'clock and they will return before dark this evening.

Three Confirmed.

Bishop Scarborough, of Trenton, visited Grace P. E. church last evening and confirmed three members. Considering the warm weather there was a good attendance and the service was enjoyed very much.

NEW CARS THIS TIME.

Ten Double-Truck Open Cars Have Arrived For Use on the Elizabeth-Plainfield Trolley Line.

The "new" open cars of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company have arrived and will be put into use at once on the Elizabeth-Plainfield and the Westfield-Rahway lines. These cars are claimed to be really new, no new "second-hand" cars this time. They have arrived right from the Philadelphia shops of J. B. Brill, the great car manufacturer. They certainly appear brand new and are of a much better class than the cars that have been in use. They have twelve seats each, are longer than the old cars and are equipped with double trucks. The first one over the line visited Plainfield this morning. They are handsomely decorated, maroon being the prevailing color. They are claimed to be equipped with all the modern improvements.

HYMEN IN NURSES' HOME

VANSYCKLE - MESSLER NUPTIALS CELEBRATED THERE YESTERDAY.

Bride is a Sister of the Superintendent of the Hospital — Rev. G. Kennedy Newell Officiated.

An attractive wedding, and the first one to take place in the Nurses' Home on Muhlenberg place, was that of yesterday afternoon, when Miss Bertha Messler, daughter of the late Charles Bartles Messler, of Whitehouse, and a sister of Miss Emma Sprague Messler, superintendent of Muhlenberg Hospital, was united in marriage to John Windle VanSyckle, also of Whitehouse. The event took place at 5 o'clock and Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of Hope Memorial chapel, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white material, trimmed with lace and white satin ribbons, and she carried a bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Emma Sprague Messler, her sister, who was gowned in pink, and Miss Margaret Cramer, of the Nurses' Home, who wore a gown of blue. Both carried carnation pinks. The groom was unattended.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. VanSyckle received the congratulations of those present, including a few relatives and friends, among whom were the nurses at the Home. Miss Kate Messler, of German Valley, sister of the bride, was also present. After congratulations a pleasing supper was served, and the bride and groom left Plainfield on the 6:38 train for Whitehouse, where they will reside at the home of the groom's father, Samuel VanSyckle.

Mr. and Mrs. VanSyckle were remembered handsomely by their relatives and friends, and the many useful and pretty gifts gave evidence of the very high esteem in which the couple is held by all who know them. When they departed for their future home their friends gave them a royal send off and the event will always be remembered by those present as one of the most pleasant.

HORSE SLIPPED

Steed to Chief Doane's Wagon Fell at Corner of Park Avenue and Second Street.

As Chief Doane's wagon turned the corner from East Second street into Park avenue yesterday afternoon, when Bert Townley, acting driver, was going after the Chief to take him to the fire on East Third street, the horse stepped on the mud-covered man-hole cover and slipped. The animal was thrown on its left side and slightly cut on the shoulder and leg. The injuries were not serious, however, and no damage was done to the shafts or harness. The horse was going at a slow pace as it turned the corner. Somewhere else on the journey the rubber shoes on the hind feet came off.

PULLED HER EAR.

Mrs. Heinold Alleges That Josie Madden Was Saucy to Her.

This afternoon before Justice Smalley, of the borough, an interesting case of assault and battery will be tried. The plaintiff is Josie Madden, a young girl, and the defendant is Mrs. Heinold. Both live on Grove street, at the upper end, and the plaintiff says that the defendant pulled her ear, which caused pain and injury. The trouble occurred Friday, when the defendant says the plaintiff was saucy. W. S. Angleman will represent Mrs. Heinold, while S. S. Swackhamer will plead the case for the plaintiff.

GOVERNOR IS PIQUED AT THE COMMITTEE.

He Was Opposed to Having Report on Industrial School Made Public.

HE PRAISES MRS. EYLER.

CHARACTERIZES THE COMMITTEE'S ACT AS DISCOURTEOUS.

Mr. Voorhees Thinks That the Report Should Have Been Turned Over to Him and He Kept it Quiet Till Legislature Meets.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 28.—Governor Voorhees thinks the Legislative Committee which has been investigating the charges of mismanagement at the State Industrial School has been guilty of an act of discourtesy in giving its report to the newspapers before he had read it.

"I learn," he says, "that the report was in type in several newspaper offices before the committee called upon me and presented it. This I consider a distinct slight. The first intimation I had that the committee intended to make the report public was when the committee called upon me and Chairman Mungle asked if it could be released for publication.

"'Why,' I replied, in astonishment, 'I have only just got the report in my hands. I think I at least should be allowed to read it before it is made public.'

"The chairman then explained that the committee already had given copies to the newspapers, with the condition that they were not to use it until the report was submitted to me. I then told him I considered the action of the committee most discourteous, and that I did not intend to make it public until it was submitted to the Legislature.

"To Mr. Abbett, a member of the committee, I said that his father, when Governor, always insisted upon his rights in such respects. I recalled that when I once submitted a committee report to Governor Abbett and asked for his permission to have it published he told me he would give such consent only after he had digested its contents. In the present instance I took the same view of the matter, and felt I was only standing for my rights."

The school at present, the Governor continued, was running as smoothly as clockwork, and Mrs. Eyler was showing herself thoroughly competent.

"Peace is restored," he said, "and I anticipate no further disturbance."

It is said on good authority that the committee's dissatisfaction with the action of the Governor in appointing the new Board of Trustees before the report was ready is in a measure responsible for the fact that it has been given out before he wanted it to become public.

SPOT INJURED.

Canine Pet of Driver William Townley Fought in Path of the Chemical Engine.

"Spot," the pet coach dog belonging to William Townley, driver of the chemical engine, came very near going to his last fire yesterday afternoon. The canine is now at Townley's home with a deep cut in his side. "Spot" always accompanies the chemical engine on the runs to fires.

When the alarm came in from box 16 yesterday afternoon, "Spot" turned out with the chemical as usual. As they approached Watchung avenue on Second street "Spot" led the van. Another dog rushed out and attacked the fire department's pet. There was a growl, a rush and the two dogs heaped upon the road. Townley tried to guide the horses one on either side of the struggling dogs but one of the horses' hoofs caught "Spot" in the side and laid open a deep gash. "Spot" has had medical attendance and the best of care. It is hoped that he will recover.

ACCUSED OF ARSON.

Stirling Farmhand Charged With Setting Fire to a Barn.

Stirling is fully enjoying the excitement attendant on the trial of an alleged "firebug." Peter Moran, a farm laborer, is now held on that charge and will have his trial before Justice Havey, of Stirling, Monday morning. Sunday, April 1st, a barn belonging to the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, was destroyed by fire under circumstances that appeared suspicious. An investigation was made by the owners and the arrest of Moran followed.

THE DREAM OF A POET.

In Which He Experiences the Delight of Having His Verses Well Paid For.

"Is the poetry editor in?"

The tall, pale-faced, intellectual looking man, with the high forehead and the shabby black frock coat flapping about his emaciated form, stood hesitatingly in the doorway as he put the question, says the Washington Star. A stout, well-fed, well-groomed man, seated at a carved mahogany desk, rose from his chair in an attitude of salutation, and said:

"Sir, I am the editor of the poetry column."

The intellectual looking man drew forth from the inside pocket of his shabby coat a dog's-eared bundle of manuscript.

"I beg to submit," said he, "a few miscellaneous verses that I have jotted down at intervals during the past few months. I should like to commend them to your most attentive consideration, did I not feel that it were forward on my part to do so. Many of them are on the subject of the beauteous spring season, which is now unfolding."

The stout, well-fed, well-groomed man eagerly snatched up the bundle of manuscript and turned over the pages like a man in a play who is searching for a missing will in a moth-eaten book of recipes. Then he took the intellectual looking man enthusiastically by the hand.

"My dear sir," said he, in a voice full of emotion, "I pray you to be seated. I have often heard of your work in the poetic line, and I have frequently been upon the verge of writing to inquire if you would not let us have what verses you did not care to use elsewhere. Your arrival is exceedingly timely. I have been distracted to find some suitable verses on the subject of spring for our big edition next week, and anything that you submit I feel confident must be more than worthy the consideration, not only of our publication, but of the world in general. Sir, I beg to assure you that you flatter us beyond our worth in thus coming to our rescue at a critical time, and you shall not go unrewarded. I shall, with your permission, accept this entire lot of verses that you have submitted, and I leave it to you to set whatever figure upon them that you think is equitable and proper."

"I beg you to spare me the humiliation of appraising these children of my brain and soul in cold lucre," said the intellectual looking man. "Any amount that you may see fit to render in payment for them will be quite satisfactory to me."

The poetry editor reached into one of the drawers of his carved mahogany desk and drew forth a small book of pale pink checks. Seizing a diamond incrusted pen he hastily dashed off a check for $5,000 and handed it over to the intellectual looking man.

"I consider that simply a bagatelle in payment for such exquisite versification as I know this package of manuscript contains," said the poetry editor, again fervently squeezing the hand of the intellectual looking man, "but when that is gone I pray you not to hesitate to call upon us, or draw upon us, for any amount. Good morning, my dear sir—good morning."

Then the intellectual looking man fell out of bed with such a resounding bump that the Hibernian landlady rushed up to his garret room and notified him that he'd have to seek other quarters if he intended to continue to wake up honest people below him in the middle of the night.

HOW A PASTOR GOT HIS MONEY

Cutting Sarcasm Secured Payment of the Coal Bill When Pleading Failed.

Money for any kind of a collection is rather a difficult thing for the rectors of a church to gather in sufficiently large quantities to meet the existing expenses, but a demand of money for a coal collection is certain to be attended with the most disastrous financial results. All the more is this the inevitable result when money is asked for the winter's coal bill and winter is over and spring at hand, and the bare mention of coal and heat makes the unenthusiastic congregation grow soporific and unheeding.

Such was the case one Sunday, not so very long ago, in the interior of a large ecclesiastical edifice in Chicago, according to the Chronicle of that city. The congregation had been warned two weeks in advance of the time of the collection and the size of the bill and the necessity of its payment had been dinned into their unwilling ears for several preceding church days. Finally the appointed Sunday arrived and the special baskets for the collection were passed throughout the church, and, while there was an occasional jingle of silver coin, the persons who did not contribute seemed in the familiar ratio of sixteen to one who did.

The Sunday following the day of the collection the pastor mounted his pulpit to announce the amount accumulated by the ushers. And this is the way he did it:

"Brethren, the collection for coal taken up last Sunday amounted to $123, which averages about one-fourth of a cent for every person in the parish. To say any more would spoil this!" And he descended the steps with dignified tread.

The very next morning the deficit was forwarded to him through the efforts of a group of thoroughly ashamed and thoroughly awakened parishioners.

He graduated from Garrett Biblical institute in 1884. After serving as pastor in the Rock River conference from 1884 to 1888, he went to India to serve as pastor of the English-speaking church at Calcutta. He served in that capacity for 12 years. In 1889 he was made presiding elder of the Calcutta district, and has held that position in addition to his pastoral duties up to the present time. In 1895 he was chosen general secretary of the Epworth league in India, and now holds that office as well as that of editor of the Indian Epworth Herald. All these years Mr. Warne has served as secretary of two large boarding schools, carrying the financial burden with signal success. He has inaugurated and carried through to permanent success two orphanages and one industrial home for men, which institutions have taken a leading position in Calcutta in their respective lines of work. Mr. Warne has not spent more than four months in America during the nearly 13 years since he enlisted. He is in perfect health, and will make an evangelistic and statesmanlike missionary bishop.

Edwin Hurd Conger, United States minister at Peking, under whose direction American marines have been landed for the protection of American interests against the "boxers," was born in Knox county, Illinois, March 7, 1843. Mr. Conger is a man of will and nerve. He was educated at Lombard university, graduating in the class of 1862. He turned from the schoolroom to military service in the union army, enlisting as a private in the One Hundred and Second Illinois volunteer infantry. He served with this regiment until the close of the war, rising to the rank of captain and receiving from the president the brevet of major "for gallant and meritorious conduct in the field."

EDWIN HURD CONGER. (Minister of the United States at Peking, China.)

He began the study of law at the close of the war and graduated from the Albany law school in 1867. He first practiced law at Galesburg in 1868, and then removed to Dexter, Ia., where he became engaged in farming, stock raising and banking. He was elected treasurer of Dallas county, Iowa, in 1877, and again in 1879. In 1880 the republicans chose him for state treasurer of Iowa and reelected him in 1882. After this he served three terms in congress, leaving his position there to become envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Brazil. From this his advancement to the important post at Peking was rapid. He is ranked as one of the ablest American representatives in foreign countries.

Cigar Bean of Batavia.

The "cigar bean" of Batavia is a wild fruit recently discovered in Batavia. The pod is like a cigar in shape and color, but only an inch long, and when put into water it rests on the surface for several minutes, then explodes like a torpedo, hurling the seed in all directions. If allowed to ripen in a warm place the pod gradually splits lengthwise from point to base. If left to ripen on the plant it splits open more suddenly.

DISTRESS IN INDIA.

Native Hindoo Tells of the Famine in His Country.

Parents Driven by Hunger to Steal Food from Their Starving Children—A Case of Too Much Costly Government.

Chronic poverty, caused by excessive taxation necessary for the support of the civil service in India, was given as the reason for the Indian famines by Bipin Chandra Pal in his address before the Boston Christian Endeavor union. The meeting was for the benefit of the starving millions in India.

Mr. Pal is a native of Calcutta, a member of the Brahmo-Somaj, or society for the worship of the only true God, an educated Hindoo, one of the most intelligent and cultivated of his race. In speaking of the famine, Mr. Pal said to a St. Louis Republic correspondent:

"Some people say to me: 'Why don't you irrigate, so that the failure of rain will not ruin the crops?' Others say: 'Why can you not teach your people to engage in agriculture on a scientific basis so that the crops will not be a failure?'

"To these questions I answer that it is not the failure of the crops that is responsible for the terrible famines which devastate India from time to time.

"Whatever the trouble may be, it is a chronic trouble and attacks my people in an acute form.

"According to Sir William Hunter, at one time the statistical registrar of India, 40,000,000 of people live on insufficient food. Out of the 300,000,000 souls in India 40,000,000 exist on one meal a day. That meal, instead of being on meat or some really strengthening and nourishing matter, consists of cereals or vegetables, varied at times with a small piece of fish.

"Chronic poverty is the real trouble with my people. The failure of the rains raises prices and as a result the submerged 40,000,000 of the population are left in terrible straits.

"In regard to the extent of the famine we are informed that 5,000,000 persons are receiving government relief. The natives affected by the shortage of food are reduced to mere bags of bones. Parents are so hungry that they will steal food from their children in order to preserve their own lives."

The speaker then showed, by giving a sketch of the great famines during the past 200 years, that for years the natives of India have been poverty-stricken and have lived on insufficient food. To-day in certain districts of India there are as many as 800 inhabitants to each cultivated square mile of territory. This land is so highly taxed that the cultivator cannot lay by enough money to support himself during the bad years."

Mr. Pal gave an instance of where the cultivator of a tract of land earned $125 on his produce. Of this amount $35 went to pay the taxes. After paying other necessary expenses the cultivator had left $24.33 1-3 to support a family of five for a year.

In another instance cited, the cultivator, after paying the taxes and the amount due the estate, had left $15 on which to support a family of seven for a year. The estates exact at least a third of the gross receipts for rent.

"In India," continued the speaker, "we have to pay a very dear price for our most excellent government. We have to pay for the support of the imperial army in India, also for the Indian civil service. India is grateful to England for what the latter has done for her. Among other things Great Britain has united the Indian states into one grand confederation. This civilization costs India $75,000,000 each year.

"I am a most loyal subject of the queen and cannot complain of the heavy price which India is forced to pay for her government. At present India must be governed by England; but for India, through India and in the interests of India.

"When my country is governed as Canada and Australia, when she is granted some degree of autonomy, then will she be of perennial advantage to England."

Total Wealth of Europe.

Europe's total wealth, personal and real estate, is estimated at $225,000,000,000. England leads with $59,000,000,000, then comes France with $50,000,000,000; Germany $40,000,000,000; Russia, $32,000,000,000; Austria, $22,000,000,000, Italy, $15,000,000,000; Belgium, $15,000,000,000, and Holland, $4,000,000,000.

To Prevent Their Extinction.

During the last five years the United States fish commission has liberated nearly 500,000,000 young lobsters, artificially hatched, on the Massachusetts coast.

WAS A MODEL WIFE.

Mrs. Gladstone Who Is Now Reported as Nearing Her End.

Although a Woman of Rare Ability, She Devoted Her Entire Life to the Care of Her Still More Illustrious Husband.

When William E. Gladstone died two years ago all the world bowed its head and gave fitting token of its regard for the great English statesman. Again respect may cause the world to bow its head, this time not to one who was a great statesman, but to one who was a great wife; to her who for almost 60 years stood beside the "grand old man." For Mrs. Gladstone, according to cablegrams from London, is now near death at Hawarden castle, where she was born nearly 90 years ago.

If recognition were given to wifehood as it is to statesmanship, then Mrs. Gladstone probably would rank as high among English wives as her husband ranks among English political leaders. One of the most popular photographs ever taken of the great premier shows him, bareheaded, addressing an open-air meeting, with gray-haired Mrs. Gladstone standing behind him holding an umbrella to shield him from the sun.

This picture is emblematic of her life. She was ever holding an umbrella over her famous husband; ever protecting him from annoyances and intrusion, and ever watchful for his comfort.

Mrs. Gladstone comes of a family beside which other families called old seem mere parvenus. Her ancestry can be traced directly for more than 1,000 years to the chief of a tribe in North Wales, who flourished in the early part of the ninth century. Her father, Sir Stephen Richard Glynne, died when she was about five, leaving to his widow the care of the estate and of his children, two girls and a son. Fortunately she was of noble character, and credit for the admirable qualities that Mrs. Gladstone has shown in her long years before the English public can be given very justly to the mother's training.

MRS. W. E. GLADSTONE.
(Now Nearing Her End at Hawarden Castle, England.)

While Catherine Glynne and her younger sister—they were known as "the handsome Misses Glynne"—never plunged into the whirl of London society, they had as much of its pleasures as they cared for. Both were intelligent and found interest in the social and political problems and movements of the day, even more than they did in the excitement of London seasons.

Even before her marriage to Mr. Gladstone in 1839 Catherine Glynne was deeply interested in philanthropic work. After her wedding, although her duties as wife came first, she gave more attention to schemes that had for their object the helping of those who needed assistance. She and her husband started the Newport Market refuge, now carried on at Westminster with an industrial school attached. Its object is to furnish shelter to persons in temporary distress.

During the cholera epidemic in 1866 she secured care for hundreds of London waifs who had been left homeless by the death of their parents or by their being removed to hospitals for treatment. She established the Free Convalescent home, where those who are recovering from illness and have no homes can have fresh air, wholesome food and comfortable lodging. Another charitable institution of her founding is the orphanage at Hawarden, at which boys are kept until they are old enough to be apprenticed to trades. Besides those who have been helped by these public charities with which she has been connected thousands have been assisted by her privately.

Mrs. Gladstone cared nothing for display. At Hawarden castle, which was her home from her birth to the present—which seems the time of her death—her life, as was that of her husband, was always simple and quiet, though she never denied herself comforts.

Mrs. Gladstone's own room at Hawarden is thus described in an article that appeared years ago in the Illustrated London News, and the room may be taken as indicative to a degree of the character of the woman:

"Nothing could be simpler than Mrs. Gladstone's own living room, bright and sunny, yellow-walled, flower-scented, with an outlook from its wide windows upon the lawn. It was hung with old pictures, and in a case by the wall are many presents to Mrs. Gladstone from cities which she has visited."

Mrs. Gladstone was the mother of eight children—four boys and four girls. One of these sons entered the church and later became the rector of Hawarden. Two of the daughters showed the influence of the theological atmosphere in which they had been brought up by marrying clergymen.

Miss Emma S. Messler, superintendent at the hospital, has returned from Somerville, where she went to attend the wedding of her sister.

THEATRICAL.

In the summer months fully as much care is taken in the Proctor Theatres (of which there will be four next season when the Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre opens) to have the auditoriums thoroughly cool and comfortables, as to have the programmes the best it is possible to provide. Extreme diligence is exercised to have all the mechanical appliances for diffusing cooled air through the theatres. Big electric fans are installed and are connected with a cooling plant. Each chair has an individual fan to keep the visitor comfortable and besides the ushers are constantly passing iced water. With big roomy airy theatres, summer pleasure theatre going is made a luxury in the popular Proctor houses, to wit: Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre; Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, and Proctor's Palace, at Fifty-eighth street and Third avenue. At Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, week of July 21, are: Cole and Johnson, the popular "coon stars," who will be assisted by the Fremont Sisters; Ralph E. Cummings and Co., in a new comedietta; Smith, Doty and Coe, musical comedians; Bros. Bright, unique acrobats; Carleton and Terre, comedy sketch. At Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, week of July 23, are: Rixford Bros., musical acrobats; Violet Holls, comedienne; Tenley and Simonds, Irish comedians; Bachelor Club, singing comedians; Josephine Harvey, trombone soloist, and others.

FEEDING THE ANIMALS.

Varied Bills of Fare Are Offered the Inmates of the Central Park Zoo.

"Old horses, mules, donkeys and goats, free from disease and physic," were recently asked for in an advertisement by a person who wanted the animals for food "for carnivorous animals in a zoological garden." The advertisement, says the New York Tribune, caused many people to believe that this class of food was used in the Central park zoo, and the director of the menageries, John W. Smith, received many inquiries on the subject. People who had lost pet cats and dogs sent to the menagerie for their pets, and there are probably hundreds of people in New York to-day who believe that a part of the space in the park is used for housing and fattening animals which later on will be served to the show beasts.

It's all a mistake, a groundless bugaboo. The animals in the park are fed on good wholesome meat, vegetables, fruit, bread, hay and oats, and these articles are purchased in the open market. "We want the best we can get," said Mr. Smith, "and we usually get it."

Once every month a contract is let for fresh meat, of which the animals eat about 225 pounds every day. "No, not every day," said Mr. Smith, "because Sunday is a fast day with the cat animals." Years of observation and study have convinced the managers of the institution that the animals keep in better form if they have meat only six days in the week.

"The meat does not embrace 'choice cuts,'" said Mr. Smith, "but it is as good as much of the meat that is sold by the butchers. It is chuck or neck meat, and our present stock costs 7½ cents a pound. We use the neck because the bone which it contains compels the animals to chew the meat, which, if there were no bones in it, would be gulped down whole."

Down in the cellar of the old arsenal building the menagerie caterer prepares the meals for the animals. There he cuts up the meat into chunks ranging in size from five to twenty pounds, and arranges them on his wheelbarrow from which he serves them to the animals at two o'clock every week day. The eagles and vultures also receive regular rations of meat at about the same hour that the great cats receive theirs. The smaller carnivorous animals, wolves, foxes, raccoons, etc., are fed in the morning, and, as a park employe said: "They know when it is ten o'clock in the morning as well as the lion and the tiger know when two o'clock comes round.

"But meat is not all that we must have in this hotel. The birds, bears, monkeys and elephants manage to get away with about 100 pounds of bread a day; we use up two barrels of apples, two barrels of potatoes and the same quantity of carrots every week, and about 275 bananas. The elephants, rhinoceroses and hippopotami have vegetables cut up with the mash which is furnished them every day, and they get their regular allowance of hay also. Potatoes are served to the monkeys, 'hippos' and ostriches. On the whole, we have to get up several bills of fare every day for the boarders, and this is all done by one man who is cook and waiter combined."

Besides these food articles, six bales of hay are consumed daily by the elk, deer, antelope, buffaloes, camels and other ruminating animals and 30 to 40 bags of oats are also used every month in feeding the animals. But the dainties which the animals enjoy are contributed to a great extent by the visitors, and bushels of apples and nuts, and hundreds of pounds of cakes and candies are brought to the menagerie by children, who often deprive themselves of the goodies in order to see the animals eat them.

A FLORAL NOSEBLEED.

The Vulgar Name of a Beautiful Flower Known as the Trillium.

Why speak of the lovely painted trilliums, with their three daintily crinkled petals, streaked with rose-purple? says Bradford Torrey, in the Atlantic. One after another I gathered them (pulled them, to speak with poetic literalness), each fresher and handsomer than the one before it, till the white stems made a handful.

"Oh," said a man on a hotel piazza, as I returned. "I see you have nosebleed." I was putting my hand to my pocket, wondering why I should have been taken so childishly, when it came over me what he meant. He was looking at the trilliums, and explained, in answer to a question, that he had always heard them called nosebleed. Somewhere, then, I omitted to inquire where, this is their "vulgar" name. In Franconia the people call them "Benjamins," which has a pleasant Biblical sound—better than nosebleed, at all events—though to my thinking, trillium is preferable to either of them, both for sound and for sense. People cry out against "Latin names." But why is Latin worse than Hebrew? And who could ask anything prettier or easier than trillium, geranium, anemone and hepatica?

Companions in Misery.

A Parisian Bohemian out of luck, says to another of the same class:

"Where do you dine to-day?"

"Nowhere."

"What are you going to dine on?"

"Nothing."

"Then let us go and not dine together!"—Youth's Companion.

LEADS A QUIET LIFE.

Archbishop Martinelli, Papal Representative at Washington.

He Is a Man of Rare Charm and Tact and Noted for Generosity and Condescension—Will Not Discuss Politics.

Archbishop Martinelli is still in the west, whither he went early in May with his secretary of legation, Dr. Rooker, to give the pallium to the new archbishop of Oregon, Alexander Christy, who begged to receive it from the ablegate's own hands. So does the popularity of this genial prelate extend from ocean to ocean, and yet he lives at the papal legation at Washington a most retired life, the life of a monastic, effacing himself whenever possible. But on the rare occasions when he comes in contact with people, says the New York Tribune, he is as responsive and agreeable as a man of the world.

Mgr. Martinelli was sent to the American capital in 1896, and his popularity is emphasized by the unpopularity of his predecessor, Cardinal Satolli, who seemed, with all his cleverness (and he was a most erudite man and profound thinker), never quite to understand the American character or point of view, and, with the best intentions in the world, he misinterpreted the attitude of people toward him, and made mistakes that will never be forgiven. His successor, on the contrary, in whom are united the most lovable qualities of the Latin race, is full of tact and possesses a knowledge that prevents him from offending against the traditions of those among whom he lives. The infinite pains, too, that he takes in small matters, his never failing amiability and unselfishness endear him both to the people of his own church and those of other communions who have the privilege of knowing him.

His good nature was shown about a year ago by an incident so trivial it

ARCHBISHOP MARTINELLI.
(The Pope's Representative in the United States.)

escaped general notice. The daughter of one of his servants was about to be married, and nothing would do the bride-elect but that the archbishop should tie the nuptial knot. The father, in awe of his patron's high office, feared to put the request, but the daughter, with the buoyancy of youth and inexperience, boldly, if blushingly, asked the pope's legate to perform the ceremony. Her request was cheerfully acceded to, but involved more than anyone supposed, since the monsignor had no license from the local authorities, which is necessary in the district to celebrate the marriage ceremony. He was not deterred, however, from carrying out his promise, and went to the trouble of securing a license to marry the daughter of one of his employes to the man of her choice.

Mgr. Martinelli was educated at Rome under Cardinal Sepiacci, of the Angelica, being ordained as a priest March 4, 1871. He is a member of the Order of St. Augustine, to which his brother, Cardinal Martinelli, who donned the habit in 1863, also belonged. Shortly before his ordination, the monsignor lived for some years in the Augustine community in Ireland, where he became familiar with the English language as it is spoken by our Irish cousins, and his accent still suggests a slight brogue.

In 1889 Archbishop Martinelli was elected to the post of prior general of his order, and in 1895 was confirmed in this office for a term of 12 years. It is doubtful if anyone among the Augustines is more popular or more widely loved, and none surely have a more potent influence.

The archbishop has taken a determined stand regarding politics. He will have nothing whatever to do with them. "I shall regard my duty to the church and to the American people as Christians paramount to everything else. The church will have nothing to do with politics," said the apostolic delegate shortly after his arrival in this country, a determination to which he has strictly adhered, although the temptation, to one who could exert so great an influence, to exceed his churchly functions and lend a helping hand where his sympathies are enlisted must be great.

Need of Publicity.

Governor Voorhees is reported to be incensed because the report of the Legislative committee that investigated the State Industrial School for Girls was put into the hands of the newspapers for publication by the committee, and he is quoted as saying that it was his desire that the report should have been kept a State secret till the next Legislature convenes.

In relation to this Industrial School scandal the Governor has pursued an obstinate and defiant attitude throughout, and now, notwithstanding that there is most explicit official contradiction of his claims that the Eyler management has been and is all right, he goes to the extreme of desiring to smother the report of the committee that has heard all sides of the question and has formed what must be regarded as a fair and just view of it.

Even though the report is decidedly adverse to the Governor's pronounced friendship for Mrs. Eyler, he would be acting in a truer manner to the popular conception of his high office if he accepted the committee's decision in a more graceful manner. Mr. Voorhees seems to be fearful of taking the people, whose servant he is, into the confidence of their own business. Dignity and precedent is all very well in the Gubernatorial chamber, but when Mr. Voorhees insists on keeping from the people of the State for six months such information and opinions as the Legislative committee has offered, he is carrying the idea to extremes.

The people of the State are deeply interested in the proper management of the State Industrial School for Girls—especially since it has rested under such serious charges, part of which have been proven—and it was a duty that both the Legislative committee and the Governor owe to the people of the Seate to inform them of the findings that have resulted from an investigation that attained such prominence and in which such interest was manifested.

The projectors of a great expostion in Newark in 1902 have been holding a "mum sociable" for some time, and the suspicion is already extant that some difficulty has arisen in regard to a million dollar subscription in Newark. It will be humiliating, indeed, if the project should go to pieces on the first million to be raised.—Newark Advertiser.

The Advertiser belittles itself in this comment. Its animus in making this covert attack on the exposition which it is proposed to hold in Newark in 1902 is prompted, probably, by the fact that the project happens to be the fruition of the ideas advocated in The Advertiser's contemporary, the Newark Evening News. At the time the idea of the exposition was being agitated throughout the State and receiving columns of newspaper notices, The Advertiser studiously ignored the matter. The holding of such an exposition as has been planned would be of inestimable benefit to the whole State, and particularly to Newark. Even though it was proposed by a rival journal, The Advertiser should not try to ridicule the idea as it does in the editorial note quoted above. Such conduct can be described as "small potato" journalism.

The growth of the Christian Endeavor movement during the past year has been remarkable, as is shown in the annual reports just announced by Secretary Baer. There are now 59,712 Christian Endeavor societies in the world, with a total membership of 3,500,000. Every nation in the world is represented. England has the largest number of foreign societies, over 7,000, Austria has 4,000; China, 148; Africa, 139; Germany, 168; India, 459; the West Indies, 120; Japan, 73; France, 69, and so on until every missionary missionary land and island of the seas has from two or three societies to a hundred. Madagascar has 93. There are three thriving societies in the Philippines.

It begins to look as though Congressman William Sulzer will loom up as a most formidable candidate for Vice-Presidential honors in Kansas City next week. In this connection it is interesting to note that James E. Martine, one of the "Big Four" of New Jersey, is enthusiastically in favor of Mr. Sulzer and will do all he can to aid in nominating the brilliant and aggressive young Democrat. As told of in these columns before, Mr. Sulzer is a native of Union county, having been born not far from Plainfield, and his nomination to the second highest office in this country would afford a certain amount of local pride irrespective of political sympathies.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, who the other day declined to be a candidate for Congress against Chas. N. Fowler in the Eighth New Jersey District, said recently in an interview: "I am a little afraid that the press has made me more ambitious than I should be to solicit some favor from the public by and by." While there is no room for doubt that a majority of the Republicans of the Eighth District are glad that Mr. Bergen declined to complicate matters and cause political friction by continuing in the field as a candidate for Congress at this time, the fact that he refused to stir up party strife at an inopportune moment will neither be forgotten nor work him harm in the by and by to which he refers.—New York Tribune.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A number of valuable relics have been recently added to the priceless collection at Washington's headquarters in Morristown. They consist of an ancient pewter tea-set, a very old copper tea kettle, a copper chafing dish with handle and an old oil lamp. In the armory have been placed an old "Tower of London" musket and an original Springfield, also three pistols, one with a single lock, but having two rifle barrels. Another has a stalk like a rifle, and is provided with a hook for attaching to the person. The third is an ancient bell-barrelled firearm. An interesting acquisition is a colored print depicting the raising of the Stars and Stripes on the liberty pole in New York upon the evacuation by the British Army in November, 1783, showing the hero of the day raising the flag to the pole. Another picture is one of General Washington. Both are the gifts of N. A. Melgar, of New York.

At least one region is to know a prosperous summer season. The Jersey coast was never in greater favor than this year and not a cottage directly on the ocean is said to be unrented from Highland Beach down to Spring Lake. This condition is said to exist for the first time in years and was unexpected to a certain extent. In a summer hotel near the city, the number of applications for rooms last Saturday exceeded by more than a hundred the available supply. This establishment always happens to have its largest patronage during June and September, but this year it has enjoyed unprecedent prosperity. There is not a summer hotel proprietor about the city who does not look forward to a successful year. And these expectations are, in the majority of cases, founded on such substantial grounds as the demand for accommodations already received.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Honeyman, of Lincoln place, will leave Plainfield early next month for the Thousand Islands, where they will spend the summer.

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank. Respectfully yours,

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 28.—In a letter recently received by Bernard Sirisky from his brother John, who is fighting for Uncle Sam in the Phillipines, the latter gives a very interesting account of the camp life of the soldiers in the far away islands. At the time of writing his company was stationed at Silay Nigros Island, and although the boys are having a hard time of it between the guard duty, long marches and frequent fights, still there is not one in his company but what would die fighing for Old Glory. In a recent engagement his company captured fifty-seven native prisoners, losing only four wounded. He says the newspapers are eagerly looked for by the boys and when one is through reading his, it is passed on around the camp until it has been read by the entire company. Although he would like to be back in Dunellen, he declared his intention of fighting until his services were no longer needed.

Besides the other two weddings which took place in the borough last Wednesday, another one occurred which was kept quiet until yesterday when the secret came out. It was that of D. Francis Stites, of the borough, and Miss Alice Jennings, of Warrenville. The ceremony, which was a very quiet one, took place at the home of his brother, S. D. Stites, on Jefferson avenue. It was performed by S. K. Doolittle.

Although Peter Schneiderwind had decided to keep his sorrel trotter, he received a flattering offer a few days ago from a prospective purchaser which he has accepted. The animal is a thoroughbred and has a track record of 2:30.

Walter Vleet received a very bad cut on one of his fingers, while working on Garretson & Gray's trestle yesterday, by getting it under a cross cut saw. The cut was jagged and extended around the bone. It was dressed by Dr. Brakeley.

Among those who attended the Bergen-Abbott nuptials at Somerville yesterday were Mrs. Annie Abbott, Percy Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. McElvare and Mrs. William E. Terry, all of the borough.

J. S. LaRue has secured the position of inspector of the telephone service between White Haven and Easton, Pa., on the Lehigh Valley Railroad. He will begin his new duties next week.

Miss Weatherwax returned to her home in Red Bank today after a short visit in the borough.

New Market, June 18 — Landlord Casterline entertained a number of his friends Monday evening in honor of his 48th birthday. The guests had a jolly good time and it was with regret that they saw the evening draw to a close.

Mrs. Andrew Johnson returned to her home in Brooklyn yesterday, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Danz. She was accompanied by Miss Emma Danz, who will spend two weeks with her.

The Friendship Social Circle was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. William Dunham yesterday.

Nelson Dunn has resigned his position with the Lincoln Steel Works.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 28.—The Republican voters in the borough of Fanwood have organized a Republican club and will take an active interest in the campaign this fall. This club, with the proposed club in Scotch Plains, will no doubt make it a lively campaign in the village and borough.

The heavy wind, which accompanied the early evening shower yesterday, broke several large limbs on trees along East Front street.

E. L Hand and George Ball are attending the Congressional convention, being held in Elizabeth this afternoon.

John F. Collins, of Brooklyn, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Collins, at Fanwood.

Richard Hart, of New York city, has been spending a few days as the guest of friends in town.

Mrs. George Stiliger is visiting at the home of her son, John B Stiliger, of Roselle.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., will hold a regular meeting in their rooms this evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 28—The residents here are glad of the prospect of getting a trolley. The town has had quite a building boom this year and if we succeed in getting the trolley we will soon feel that we are getting out of the backwoods. As regards the consents, there will be very little opposition.

AN AUTOMOBILE LINE.

HORSELESS CARRIAGES FOR THE USE OF THE PUBLIC.

Will Run From Business Section to Woodland Avenue—Will Make a Thirty Minute Trip.

Plainfield, always noted for being the home of many unique schemes, is now about to see see the fruition of a project to establish a system of automobiles for public carrier service to run through certain sections of the city not now—nor likely to in the future—having the advantage of a trolley car service.

A company is being formed, and will be amply capitalized, to buy several automobile carryalls, which will be used to carry out the scheme. The idea is to have the automobiles run at intervals of every half-hour from the shopping district in the business center of the city out Park avenue to Martine avenue. Then over the latter thoroughfare to Woodland avenue, and then through one of the most picturesque parts of the city to Watchung avenue and return back to the starting point over the latter thoroughfare.

It is proposed to run the automobiles from early morning till late at night, and charge adults ten cents and children five cents for the trip. It is calculated that it will take thirty minutes to make the trip. S. D. Drake is at the head of the enterprise.

SHOTGUN PROLONGED CALL.

Jealous Rival Wanted to Shoot Youth Who Was Visiting a Young Woman.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, June 28.—Stephen Thompson, a farm laborer was arrested by Constable Hann yesterday and lodged in the county jail upon the charge of threatening to shoot Joseph Major, a young man who served in the army during the Spanish War.

Major has been paying attentions to a young woman named Polhemus, near Flemington. Thompson was employed by her mother upon the farm, and, it is said, grew jealous of Major's attentions to the young woman. Major called as usual on Sunday evening last, but was afraid to leave the building until morning because of Thompson, who armed himself with a shotgun and threatened to shoot everyone on the farm. He stationed himself on the outside, firing his gun and making such warlike demonstrations that the whole neighborhood was terrorized.

STARTED FROM OIL STOVE

BRISK FIRE IN DOUBLE HOUSE ON EAST THIRD STREET YESTERDAY.

Chemical Engine Again Proved Its Efficiency and Extinguished Flames Quickly.

The chemical engine gave renewed proof of its efficiency late yesterday afternoon by extinguishing a young but angry blaze in the double frame dwelling, 424-426 East Third street. The damage to the house will reach $75 and is covered by insurance. The loss to the tenants will amount to $25 with no insurance. The house was part of the Kenyon estate.

Somebody saw a blaze on the second floor of 426 East Third street and told Jerry Callahan, the corner grocer, who sent in an alarm from box 16, corner of East Front and Richmond streets, at 5:27 o'clock.

The house is occupied by a number of colored families. The tenant on the second floor of 426 had a blue flame oil stove. While that family was away the first floor tenants were allowed to use it. Nobody knows exactly how the fire started. All they know is that the room was suddenly a mass of flames and the women came screaming forth.

The chemical engine was the first of the apparatus to arrive. Will Townley, driver of the chemical engine, took the line of hose and went upstairs. The heat was so intense in the second floor hallway that he was compelled to lie down. In a short time the stream from the chemical engine did its work and the fire was under control. The contents of one tank, sixty gallons, was used. There was no flooding of the premises. The fire was confined to the one room on the second story although the garret was filled with smoke and gases. The contents of the room were wrecked. The other damage done was in opening a way into the garret from the front.

Berlin. In den maßgebenden Kreisen Berlins trägt man sich mit dem Plane, im Jahre 1905 oder spätestens 1907 auf dem Tempelhofer Felde eine Weltausstellung zu veranstalten.—Um der Berliner Akademie der Wissenschaften und der Königlichen Bibliothek ein neues, den modernen Anforderungen entsprechendes Heim errichten zu können, hat die preußische Regierung den Ankauf eines passenden Grundstücks um den Preis von 11,000,000 Mark beschlossen und hiervon den Theilbetrag von 7,300,000 Mark bereits in das preußische Budget eingestellt.—Der berühmte Geschichtsmaler Adolf v. Menzel hat auf der Pariser Weltausstellung die große goldene Ehrenmedaille erhalten.—Vor etwa einem Jahre eröffnete hierorts ein Deutsch-Amerikaner, Namens Nehwinkel, drei Läden für Schuhwaaren und machte, wie man glaubte, ausgezeichnete Geschäfte, da der Verkauf ein sehr flotter war. Seit Kurzem ist Nehwinkel nun nach unbekannten Gegenden verdufftet, und es kam heraus, daß er hier eine Schuldenlast von 80,000 Mark hinterlassen und vielfach geschwindelt hat. Hinter dem Flüchtigen wurde ein Steckbrief erlassen.

Burg. Der Ausgedinger Bogh aus Burg-Kauper, ein etwa 80 Jahre alter Mann, war in einen auf dem Bahnhof stehenden Zug eingestiegen, um nach Kottbus zu fahren. Dieser Zug rangirte bald in entgegengesetzter Richtung, und Bogh glaubte nun, sich in einem falschen Zuge zu befinden. Unüberlegter Weise sprang er sofort aus dem Zuge heraus, wobei er unter die Räder gerieth und ihm beide Oberschenkel zermalmt wurden. Der Unglückliche verschied nach kurzer Zeit.

Stettin. In Finkenwalde geriethen die Fleischermeister Paul Berg und Richard Dallmann mit mehreren Offizieren der Stettiner Garnison in Konflikt. Es kam zum Handgemenge, und die Offiziere setzten sich mit ihren Degen zur Wehre. Die Fleischermeister entwanden jedoch dem Einen seinen Degen und machten sich davon. Die Offiziere schickten ihnen ein Paar des Weges kommende Trainsoldaten nach, mit dem Auftrag, den Degen wieder zu holen. Die Soldaten gingen nun mit ihren Seitengewehren auf die Fleischermeister los, wobei Dallmann so schwer verletzt wurde, daß er am nächsten Tage starb. Als Hauptmatador des Renkontres zwischen den Offizieren und den Metzgermeistern ist später der Reservelieutenant Döring ermittelt worden.

Provinz Posen.

Posen. Die Ansiedelungskommission hat seit Beginn dieses Jahres in Posen und Westpreußen wieder eine Anzahl Güter erworben. Es sind dies Kuczewo mit 361 Hektar, Klein-Semlin mit 208, Tuchorze und Reklin mit 1778, Haus Lopatken mit 733, Kraugen mit 992, Gosciejewo mit 699, Galewo mit 426, Kullig mit 404, Braunsrode mit 357, Kubylnik mit 296 Hektar. Aus diesem Areal (rund 6250 Hektar) sollen 1475 Ansiedlerstellen gebildet werden, da jeder Stelle eine durchschnittliche Flächengröße von 17 Hektar zu Grunde gelegt wird.

Gnesen. Kaum aus dem Zuchthaus, in dem er etwa 12 Jahre gesessen hatte, entlassen, hat der Arbeiter Franz Kujawa von hier eine so große Zahl neuer Einbruchsdiebstähle begangen, daß die Strafkammer ihn zu einer neuen Gesammtstrafe von neun Jahren vier Monaten Zuchthaus verurtheilte.

A Philadelphia lady relates an experience of her own, saying that after suffering untold agony, her husband, who had heard Ripans Tabules very highly commended for persons suffering from lack of appetite or any complicated stomach trouble, strongly urged her to try them. Her stomach had seemed cold and she had had little appetite for many weeks. She determined to try the Tabules and to follow all the directions, but had little faith that there was any cure for the serious complications that appeared to have taken possession of her. It seemed to her hardly possible that a 50-cent package of Ripans Tabules would cure when a large doctor's bill of $50 had failed to confer any benefit. "But," she added, joyfully, "they did! and my appetite improved almost immediately and now I can truly say that my general health was never better."

Mrs. M. A. Hall of 219 Prescott place says:—"For several years I had a dull aching pain across my back at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position all night and stooping, lifting or bending forward aggravated the pains. A kidney weakness which was very distressing and inconvenient also exsisted and though I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared.

Poplin the Latest Craze in Summer Materials

It Is a Fad That Has Been Copied From London by New York Society Women

OUR American society of the first class cater to England. English noblemen have ever been in demand, and American society seems to cater to them by adopting English styles. One finds quite as many of the imported gowns for New York's wealthy women coming from London these days as from Paris, and for the same reason the city who makes the American fashions to a great extent have taken up the latest English craze for poplin as a summer material

The craze for poplin in England is quite as easily accounted for as it is in this country. England is wearing it for the same reason that she donned the shamrock; it is enthusiasm for Ireland. This enthusiasm has carried to the topmost crest not only the shamrock, which is Ireland's emblem, but the poplin, which is Ireland's special fabric, and so the wearing of the Irish shamrock and the wearing of the Irish poplin are being alike chosen as outward and visible signs of the popular patriotic enthusiasm of the moment in London.

Of course, poplin, as a beautifully rich-looking and withal durable material, has had a high place in fashion's favor for many a long day, but lately it has taken many steps upward on the ladder of fashionable fame. But the queen's visit to Ireland and the wearing of poplin dresses by royalty and its attendants has uplifted this particular fabric to the very topmost rung—a position which it will most assuredly maintain all through the season in both countries.

Many of these gowns are being shown by the leading dressmaking establishments of the city, and many have already been purchased, and some worn, by the swell set. One of them that was shown to me a few days ago was a beautiful affair in pure white. The front of the bodice in this gown was entirely tucked, with a slight fullness at the waist line. Over this was a tucked bolero edged with fine black French insertion. The skirt was handsomely trimmed with black French insertion, with a deep bias flounce around the bottom. This is edged with the insertion.

Another of these poplin gowns that I saw at the same place was in an old rose color. This had a contrasting vest of white satin draped with guipure on sequence net, with small bows of black velvet ribbon, and wee buckles to fasten down the front. The entire front panel of the skirt was in small tucks, with three pipings on each side of the self material, and box plait at the back.

A third was of a robin egg blue, trimmed with quantities of cream guipure lace. This lace formed a short bolero, and lace insertion on the bottom of three small ruffles.

Another charming gown of this material was in a cerise shade, and was made with three side plaits and a double box plait at the back. Rows of white silk machine stitching in clusters of three around the bottom. The bodice was handsomely stitched around the pointed revers, high flaring collar, and a flounce to finish the elbow sleeves.

One in plain black poplin that was a very striking affair was stitched with white. Of this the skirt was made with the front panel handsomely stitched half way up in a scroll design with white silk. It had a tucked vest finished in the same way. Short elbow sleeves tucked from the elbow to the shoulders revealing the white machine stitching.

Here is a little pointer from Europe that may be read and appreciated by those who intend to go abroad this summer and who cannot afford the expensive gowns of the fashionable set: The tone which the French call "beige" is very nearly the same as khaki, and it is extremely fashionable in Paris as well as in London. It combines excellently with every other color imaginable—pink, blue, scarlet, white and black all "go" well with this tone. It is an ideal color for cycling, or for traveling, or for visiting the Paris exposition, or any other enterprise when dust must be expected, for it will not show any trace of the fact if it be even soaked in clouds of driven sand.

So satin soft and shimmering are some of the printed sateens that would pass for foulards that are being displayed among the popular materials for summer wear even the wealthy must of necessity overlook the price at which they are selling and love them for themselves. One of them that attracted my attention was in a deep shade of blue where starry blossoms in white and in blue trimmed with white peep out from between long curved stalks which produce a novel striped effect. And this is only one of half a hundred novel and striking patterns that one sees at the sateen counters of the New York stores.

For the making up of these sateens the styles that are in vogue are in numberless variety, with gimp effects predominating, and the elaboration and ornamentation is to suit the designers' whims, giving very artistic effects. Some are doing away with lining for the skirts, this giving greater comfort for the summer months and lessening the weight.

Laces and lace all-overs are used in greater profusion than ever for gimps, yokes and vests and trimming flounces and ruffles.

One of the sateen gowns that is pretty is in a deep lavender. The skirt is made with two bias-shaped flounces, with trimming of green insertion. The front of the bodice has a gimp and vest of all-over lace insertion, and a slight fullness at the waist line finished with a crushed panne velvet girdle. Elbow sleeves, with a bias ruffle, and lace insertion to finish.

MARQUIS OF LORNE.

He Is Now Duke of Argyll and Head of the Campbells.

Married to Princess Louise, One of Queen Victoria's Daughters — Was Governor General of Canada for a Number of Years.

The duke of Argyll, John George Edward Henry Douglas Sutherland Campbell, is 55 years of age. The courtesy title by which he had been known all his life until now was the marquis of Lorne. When the queen paid her first visit to Inverary castle the marquis was only two years of age, but she seems even then to have formed a high opinion of the little fellow who was to become her son-in-law. Unlike his father, the marquis of Lorne was educated at public schools and universities, both in England and Scotland. He studied at the Edinburgh university, at Eton, at St. Andrew's university, and at Trinity college, Cambridge; and at the age of 23 became the representative of Argyllshire in the house of commons, a constituency which he represented unopposed for ten years. The most important event, of course, in the marquis' life was his marriage to Princess Louise, which was celebrated on March 21, 1871, at St. George's chapel, Windsor, with much splendor, the bride being given away by her royal mother. The marriage was a most popular one at the time in the country, which was not too well pleased to see the hands of several of the queen's daughters being bestowed upon practically nameless and penniless German princes. It very naturally increased the reputation of the Campbell clan, the eldest son of whose chief was thought worthy to wed a royal princess. The people of the west Highlands were credited at the time with thinking that the obligation was not all on one side, and many will yet remember the amusing cartoon in Punch which represented an old Highland woman, on hearing that the princess was to marry a son of the MacCallum More, saying: "The queen will be a proud woman this day."

NEW DUKE OF ARGYLL.
(Better Known by His Old Title of Marquis of Lorne.)

The new duke of Argyll, says the Chicago Record, is not by any means a wealthy man as that word is used nowadays. The estates are extensive, but where they are not deer forests or large sheep farms they are for the most part peopled by crofters, who have often much ado to pay the rent. When the late duke came into the property on the death of his father, in April, 1849, the estates, it is understood, were heavily mortgaged, and the income from them available for the duke was said to be under $10,000 a year. During his long life his grace devoted himself to clearing off the debt of the estates and to acquiring portions of the land which had been parted with. This he was enabled to do through always having lived in a very quiet and unostentatious manner, both at Inverary castle and in London. The new duke will take possession of the estates in a very different position from that in which his father inherited them, though the income from them even yet is not at all of an overpowering character. The new duke has no family and his heir is accordingly his brother, Lord Archibald, who is a banker in London, and through whose family the succession will in all likelihood be continued.

After Mr. Gladstone, whom in many ways he mentally resembled, the late duke was possibly the most accomplished public man in Britain of the the last half of the nineteenth century. He was a politician, scientist, author and orator. Like all the older generation of Scotland to which he belonged, he had a great fondness for ecclesiastical controversy, but, indeed, the duke's splendid intellectual equipment made him go tilting in many a ring, and as a controversialist he had few equals. His knowledge in science and theology may not have been profound, but he believed in himself and in his own view of things, and his skill as a letter writer and his brilliancy as an orator made him an opponent worthy the steel of any adversary.

The ancient burial place of the Argylls is in Kilmun churchyard—a picturesque little place on the side of Holy Loch, which opens off the Firth of Clyde. The vaults are surmounted by a fine domed circular building. Among the chiefs of the Campbell clan whose bones repose in this mausoleum are the Earl Archibald, who fell at Flodden, and the unfortunate marquis who was beheaded at the market cross of Edinburgh, May 27, 1661.

ART IN ARCHITECTURE

Designed and Written Especially for This Paper

THIS is a very desirable, neat, convenient and roomy, yet cheap, cottage. The plan has five good rooms and bathroom, besides closets. Constructionally the house is good, the materials being of first-class quality. The frame is of pine, sheathed with shiplap overlaid with building paper.

ONE STORY, BUT COMPLETE IN EVERY DETAIL.

The outside finish and siding are of pine.

There are many things to be taken into consideration on the designing of houses for different parts of the country. A low house of good outline is always attractive, no matter how simple the design may be. It seems to fit into the natural surroundings of a landscape much more appropriately than a lofty structure. There are other advantages in a home of this description. It is warmer and more comfortable in the winter time and requires less fuel to heat it. In summer it is usually shaded by foliage, which shuts off much of the intense heat of the sun. Rich ornaments and details are of necessity prohibited in the small and inexpensive cottages, and really do not belong there, but it is a natural propensity in most of us to strive to get as much as possible for our money, and in house building, perhaps more than in any other undertaking, are found opportunities to judiciously expend or waste money.

FLOOR PLAN OF COTTAGE.

This building is 33½ by 50 feet. It is designed to meet the requirements of a person of moderate means and small family, wishing an average amount of room. There are five good rooms, all of fair size, in addition to the hall, bathroom, pantry and closets. The house can be heated by furnace or stoves.

From the porch you pass into the hall, from which you can enter the parlor, dining-room, two bedrooms or bathroom. The parlor is octagon shaped at one end, giving more light and ventilation and better view. The pantry is so placed that the passage is through it from the kitchen to the dining-room, and is fitted up with a large cupboard, locker, pastry table and flour bins.

A cellar extends under the entire house, 7 feet deep. The height of ceiling above is 10 feet. The foundation walls are of stone. The building above foundation is of wood. The timbers are sound and well seasoned; sills, 6 by 8 feet; floor joists, 2 by 8 feet; for porches, 2 by 6 feet; ceiling joists and rafters, 2 by 4 feet; studding, 2 by 4 feet. All to be spaced 16 inches from centers. The floor joists are well bridged. The floors throughout are of selected fencing flooring, well seasoned and dry when laid. The doors are all stock made. Outside and sliding doors, 1¾ inches thick; all other inside doors 1⅜ inches thick; all principal doors having transoms over them. All windows to be hung with weights. The plastering is to be of three coat work of best materials and workmanship. The interior finish is of white pine, finished natural throughout. The closets are shelved and hooked in the usual manner. All outside work usually painted has two coats paint in colors to harmonize with the surrounding landscape. The house is very cozy and would make a comfortable home, at a cost of $1,000 to $1,200.

RUBBER SUBSTITUTE.

Obtained from a Mexican Plant Which May Become of Great Commercial Value.

An Italian residing in Mexico has recently devised a new composition intended as a substitute for caoutchouc in the manufacture of rubber goods. While residing in Mexico he observed a shrub growing in Central Mexico, and known to the Indians by a variety of names, of which Yule is one. The shrub grows wild on the rolling land and attains the average height of three feet. An examination of the shrub led him to experiment with the same with reference to ascertaining what use might be made of it, since it grows abundantly, may be easily cultivated, roots readily from cuttings and may be cut two or three times a year and immediately begins to grow and shoots up again to form new wood. It does not belong to the plants which yield milky juices, being a comparatively hard wood and growing as a small scrubby bush, but there is found within its bark and wood a large amount of gummy matter, and upon comminuting it by cutting finely, grinding, or pounding the same and macerating it with a hydrocarbon solvent such as gasoline, naphtha, ether of petroleum, oil of turpentine, or the like, this gum is softened and extracted from the wood and when extracted does not harden to crystallization, but still holding a small portion of the hydrocarbon remains as a viscid, sticky mass that fulfills all of the physical conditions of crude rubber. It may be vulcanized perfectly and is superior to most India rubber since it is free from all mechanical impurities and needs no preliminary cracking, grinding and washing, as does the ordinary crude rubber. The botanical name of this shrub is Synathereoeas Mexicanus, and it furnishes a gum the remarkable yield of 40 per cent. of its own weight, while the method of extraction, and the admixture of a residual portion of the solvent give as a new composition a brownish black viscid gum that is not only free from all mechanical impurities, but may be brought by evaporation to any desired consistency, and is at once ready for use in the arts without any preliminary washing and cleaning. It is abundant, cheap and may be treated either in a green state or in a dry state, so that it may be cut and baled and stored for any length of time and shipped without affecting its yield of gum.—Scientific American.

Scorcher's Day Is Over.

It is a pleasure to record the passing away of that disagreeable person known as the scorcher. This does not mean any wheelman who rides fast, because the wheel was made for speed, and there are places where speed is unobjectionable, but the scorcher is one who rides fast and recklessly in all places and at all times. He tears along the road at the utmost extent of his powers, without purpose and with no regard for anything or anybody in his way. Occasionally he runs into something and gets hurt, at which nobody mourns, but more frequently he hurts an innocent pedestrian or other wheelman, and then everybody wants to see the scorcher go to jail. It is gratifying to note that these fellows seem to be less numerous, and it will be a great relief to all when they have entirely disappeared.—Golden Days.

How Artesian Wells Work.

Water rises in an artesian well because the source of supply is a porous rock stratum which lies at a higher level than the well. Although the difference in height may not be noticeable, it is always the case that there is a rise of ground off to one side, and the water accumulates in some porous layer somewhere up the slope. Its weight exerts a pressure at the point where this stratum is tapped, and the fluid seeks to rise there to the same height as its source.

Cuban Land Measurement.

Land in Cuba is not measured by the acre. A planter buys a "cabaleria" of land, not an acre. When it is said that a cabaleria of land is in the form of a circle, it will be seen at once that there is unlimited room for dispute. These circles overlap each other, and chunks are left out, and the result of a land transaction is bewildering.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The usual weekly competitions for the Hooley and president's cups and the green committee challenge trophy will be held on the links of the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon. Miss Saidee Mae Howell is still in the lead for the Hooley cup, while Morgan T. Townsend has so far scored the most points for the president's cup. Townsend also holds the challenge trophy and meets W. J. R. Thiers, challenger, Saturday, for that trophy.

The Park Golf Club team will go to Finderne Saturday morning for a return game with the team from the Somerset County Country Club. It will be remembered that the Park Club players had an easy thing of it in the match played here. The Finderne course is far easier, however, and there are comparatively few hazards to trouble the players. The course is an unusually long one. A victory may be expected for the Park Club team, but by not as great a margin as the last one.

It has been the custom for the past two years for the local golf clubs to exchange courtesies every season. On July 4th, it will be the turn of the Park Golf Club to entertain its friends from Hillside. A special handicap competition has been arranged for that afternoon which will be open to the members of both clubs. Quite a number of Hillside players have expressed a wish to play that day so a good field may be expected. There will also be the usual social features to the day's outing.

The results of the first match between the teams of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and the Park Golf Club attracted much attention in local golfing circles and the return match on the Hillside Club's links was watched with equal interest. Probably the most unexpected feature was the defeat of Willard Wadsworth by Morgan T. Townsend in the first match. Wadsworth is one of the best of the Hillside players and made the Harvard golf team last year. Only a few weeks ago he defeated Glenny, of his club, and practically placed himself at the top of the heap at Hillside by so doing. At the present writing Townsend can fairly claim to be the best player of the Park Club. These two young men may meet again on the Park Club links July 4th, and the result will be watched with great interest.

TENNIS

An open tennis tournament will be held on the courts of the Westfield Club July 4th, in which several Plainfielders will probable participate. Fred G. Smith and Herbert Richardson are both expected to enter.

The Serrell court on Waynewood place near West Front street has been the scense of many lively matches so far this season. There are quite a number of young people who gather there at frequent intervals and, as a result, there has been quite an increase in the interest in that sport among the young people of that neighborhood.

ROD AND GUN.

Joseph Sattell, George W. V. Moy and Dr. Gaston formed a fishing party that journeyed to Perth Amboy yesterday in quest of the various members of the finny tribe which frequent the waters in that vicinity. That they were successful was shown by the heavily loaded baskets with which they returned.

ON THE DIAMOND

Through a false report that the Arion ball team had disbanded the St. Mary's nine has cancelled their date with the former team and arranged one for next Saturday with a Brooklyn club. The Arion's have not disbanded and at present have no intention of doing so.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The bicycling division of the local Y. M. C. A. will hold a run to New Brunswick this evening.

The race won by Joseph Burke at Vailsburg track Sunday was the quarter mile and not the mile novice. His time was 33 seconds.

MERIT WON IT.

Teacher in the Plainfield Public Public Schools Accepts Important Position in Yonkers.

Out of a large field of applicants, Ralph Campbell, of this city, has been chosen as instructor in German, Greek and Latin at the Yonkers High School. The Yonkers school is one of very high standing and much care is taken in the selection of its instructors. Campbell won the coveted honor through his superior ability and thorough knowledge of the subjects. The honor is a great one for so young a man and reflects great credit on the young Plainfielder.

Campbell attended the public schools in this city, graduating in 1893. He took a post graduate course and then entered the University of New York. He won a scholarship in a competitive examination during the first year at college. He graduated with honor in 1898 and then spent a year abroad, chiefly in Germany studying.

For the past few months Campbell has been taking the place of Miss Cummings, who has been ill, as instructor at the Plainfield High School. He began in the middle of the year and took up the work with great success. Miss Cummings will return in the fall, so Campbell accepted the new appointment, which is even a better one than he had in this city.

Brady Brothers Lose by Fire.

The extensive ice houses, coal pockets, grain warehouse and offices of Brady Bros., located on the Jersey Central Railroad at Avenue E, Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets, Bayonne, was destroyed by fire Tuesday night, entailing a loss of at least $130,000. Bernard Brady, of Central avenue, this city, who is the principal stockholder and manager of the Consumers' Coal and Ice Company, says that the loss will be fully $130,000. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is believed to have been caused by a spark from a passing locomotive.

Returned Missionary Will Speak.

Tomorrow evening the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold a meeting of special interest. Rev. Mr. Henderson, who recently returned from Mone, Burmah, with Mrs. Henderson, where they have been laboring as missionaries for eight years, will make and address and tell of the condition of the people of India as he found it. There will also be special music, and Mrs F. M. Ward, contralto, will render solos. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested.

Told a Pitiful Tale.

Harry Fosberry, hod carrier by trade, wandered aimlessly about West Fourth street yesterday afternoon. Patrolman Cash decided that he was drunk and locked him up. He was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning and sentenced suspended after Fosberry had told the Judge a pitiful tale about supporting a wife and four children on $9 a week.

Attacked by a Dog.

The three-year-old daughter of E. M. House, of 145 East Sixth street, was attacked last evening by a Gordon setter, owned by the family, and a few scratches on the forehead near the eye resulted. They skin was only slightly broken. Dr. Davis, the family physician, was called at once, and treated the child properly. He apprehends no serious results.

Students Ate Ice Cream.

The continued heat of last evening had its effect upon the students of the Business College, and to relieve their sufferings, William Callahan, Neil Neilson and Professor Lanning appointed themselves a committee of three and procured a bountiful supply of ice cream. A social time was had during its disposal.

At the Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

N. B. Cahey, of New York city, will speak at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday at 4:15. Mrs. John Manley will sing and there will be instrumental accompaniment to the singing. Fans and lemonade will be provided.

SAW THE PASSION PLAY.

A. V. D. HONEYMAN WRITES OF HIS VISIT TO OBERAMMERGAU.

He Says the Acting was Incomparably Better Than Descriptions Led Them to Expect.

A letter from A. V. D. Honeyman to a Plainfield friend says as to the Passion Play at Oberammergau, which he and his party saw June 10th:

"We were spectatators of the whole eight-hour drama, on a cloudless Sabbath day, with the Tyrolese mountains as part of the foreground, with the bright sun shining upon the gorgeous costumes of the peasants, and with birds twittering around us. There were four thousand to view the scene and another thousand, perhaps, who were denied admission. The acting was incomparably better in whole and in detail than any descriptions of it had led us to expect. We looked to see crudeness and many things which might shock the religious sensibilities. On the contrary, there was the smoothness of perfected art throughout, and a piety and tenderness of feeling, which were as inspiring and elevating as they were devout and wonderful. Every one of the seven hundred peasants who acted was a trained artist; trained to the minutest point of naturalness. There were no 'wax-work scenes,' no crude unrealities.

"Even such a hallow event as that of the institution of the Lord's Supper, and the more awful scenes of Gethsemane and of the Cross itself became tremendous truths. The silent grief of the women on Calvary, the terrific earthquake, the consternation of the Roman soldiers, were each marvellous occurrences and not mere representations of them. A startling impressiveness and an extraordinary power and pathos in speech and acting were manifested, which can never be effaced from the mind of the beholder. I came away with the distinct impression that for the first time in my life I had realized the facts and the sequences of both Old and New Testament history, and that to spend a day at Oberammergau was really worth in itself crossing an ocean and half a continent. Great pictures sometimes stir deep emotions, but here were human pictures which outranked any that art ever put upon canvas."

Mr. Honeyman's next party expects to visit the Passion Play July 29th, and they will mostly consist of those who have gone on the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Tour.

BARKEEPER KANE SKIPPED THE TOWN.

Tapped the Till in the Netherwood's Cafe and Departed With Another Man's Rig.

DISAPPEARED IN THE DARK.

THE HORSE AND CARRIAGE RECOVERED AT BOUND BROOK.

The Amount of Money Taken was $18—Kane was in the Employ of Frank Linke, Who is Running the Bar at the Hotel.

Frank Linke, the West Front street liquor dealer, is mourning the loss of a bartender. Likewise he is mourning for about $18 which went with the dispenser of drinks. Until yesterday Theodore Wilson, of Belvidere avenue, was minus a runabout and a set of harness, and last, but not least, Sames M. Taylor had one less horse in his stables, but which was recovered yesterday. The bartender in question is Martin Kane, of West Second street, and the disappearance of the money and rig, it is alleged, was caused by him.

Until last Wednesday night Kane had been in charge of the bar at the Netherwood Hotel, which is conducted by Linke, under a sub-license from Major Coleman. He attended to his duties as usual Wednesday and when the Major made his usual round of the hotel at 9:30, before retiring, Kane was still at his place. About fifteen minutes later the night clerk discovered the bar to be deserted.

The cash drawer had been opened and the contents taken. Kane was no where to be found and upon investigation it was ascertained that he had been at the hotel stables, which are conducted by James M. Taylor, of Cranford, and had secured the rig. The hostler in charge states that Kane told him Mr. Wilson said he could have his wagon and harness and that he wanted a horse. The hostler thinking everything was all right let him have the wagon and harness, together with one of Taylor's horses.

The bartender then drove off, it is alleged, in company with a girl who had waited outside in the shadow of the woods for his return. Nothing more was seen or heard of him until yesterday when the missing rig was discovered in Bound Brook where it had been left at a livery stable. The horse appeared as if it had been driven hard all night. It has since been brought to Plainfield.

Kane is still among the missing, but the police are watching for him. Mr. Wilson does not live at the hotel, but simply stables his horses and wagons there. As Kane was employed by Mr. Linke, the latter will have to stand the money loss, hence he is the most interested party in his capture.

The missing man is married and has one child.

DEATH OF HUGH D. VAIL.

He Formerly Resided in Plainfield, But for Many Years Has Been Living in California.

Hugh D. Vail, aged eighty-three years, a brother of Mahlon Vail, of Park avenue, died yesterday at his home in Santa Barbara, Cal., where he had been living for many years. Mr. Vail was born in Plainfield at the homestead known as the Lawrence Myers property. He grew up in this city, after which he went to Philadelphia, where, between 1859 and 1860 he was a professor in Hoveford College. In 1881 he went to California, where he has been living since that time. Miss Catherine Webster, of East Second street, is a niece of Mr. Vail. He leaves a wife and two sons.

All Eyes on Kansas City.

The National Democratic convention will assemble in Kansas City Wednesday, July 4. The convention will undoubtedly nominate as its standard bearer William Jennings Bryan, the most popular living Democrat. The Philadelphia Sunday Times will, July 1st, present its readers with a handsome lithographed portrait of Mr. Bryan. The portait is made from a photograph forwarded to the Times from Lincoln, Neb., by the distinguished Democratic leader himself, and is in every particular a faithful likeness. The Sunday Times of the same date will contain a valuable article by Col. A. K. NEW JERSEY MECHANICS

SUSPENDED JUNIOR ORDER NOT WORRIED.

Will Keep Up Their Meeting and Will Likely Form a Separate Body at a Meeting in Trenton

The suspension of the New Jersey Councils of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics by the National Council of the organization held in Philadelphia last week is not causing any worriment to the members of councils in this State, according to the statements made by several of them. The New Jersey councils, together with those in Pennsylvania, Virginia and the District of Columbia, were placed under the ban because of their refusal to pay the increased per capita levied for the support of the National Orphans' Home erected for the order at Tiffin, O.

It is considered probable that the State councils under suspension will form a separate organization as soon as a plan can be effected. No action will likely be taken by New Jersey Councils, it is thought, before the meeting of the State Council, which will be held in October.

Whatever action is decided upon will not be carried out, however, without a majority vote of the councils affected. For this reason it is considered likely that the matter of forming a permanent organization of the councils of the protesting States may be discussed by the officers in the different States and a plan of action recomended to the various local councils for approval. This method of passing upon propositions was always in free, it is said, in the order until the national council recently made its alleged radical departure in raising the per capita tax without submitting the question to the local councils.

TWISTED HER EARS.

Mrs. Heinold Put Under Bonds by Justice Smalley Not to Indulge in Such Practice Again.

On complaint of Josie Maddern, aged 12 years, who resides with Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Reagan, of Grove street, a neighbor, Mrs. Heinold, was given a hearing yesterday afternoon before Justice Smalley. Last week Friday Josie Maddern was out on Grove street and she met Mrs. Heinold, who claimed that the girl called her names and aggravated her. The girl denied calling names. She stated that Mrs. Heinold caught hold of her ear and twisted it.

Mrs. Heinold was represented by W. S. Angleman, who appealed to the court to give his client justice and relief from such annoyance. On the other hand, S. S. Swackhammer, representing the plaintiff, urged that the girl be protected. He argued that Mrs. Heinold had no right to put her hands on the girl, even if she was provoked in any way. After the case had been given a fair hearing, Justice Smalley held Mrs. Heinold in $100 bonds to keep the peace.

JUNIORS ELECT.

J. P. D. Kirch Chosen Councilor of Franklin Council.

A very important meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., was held last evening. Fully two hundred members, including visitors from other councils, were present. It was expected that there would be a report concerning the recent action of the National Council regarding the expulsion of the New Jersey councils, but there was not.

One of the most important things considered at the meeting was the regular election of officers, resulting as follows: Junior past councilor, George Bosterle; councilor, J. P. D. Kirch; vice-councilor, Henry Kliner; recording recretary, one year, Harvey R Thorn; assistant, Ehraim Compton; financial secretary, one year, T. A. Kurzhals, Jr.; treasurer, one year, Thomas E. Currin; warden, J. V. Beekman; conductor, Fred Benner; outside sentinel, G. S. Martin; trustee, eighteen months, F. Hartpence.

Kicked by a Horse.

Edward Korman, of Harrison street, is nursing sundry bruises which he received yesterday by getting too near to the heels of a horse. He was standing behind the animal when suddenly its heels flew up and Korman was sent spinning about five feet away. His right arm was badly bruised and he received a cut on the forehead.

Accepted the Call.

Rev Mr. Trebpet, who recently was graduated from a theological seminary, has accepted the call to become the pastor of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church on Grove street, and will officiate for the first time next month.

FOWLER AND HARMONY AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

Hon. Chas. N. Fowler Renominated for Congress From Eighth District.

NO OPPOSITION TO HIM.

CONVENTION WAS HELD AT ELIZABETH YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Peace Prevailed and There Wasn't the Slightest Suggestion of a Fight—Wm. N. Runyon Made Chairman of Union County Delegation.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Elizabeth, June 29.—Peace, harmony and Hon. Charles N. Fowler prevailed at the Republican Eighth Congressional district convention, held in the Lyceum Theatre, this city, yesterday afternoon. All the rumors concerning the opposition to the renomination of Congressman Fowler were proved to be without foundation. The opposition, if it existed, was not in evidence at the convention. Since Frank Bergen formally declared, in an interview with a Press reporter at Philadelphia during the National convention, that he was under no circumstances a candidate, it has been conceded by all that Fowler would land the nomination without a fight.

The convention was somewhat of a departure from the recent G. O. P. gatherings held in Elizabeth in that the breach in the ranks that has made considerable trouble in the past appeared to have been bridged over and the Republicans of Union county went into the National campaign as a united body. A particular sign of the general good feeling was to be noted in the appearance of U. S. Senator John Kean in company with Congressman Fowler at the close of the convention and the few words of the Senator's commending the choice of the convention and declaring that the Republicans had done well to reward so faithful a public servant who was likely to do even better in the future.

Except for the necessity of complying with the law, a convention wasn't necessary at all. Everybody was for Fowler and the cogs of the great machine moved along without a single hitch. All was delightful.

There were a few changes in the Plainfield delegation, the places of several absentees being filled by others, among whom were City Clerk J. T. MacMurray and Postmaster E. H. Bird in the First ward, and Andrew McCardell and William Newcorn in the Fourth. A caucus of the Plainfield delegation was held and City Judge William N. Runyon was chosen chairman of the city delegation. Then the Plainfielders went into the Union county caucus where Judge Runyon was also chosen chairman. The honors in the convention for Union county were then apportioned out as follows: Vice-president, Robert L Patterson, of Elizabeth; secretary, Noah Morrison, of Elizabeth; committee on permanent organization, J. B. Wilson, of Westfield, and Charles E. Reed, of Rahway; committee on rules, James W. Furgeson, of Cranford, William H. Williamson, of Lyons Farms; committee on resolutions, William Newcorn, of Plainfield, and Edward Hand, of Scotch Plains; committee on credentials, George Wilcox, of New Providence, and Jonathan Bonnell, of Summit. Dr. C. B. Holmes, of Rahway, was chosen as Union county's representative on the Congressional district committee.

The convention was called to order at 3:16 o'clock by Dr. C. B. Holmes, of Rahway, chairman of the Congressional district committee. William T. West, of Roselle, was made temporary chairman, and William Freeborn, of Bayonne, Noah Morrison, of Elizabeth, and R. W. Booth, of Franklin, temporary secretaries. After the appointment of the committees, the convention took a recess of ten minutes under order to allow the committees to get in their work.

After the recess they reported, William Newcorn, of Plainfield, acting as chairman of the committee on resolutions which presented a brief but emphatic platform. The district committee was elected as follows: Samuel C. Martin, of Essex; Samuel Graham, of Hudson, and Dr. C. B Holmes, of Union.

At the call for nominations the Bayonne delegation yielded the floor to Assemblyman Benj. F. Jones, of South Orange, Speaker of the State Assembly, who nominated Charles N. Fowler for Congress in a rousing speech. The nomination was seconded in speeches by Horace Roberson, of Bayonne, and Ira B. Wheeler, of the Eleventh ward, of Elizabeth.

Everybody voted for Fowler at the call for ballots, Bayonne casting 19, Union county 90 and Essex county 90. The nomination was declared unanimous and a huge paper ballot was cast for the Congressman.

A committee, composed of three, including Andrew McCardell, of Plainfield, was sent after the nominee, and then City Judge Wm. N. Runyon, chairman, of the Union county delegation, was called upon for a song. After "The Grenadiers" and "The Irish Jubilee" the Judge was allowed to go.

There were wild cheers for Fowler as he entered the theatre escorted by the committee. He was accompanied by Senator John Kean. The Congressman thanked the convention for the honor it had conferred upon him. The present decade was one of the most splendid, he said, in the history of the world and changes were going forward that would affect the entire globe. The United States was a prime factor in these changes. Regarding the entrance of the United States into the East Indias, he declared:

"We are in the Orient, not to pack up our baggage and leave, but to stay." The United States, he continued, would stay to provide for American trade and industry. It is a question who is to have the markets of the East and, if the Republican administration can do it, the United States will have the trade of the Orient. Wherever an American citizen is this Government will protect him in the exercise of his rights. In conclusion, he begged his hearers to work for the Republican ticket if they desired to see American trade extended and fresh prosperity brought to all its industries.

Senator Kean had a little to say, complimenting the convention on its choice and declaring that they had chosen a man who had been faithful to his country in the past and would be faithful in the future. An informal period of handshaking on the stage followed.

MISS SIMMONDS A BRIDE

WEDDING CEREMONY PERFORMED IN GRACE P. E. CHURCH.

Groom was Rev. David Campbell Mayers—Couple Will go to the Mission Field in Idaho.

The marriage of Miss Josephine Harte Simmonds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Simmonds, of 1402 Watchung avenue, to Rev. David Campbell Mayers, of Barbadoes, West Indies, late of the theological seminary at Fairfax, Va., took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Grace P. E. church in the presence of a large throng of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Wallace, of Fairfax Seminary, assisted by Rev. E. M. Bodman, rector of Grace church.

The bridal party included the flower girl, Miss Katherine Archer, of Camden, and two bridemaids, Miss Lucile K. Simmonds, of Plainfield, a sister of the bride, and Miss Tullis, of Scotland. The best man was Rev. James M. Owens, of Charleston, West Va. The ushers were Edward A. Brown, of Plainfield, and Charles H. Gross, of New York.

The bride was gowned in white and carried a bouquet of white bride roses and maiden hair fern. The flower girl, also gowned in white, carried a bouquet of white marguerites. The gowns of the bridemaids were white and their bouquets were composed of yellow marguerites. The decorations in the church were very effective, composed chiefly of white marguerites and southern smylax.

A reception at the bride's home followed the ceremony and continued from 5:30 until 7 o'clock. One hundred and fifty guests were present. The house was artistically decorated in the prevailing colors, green and white, the marguerites and smilax forming most of the decorations.

The couple left early in the evening on their wedding journey, after which they will return to Plainfield. After spending several months at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Mayers will leave for the mission field in Idaho.

Author's Presence Desired.

The convention of the Medal of Honor Legion, to be held in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, in September, will have for one of its features the singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." To enthuse the members of the legion and their guests in this respect, effort is to be made to have Julia Ward Howe, the author of the hymn, attend the convention.

Just Back From India.

Rev. Mr. Henderson, a returned missionary from India, will make an address this evening at the Christian Endeavor meeting to be held at the First Baptist church. There will also be special music.

TYROLEAN QUEEN BY PUPILS OF ST. MARY.

Clever Entertainment Given at the Closing Exercises of the Parochial School.

LARGE CHORUS OF CHILDREN TOOK PART IN IT.

The Misses Loretta Flanagan, Margaret Harding and Jennie Summers Portrayed Principal Parts in It.

Fully three hundred people gathered in the hall of St. Mary's Parochial School last evening to witness the closing exercises of the school year. Despite the fact that there were no graduates the programme was more than of passing interest and that the large number present were well pleased with the entertainment goes without saying. The interest of the audience was centered chiefly in an operetta, entitled "The Tyrolean Queen," in four acts, which was given by three young ladies, assisted by a large chorus. The leading characters were represented by Miss Loretta Flanagan, as "Rosalie," the Tyrolean Queen; Miss Margaret Harding, as "Mother Grunt," the Gypsy leader, and Miss Jennie Summers, as the "Fairy Qaeen."

The chorus was made up to represent Tyroleans, gypsies and fairies with appropriate costumes, which presented a very pretty picture. The singing was excellent and the different dances showed careful study and thorough practice in their preparation.

As for the principal characters too much praise cannot be given. All three of the young ladies rendered their respective parts in a manner worthy of amateurs much older than themselves. Their pronunciation was clear and distinct and the portrayal of different characters showed rare ability.

In addition to the operetta a number of choruses were sung, before and between the acts, by the primary pupils. A vocal trio, composed of the Misses Loretta Flanagan, Margaret Harding and Mercy Hillman, rendered a very pleasing selection, "Distant Chimes."

The programme was brought to a close with a patriotic drill and tableau in which a number of the scholars took part. Those who took part in the operetta were:

Tyroleans — The Misses Blanche Skinner, Bessie Shay, Mercy Hillman, Helen Cooney, Annie Galbraith, Katherine Kelley, Nellie Callahan, Margaret Casey, Loretta Fairfax, Katherine Hepner, Mary Fitzgerald, Rose Brady and Mary Flatly.

Gypsies — The Misses Katherine Harding, Anastasia Taylor, Ella Burns, Katherine Ryan, Lulu Mccarthy, Mary Hibbitts, Theresa Hibbitts, Ella Burns, Mary Wearren, Mary Wilby, Bessie Young, Margaret Kane, Mary Kyle and Sarah Ettinger.

Fairies — The Misses Alice Day, Margaret King, May Buckley, May Huntington, Mary McCarthy, Mary Ettinger, Ada Flatly, Sadie Mattox, Beatrice Young, Mabel Deady, Lizzie Fitzgerald, Lillian Fennessey, Bessie Bebout, Elizabeth Brown, Mary McCauly, Catharine Roper, Nellie Casey, Lizzie Casey and Catherine Moore.

The dancers were taught under the personal supervision of Madame Bartlett, to whom, with the Sisters of the school, credit is due for the success of the exercises. Miss Mary Smith, assisted by Miss Katherine Flynn, accompanied the choruses on a piano.

Another June Bride.

The marriage of Miss Jennie Gordon, daughter of William Gordon, of Washingtonville, and Melvin H. Cleaves, of Codinton avenue, took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride. Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, of this city, performed the ceremony. Miss Florence Beekman, of Plainfield, was bridemaid, and Frank Cleaves, brother of the groom, was best man. After a wedding journey, the couple will reside in Plainfield.

GIVEN HONORS OF G. A. R.

FUNERAL SERVICES OVER REMAINS OF LATE E. C. MORSE.

Held in Warren Chapel, Where Rev. J. O. McKelvey Eulogized Dead Man's Life—Large Attendance of Friends.

The funeral services of the late Ephraim Constantine Morse were held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the residence on Jackson avenue, and at 4 o'clock from Warren chapel. There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends, including Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans and the Woman's Relief Corps, No. 10. After a short service at the house which was conducted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, the funeral cortege proceeded to Warren chapel. Preceding the cortege was the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, followed by the Sons of Veterans, G. A. R. and Odd Fellows, while a firing squad of nine from the Sons of Veterans and the pall-bearers from the G. A. R. and Odd Fellows walked beside the hearse.

Warren chapel was filled to its capacity with people. Rev. Mr. McKelvey conducted the service, and after reading appropriate Scripture selections he spoke for a few minutes concerning the true soldier, his fighting for his country, and then referred impressively to the fight of good faith. He talked earnestly and sincerely and pointed all to Christ. He urged all to be prepared for the last call, whether it comes sudden or otherwise. He referred to the faithfulness of the departed for the Grand Army and the Odd Fellows, and of his devotion to his country when the call came for men to fight for it.

After those present had been given an opportunity to view the remains, the interment took place in the North Plainfield Cemetery accompanied by impressive ceremonies by the G. A. R. and Odd Fellows. The Odd Fellows were in charge of Stephen Schleif, as marshal, and at the grave the funeral service of the order was given by Fred Becker, as Noble Grand, and Charles Raybert, as chaplain. Their service closed with the singing of a hymn. The members of the G. A. R. then took charge and concluded the services with their ceremony which was given by Commander Berg, Chaplain Goodman and Comrade W. W. Coriell and W. C. Smith. At the close of this part the firing squad from the Sons of Veterans fired three salutes, each one followed by the roll of the drum and the dipping of the American flags draped. Then Commander Berg gave the last call on the bugle, after which Mr. McKelvey pronounced the benediction.

There were a number of beautiful floral tributes, consisting of set pieces from the G. A. R. and Odd Fellows, and many smaller pieces from relatives and friends.

The pall-bearers were L. C. Sheppard, J. B. Clarkson and Nimrod Horton, of the Odd Fellows, and M. C. Dobbins, Wm. Hand and Wm. C. Smith, of the G. A. R. The Sons of Veterans were in charge of Captain E. P. T. Smith, and those who formed the firing squad were George Bedford, H. J. Martin, W. C. Smith, Jr., Clarence Rittenhouse, Charles Graves, Edward Devine, Raymond McVoy, Frank Perry and H. C. McVoy.

CAME ONE HUNDRED STRONG.

Elizabeth Daughters of Liberty Paid a Fraternal Visit.

Harmony Council, No 92, Daughters of Liberty, of Elizabeth, about one hundred strong, came to Plainfield Wednesday evening by trolley and paid a fraternal visit to Lucetta Council, No. 28, Daughters of Liberty. Mrs. Elizabeth Packer, State councilor, was present and made a fine address, and John H. Carney entertained the members with witty sayings. Dancing and a collation were other features enjoyed, and at a late hour the guests departed well pleased with their outing.

Caught Just in Time.

While standing in front of the store yesterday, a horse belonging to Hillier's laundry became frightened from some unknown cause and ran away. It was facing toward Madison avenue but turned and ran to Park avenue where it went as far as Tiers. It was caught just in time to prevent its falling into an excavation which was being made in the street, stopping within about five feet of it.

TOO YOUNG TO WED THEIR PARENTS SAID.

So Roland Benning and Lottie Romer Eloped—Spending Honeymoon Here.

FOUND IT OUT YESTERDAY.

HORDES OF TELEGRAMS OF CONGRATULATIONS FROM FRIENDS.

Thrilling Account of the Elopement Appeared in New York Papers Yesterday—Now Guests at Home of M. C. Stewart, South Avenue.

Amid sunshine and showers the little messengers of the Western Union Telegraph Company traveled many times yesterday to the residence of M. C. Stewart, at the corner of South and Belvidere avenues. Each bore a telegram of congratulation for the youthful couple, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Benning, who are stopping at Mr. Stewart's home. The fact of the marriage was only made public yesterday morning, and each of the score or more of clerks in the banking house of Haven & Stout, Wall street, New York, felt it his duty to send at least one telegram congratulating his fellow-clerk on his plunge into the sea of matrimony.

Roland Benning is nineteen years old and has been living with his father, Detective Robert Benning, of the Thirteenth street station, at 1642 Second avenue. His bride is Miss Lottie Romer, seventeen years old, who lived with her parents at 17 West Ninety-sixth street. The young people have known each other for sometime and the only objection to their marriage was that they were so young. To the couple that objection did not seem to be a reasonable one.

Saturday, June 16th, Benning's vacation began. He met Miss Romer that afternoon and together they went to the home of Rev. Mr. Habler, of the Lutheran church on 84th street, between First and Second avenues, New York. They were quietly married. Then they came out to Netherwood to spend the two weeks' vacation at Mr. Stewart's home.

The Stewarts were surprised, to put it mildly, but, as long as it was all over, they welcomed the couple. The marriage certificate and a little note from the young husband was mailed to Detective Benning at once. Word was also sent to the parents of the young woman.

The parents of the young people were not overmuch rejoiced at the news, but there wasn't anything to do but accept it philosophically, which they did, writing to the young people that they were forgiven. Since then the Bennings have been stopping at Netherwood, blissfully supposing that the story would not leak out.

In the New York newspapers yesterday the story of their elopement appeared, with lots of thrilling details that had really never happened at all. Among those who noticed the story were Benning's fellow clerks in Haven & Stout's banking house. Then began a lively time for the mesenger boys in Plainfield.

Benning was called to the telephone in Guttridge's store and received the verbal congratulations for fifteen minutes without a break. After that, the bell to the Stewart home was ringing every few minutes when a fresh telegram would arrive. Some of the friends of the young Benedict were unkind enough to send their regards collect.

Benning is a good looking young man, blue eyes and light wavy hair. His bride is a charming little brunette. They will remain in Netherwood until Monday when Benning returns to work again. He expects a warm reception on his return to work.

They do Voluntary Mission Work.

Rev. E. T. Tomlinson, Ph. D., of Elizabeth, is to preach in the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow morning. Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Taylor, who are doing useful voluntary missionary work in our city and borough, are to speak in the same church tonight. All persons interested in individual or co-operative work for removing the causes and results of ignorance, poverty and sin from Plainfield, are cordially invited to attend.

Swallowed up in the City.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Burlington, June 29—Patrick Whalen, 30 years old, of this city, who ran a small huckster business, started for Philadelphia two weeks ago ostensibly to buy a horse. Since his departure no tidings have been received from him and his parents fear that he has met with foul play, as he had considerable money with him.

THE COLLAR BUTTON.

Lots of Brains and Energy Go Into the Manufacture of This Tiny Dress Convenience.

Even the simplest little contrivances are often very complicate in the making.

There's the collar button, for instance, which, in addition to lining the pockets of the humorists with gold, has caused mankind more trouble than the proper up-bringing of children.

From all we can learn, however, it is the collar button which is made of a number of pieces soldered together which is wont to break just at the wrong time. And, indeed, the only reprehensible habit attributed to the one-piece collar button is the weakness for rolling under the bed just when a man (or a girl) is in a rush. In case it's a man, you know just how it ruffles his temper to be caught under the bed hunting for buttons; it annoys him equally if the wife shrieks, thinking him a burglar, or if she assumes a superior air and goes silently on her way.

STAGES IN ITS CONSTRUCTION.

But let us look at this one-piece button and note its evolution. You may imagine there's a lot of complicated machinery behind it—behind every stage of it, indeed.

In the first stage there's a circular disk stamped out of a strip of metal. Being fed into several machines, it at length gets into the third form, so like a grandfather's hat. Rapid blows, and many of them, from powerful hammers, bring it to the fourth stage.

Then a machine turns up its edge. Still another rolls it over. Then its head is put into shape. Last comes the polishing.

It stands to reason that this button is stronger than the old one, with its straight shank.

How seldom do we stop to think of all the brains and energy that go into every tiniest article.—Chicago Record.

BUYING TABLE LINEN.

It Is More Economical to Select a Few Good Pieces Than to Get a Lot of Cheap Stuff.

Table linen is an index of the taste and neatness of the housekeeper. It is economy to purchase only a fine quality and to change often, in order to prevent the wearing out by hard rubbing in the laundry.

For everyday use that sold by the yard will suffice. It is much cheaper, though it lacks the elegance of a bordered cloth. A small patterned linen, showing the familiar snowdrop, ivy and clover, wears better than that having larger designs. For a small family four cloths for daily use, with as many of a better quality, are enough. Napkins usually match. Dinner napkins are three-quarters of a yard square, and a dozen go with each cloth. Both the tablecloths and napkins should be cut by a drawn thread and a narrow hand hem finished with the utmost neatness. Four dozen napkins, for a small family, helped out by small tea napkins, ought to suffice. If linen of every kind is washed before cutting and hemming, taking out the starch will greatly facilitate the work. It is to be remembered that linen not bleached to snowy whiteness will last much longer than the other.

Some housekeepers fancy, for a change, either the plain or the twilled linen cloths. These are finished on each of the four edges with wide hems and hemstitching above, and are made to fit the dimensions of the table. Handsome they truly are. But, as figured linens do not, they show every stain and muss. They are usually finished with a monogram from six to nine inches high, wrought diagonally across one corner in such manner as to show on the table top. The hems are from two to four inches in depth, and are sometimes finished with a fall of renaissance lace, the depth of which depends upon the housekeeper's purse. However the cloth is finished, the napkins should correspond. Table cloths of all kinds are procurable of any length, even up to five yards.—Good Housekeeping.

How to Clean Fine Lace.

Occasionally a piece of fancy work on the lace order does not show soil enough to justify sacrificing its newness to the process of washing. If such work is laid away for a week in a heavy book between blue tissue paper, having had rubbed into the soiled places calcined magnesia or pipeclay, it will come out cleaned and brightened by the process. This is a good way to treat battenberg and point lace work which has become dingy or yellow.

How to Arrange a Room.

It has been suggested that to improve the arrangement of one's room it should be studied from a camera point of view. The importance of details will be quickly demonstrated in this way.

Five O'Clock Functions.

Five o'clock functions are never served in the living room or dining-room, but in the drawing-room—or on the hospitable veranda, where the tea must be made by the hostess.

BRIDGE WORK

in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

There are more than 100,000 children in the national schools of Germany who stutter.

There are 139 different religious denominations in the United States, 149,868 ministers, 189,488 churches and 27,714,523 communicants.

The collections of star fishes and sea urchins belonging to the museum of the University of Michigan are being arranged in a case on the second floor of the museum building. Although not large the collection contains some interesting and valuable specimens.

One of the peculiar arguments which lately came to our notice, says the Boston Watchman, was that of a member of a pulpit committee of a church which in all its history has never kept a pastor more than four years. He objected to calling a minister 50 years old, because he feared that at the end of 15 or 20 years he would be worn out.

The movement to ameliorate the condition of the discharged convict is rapidly gaining ground in England. St. Giles Christian mission, London, gave 21,224 discharged prisoners last year their first meal out of prison, finding work for 5,998 who were willing to accept it. In the last 22 years this association of Christian men and women has helped 361,000 prisoners after their liberation.

The University of the South, at Sewanee, Tenn., has placed its 8,000-acre tract of hardwood timber near that town under the management of the division of forestry. An official of the division will mark all trees to be cut, and will draw up the logging contracts to provide for the preservation of young growth. It is intended to make the forest yield a permanent annual revenue to go towards the support of the college.

A BUFFALO DUEL.

In Which the Old Monarch of the Herd Is Overthrown by a Younger Member.

In his paper on "The National Zoo at Washington," in the Century, Ernest Seton-Thompson describes a duel between two buffalo bulls.

"The buffalo herd had so far reverted to a native state that the old bull ruled for several years, much as he would have done on the plains. He was what the keeper called 'not a bad boss;' that is, he was not malicious in his tyranny. One of the younger bulls made an attempt to resist him once, and had to be punished. The youngster never forgot or forgave this, and a year or so later, feeling himself growing in strength, he decided to risk it again. He advanced toward the leader, 'John L.,' and shook his head up and down two or three times, in a style recognized among buffalo as a challenge. The big fellow was surprised, no doubt. He gave a warning shake, but the other would not take warning. Both charged. But, to the old bull's amazement, the young one did not go down. What he lacked in weight he more than made up in agility. Both went at it again, now desperately. After two or three of these terrific shocks the old one realized that he had not now his old-time strength and wind. As they pushed and parried, the young bull managed to get under the other, and with a tremendous heave, actually pitched his huge body up into the air and dashed him down the hillside. Three times the old bull was thus thrown before he would yield, and then he sought to save his life by flight. But they were not now on the open plains; the pen was limited, and the victor was of a most ferocious temper. The keepers did what they could, but stout ropes and fences interposed were no better than straws. The old bull's body was at last left on the ground with 63 gashes, and his son reigned in his stead. This is one of the melancholy sides of animal life—the weak to the wall, the aged downed by the young. It has happened millions of times on the plains, but perhaps was never before so exactly rendered for human eyes to see."

PRACTICED BY ANCIENTS.

The Corner Stone of Rome's Rebuilt Capitol Was Laid with Great Ceremony.

Lanciarni, the Roman archaeologist, has discovered that it was the custom in old Rome to lay the corner stone of a public building with elaborate ceremonies, and he cites proof that this was a universal practice in the ancient world. At the laying of the corner stone when the capitol of Rome was rebuilt a procession of vestal virgins robed in white surrounded the stone and consecrated it with libations of water. A prayer to the gods followed and then the magistrates, priests, senators and knights laid hold of the ropes and moved the mighty stone to its proper position. In a hollow cut in the stone were placed ingots of gold, silver and other metals which had not been melted in any furnace. With the Jews the corner stone was considered an emblem of power, and they also performed ceremonies at its laying. In medieval times the rite was taken up by the Order of Free Masons and has by them been brought down to modern days. The masonic ceremony of laying a corner stone stone is symbolical. The form of the stone, a square on the surface, and a perfect cube; its place, at the northeast corner of the structure; the testing of it with a square, level and plumb, and the pouring of libations of corn, wine and oil over it—all have their hidden meaning. The custom of laying the corner stone with ceremonies is usually observed at the commencement of any public building, when coins of the current year, newspapers and important documents are placed within the stone to serve as valuable historical relics when the building shall be destroyed.

BOY WITH A HOBBY.

Master Hume Gibson Richards Is a Mechanical Prodigy.

Although But Four Years of Age He Can Run a Locomotive and Enjoys a Night Ride Over the Western Mountains.

Master Hume Gibson Richards is the youngest locomotive driver in the world. Indeed, he is not only a mechanical prodigy, but is as remarkable for his knowledge in other lines. Before he was three years old he astonished the railroad men of the west by his great knowledge of mechanics. He knew every part of the intricate locomotive, could name those parts by their technical terms, and describe their functions with exact precision and readiness. Repeated tests have been made of his singular knowledge of mechanics by experts, and the results have astounded the wise ones. On one occasion Master Richards was taken to the locomotive works of one of the Chicago railroads and he named the various parts of a locomotive before they were put together. Those who witnessed the test were forced to the belief that the youngster could build a locomotive by direction. He has been to the scene of wrecks several times and the points of interest to him were the smashed engines and cars. He would look over the demolished locomotives just as an "old-timer" would do, and within the same length of time give with technical skill a detailed account of the damage sustained by the engine. There are thousands of railroad cars operated in this country and Canada by the various railroads. Master Richards has never failed yet in designating the roads to which these cars belong. He knows by the initials painted thereon.

Many is the time he has sat in the cabs of locomotives that pull the fast mails and expresses over the western plains and mountainous highlands. To him such experiences have become as commonplace as to the engineers themselves. In fact, he is as much at home in the cab of a locomotive as the man at the throttle or the man who shovels coal in the firebox. Fear has never entered his mind while riding at the greatest speed in the cab of an engine. On some of his trips to and across the Rocky mountains he has fallen asleep alongside the boiler on the fireman's side of the cab. He would slumber soundly while the iron steed whirled around reverse curves, thundered up and down steep grades and through deep-walled cuts and rolled over level plains along those western overland routes. To him nothing is more interesting and absorbing.

OILING AROUND THE ENGINE.

Master Richards has not reached his fifth year, nor is he even able to read. He is too young to be sent to a kindergarten, his father preferring not to push him into the schoolroom before he is at least seven years old. His first love was a locomotive, and he studied it in his own peculiar way, without forgetting the smallest fact or part. He also took a keen interest in the late American-Spanish war, and has on his tongue's end the name of every battleship, cruiser, torpedo boat and other crafts of importance that took part in that conflict on both sides. Further, he knows every state, territory and island, lake and river of the United States, and can bound many of the states without the aid of a map. It is one of his pleasures and pastimes to take imaginary trips around the world, and in these he rattles off the seas, straits and other bodies of water passed through, as well as the names of the countries skirted, for he is equally conversant with the countries of the world and their inhabitants. He knows more about the causes that led up to the American-Spanish war and the results than many of matured years. In fact, he is full of the Filipino war, Cuban annexation and Porto Rican liberty, and can bound these new possessions of Uncle Sam with readiness.

Master Richards, says the Chicago Tribune, was born in Chicago on July 15, 1895. His father moved to Lincoln, Neb. Mrs. Richards died a year ago and Master Richards has since been with his grandfather, Henry A. Richards, formerly of Chicago.

A Noted Noble Oarsman.

For his years, Sir Charles Dilke is probably as fine an oarsman as could be found. One of Sir Charles' favorite recreations is sculling. When at his riverside retreat at Shepperton he is often to be seen in a pair-oared boat in company with some famous rowing man, pulling away with as much energy as an athlete half his age.

SIEGE OF MAFEKING.

Most Interesting Episode in the Boer-British War.

It Lasted 217 Days and Both Sides Are Said to Have Behaved Well—Col. Baden-Powell's Courage Rewarded at Last.

Mafeking's remarkable siege and defense lasted just 217 days. The town and its story will furnish one of the most interesting episodes of the history of the war. Gatacre's reverses, Buller's failures and Kimberley's famous mines did not divert attention from the gallant defense made by the handful of men at Mafeking under the command of Col. Baden-Powell.

The little half-British, half-Bechuana settlement in the north on the Transvaal border was in reality hardly worth the siege or the defense to either side. But it was attacked vigorously and defended valiantly.

On October 12, only two days after the arrival in England of the Boer ultimatum, the burghers crossed the Transvaal border 40 miles south of the town and cut off railway and telegraph communication. From that time the people in the place were compelled to subsist upon the stock of provisions in Mafeking at the beginning of the war. Baden-Powell's scouts and runners brought news to the outer world occasionally telling of attacks and repulses, of the sufferings of the besieged and of hunger and sickness, but always with the word that the heroic commander could still hold out.

Two days after the siege began the Boers opened an attack, thinking they could take the city at once. They met with a bewildering repulse, which Baden-Powell described in the following message: "Fight Monday. All right."

After this the burghers settled down to a bombardment which lasted

(Diagram Shows Duration of Other Sieges Famous in History.)

almost up to the very day when the town was reached by the relieving forces. After a few weeks of shelling and waiting a Boer messenger with a white flag approached the British works and asked for a surrender. Baden-Powell was sleeping when the messenger arrived. He was awakened at once, and after giving the Boer an excellent luncheon he told him to return to Gen. Cronje.

"Tell Cronje," said the undaunted colonel, "that when we have had enough we will send out to him and let him know."

About this time Reuter's correspondent wrote: "Col. Baden-Powell is always smiling. When the people see him walking down the street whistling they take heart."

After the return of their man the Boers were inactive for several weeks. Then the colonel sent them this message:

"You can't take us by sitting down out there. Why don't you come in and get us?"

This started up the bombarding again. Week after week the shells shrieked over Mafeking. The convent was hit, the hotel hurt a little, and the famous dog was killed, but no British.

Early in the siege Baden-Powell's men made a few sorties and inflicted some damage with their bayonets. The children became so accustomed to shells that they watched for them to burst and then fought for possession of the fragments.

On December 26 Mafeking prepared a sortie and carried death up to the very trenches of the enemy. Capts. Vernon and Sanford were killed and Lords Edward Cecil and Charles Cavendish Bentinck were wounded.

On January 6 word came from Baden-Powell: "We are making up our minds to stick this out as long as need be, and have food for another three months." Col. Baden-Powell must have figured in his horses and mules as available food supply, for Mafeking had soon to begin dieting on that kind of fare.

Toward the end of February, says the Chicago Times-Herald, the people of Mafeking began to feel the pinch of hunger, and to realize what a siege really means. On February 19 it was reported that the garrison had been placed on the shortest possible rations. By this time the besieged were growing accustomed to horse meat, and that, too, in small quantities. Everybody was fed, but nobody was surfeited.

Then began several relief movements toward the town, with the chief and successful one marching from the south. The last attempt of the Boers to take Mafeking was made on May 12, when they were repulsed with severe loss.

TRUSTEES ARE DEFIANT.

WILL STICK TO MRS EYLER DESPITE THEIR LASHING.

Legislative Committee Cuts No Figure With the Board, Which Has Things Its Own Way.

Trenton, June 29.—The report of the Investigating Committee of the State Home for Girls, made to Governor Voorhees, seems to have struck the trustees of that institution dumb.

They absolutely refuse to say anything concerning the report. No intimation can be gotten from them as to whether they intend to take the broad hint the committee gave them and resign, or not. It is believed that they will stick to their guns.

Mrs. Eyler, the superintendent of the home, is as mum as an oyster. There was a rumor a few days ago that she had somehow got an inkling of what the tone of the report would be and had made up her mind to resign. She neither confirms nor denies this rumor, but her friends say that she has no intention of handing in her resignation. The Board of Trustees has the power to remove her, but there is little likelihood of their doing so, because they appointed her to the position of superintendent of the home without waiting for the investigating committee to make its report, and a majority of the trustees are warm supporters of her methods. The point has been raised as to her eligibility for the position. The law plainly states that a man shall fill that position, and the masculine personal pronoun is used throughout that part of the statute referring to that office. The trustees construed the law to mean man or woman and it is understood that the Governor agrees with them in that view.

While the resolution creating the investigating committee required them to report to the Governor, it also provided that he should turn the report over to the Legislature, and it is believed that nothing will be done by the trustees in the direction of making a change in the management of the home unless they are compelled to do so by an act of the Legislature next winter, unless the pressure of public sentiment becomes too strong for them to resist. They have assumed an attitude of defiance toward the people and the committee, and are not disposed to change it.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Kate Brittin, of Washington street, has returned from a visit at Newark.

Samuel Terry, of East Third street, is still very ill and shows no sign of improvement.

Rev. Dr. Nelson and wife, of Summit avenue, have left town to enjoy the warm weather in the mountains.

Mrs. Robert Lowry, of Central avenue, will spend a portion of the summer at Lebanon, Hunterdon county.

Miss Jennie Thorn, of East Third street, is recovering from a severe injury to her arm, which was caused by a fall recently.

Floyd T. Woodhull, of West End Park, is now rapidly recovering from his long and tedious illness. His friends hope to see him about very soon.

Rev. T. Logan Murphy, who has just returned from abroad, has been kept busy for several days visiting his friends, who are glad to welcome him home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clark, Neal Compton and Miss M. A. Kurtz left Plainfield for Asbury Park yesterday. They will be gone for two months.

Mrs. David P. Kenny, with her visiting friends, the Misses Healey, of Saratoga Springs, attended the commencement exercises of Seton Academy at Orange, Wednesday.

LITERARY.

The fiction in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for July includes, besides the Sheridan-like ending of Egerton Castle's "Bath Comedy," a quaintly humorous New England story by Rollin Lynde Hartt, and a Cape idyll called "In Old Manomet Village," by Etta W. Pierce. The poetry and "Marginalia" include contributions by Edgar Fawcett, William Hamilton Hayne, Norman H. Pitman, Frank Lawrence Jones, Ethel West and Mary Sargent Hopkins.

Seven Years in Bed

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. S. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility, but "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Only 50c at L. W. BACKBONELESS HUMANITY.

Over Indulgence of Mothers Often Responsible for Weakness of Character.

It is the home indulgence of early life that is responsible for so many specimens of backboneless humanity. There are many mothers of the indulgent kind, who have it not in their hearts to make their children do anything that is unpleasant to them.

The frequent "school headaches" are accepted seriously, and the lessons are shunted for that coveted run in the garden, or that jolly play in the house. If music be unpleasant for little miss, still in the grinding drudgery of scales and fingering, music is dropped because she has no taste for it, and it is cruel to force her inclinations. So with the brother's Latin and arithmetic, geography and history.

The mother maintains the abnormality of her children all through, and makes that childish petulance and childish dislike of initial drudgery the measure of their mature requirements. Nor can she correct them when they do wrong. She makes kindly excuses to them and for them, and puts excuses into their own mouths to save them the pain of a frank confession and herself the anguish of inflicting a deserved punishment.

She wishes, poor soul, to be all that is sweet and good and loving to her children, but she has not strength of mind nor force of will enough to make them feel that everlasting truth of consequences and responsibilities. She wants them to be good without the need of training, and to be happy without the drawbacks of sorrow for wrongdoing and the bitterness of suffering in punishment.

She thinks if she makes them strong and healthy and happy, they will necessarily be good, and she does not see that all the while she is weakening their moral fiber and making them self-indulgent, unable to resist the pains and misfortunes of life, and sure to become in the end a member of that purposeless species known as backboneless humanity.—Ledger Monthly.

The Mermaid.

This was the name of a famous London tavern frequented by noted literary men and actors during the reign of Queen Elizabeth. All the wit and talent of the time assembled there for convivial enjoyment. Authors have made it the scene of great mind combats between such men as Shakespeare, Ben Jonson, Beaumont, Fletcher, Selden, Carew, Donne and others of reverential memory. It was the gathering place of the celebrated Mermaid club, the origin of which is ascribed to Sir Walter Raleigh. The Mermaid tavern was located in Bread street, and was handily reached from three thoroughfares, so that it has been often referred to in various ways. The Mermaid in Bread street, the Mermaid in Friday street and the Mermaid in Cheap street were, however, all one and the same. It was the nearest to Bread street. The Mermaid was destroyed in the great London fire. There were other Mermaid taverns, one in Cheapside and another in Cornhill, but they had no such associations as clung to that of Bread street.—Detroit Free Press.

Chinese Women Soldiers.

The Boer war is not the first to enlist women to fight. There was a conflict some 50 years ago in which over 500,000 women took part, and they were as active as men in all military duties. They were formed into brigades of 13,000 each, and had female officers. Ten thousand were picked women, drilled and garrisoned in Nankin. The rest dug moats and trenches, built breastworks, batteries, etc. The Tae-Ping rebellion was one of the most remarkable of modern wars.

QUEER BIRD HOMES.

The Astounding Places in Which Some Birds Have Elected to Build Their Nests.

In a sleepy old village in England there is a quaint little stone church which has stood for more than one century. It is a great place for feathered songsters, and many birds attend service every Sunday during the summer. One Sabbath the vicar on going up to the reading desk was astonished to see that under one cover of the open Bible was a newly-constructed nest, in which reposed a robin redbreast.

Early in the week she and her mate must have settled on this place as a congenial home and during the days following had worked might and main to get things in shape for housekeeping. The vicar could not bear to disturb the robins, and so he procured another Bible, allowing the pious birds to reside in their chosen home for the rest of the season.

Still another robin tried housekeeping in a disused teaketttle, which had been flung out in a corner of the garden.

Birds who shirk their natural duties are quite as apt to suffer as their human brethren.

The cuckoo makes no nest of her own, but watching her chance, lays her relatively small eggs in the nest of a more industrious member of the bird family. Once a mother cuckoo managed to insert an egg in the nest of a redstart which was in a small hole in a wall. The aperture was large enough for the redstarts to go in and out of, but when the baby cuckoo burst from his shell and was strong enough to try and shift for himself, he found he was too big to get out and so was a prisoner for life. His foster parents fed him till they thought he was old enough to earn his own living and then they left him, so the poor cuckoo, through the laziness of his mamma, perished miserably.

Perhaps the most absurd place for a nest ever discovered was in a cannon box, located at an army post. A sparrow was the bird to make this choice, and though the cannon was fired twice a day, it did not deter her from bringing up a healthy family of young sparrows, none of whom seemed to mind a home which was even noisier than a New York flat!—Detroit Free Press.

Window Washing Made Easy.

Wash your windows in as clear hot water as can be used, and add a few drops of kerosene oil. It evaporates, carrying the moisture with it, and you will be gratified with a shining glass and not half the trouble to get the polish. Try it the same way on your woodwork. It saves labor and soap, and no injury is done your paint.

Oilcloth as a Hanging.

The possibilities of oilcloth seem never to have reached their limit. The last use to be made of this fabric is the "papering" of the kitchen ceiling and the bathroom walls. Its smooth surface affords no lurking place for germs, and dust and smoke can be readily wiped off.

Renomination of Mr. Fowler.

As has been anticipated all along by astute political observers—even when Frank Bergen's boom was at the height of its popularity—Charles Newell Fowler has been renominated by the Republicans of the Eighth district as Representative in Congress. The fact that he was named without opposition of any kind is a tribute to his political sagacity and a recognition by his own party that he is the best man for the present time.

While all of Mr. Fowler's official acts have not met with the approval of his constituents, it is nevertheless the fact that he has cut a figure in Congressional affairs at Washington that has been creditable and gratifying to the Eighth district and taking all in all he will go before the people this year as a strong candidate in a district that is overwhelmingly Republican in its political tendencies.

Mr. Fowler's candidacy is complimentary to himself in the fact that he is in line for the fourth term in Congress—a record which no one else in this district can claim. It has come to be recognized that the true course for a district to pursue in reference to Congressional matters is to continue in office for a number of terms men who have shown capacity in that line, and in this connection Mr. Fowler has a favorable record.

Mr. Fowler is a native of Illinois, having been born on a farm in that State. There he lived till he reached his eighteenth year when he entered Beloit College in Wisconsin. Two years later he entered Yale College, where he graduated in 1876. He read law in the office of Williams & Thompson in Chicago, and attended the Chicago Law School, and was graduated in 1878.

He has been more or less active in politics since he removed to Elizabeth sixteen years ago, and for sometime was chairman of the City Republican Central Committee. He served as a member-at-large of the Republican State Committee in 1898, and took an active part in the campaign for the election of Foster M. Voorhees as Governor.

He was first elected in 1894 over Dunn, Democrat, by 6,236 plurality. In 1896 he defeated Willey, Democrat, by 11,644 plurality. In 1898 he defeated Snyder, Democrat, by 4,252 plurality.

In these times when war clouds are hovering over pretty nearly the whole world, and when it seems to be regarded as just the proper thing for the first-class powers to be enforcing their position with the gun and bayonet on almost any pretext, it is refreshing to read something like this from the Philadelphia Times:

At various times the lives of citizens of other countries have been sacrificed to mob fury in this country, but had King Humbert Emperor Francis Joseph or Emperor William sent an army here to defend or to protect his subjects we would have killed every man that he landed, and it would not have been murder, but righteous war. We have no more right to send troops to China than Queen Victoria has to send her troops to St. Louis if Englishmen's lives are imperilled in riots there; but if it were necessary to delare war on China the President has no authority to do it.

Atlantic Highlands owns and operates its own electric light plant, and in the third annual report of the the commissioners it shows that the streets are lighted with less expense than in any other town in the country, if not in the State, including the payment of the interest on the entire issue of bonds. The total amount paid by the town for its street lighting has been $1,808.27. The streets are lighted with sixty-eight arc lights, and the amount paid by the town for street lighting is only $26 50 per lamp, or a trifle less than one-third the price offered by the lowest private company.

The Democratic National Committee will meet in Kansas City on Monday next in a thoroughly completed and most attractive Convention Hall. Work has been carried on night and day, and by the end of this week the last bit of decoration will be in place. Several delegates from the east and the south have already arrived and a lively discussion over the selection of a temporary chairman and a Vice-Presidential candidate has begun. Probabilities point to the choice of Mayor Rose, of Milwaukee, for the former office. Kansas City will be further enlivened next week by the assemblage there of the Silver Republican National Committee.

The Daily Press will be one of the few of the New Jersey papers that will be represented by a member of the staff at the Democratic convention in Kansas City next week. Official notification was received this morning to the effect that a seat has been assigned to The Daily Press at the press tables in the great convention hall. Many influential papers throughout the country will be unable to secure such privileges.

There is no better judge of the value of publicity than the advertiser. He pays for it, says the Philadelphia Record. The successful merchant recognizes the power of the press, and takes advantage of it to influence the public. This great power lies within the reach of all. No man has a monopoly of opportunity.

Richard Croker's friendship for Col. Bryan appears to be of the eleventh-hour variety, but notwithstanding it looks as though it was going to give him a place in National Democratic councils not heretofore occupied by the Tammany leader.

The Prohibitionists are hopeful. it is said, that by offering to deliver 1,000,000 votes to William Jennings Bryan that they may secure the insertion of a prohibition plank in the Democratic platform. It is a forlorn hope.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Plainfield bears the enviable reputation of being one of the healthiest sections in the State; indeed the health-giving atmosphere in Sussex is no better. Perhaps this is why the northern part of Union is fast filling up with substantial homes from the level sections of Cranford and Roselle to the terraces of the mountain range. —New York Press.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

During a wedding reception in Passaic a few nights ago the electric lights in the house "went on a strike," presumably for shorter hours, and for twenty minutes the happy couple and their guests were left in darkness. It was suspected that a young man, who thought he was bright enough to light up the city, was responsible for the gloom, but the Passaic News says he denied the soft impeachment, and adds: "The bride and groom were somewhat annoyed by the unfortunate incident, but the wedding guests seemed to enjoy the occurrence, which did not interfere with the pleasure of the occasion." That may easily be believed. It would have been strange if it had interfered with "the pleasure of the occasion" or with that of the guests, for it is a matter of record that when lights are suddenly extinguished there is invariably a boom in the kissing market. That fact is vouched for by railroad men whose cars run through tunnels.

Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 29—W. H. Cole is completely mystified over a small wooden box which he received by mail from New York a few days ago. Upon opening the box it was found to be empty, nor did it show any evidence of anything having been in it. Whether it was some new kind of infernal machine, which failed in its purpose, or was simply meant for a joke is what is puzzling Mr. Cole.

Samuel Richardson has secured the contract for macadamizing a street in Roselle which will take about 2,000 tons of stone. Patsy Christmas, of Plainfield, was the next lowest bidder, being only about $200 above the successful bid.

The contract case of French against Zimmerman, which was to have been tried before Justice Warden today, was postponed until Friday, July 6 h. The suit for about $200 due for rent of a store in Plainfield.

A. M. Baron, of New York has rented the residence of Mrs. Nancy Thomas for the summer and will take possession shortly. The present occupants will leave for Asbury Park tomorrow.

The old Robert's property at the corner of Prospect avenue and Grove street has been sold to Mrs. Margaret Woodhull, of Brooklyn, who has taken possession.

Miss Edith Wait and Arthur Wait, of Grandview-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Law.

Several propositions for membership were received at a meeting of the fire department held last evening.

Herbert Bruch intends taking a few days vacation next week and will visit his parents in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Kleinfelder and Mrs. Finger, of Cranford, spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wiendenhaupt.

Edward Ayers has purchased from Willard Apgar, the house which he is now occupying.

Nelson Hollingshead has left for Toronto, Canada, where he will spend a few weeks.

Clarence Harrison spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. William Rockwell, of Plainfield.

Miss Lizzie Herlich is entertaining her cousin, Miss Annie Burnett, of Millington.

Walter VanHouten, of Manasquan, is spending a few days with Charles Dodwell.

Philip Eder, of Bound Brook, visited his sister, Mrs. Catharine Maier, yesterday.

Joseph Liable, of North Branch, was in the borough yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 29.—An entertainment of music and tableaux will be given in Excelsior Hall tomorrow evening for the benefit of the Public Library. The ladies who are arranging the programme are anticipating a large house as nearly everyone in town is interested in the library which has been of such a benefit to the town.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., held an interesting meeting in their rooms last evening. The warm weather does not seem to interfere with the work of Goodwill, as the meetings are well attended and the lodge is in a flourishing condition.

Rev. G. M. Shott will lead the weekly prayer meeting in the Baptist church this evening. The subject will be a review of the Sunday-school lesson for Sunday.

Trouble with the electric light circuit made Front street and the town in general rather dark last night. The trouble will be attended to today.

A number of the workers for the Republican party in town attended the Congressional convention held at Elizabeth yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. A D. Beekon, of Fanwood, have been entertaining Mrs. Beekon's mother, Mrs. Lazell, of Brooklyn, for a short time.

John Patterson, of Morris Plains, is visiting at the home of his daughter Mrs. George H. Lyons.

Miss Belle Mercein visited relatives and friends in Plainfield Thursday.

SOMERVILLE.

Somerville, June 29.—The public schools enrolled during the past year 934 pupils—454 boys and 480 girls. This is a gain of 27 pupils over last year. More than half of this increase is in the High School, the number of pupils in which rose from 54 to 70—an advance of 30 per cent. The average number of pupils enrolled was 706, the average daily attendance 619, the per cent. of attendance 88.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 29.—The rain Wednesday evening caused a postponement of the Polish B. A Society at Mountainside Grove. It will take place tomorrow evening.

Justice Harry Weaver had his first case a few days ago. A young coal-train jumper from Newark was arrested by Railroad Detective James O'Brien and taken before His Honor. A fine of $2 was imposed and promptly paid. Court was held in the switch tower, where the Justice is employed by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company.

Eugene Laine, the hotel keeper, is doing a good business. Besides being a good hotel man he does quite a little hack business, conveying passengers from the depot to Plainfield and other points.

Miss Maggie Hogan who has been suffering with appendicitis, was successfully operated upon Wednesday by Dr. Donahue, of New Brunswick, and she is convalescing.

The superior quality of Lehigh coal furnished by TenEyck & Harris keep their men and teams busy filling orders, many of them being Plainfield customers.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Chance for Worthy Philanthrophy.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Will you kindly allow one of your readers a few lines concerning one of our local charities? The board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital is endeavoring to raise funds to purchase a new site and should have no difficulty in securing the amount desired. Are not some of our rich citizens, however, letting pass by a great opportunity, namely—the privilege of donating a sum of money sufficient not only to buy the property needed, but to erect thereon a memorial hospital? The board of governors would probably be only too glad to change the present name and constitution to meet the occasion. Does it not appeal to any one of our wealthy men or women that $25,000 or $50,000 invested in a memorial hospital would prove a very great blessing to our beautiful town for all time, and that by thus relieving suffering and ministering to the needs of humanity the donor's name would be held in grateful remembrance by many thousands of Plainfield's present and future citizens? Public Spirit.

Resolutions of Condolence.

The following resolutions on the death of Ephraim C. Morse have been adopted unanimously by Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R.:

WHEREAS, In the providence of our Supreme Commander, our beloved comrade, Ephraim Constantine Morse, has been called to the Grand Encampment above, and

WHEREAS, The record of his life among us and the worthiness of his comradeship having been such as to invite more than a passing recognition, therefore be it

Resolved, That by the testimony of that relationship which has enabled us to know our deceased comrade as intimately as man can be known of men, we give unanimous tribute to his ability of purpose, his fearless patriotism, his business probity, his kindness of heart and his steadfastness in the ways of duty and friendship.

Resolved, That the members of this post tender their profound sympathy to the family of the deceased in their great affliction, and it is hereby ordered that they be furnished with a copy of these resolutions, and that the same be transcribed on the minute book of this post.

BUDD WANTS INCREASE IN SALARY.

Law Passed by Last Legislature Taken Into Court.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 29.—Justice Dixon, of the Supreme Court, Wednesday granted a rule for the State Comptroller and the State Treasurer to show cause why they should not pay State Road Commissioner Budd the $1,000 a year increased salary voted by the Legislature last winter, at the same time that the Adjutant-General and the Quartermaster-General had their salaries increased from $1,200 to $2,500 a year each.

Attorney-General Grey some time ago advised that the laws were in violation of the constitutional provision against special laws increasing or decreasing the emoluments of State officials.

Mr. Budd has decided to invoke an interpretation of the constitution on this point by the courts. A decision in his favor would also be beneficial to Adjutant-General Stryker and Quartermaster General Donnelly, although neither has made any move to secure the increased salary.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way

Mrs. Wm. Uhler, of New York, is the guest of Plainfield friends for a short time.

Miss Cave, of Sandford avenue, has returned from a visit with out-of-town acquaintances.

Miss Nellie Brown, of Dunellen, has been visiting relatives in Plainfield for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Linderman, of New York, have returned home after a visit with Plainfield friends.

Dr. Frank Hallock, of Watchung avenue, has about recovered from a severe attack of typhoid fever.

Jacob Voehl and family, of Somerset street, have gone to their summer cottage at Mt. Bethel, where they will remain during the warm weather.

Wm. Pangborn, of Chatham street, who was taken suddenly ill last Monday evening, is improving and was able to be out yesterday for a while.

Mrs. J. Hervey Doane and family, of LaGrande avenue, who are enjoying themselves in the Orange Mountains, are expected to return home in a short time.

Miss Etta Raybert, of North avenue, who is the soprano soloist in the Reformed church at New Brunswick, is now enjoying her vacation. She will resume her work in September.

The many friends of F. T. Woodhull, of West Front street, will be glad to learn that he is gaining rapidly in strength and should no setback occur he will soon be able to go out for a short walk.

FACED TWO HUSBANDS IN COURT.

First, Who Deserted Her, Says He Will Sue for Divorce.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 29—Marietta Blumetta, a self-confessed bigamist, was arraigned for sentence Wednesday in the Union County Court. She is 18 years old and was married in Jersey City when only 15. She was married to her second husband in this city.

Her excuse for remarrying was that her husband, Antonio Blumetta, had left her and gone to California. Her second husband was Michael Damato, also of Jersey City.

Both husbands and the wife's father, who also lives in Jersey City, were in court Wednesday. A strong plea was made by her lawyer for her, and her first husband was denounced severely by him for deserting her. Judge Vail said that he would suspend sentence on payment of the costs. The woman's father paid the money and left the court room, accompanied by his released daughter and husband No. 2.

The first husband announced his intention of applying at once for a divorce.

Foster-Wyckoff at Somerville.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 29—At 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Miss Josephine Adelaide, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wyckoff, of this place, was married to Thomas Edwin Foster, of Perth Amboy. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride, on East High street, and was performed by Rev. A. McWilliam. The maid-of-honor was Miss Edith Wyckoff, of East Millstone. The best man was Wilbur VanNest, of Bound Brook.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Angerburg. Wegen Ermordung seines Dienstherrn, des Gutsbesitzers Lauff, wurde der 22jährige Knecht Hensel in Prinowen verhaftet. Lauff war mit dem Knechte Abends vom Viehmarkt zurückgekehrt und befahl demselben, bevor er schlafen gehe, noch das Vieh abzufüttern. Das mißfiel aber dem Knecht, und er gebrauchte seinem Brodherrn gegenüber ungehörige Redensarten, die ihm Lauff verwies. Letzterer inspizirte dann noch seinen Hof und war eben im Begriff, in das Wohnhaus einzutreten, als er von dem Knecht, der ihm nachgeschlichen war, einen wuchtigen Hieb mit einem dicken eichenen Knüppel auf den Kopf erhielt, so daß er sofort mit gespaltenem Schädel hinstürzte. Hensel hieb dann noch so lange auf den Unglücklichen ein, bis dieser sich nicht mehr regte.

Neidenburg. In Muschaken äscherte eine gewaltige Feuersbrunst 30 Wirthschaften mit 65 Gebäuden ein. Die große Trockenheit und der starke Wind begünstigten die Ausbreitung des Feuers. Die Ursache des Feuers ist auf Unvorsichtigkeit zurückzuführen.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Karthaus. Der Rangirer Johann Wagner wollte auf dem Hofe der hiesigen Eisenbahn-Werkstätte einen in schnellem Laufe daherrollenden Eisenbahnwagen durch rasches Unterlegen einer eisernen Stange aufhalten. Das Rad drückte jedoch die Stange an dem einen Ende nieder, so daß das andere Ende mit großer Heftigkeit in die Höhe schnellte. Wagner wurde so unglücklich getroffen, daß Brust und Kopf vollständig zerschmettert wurden und der Tod auf der Stelle eintrat.

Thorn. Durch Funkenauswurf einer Lokomotive wurde an der Eisenbahnstrecke Thorn-Ottlotschin im fiskalischen Poczalkower Forst ein mächtiger Waldbrand erzeugt, der über 80 Morgen theils Schonung, theils Hochwald vernichtete. Einem mit Sonderzug von Thorn zur Brandstätte gesandten Militärarbeitskommando gelang es, dem verheerenden Element durch Aufwerfen von Gräben Einhalt zu thun. Der angerichtete Schaden wird auf über 100,000 Mark geschätzt.

Rheinprovinz.

Koblenz. Der kürzlich verstorbene Stadtverordnete Otto Jordan hat dem hiesigen Hospital 100,000 Mark vermacht. Die Stiftung soll dazu dienen, Personen jeder Konfession und ohne Unterschied der Ortsangehörigkeit, die als Kranke in's Hospital kommen und die Kosten der Verpflegung und Behandlung nicht ohne beträchtliche Schädigung ihrer Verhältnisse zahlen können, die ganze oder theilweise Deckung dieser Kosten zu ermöglichen.

Krefeld. Der hier stattgehabte Schreinerausstand wurde auf Grundlage einer 9½stündigen Arbeitszeit und neunprozentiger Lohnerhöhung beendigt.

Neuwied. Zu Beginn des neuen Schuljahres im September d. J. wird mit dem hiesigen königlichen Lehrerseminar eine Präparandenanstalt verbunden. Sie erhält dreijährigen Kursus und ist dem Seminardirektor unterstellt.

Poppeldorf. Fabrikbesitzer F. Soennecken stiftete aus Anlaß seines 25jährigen Geschäftsjubiläums ein Kapital von 25,000 Mark, dessen Zinsen zu außergewöhnlichen Unterstützungen seiner Angestellten und Arbeiter verwandt werden sollen.

Provinz Sachsen.

Ammendorf. Auf der Grube „von der Heydt" wurde der Bergarbeiter Gelbke durch plötzlich niedergehendes Gestein verschüttet und durch Erstickung getödtet.

Weißenfels. Die Schuhwaaren-Industrie ist in unserer, 24,000 Einwohner zählenden Stadt fortgesetzt im Aufblühen begriffen, so daß heute circa 60 Schuhfabriken am Platze sind, die ein paar Tausend Arbeitern Beschäftigung gewähren. Der Versandt an Schuhwaaren betrug im verflossenen Jahre circa 10,500,000 Mark.

Provinz Schlesien.

Ohlau. Gymnasial-Oberlehrer Anders, Hauptmann der Landwehr beim hiesigen Husaren-Regiment, stürzte bei einem Uebungsritt vom Pferde, brach das Genick und war sofort todt.

Schweidnitz. Diejenigen Mitglieder des New Yorker Kriegerbundes, welche gegenwärtig auf einer Vergnügungstour in Deutschland weilen, ehrten dieser Tage das Andenken des großen Schlachtenlenkers Moltke, indem sie in Kreisau, dem Moltke'schen Familienfideikommiß, die stille Gruft besuchten, in welcher der berühmte Strategie seine letzte Ruhestätte gefunden. Präsident Richard Müller legte am Sarge einen prachtvollen Kranz nieder.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Emmelsbüll. Ihre diamantene Hochzeit feierten der frühere Landmann Jakob Jessen und Frau. Die Frau feierte das seltene Fest mit ihrem zweiten Manne. Die Nachkommenschaft des Jubelpaares an Kindern und Kindeskindern repräsentirt die stattliche Zahl von 143 Köpfen.

Rendsburg. Die verstorbene Frau Rentier E. Thormann hat 10,000 Mark für mildthätige Zwecke vermacht.

A woman whose home is in Lancaster, Pa., suffered from water brash and sleeplessness, which always ended in severe sick headache, lasting two or three days. Physicians told her it was a "stomach dyspepsia," and that the headaches were due to her age (55 years). She got one small bottle of Ripans Tabules at first, and felt better after taking them. Then she tried more. The water brash left her, and she did not have a spell of sick headache for about a month—the longest she was ever without one for a long time.

THE UNQUIET SEX.

Some of the Various Activities of Woman in This and Other Lands.

The newly elected president of the National Science club of Washington is Mrs. L. H. Grenewald. She is a weather expert and acts as sunshine and rain prophet for local papers in York, Pa. The club was formed at Washington nine years ago for the purpose of advancing the cause of science among women. There are over 300 women on the membership list.

Paris is wondering how long the $5,000,000 which the Count and Countess de Castellane received from the countess' brother will last. Recent reports are to the effect that the distinguished couple have invested in a pair of wardrobes at the exorbitant price of $28,000. The pieces are of the Louis Quinze type and are pronounced to be wonderful examples of their kind.

Mrs. Mary A. Wright of Idaho, who has recently come into prominence in a political way, is one of the first women in the United States to become a member of the national campaign committee of a political party. It is her dearest ambition to convince the women of the country that their prejudice against women in politics is a mistake.

Four young ladies who were dying of ennui for the lack of something to occupy their time during the summer months passed on the border of Moosehead lake hit on the novel amusement of building a house. They cut and split the logs and erected a comfortable cabin without male assistance. That these ladies pride themselves on their work is quite pardonable, for the log cabin is well made and complete in every detail.

One of the most conspicuous examples of the success of woman in business is Miss Caroline Van Brunt, secretary of the Orford Copper company. Miss Van Brunt is one of the directors of the company, owner of a considerable portion of the $250,000 capital stock and also one of the incorporators. She is still a young woman and is probably better acquainted with the sources of supply, production, consumption, tariffs and state of trade of copper and nickel than any other woman in the United States.

Miss Amalia Hofer, one of the editors of The Kindergarten, a magazine, and director of the Chicago Kindergarten Training school, who is now in Germany, will be a delegate to the congress of primary education at Paris and will take part in its programme.

Another actual Daughter of the Revolution has been added to the St. Louis chapter in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth S. McClellen of Springfield, Mo. Mrs. McClellen is 94 years old and on becoming a member of the organization was presented with a solid silver spoon by the older members of the chapter.

The celebrated animal painter Isora Chanler is arousing much interest among her friends and scientists by her claim that dogs have embryo souls. Those who are interested are eagerly awaiting proofs which she asserts will shortly be forthcoming in a series of articles which she intends to publish.

The college girl of America has become synonymous with ability, enthusiasm and achievement. Philadelphia has contributed her share toward establishing this reputation. Still another one of her daughters who has been winning honors in the university circle is Miss Mary Frances McClure, who has just been awarded a scholarship at Bryn Mawr college by Cornell university. Miss McClure received her A. B. at Ithaca with the class of 1900.

Miss Ella May Clemmons, the sister of Mrs. Howard Gould, is sincerely in earnest about her missionary work among the Chinese of San Francisco, which she has carried on all through the recent plague scare.

A young woman from Virginia known by the musical title of Jane Grey Syme is distinguishing herself in an unusual art. She tints plaster casts so beautifully that an expert can scarcely detect her work from marble.

In the Chicago Japanese colony there are 80 persons. Among these only two are women, the consul's wife and her niece, Miss Hasa Nagaro. Miss Nagaro has been a resident student in Chicago during the past seven years. She is a graduate trained nurse and is now completing a medical course at the College of Physicians and Surgeons. Miss Nagaro intends to return to her own country within a few years a fully equipped doctor and surgeon. She is a native of Koto, Japan.

A hen that lays seven eggs a day is one of the egg making machines which Mrs. MacNally of Kingston Hill, R. I., has discovered. The hen is a mixture of White Leghorn and Plymouth Rock and weighs 4½ pounds. The precious white biddy is now at the scientific experimental station at Kingston. If the state scientists find that the hen lives up to her reputation, they propose to find out how to make other hens do likewise. Meanwhile Mrs. MacNally is very anxious about her precious fowl.

LUCY LAWN.

WASHING THE FACE.

Nothing Else Is Quite as Helpful for Clearing the Skin from All Impurities.

The story is told of a young woman who was afflicted with blackheads visiting a physician in search of a remedy for the disfigurement, and being politely and candidly told to wash her face thoroughly in plenty of hot water and soap and keep it clean. Not every physician is frank enough to tell his patient the true cause of "blackheads" or the failure of the fine sebaceous glands of the face to do their work and cast out impurities from the skin. When for any reason whatsoever these oil glands are clogged, what is popularly known as "blackheads" appear. This is simply a collection of impurities in the mouth of the gland, which it has not force enough to throw off. These "blackheads" appear often on the nose and in the space between the eyes because the sebaceous glands are very abundant in these places. The only remedy for "blackheads" is to stimulate the glands to do their work by washing the face with plenty of hot water, using just as hot water as one can bear. Use pure white Castile soap to assist in the stimulating and cleansing process. Large "blackheads" must often be pressed out, and if there is any irritation a little cold cream should be used. This cold cream is made of almond oil, and not lard or mutton tallow, as most of the cold cream of commerce are made. Coarse animal fats, like lard or mutton tallow, clog up the glands themselves and produce "blackheads." Steaming the face by laying cloths wrung out in water as hot as you can bear it helps to clear the skin from impurities.

A person afflicted with "blackheads" and pimples, which are the legitimate result of "blackheads," has scientifically a "dirty face," no matter how many times it has been washed in a conventional manner. Sponges and all wash cloths should be scalded frequently and hung out in the sun to become thoroughly dried after being used.—N. Y. Tribune.

SHIRT WAIST HANGER.

Clever Device of a Bright Girl Who Had More Summer Clothes Than Closet Room.

The summer girl, with her large assortment of gowns and shirt waists, finds it quite a problem to dispose of the latter where they will be kept free from crease or rumple. As freshness constitutes the chief charm of the shirt waist, it must be preserved at all hazard. A clever art student who had but one closet at her disposal, and that one filled to overflowing with all sorts of odds and ends, from gowns to art materials and sketches, set her wits to work to solve the problem. The only unoccupied space was the ceiling; she must utilize that or her beloved waists would suffer. The accompanying diagram of her scheme will show the manner of her triumph. A piece of curtain pole, a few screw-eyes, four or five yards of cord, a hook for the ceiling, the proper number of ordinary coat hangers, and the simple but effective thing was complete.

Of course there are objections to this arrangement; dust and flies, and the marring of the general appearance of the room. But where a corner of a room is curtained off for a closet it would be an easy matter to carry the curtains up to the ceiling. Summer hotels and boarding house keepers would make themselves very popular with the summer girl by carrying out this idea in the curtained recesses that answer for wardrobes.—Ladies' Home Journal.

ART OF BEDMAKING.

Although It Is Easily Mastered, Many Housekeepers Do Not Understand Its Rudiments.

Before making up the beds see to it that the rooms have been aired. On a clear, sunshiny day open the windows before breakfast and strip the bed, hanging the clothing over chairs near the windows.

Allow the rooms to air for a couple of hours and shake the bed clothing free of dust. If the day is rainy do not open the beds while the room is airing. They will gather moisture if you do. On a damp day hang the bedding to air in the rooms with the windows closed, make up the beds and air the rooms again after the beds have been made up.

The most important part of bedmaking is to get the sheets properly adjusted. Wrinkles in a sheet are an abomination. The bottom sheet should be tucked in securely at the top so that it cannot be jerked down by the restlessness of the sleeper.

The top sheet should be tucked in tightly at the bottom so that it cannot easily be drawn out of place.

It should be laid with the wide hem at the top and the rough side of the hem turned uppermost, so that when it is folded back over the coverlet the right side will be exposed.—N. Y. World.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 1, "When Is a Nation Safe?" Text, Math. xxi, 33-46.

"The kingdom of God shall be taken from you and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof."

A patriotic service is very appropriate at this time. Very few nations have any holiday which resembles our Fourth of July. All have patriotic anniversaries of events of national importance, but the birthday of a nation can rarely be recognized in any such manner as is possible for us by the Declaration of Independence. The matter which we need to emphasize is not so much the valor of the colonists or the oppressions of the mother country, or even the great advantages of republican over a monarchical form of government. In our Young People's societies we should study the lessons of real patriotism. There is much which is unworthy which passes for love of country. Hatred and spite against other governments do not prove one to be a lover of his own nation. There is much spurious patriotism.

National prosperity rests on justice, which is only one form of righteousness. It is godliness applied to affairs of public concern.

Prosperity cannot long exist for any class of people where oppression exists for any other class.

Nations have rights, duties and destinies as truly as individuals. States can commit crimes as surely as persons can, and iniquity is as fatal to integrity in one as in the other. No people can permanently escape punishment for evil doing. As inevitably as forces in the physical world produce results under fixed laws, as certainly as moral penalty follows transgression in the world of moral persons, so surely does political wrongdoing bring disaster and defeat in national life.

In this land, in these days, we need more than ever before to carefully consider the bounds of right and wrong, justice and equity as applied to nations and governments. Each of us has a share in the shaping of the civil life of the community and land. We should be intelligent as to the right ends to be sought and the means for their attainment. Corruption and bribery must be stamped out, but these are only the more glaring of the existing evils. Apathy and inaction in political matters on the part of the educated and financially favored or undue influence and advantage for self are equally bad and need correction.

If we are truly religious, we must study and perform duties to the nation as well as to the church.

A Conference President.

Rev. J. O. Randall, president of the New England Southern Conference League, is one of the prominent young men of the body. He is an Ohioan by birth, a little under 35 years of age, a graduate of the public schools in his native state, Londonderry Normal and Drew Theological seminaries. Two charges in the eastern Ohio conference had more than 500 conversions under his pastorates. He also served as president of Youngstown District League. He was transferred in 1895 to his present conference and stationed at Foxboro, Mass. His present charge is Broadway, Providence. His energy, tact, piety and evangelical push make him an efficient leader and valuable man in the position of president.

REV. J. O. RANDALL.

Hanson Place church, Brooklyn, has the largest membership in Methodism. The class meeting is a power there. All departments are powerfully manned. It is demonstrating that the need in a great city is not altogether a longer pastoral term, but a deeper lay interest and consecration. This church has been served by some of the ablest pastors in the denomination and has had great revivals under several, but no pastor has made the church nor been indispensable. Pastors may come and pastors may go, but the church goes on—growing. Consecrated laymen are needed in solving the problem of city evangelization more than permanent pastorates. Hanson Place has been noted for strong and efficient laymen.

Mercy.

The quality of mercy is not strained;
It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath; it is twice blessed;
It blesseth him that gives and him that takes.
'Tis mightiest in the mightiest; it becomes
The throned monarch better than his crown;
His scepter shows the force of temporal power,
The attribute to awe and majesty,
Wherein doth set the dread and fear of kings,
But mercy is above this sceptered sway;
It is enthroned in the heads of kings,
It is an attribute to God Himself,
And earthly power doth then show likest God's,
When mercy seasons justice. Therefore,
Though justice be thy plea, consider this:
That in the course of justice none of us
Should see salvation; we do pray for mercy;
And that same prayer doth teach us all to render
The deeds of mercy. —Shakespeare.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 1—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—When is a nation safe?—Deut. xxvi, 1-11. (A patriotic service.)

The topical reference is found among the statutes and judgments which through Moses God gave to Israel to observe to do when they should come into the land which he should give them. The immediate reference is to the presentation of the first fruits, but in a broader sense we can apply the passage to the national life of Israel in its relation to God, and can learn from a study of this reference some of the vital and essential elements of a safe nation.

1. A nation to be safe must believe in God as the true source of national life and prosperity. National faith is as essential to national safety as individual faith. The Jews fervently believed in God as a nation, and they also believed that God gave them the land which was their national home. The nation that does not believe in God will not fear and serve God. Our faith, as a nation, in God should be specially strong. We cannot doubt that He has given this land and all its blessings to us any more than Israel could doubt that Canaan was the gift of God.

2. A nation, to be safe, must acknowledge God as the author and preserver of national life and blessings. We must not only believe, but acknowledge, our faith to the world. In presenting the first fruits the worshiper was to say, "I profess this day unto the Lord thy God that I am come unto the country which the Lord sware unto our fathers for to give us." So we should profess our national faith in God to all the nations of the world. By word and deed the nations should be made to know in whom we believe. A public acknowledgment of faith is a constant safeguard against apostasy. A professed faith is not so easily broken as an unacknowledged faith.

3. A nation, to be safe, must live for God. It must consecrate its first and best fruits to Him who is the ruler of nations and kingdoms. It must not only believe in God as the King of Kings and confess its faith, but must also practice it. God has a destiny for every nation as for every individual. It should be the aim of every nation to discover its divine destiny and then to zealously carry the will of God into effect. In carrying out such a principle every nation must stand for those principles which are pleasing to God—for righteousness, justice, charity and unselfishness. The national life must aim for the moral and spiritual uplift of the people of the nation and also for the people of the world. There is no safety in a national life that disregards the great truths and principles which God has established as the foundations of prosperous and successful nations.

Use the United society's special programme or arrange one that will emphasize patriotism.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ez. vi, 8-10; Neh. ii, 1-5; Ps. xxxiii, 10-22; Prov. xiv, 34; Jer. xxix, 7; Math. xvii, 24-27; xxii, 15-21; Mark xii, 13-17; Rom. xiii, 7; Heb. xi, 8-16.

Confidence in the Church.

Once more the faith of honest men is governed by confidence in facts and fair conclusions from established promises. The church, which is a defender of the faith, must be fearless as to its basis and its divine forces. Let men doubt it on either point and it has ceased to command them. The despite of one honest man for any trick or trade in the tactics of the church management to retain its prestige is the beginning of its fall before the distrust and discontent of the world's jury of common sense. Their confidence is not won by emotional efforts and mystic utterances. The church that fails to show itself as brave in private as its public speech and as confident of itself before the mirror and the microscope as in its own church assemblies will lose its hold on the people. They are saying today, "Are you afraid of your basis, unwilling to face your own scholars on matters of fact?" And the people pass on—whither?—Evangelist.

To Cure Low Spirits.

Take one ounce of the seeds of resolution, properly mixed with the oil of good conscience; infuse into it a large spoonful of the balsam of patience. Distill carefully a composing plant called "others' woes," which you will find in every part of the garden of life growing under the broad leaves of disguise. Gather a handful of the blossoms of hope, sweeten them properly with a sirup made of the balm of Providence, and if you can get any of the seeds of true friendship you will then have the most valuable medicine that can be administered. But you must be careful to get the seeds of true friendship, as there is a weed which much resembles it, called self interest, which will spoil the whole composition. These ingredients, well mixed and faithfully taken, soon complete the cure.—Selected.

Consideration of Others.

Tender and considerate thoughtfulness of others is one of the most valuable of all the Christian graces. Gentleness, gentlemanliness, gentlewomanliness—note how well the two go together. Manliness and gentleness, womanliness and gentleness. Gentleness is one of the most manly and womanly things in the world. A boor may be a more craven coward by far than the most perfect gentleman or lady. In the late war some of the "dudish" regiments, made up of "gentlemen," did the very best work.—Christian Standard.

The Helpful Man.

Everybody knows the helpful man. He is ready in spirit and prompt in action. He recognizes the need and tenders the kindly word and extends aid as the case may require. He is loved, respected and honored.—Presbyterian.

Just the one word "Coal" ought to be enough at this time of the year to bring you in with an order. By this time everybody in this town ought to know the kind of coal we sell, and the way we handle it. We don't know of any one who ever bought coal of us who was dissatisfied either with the quality, price, or method of delivery. If there is such a man in existence we would like to see him.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course is a delightful spot sought these days by enthusiasts after the sun has passed out of sight. From the time the sun sets until dark a cooler place is hard to find.

Tomorrow morning there will be play on the Hillside course for the vanHerwerden cup. There will be no scheduled event for the afternoon. The team will play at Forest Hill, and a victory is predicted for them.

The trustees of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club have elected the following persons to membership: Active members, W. H. Murray and E. C. Perkins; associate members, Mrs. Charles A. Stover, Miss Munger and Miss Genevieve Lee; as a junior associate member, Miss Helen F. Locke; as a non-resident member, Miss M. Gladys Wallace, of New York.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Several good races have been arranged for tomorrow afternoon at the Plainfield Driving Club track. The stage will meet the trolley cars.

Edward Boune, the well-known driver of "Robert J," and "John R. Gentry," owned by Robert Fairbairn, of Westfield, will drive in the Fourth of July races at the Plainfield Driving Park. There are now twenty-five entries for the three races. The cycle races will be started promptly at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and the horse racing promptly at 2 o'clock.

DEATH OF AGED WOMAN.

Death of Miss Elizabeth M. Cadmus, at Age of Eighty Years, Due Primarily to a Fall.

Miss Elizabeth M. Cadmus, aged 80 years, daughter of the late Cornelius Cadmus, and sister of Rutger V. Cadmus, of Greenbrook road, died this morning at her home on Greenbrook road, after a long illness. A number of weeks ago Miss Cadmus tripped over a piece of carpent and fell. This produced pleurisy, which caused death.

Miss Cadmus was a native of the borough, where she has lived all her life. She was a member of the First Baptist church, where she was a regular attendant. She is survived by two brothers, one of whom lives in New York, and the other Rutger Cadmus, of the borough. There is also one sister who survives her, Mrs. Grant with whom she lived.

The funeral services will be held from the residence of Rutger V. Cadmus, Greenbrook road, Monday afternoon next at 2:30 o'clock.

—Neuman Brothers will have on sale tomorrow delicious Georgia peaches.

WIDOW IS TOO GAY.

That is What the Married Woman Claimed, and There Was a Lively Scrap Over It.

Two colored women furnished the residents of the Boulevard last evening with one of the liveliest scraps that has been seen on that noted thoroughfare in a long time.

The contestants were a married woman and a widow, who the former states had been too much in her husband's company. The widow was standing in front of her home when the married woman came up and made some allegations which started the fight. In a moment the battle was on and before they were separated one of the women had the larger part of her clothing torn off. She was hustled into the house, but eluded her captors by climbing through a window, and, coming out, renewed the battle. It was finally stopped, partly by the cry that the police were coming and the breaking of the shower.

INSURANCE TO BE HIGHER.

New York Companies Give Notice That They Will Advance Rates in New Jersey 33 1-3 Per Cent.

The fire insurance companies in and about New York have given notice to policy holders in New Jersey that July 2d the rates for insurance in New Jersey will be advanced 33 1-3 per cent.

The action is taken to render ineffective the law passed by the last Legislature for the purpose of dcing away with the 80 per cent. clause, which the fire insurance companies insisted upon having inserted in all policies where a higher rate of insurance was not charged. This clause fixes the face value of the policy at 80 per cent of the true value of the property insured.

MISS FISHER MUST RUN HOTEL HERSELF.

On That Condition Judge Schenck Granted a License for the Middlebrook House.

VOGEL NEARLY RUINED IT.

BOUND BROOK CITIZENS BITTERLY OPPOSED TO LATE MANAGEMENT.

Judge W. A. Coddington Represented the Successful Applicant, Whose Dinners Were Famous Throughout the State.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 30.—The application of Miss Louise Fisher to keep a tavern at Middlebrook, was presented in the Somerset County Court yesterday by W. A. Coddington, of Reed & Coddington, who made a strong plea in Miss Fisher's behalf. A remonstrance was presented by ex-Prosecutor Dungan.

The hotel in question was kept by the Fisher family for a century up to two years ago, when Miss Fisher, who had run it for twenty years, leased it to Herman Vogel. The latter had a strikingly handsome wife, of whom he was insanely jealous, and frevuent quarrels at last led to Vogel's attempting to shoot his wife, shooting his mother-in-law, Mrs. Caldwell, in the neck, and then killing himself.

Mrs. Vogel continued to run the house after the shooting, and when her license expired applied for a renewal, which was bitterly opposed by the citizens of Bound Brook on the ground that she kept a disorderly house. The license was refused.

Mrs. Vogel and her friends said that Miss Fisher was at the bottom of the remonstrance, and vowed that they would have vengeance when Miss Fisher applied for a license. A remonstrance was prepared and circulated, but no fight was put up in Court, Mrs. Vogel and her mother having moved away.

Judge Schenck granted the license on condition that Miss Fisher conduct the hotel herself. He said that no complaints had ever been presented to court against the place when conducted by Miss Fisher. The Middlebrook Hotel was noted all over the State for its excellent table, and probably more prominent people have dined at Miss Fisher's than at any other similar place in the State.

THROWN ON HIS FACE.

Risky Jump That Samuel Bingaman Made From a Moving Train Last Evening.

A little nap on the train which reaches Plainfield at 6:14 came near resulting in serious injuries for Samuel Bingaman, of East Ninth street, last evening.

Mr. Bingaman was returning from his work in New York and had fallen asleep. He did not awaken until just as the train was leaving the North Avenue station. Not wanting to be taken to the next station he started to leave the car. By the time he reached the step the train was going quite fast. He made the jump and was thrown on his face on the roadbed. The stone ballast cut his face and hands quite badly. He was assisted to Justice Nash's office where the blood was washed from his face and afterward to Moy's drug store where his wounds were dressed. He was able to go home alone.

QUIET.

Seventh-Day Baptist Missionaries Probably Not in Danger.

Among the missionaries in China are those connected with the Seventh-day Baptist mission at Shanghai, all of whom are known to many people hereabouts. In view of the disturbances in China, at a meeting of the Board of Managers of the Seventh-day Baptist Missionary Society, held last Monday, the president, William L. Clarke, was instructed to cable them to follow their own judgment as to remaining in or leaving Shanghai, knowing that being on the grounds they were better qualified to decide what to do than were people in this country. Accordingly a cable message was sent on Tuesday to that effect, and Thursday came back the reassuring information contained in the one word "Quiet." This will be welcome news to many people other than those especially interested in the particular mission.

Railroad to Chimney Rock.

The Chimney Rock Railroad is now practically complete. It is 9 800 feet long, and runs from the Central railroad to the Haelig stone-crushing plant. Mr. Haelig is putting in new machinery capable of crushing 1,500 tons of rock daily. He will have a 100-horse-power boiler.

HORSES, CYCLES AND MEN

THEY WILL MAKE UP THE PROGRAMME AT THE DRIVING PARK.

Interesting and Exciting Events Arranged for the Fourth—They Should be Well Patronized.

The Plainfield Driving Club has arranged an excellent programme for the afternoon of July 4th at the Driving Park, and their efforts to please all should be appreciated and the result enjoyed by the large attendance that will surely be present.

It is certainly a new departure and seems a fitting one to combine with the trotting and racing, not only bicycle races, but a tug-of-war, as arranged for, and the latter novelty is creating any amount of interest, especially among those who are acquainted with the individual members of the teams.

The management have spared neither trouble nor expense in their efforts to make this entertainment such that all who attend will be highly pleased and vote it worthy of "the day we celebrate." If you like a good horse and like to witness a contest between good horses, conducted according to the rules governing such performances, in an orderly and businesslike manner, arrange to spend the afternoon at the Driving Park.

Those who are enthusiasts on the bicycle question will certainly find much to amuse and please them in the one-mile open and five-mile handicap races scheduled. The list of entries to the different events are good and insure a genuine contest in each. Arrangements have been made with the Plainfield Street Railroad to run ample cars from North and Watchung avenues, via Arlington avenue, to accommodate all, and at the point on Park avenue where the trolley leaves that thoroughfare, stages will be in waiting to convey passengers direct to the Driving Park at a cost of ten cents from Plainfield, returning after the races are over at the same fare.

STILL OPPOSE IT.

An Effort Will be Made to Defeat Appropriation for Heating and Ventilating School Building.

There seems to be an effort on the part of some borough people to defeat the purpose of Borough Board of Education in installing a proper heating and ventilating apparatus in the Somerset street school. It has been openly stated by a number that they will do all they can to beat the proposition at the public meeting to be held next Monday night. Notwithstanding this fact, there are many who voted against the proposition before who will attend the next meeting and vote for it.

Last winter twelve classes were sent home on several occasions because the class-rooms could not be heated, and the Board of Education does not care for a repetition of this next winter if it can be helped. It is believed by all fair-minded people, however, that if it is at all possible the work should be given to local men, for they are the taxpayers, and are entitled to consideration in this as well as all other public improvements. Each taxpayer who intends to be present at the meeting next Monday night should consider thoroughly the proposition before he votes against it.

IN CLOSE QUARTERS.

Narrow Escape From Death on the Tracks at Garwood.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Garwood, June 30.—Two young men employed in the C. & C. works had a narrow escape from death Wednesday in attempting to cross the railroad tracks in front of the station.

The men waited until a drill passed and then started to cross, both of them leading bicycles. They stepped from behind the drill and on to the eastbound passenger track, directly in front of a Philadelphia flyer. Their peril was seen by a number of men on the platform who shouted a warning. They turned just in time, but one of the men was so near that the suction of the train turned him completely around. Beyond a terrible fright neither of them were injured.

A Mysterious Fire.

The manner in which the fire in the foundation beams in the rear of the historic Presbyterian church of Springfield was started Tuesday night is as yet a mystery. A carpenter was set at work yesterday repairing the damage. The main beam, on which the rear of the church rested, was considerably burned; the board to which the shingles were nailed was burned away and new shingles must be put on. A number of burned matches were found on the ground.

Reunion of Veterans.

The reunion of the Hunterdon county war veterans will be held on the Flemington Fair Grounds, Wednesday, September 5.

THREE KILLED ON RAIL

SECTION HANDS ON P. AND R. WENT ON WRONG TRACK.

The Royal Blue, Headed East, Was Upon Them Before They Could Move—Foreman Injured.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 30—Three section hands employed on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad were killed at Hopewell, N. J., ten miles east of Trenton, yesterday afternoon by the Baltimore and Ohio Royal Blue Express eastward bound.

The men had stepped from one track to avoid a westbound train, and did not notice the approach of the Royal Blue Express. The three men were instantly killed and their bodies badly mangled.

They were Thomas Cummings, of Hopewell, a married man, who leaves a wife and four children; John Ferran and Antonio Santuro. Cummings' body was taken to his home, and the bodies of Farran and Santuro were brought to the morgue at Trenton.

Michael McLaughlin, the foreman of the gang, was also struck, but was not killed. One of his legs was badly torn.

TOLD OF MISSION WORK

Dr. Henderson Described His Experiences at Mone, Burmah.

Dr. Henderson, of Lakewood, who for the past eight year has been engaged in mission work in Mone, Burmah, and who recently returned from that country, gave an intensely interesting talk last evening before the members of the Christian Endeavor Society at the First Baptist church. Dr. Henderson was in charge of a hospital at Mone, and left there to attend the ecumenical conference in New York. On his way to this country he was taken ill with typhoid fever, and only recently has he been able to go out. He did not touch upon the famine now existing in India, but confined himself more to telling of the work of the missionaries and their difficulties in reaching the people. He spoke of the manners and peculiar customs of the people, and during his talk he related several amusing incidents.

Mrs. F. M. Ward sang twice during the service, and at the close she rendered impressively "Rock of Ages." Howard Case accompanied her on the piano. At the meeting of the society next week Friday evening a collection will be taken for the famine sufferers of India.

F. S. MARTIN'S FATHER DEAD.

He was One of the Best Known Marine Underwriters in the Country.

Captain Francis A. Martin, one of the best known marine underwriters in the country and a former port warden for New York city, died yesterday at No. 486 Bedford avenue, in the Williamsburg section of Greater New York, from nephritis, following typhoid fever. Often the government availed itself of his services as an expert marine surveyor, and it was while so employed on a coffee ship that was supposed to have brought the bubonic plague from Santos, Brazil, last winter, that he contracted typhoid fever. He was seventy-five years old and was president of the Marine Society, a trustee of the Sailors' Snug Harbor and surveyor general of the New York Board of Marine Underwriters.

He left two sons, one at Norwich, N. Y., and the other, Frank S. Martin, of Hillside avenue, this city. The funeral services will be held from the First Baptist church, Williamburg, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Going to Enter College.

Wm. Millar and Aubrey G. Hull, who graduatek from Leal's School this month, are in New York this week taking their entrance examinations for Yale University. Robert Tilney, who graduates from Leal's next year, is taking his preliminary examinations for the same college. Augustus R. Fisk and Charles W. Fisk are also taking their entrance examinations for Yale.

His Second Offense.

Patrolman Vanderweg found Chas. Godown dead drunk on the piazza of a house on West Front street early this morning. Godown was very penitent when arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning. As it was the second offense the Judge fined him $3.

Martin Act Sale Postponed.

The sale of property for unpaid taxes and assessments under the provisions of the Martin Act was to have been held yesterday afternoon but the sale was adjourned until July 27th to give some of the city's creditors a last opportunity to square their accounts.

Mrs. George White, of Washington Park, is entertaining company from out-of-town.

MR MARTINE ON THE PLANS OF DEMOCRACY

Explains Why He Believes Col. Bryan is Logical Candidate for President.

FAVORS SULZER FOR VICE.

DECLARES MONEY QUESTION SHOULD BE PROMINENT ISSUE.

Trusts and Imperialism Will Also be Prominent in the Campaign—Mr. Martine Leaves for Kansas City Tomorrow.

James E. Martine, one of the New Jersey Democratic "Big Four" delegates to the Kansas City convention, who is regared as being as close to Col. Bryan as anyone in the State, is enthusiastic over the campaign prospects for the Democracy and he will leave tomorrow for the conventon believing Col. Bryan is as sure of the Presidential nomination as anything can be certain in life.

"Why do you regard Bryan as the logicial candidate?" was asked Mr. Martine today.

"Mr. Bryan is the logical candidate for the Democratic nomination," said Mr. Martine, "because he has openly and steadfastly expressed the cause of true Democratic principles—contending against great odds for bi-metallism and against the cursed bond policy of the money power. I believe him brave and conscientious in his position. I consider him nearer to the hearts of the American people than any man since Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln."

Speaking of the Vice-Presidential nomination Mr. Martine said:

"I believe William Sulzer would be a fit running mate for Bryan. He has always been on the side of the people and he would draw a big German vote. He is a rattling good speaker and would make an aggressive campain that I believe would be of a great aid to the cause of Democracy this year."

When it comes to a consideration of a platform, Mr. Martine is frank and and open in expressing his belief that the money question is still one of the most important issues.

"I believe," said Mr. Martine, "that the three principal issues this year should be money, trusts and imperialism in the order named. We must declare for free coinage of gold and silver. To drop money as an issue would brand us as cowards now or frauds in 1896. I am unwilling to admit either."

Mr. Martine has received a number of letters urging that a Gold Democrat be nominated for Vice-President. In answer to all of these Mr. Martine says:

"We want the Gold Democrats with us, but if we must placate them through such methods they must go. As to former Senator Hill, he would never do. He was too vacilitating and hesitating in 1896 to be recognized now. The ticket must be made of the same timber from top to bottom. The Vice President must be with us in principle as well as policy."

ON HISTORIC GROUND.

Fourth of July Celebration at Washington's Old Camp.

When Washington had his headquarters at the Wallace House, his army was encamped on the southern slope of the mountain, north of Bound Brook. This tract, in history as Washington's Camp at Middlebrook, is becoming familiar to our people through the Independence Day celebrations held there every year.

Fourth of July this year the programme will be more than usually attractive.

At 2 o'clock Bartow's New York Band will give a fine concert. At 3 o'clock Rev. William S. Voorhees, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, at Trenton, will deliver an oration. Mr. Voorhees is well-known as an able speaker. In the evening fire works will be displayed at the Middlebrook Country Club. All patriotic citizens are invited to attend without further notice.

To Install Regiment of U. V. U.

The members of the Union Veteran's Union are arranging for Gen. H. Stewart and staff, of Washington, D. C., to come to Plainfield soon to install the new regiment. A meeting to complete arrangements will be held Monday evening in G. A. R. Hall. Sons of Veterans are invited to attend, and all persons interested.

'YELLOW KID" IN COURT

HIS PRIVATEERING SCHEME FAILED AND HE WAS MADE PRISONER.

Vardon And His Gang Tried to Provide For Celebrating the Fourth—Patrolman Higgins Interfered.

The privateering expedition, captained by 'Yellow Kid" Vardon, surnamed John, was in all its glory last evening when Patrolman Higgins charged the array. Immediately Vardon and his minions fled. Vardon was in the rear and fell victim, with two of his lieutenants, to the pursuing policeman. Thus did the expedition to provide for a proper observance of Independence Day came to an untimely end.

The expedition was organized on the banks of Hyde's mill pond where Vardon and his gang, together with sundry other gangs, are wont to congregate these warm evenings. The boys were in swimming and, judging from the noise they made, the neighbors deemed that a lively echo of the troubles in China was at hand.

A heap of cement barrels lay in Hyde's meadow, the debris of recent building operations in that neighborhood. The boys found them and Vardon described what a wonderful bonfire they would make on the night of July 4th. He organized his forces and soon seven barrels were en route out Norwood avenue.

There was some discord in the ranks, however, and Vardon found vent in expressive language in his attempts to keep the expedition in order. A block away, Patrolman Higgins heard the strident tones of the young commander and forthwith proceeded to stalk the privateers. He finally descended upon the rear of the expedition. The barrels were left behind and the lads scattered to the four winds.

The hearty grasp of the officer fell upon the collar of the "Yellow Kid" who squirmed and struggled but without avail. Two other lads were recognized and followed the officer's command to halt. They were Edward Brittin and Clarence Angleman.

The three was haled before City Judge Runyon this morning. The officers told of the frequent complaints of the gang for their noisy conduct in the neighborhood of Norwood avenue and East Front street. The Judge appointed the three prisoners as missionaries to go out and preach the docrine of quietness and good order to their comrades. If there was any more disturbance, the Judge said that the three would be arraigned again and something serious would then surely happen.

DEATH OF ALBERT JAEGER.

Fatal Illness From Cancer of the Stomach—Was Born in Germany.

The death of Albert Jaegar, of Liberty street, occurred yesterday afternoon at his late residence after a long illness from cancer of the stomach. His death was rather unexpected as he was walking around the house Thursday. He was born in Germany thirty-one years ago and came to this country about twenty years ago. He came to Plainfield shortly after and has resided here ever since, living in the West End where he followed the trade of a barber. He is survived by a wife and four children. His father, two brothers and a sister are also living. The funeral services will be held Monday morning at 8:30 from the house and from St. Mary's church at 9. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

He was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, the members of which are invited to attend the funeral.

U. S. Marshal's Sale.

At last the large stock of general groceries in the store No. 205 Park avenue, formerly conducted by P. M. Demarest, is to be sold on Tuesday, July 3d, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. It will be a U. S. Marshal's sale in the matter of Phoebe V. Demarest and Albert W. Demarest, partners, etc., bankrupts, and will be held under the direction of Thomas J. Alcott, United States Marshal for the District of New Jersey. Marshall Van Winkle and Clarence Kelsey are attorneys for the petitioners. The goods to be sold consists of canned goods, coffee, teas, spices, flour, sugar, fruits, etc. Also two horses and two wagons, harness, etc.

Strong Man in Pond's.

Sandow, the strong man, has a dangerous rival in Plainfield, in the person of John King, of West Third street. At a recent contest held in the Pond Tool Works King lifted a mass of iron four inches off the floor, which weighed 720 pounds, easily winning over all competitors.

EQUIPPED FOR BUSINESS

GRADUATING EXERCISES OF THE PLAINFELD BUSINESS COLLEGE.

Address Made by George H. Bruce—Diplomas Presented—Names of the Graduates.

The excessive heat of last evening was no barrier to the friends of the twenty-two graduates of the Plainfield Business College, for they filled the assembly room of the school to overflowing for the purpose of witnessing the young people receive their diplomas as a reward for a year's hard work.

The graduates were seated upon the platform last evening together with Rev. John McMurray, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, George H. Bruce, of the law firm of Bruce & Runyon, and Prof. A. A. Phelps. An orchestra, composed of Mrs. Buckley and the Messrs. Groendyke and Korff, discoursed sweet music during the evening. After a selection from the orchestra the exercises were opened by prayer from Rev. Mr. McMurray, after which Miss Lillian Webster, of New York, gave an excellent recitation, entitled "Trouble in the Choir." She also read a selection from Eugene Field.

The address of the evening was made by Mr. Bruce and was short and to the point. Miss Elizabeth Cutter read an essay in a very creditable manner entitled "Our Girls in Business." The diplomas were presented by Professor Phelps and music by the orchestra completed the exercises.

Those who graduated last evening were: Commercial course—John S. Maguire, Antony L. Joerges, Edward V. Meyers, Leonard M. Decker, Aaron D. Thompson, Jr., Elizabeth E. Hoagland, Elizabeth Kepler and Estella E. Trust. The honor pupils in this division were John Maguire, Edward Meyers and Miss Kepler. Those in the shorthand course were May Hillpot, Frances C. Hunt, Grace E. Crosby, Alice Rosseau, Beulah Lightfoot, Margaret Wachter, Margaret Williams, Frederick A. Martin, Elizabeth E. Cutter, Rosetta A. Ackor, Annie L. Borrup, May E. Kelley, Ollie I. Cline and T. Edward Burroughs. The honor pupils were Miss Hoagland, Miss Wachter and Miss Kepler.

CROP CONDITIONS.

Harvesting of Wheat and Rye Begins Next Week.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, June 30.—According to the weekly report on weather and crops from the Central office State Experiment Station, the weather conditions that have prevailed since the 21st have have been favorable for the harvesting of clover and mixed grass; much has been cut and housed in excellent condition. Wheat and rye have ripened rapidly; the heads are well filled, and the yield promises to be a large one. The harvesting of these crops will begin next week. Corn, potatoes and garden truck are all in good condition. Oats are growing rapidly; some field in the southern portion are affected by rust.

MEEKER DIDN'T SIGN REPORT.

Union Assemblyman May Give His Ideas Regarding Girls' School.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 30—Assemblyman Ellis R. Meeker Thursday denied that he signed the report which was presented to Governor Voorhees on Tuesday by the girls' school investigating committee, of which he is a member.

It is said that he may prepare a minority report to be presented to the Governor, giving his ideas regarding the management of the institution and upholding the acts of Mrs. Eyler.

Fourteen New Members

Court Plainfield, No. 1144, I. O. F., at their meeting last night initiated fourteen members. Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger W. T. Bingham, of Elizabeth, conferred the rank in a masterly manner and afterwards gave a practical talk on the benefits of the order. Arrangements were also made to meet in the lodge rooms Monday morning at 8 o'clock to attend in a body the funeral of their deceased brother, Albert Jaegar. There was a large attendance of members and visiting brethren.

Vacation for Cops.

Officer Myers returned to duty yesterday after his annual vacation. Officers Saffron and Saunders are now enjoying theirs. The latter expects to leave for Maryland in a few days and has promised to send back some of the fine watermelons from that district.

Just Under the Weather.

Sheridan Jones, of the borough, who has been "under the weather" for several days, has been detained at the borough lockup where Dr. Buchanan has been treating him. He will be released today.

HEAVY SENTENCE FOR HORSE THIEF.

Judge Schenck Sends Jacob Renner to Prison for a Term of Five Years.

NOT HIS FIRST OFFENSE.

PLEA OF NON VULT FOR ITALIAN WHO ASSAULTED LITTLE GIRL.

It is Claimed That the Assailant is Mentally Unbalanced—John O'Brien, Accused of Receiving Stolen Goods, Escaped on Technicalty.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, N. J., June 30.—Jacob Benner, who broke into the stable of Lutz Bros. and stole horse, wagon, harness and about $300 worth of merchandise, was arraigned before Judge Schenck yesterday and pleaded guilty. His counsel, ex-Prosecutor Nelson Y. Dungan, made a plea for mercy, and the prisoner plead for an extension of time, that he might get bail and fix the matter up with Lentz Bros. Judge Schenck asked him if he had not been in prison before for horse stealing, and Renner said that he had. He was thereupon sentenced to five years in State Prison at hard labor.

Hon. A. A. Clark entered a plea of non vult for Frank Pasquale, who committed a criminal assault upon the 4½-year-old daughter of Louis Feldman, at Bound Brook. Mr. Clark stated that the boy had been mentally unbalanced for several years and he desired to present witnesses who would testify to that fact. Judge Schenck set down next Friday for a hearing of testimony.

John O'Brien was then arraigned for receiving stolen goods and plead not guilty. It seems that O'Brien was in jail for a petty offence when the three burglars who robbed Louis Feldman's shoe store, at Bound Brook, were incarcerated. They were sentenced to State prison, but before going they confided to O'Brien that they had hidden part of their plunder near South Plainfield. When O'Brien was released he hunted up the swag and found ten pairs of shoes. He was arrested for receiving stolen goods, but ex-Prosecutor Dungan made a motion for his discharge yesterday, on the ground that the Somerset courts had no jurisdiction, as the goods were picked in another county. Judge Schenck disharged the prisoner on those grounds.

UNDER THE WHEELS.

An Englishman Was in a Dangerous Predicament Trying to Board a Moving Train.

An Englishman, late of Burman, India, who has been visiting Plainfield friends, came very near departing from Plainfield this morning in small sections. He wanted to take the 8:13 train for New York. Arriving at the North Avenue station just as the train started he made a dash for it. In attempting to board the moving train he grasped the wrong railing and swung under the wheels. He let go his grip and pulled himself out in time to swing up on the platform. When he saw he had left his grip behind he promptly fell off, landing on his face in the stone roadbed. His hands and trousers were cut and dirtied. A large crowd watched the manœuvres.

CHILD DYING; MOTHER IN JAIL.

Mrs. Savage May Be Released to Attend Her Babe's Funeral.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 30th—Mrs. Dennis Savage, a prisoner in the Union County Jail, where she is serving a sentence of thirty days for disorderly conduct, was informed by her little daughter Thursday afternoon that her nine-months-old baby was dying. The girl came to the jail with tears streaming from her eyes, and told the warden she wanted to give the news to her mother. The prisoner was apparently not nearly as much affected by the information as was her little child. The warden cannot let Mrs. Savage out of the jail, but she will probably be permitted to go to the funeral.

Her husband was serving a term in jail for drunkenness when his wife was arrested, and Judge Hall wrote out an order for his discharge, so that some one could care for the couple's five small children. Savage is a good mechanic, but has been driven to drink by his wife's wayward conduct.

Storm Water Connection.

The storm water connections which are being made with the Park avenue storm sewer are nearly completed between Front street and North avenue. They are all being made at once to prevent the tearing up of the street after the permant pavement is laid.

Admiral Seymour Relates Attempt to Reach Peking.

REPEATED ATTACKS BY BOXERS.

Forced to Retire to Tien-tsin by Destruction of the Railway and Lack of Provisions—Chinese Reports Say the Legations Are Safe.

LONDON, June 30.—The adventures of the hard fighting allies under Admiral Seymour, their reaching Anting, 12 miles from Peking, the decision to retreat, the capture of rice and immense stores of modern arms and ammunition, affording material for a strenuous defense until relieved—all this is told in a dispatch from Admiral Seymour received by the admiralty at midnight, which runs as follows:

"Tien-tsin, June 27, via Chefu, June 29, 10:05 p. m.—Have returned to Tien-tsin with the forces, having been unable to reach Peking by rail. On June 13 two attacks on the advanced guard were made by the Boxers, who were repulsed, with considerable loss to them and none on our side. On June 14 the Boxers attacked the train at Lang-yang in large numbers and with great determination. We repulsed them with a loss of about 100 killed. Our loss was five Italians.

"The same afternoon the Boxers attacked the British guard left to protect Lofa station. Re-enforcements were sent back, and the enemy were driven off, with 100 killed. Two of our seamen were wounded.

"We pushed forward to Anting and engaged the enemy on June 13 and June 14, inflicting a loss of 175. There were no casualties on our side.

"Extensive destruction of the railway in our front having made further advance by rail impossible, I decided on June 16 to return to Yang-tsun, where it was proposed to organize an advance by the river to Peking. After my departure from Lang-yang two trains, left to follow on, were attacked on June 18 by Boxers and imperial troops from Peking, who lost from 400 to 500 killed. Our casualties were 6 killed and 48 wounded. These trains joined me at Yang-tsun the same evening.

"The railway at Yang-tsun was found entirely demolished, and the trains could not be moved. The force being short of provisions and hampered with wounded compelled us to withdraw on Tien-tsin, with which we had not been in communication for six days, and our supplies had been cut off.

"On June 19 the wounded, with necessaries, started by boat, the forces marching alongside the river. Opposition was experienced during the whole course of the river from nearly every village, the Boxers when defeated in one village retiring to the next and skillfully retarding our advance by occupying well selected positions, from which they had to be forced, often at the point of the bayonet and in face of a galling fire difficult to locate.

"On June 23 we made a night march, arriving at daybreak opposite the imperial armory above Tien-tsin, where, after friendly advances, a treacherous heavy fire was opened, while our men were exposed on the opposite river bank. The enemy were kept in check by rifle fire in front, while their position was turned by a party of marines and seamen under Major Johnson, who rushed and occupied one of the salient points, seizing the guns. The Germans, lower down, silenced two guns and then crossed the river and captured them. The armory was next occupied by the combined forces. Determined attempts to retake the armory were made on the following day, but unsuccessfully.

"Found immense stores of guns, arms and ammunition of the latest pattern. Several guns were mounted in our defense and shelled the Chinese forts lower down.

"Having found ammunition and rice, we could have held out for some days, but, being hampered with large numbers of wounded, I sent to Tien-tsin for a relieving force, which arrived on the morning of June 25. The armory was evacuated, and the forces arrived at Tien-tsin on June 26. We burned the armory.

"Casualties to date: British—Killed, 27; wounded, 75. American—Killed, 4; wounded, 25. French—Killed, 1; wounded, 10. German—Killed, 12; wounded, 62. Italian—Killed, 5; wounded, 3. Japanese—Killed, 2; wounded, 3. Austrian—Killed, 1; wounded, 1. Russian—Killed, 10; wounded, 27."

There is no absolutely authentic word as to the whereabouts of the members of the legations, although abundant reports from Chinese sources say that they were safe a few days ago. The Daily Mail's Shanghai correspondent, telegraphing yesterday, says:

"An imperial decree has been sent to all the viceroys advising them that the foreign ministers were safe in Peking on June 25 and affirming that the government would protect them. This is authentic and reliable. I received it through a high Chinese official having means of communication from the capital to Shanghai by courier to Pao-ting-fu and thence by telegraph.

"There is no doubt that the Chinese government fully recognizes what the safety of the ministers implies at the present time, and for this reason there is less uneasiness about them."

NO NEWS FROM PEKING.

Two Weeks Since Anything Has Been Heard From That City.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The president quit Washington for his Canton home last night full of confidence that the situation in China has improved, though it is fair to say that all the members of his official family do not agree with him in that conclusion. Indeed, the day's news, limited though it was to a single cablegram from Admiral Kempff and the preparation of instructions to General Chaffee, set out nothing calculated to strengthen the hopes of the friends of the foreign ministers and the missionaries who have now been silent for fully two weeks. Kempff's cablegram was a disappointment in his confession that he knew nothing of the whereabouts of the missing people, and there are many expressions of wonder that neither that officer nor any of the foreign naval commanders at Taku have been ingenious enough to establish some system of spying so as to learn within two weeks what has taken place at Peking.

Still it is said at the navy department that Admiral Kempff apparently has done as well as any of the other commanders in getting the news and that it would be manifestly unfair to pronounce criticism upon him until all the facts develop. If there has been any fault Admiral Remey, who should arrive at Taku within a week, according to the short message he sent yesterday from Hongkong, will make the fact manifest.

Secretary Root devoted the afternoon to the preparation of instructions to Brigadier General Chaffee, who has been assigned to the command of the troops ordered to China, and after a conference the president approved them, with only a few verbal changes which did not change their general character. Although Secretary Root would not make public the text of General Chaffee's instructions, he said that generally speaking General Chaffee had been ordered to look out for the interests of the United States in China, to avoid entangling alliances, to act concurrently with the other foreign powers where it was to the general interest to do so, and, in a word, to continue the policy that has marked the actions of the United States government since the beginning of the Boxer troubles in China.

Massacre Threatened.

HONGKONG, June 30.—A river boat which has arrived at Wu-chow reports that it was detained for 24 hours at Wu-chow-fu by order of the British consul in order to afford protection for foreigners until the gunboat Robin arrived. It was added that antiforeign placards had been posted at Wu-chow-fu saying the time had now arrived for the massacre of foreigners. The British gunboat Sandpiper, it was further announced, was still between Wu-chow-fu and Nghan-king-fu and could not be recalled owing to the wires being cut.

The Oregon Ashore.

SHANGHAI, June 30.—It is reported here that the United States battleship Oregon is ashore on the island of Hookie, in the Mino-tao group, 50 miles north of Chefu, and that a steamer of the Indo-China Steam Navigation company has gone to her assistance.

AGAINST REVISION.

Head of Princeton Theological Seminary For Westminster Confession.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 30.—Rev. Dr. Benjamin B. Warfield, head of Princeton Theological seminary, comes out strongly in a letter against any revision of the Westminster confession of faith whatever. He says there is but one faith that is founded on Christain faith—namely, the Bible. In a statement which he recently sent to the general assembly and which he gives for publication he says in part:

"I feel constrained to make a protest and reaffirm with the utmost emphasis that I am thoroughly out of sympathy with the whole movement of which the work of the committee is a part. I desire above all things to see the church pass quietly away the disturbing agitation concerning its fundamental beliefs which form the basis of its unity. It is an inexpressible grief to see it spending its energies in a vain attempt to lower its testimony to suit the everchanging sentiment of the world about it. I would fain see it, rather, secure in the peaceful possession of its full assured doctrinal system and, animated by an enthusiastic loyalty to it and to the standards in which it is expressed with such a singular charity and power, go forth in strength to win the world to the evangelical truth it has drawn from the Scriptures and professed through so many years of struggle and suffering, of progress and triumph."

Expecting Orders to China.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, June 30.—The officers of the Fifth infantry look upon the department order stopping work already contracted for at the Morro Castle barracks as an indication that the regiment is soon to be withdrawn. They are discussing the probable chance of going to China. Having served two years in Cuba, they think the Fifth infantry will be the first to leave the island. Carnival season has begun and will continue until Sunday. The city is gayly decorated with Cuban and American flags, and the streets are crowded with masqueraders.

Two Killed by Train.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Three section hands employed by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad were struck by an east bound express train near Hopewell, N. J. Two of the men were literally torn to pieces. The third was so badly injured that he is not expected to live. The men were repairing the west bound track and stepped out of the way of an outgoing train directly in front of the Washington express, which was running at 60 miles an hour. The names of the men could not be ascertained.

Jewel Thief Caught.

NEW YORK, June 30.—A member of the clever gang of thieves who robbed many Americans and foreigners in the large hotels of London and Paris of thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry recently was captured by Captain McClusky's detectives in this city yesterday. He was trying to dispose of some of the jewelry stolen from Mrs. Edwin Gould, daughter of Dr. Shrady, while she was stopping at the Carlton hotel, London. The jewels recovered were worth about $5,000.

To Change Goebel Law.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 30.—It is learned here on trustworthy authority that an extra session of the legislature will be called to meet at an early date in September to modify the Goebel election law. The information comes from Governor Beckham that he will call special elections to fill all vacancies by reason of death and resignation of members of the legislature immediately on his return from the Kansas City convention.

Fatal Railway Wreck.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 30.—A passenger train on the Gardner branch of the Fitchburg railroad ran into an excursion train at Barbers Station, one mile north of this city, at 6:20 last night. Two trainmen were killed and seven or eight passengers injured.

Bell Island Mines Closed.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 30.—The Bell island mines, the scene of the recent strike, have closed down. The companies have withdrawn their staffs and will open mines in Canada, preferring this course to a submission to the terms of the strikers.

Violent Storm In Spain.

MURCIA, Spain, June 30.—A storm of great violence has devastated Caravaca, about 40 miles north of Murcia The lightning killed several. A house fell at Yeola, killing one person.

Suicide at 92.

TRADE UNCERTAIN.

For Many Reasons Presidential Year Has an Influence.

NEW YORK, June 30.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The country begins to feel some of the effects of its new place among the nations. Influences affecting its business during the week ranged all the way from a boycott at St. Louis to a war in South Africa, and from sun spots to the relief of Peking. Droughts and sun spots have played their part before, but none can quite foresee all the results of defending American rights in China. Political influences also tend to color current opinion about most things in presidential years. All these and other influences work together to create a state of uncertainty until the controversy is over.

The long effort to hold nominal prices for iron at Pittsburg has ceased, and the associations now recognize an open market in which bessemer is offered at $19 and billets at $26, with gray forge at $17.

Neither official nor unofficial accounts have removed doubts about the wheat crop, and if it proves as low as one estimate, 460,000,000 bushels, the extent to which it may now be displaced in European consumption by corn will be seriously tested. Exports of wheat and corn were 429,000,000 bushels in 1898 and 400,000,000 in 1899 and have been about 190,000,000 bushels of wheat and 210,000,000 bushels of corn in the crop year of 1900, but never as large before, for in 1892, when 225,000,000 bushels of wheat went abroad, there were only 75,000,000 bushels of corn. After rising 4 cents wheat closed 1¾ cents lower for the week and corn only one-quarter cent higher.

The boot and shoe industry makes slow progress. Most local works have closed or are about to close, though western producers have a little better business than eastern. It is thought jobbers will soon begin orders for the fall. The shipments fall far behind last year's.

A COLLEGE IN MANILA.

Educational Institution Opened on the American Plan.

MANILA, June 30.—The nonsectarian college of primary and secondary education was opened in Manila yesterday in the presence of Judge Taft, president of the civil commission, and of his colleagues. Judge Taft spoke in fitting and effective terms of the significance of the event.

The institution is the first educational enterprise in the Philippines that is not under the control of the priests and that looks for support to the voluntary contributions of the people. Five hundred pupils have already been enrolled, and many children are leaving the schools of the priests to enter the college. The American educational department supplies textbooks on the easiest possible conditions.

General Grant reports the unconditional surrender of General Aquino at Angeles with 64 rifles. General Aquino promises that his officers and men will surrender later. The secret service officers captured General Estrella in Manila yesterday.

Governor Roosevelt's Trip.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Governor Roosevelt of New York will reach this city on the Lake Shore limited at 4:30 this afternoon on his way to Oklahoma City to attend the annual reunion of the Rough Riders. He will remain in Chicago over Sunday, probably as the guest of Mr. Paul Morton, second vice president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. He will leave for Oklahoma with Mr. Morton and several invited guests at 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The train is due in Kansas City at 8:30 Monday morning. A special will be made up there and leave at 9 o'clock for the scene of the reunion. The governor has stated that he is going to the reunion as the commander of the regiment and as a private citizen and not as the Republican candidate for vice president of the United States.

To Contest the Clark Will.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 30.—The will of Jonas G. Clark, the millionaire founder of Clark university, which was filed in the probate court in this city a short time ago, is to be contested by Adelphia E. Clark, daughter of Simpson Clark, now deceased, on the ground of mental incapacity and undue influence. She received a legacy of $200, while others equally of kin received many thousands. This contest may mean much to Clark university, which receives more than $1,000,000, as others of the legatees receiving small bequests may join in the contest.

Supreme Court Sworn In.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 30.—Chief Justice Quinones, his three colleagues and the marshal of the supreme court of Porto Rico took the oath of office yesterday in the presence of Governor Allen. Mr. Louis Sulzsbacher, associate justice of the court, was not present. The ceremony was impressive. Senor Hernandez, the oldest in point of service, administered the oath to the chief justice, who in turn administered it to the others. Addresses and a reception followed.

FIGHTING IN AFRICA.

British Find Boers In Force Near Lindley.

METHUEN'S SUCCESSFUL PURSUIT.

British Convoy Reported Captured. It Is Now Thought That It Will Take Several Months to Subdue the Boers.

LONDON, June 30.—Active Boer guerrilla operations are reported from half a dozen points in Orange River colony.

The war office has received the following from Lord Roberts, dated Pretoria, June 29:

"Paget reports from Lindley that he was engaged on June 26 with a body of the enemy who were strongly re-enforced during the day. A convoy of stores for the Lindley garrison was also attacked on June 26, but after a heavy rear guard action the convoy reached Lindley in safety. Our casualties were 10 killed and 4 officers and about 50 men wounded.

"The fight reported yesterday was under Lieutenant Colonel Grenfell, not Dreiper. Brabant came up during the engagement. Total casualties of the two columns, 3 killed and 23 wounded.

"On the previous day, near Ficksburg, Boyes' brigade was in action with a body of the enemy. Our casualties were two officers killed, four men wounded and one man missing.

"Methuen found yesterday that the Boer laager near Vachkop and Spitzkop had been hastily removed in the direction of Lindley. He followed the enemy 12 miles and captured 8,000 sheep and 500 head of cattle which the enemy had seized in that neighborhood. Our casualties were four men wounded.

"Hunter continued his march yesterday toward the Vaal river unopposed. A few farmers along the route have surrendered.

"Springs, the terminus of the railway from Johannesburg, due east, was attacked early yesterday morning. The Canadian regiment, which garrisons the place, beat off the enemy. No casualties are reported.

"Lieutenant North, reported missing after the attack on the construction train, is a prisoner of the Boers."

Boer official reports from Machadodorp aver that part of a British convoy was captured on June 23 near Winburg.

The Lourenco Marques correspondent of The Times says:

"Both the burghers and the foreigners who are arriving here profess a strong belief that it will take from three to six months to subdue the Boers."

Another dispatch from Lourenco Marques says:

"A consignment to a foreign firm marked 'Dutch Cheese—Damaged' proved on landing to contain army boots for the Boers. It passed the customs nevertheless with unusual dispatch, and the British consul is making representations to the Portuguese government."

Big Raid on Milk Dealers.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Evidence collected by the inspectors of the state department of agriculture against the manufacturers and sellers of preparations for preserving milk without ice and for coloring milk and cream has been turned over to Samuel S. Slater, special attorney for the department. Mr. Slater will begin actions in the supreme court next Monday. The department is determined to wage its crusade against impure or diluted milk with vigor. The greatest raid in the history of the New York division under charge of Assistant Commissioner J. F. H. Kracke was made yesterday morning on the milk wagons coming into the city over the Pavonia ferry. Twelve samples were obtained which showed the milk of as many wholesale dealers to be either watered or skimmed. These samples will be analyzed by the chemists of the department, and the dealers will be prosecuted promptly. Assistant Commissioner Kracke said that he was much surprised to learn that some of this watered milk examined and discovered was on its way to one of the best known hotels in the city.

Washington Star's New Home.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The Evening Star last night tendered a reception in its magnificent new marble home to the newspaper men of Washington. All the correspondents in town and the employees of the local papers inspected the new building and heartily congratulated Messrs. Crosby Noyes and S. H. Kauffmann, the owners, on the splendid structure erected and the perfection of the appointments for getting out a large newspaper. Today the general public is invited to inspect the building, and on Monday The Star will be published from its future home. The new building is a fine seven story marble structure, occupying a commanding site on the corner of Eleventh and Pennsylvania avenue. In appearance it is the handsomest business building in the city.

Delegates For Kansas City.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Kings county delegation to the Democratic national convention at Kansas City on July 4 will leave tomorrow morning over the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad for the west. There will be Pullman cars for the exclusive use of the delegation. The party will include James Shevlin, Commissioner of Jurors Edward J. Dooley, Bridge Commissioner Shea, Congressmen Fitzgerald and Wilson, State Senator P. M. McCarren and others. Former Assemblyman William R. McGuire has been substituted as a regular delegate for Deputy Water Commissioner James L. Moffett.

American Girl Christens Yacht.

BERLIN, June 30.—The magnificent new twin screw cruising yacht Prinzessin Victoria Luise of the Hamburg-American line was successfully launched at Kiel yesterday. At the special request of Emperor William the christening ceremony was performed by Countess von Waldersee, who was formerly Miss Lee of New York.

Seven Years in Bed

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. S. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility, but "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

CANDIDATES PLENTY

Many Aspirants For Second Honors at Kansas City.

NEW YORK OR INDIANA MAN FAVORED

Populist Nominee Towne Active—A Fight Likely Over 16 to 1—Probable Convention Officers—Small Capacity of the Hall.

KANSAS CITY, June 30.—The "running mate" problem is as conspicuous as it was at Philadelphia, and at this distance the guessing is fully as indiscriminate. There are plenty of candidates, men who want the honor, and one does not hear so much about declinations as there were among the Republicans. The aggressive men are Sulzer of New York and Towne of Minnesota, while the names in the background form a basis of speculation, there being such men as Benjamin F. Shively of Indiana and Judge A. B. Parker of New York, who are considered as available.

The belief is general that some kind of an indorsement from Colonel Bryan would be sufficient to name the candidate, but he will be a bold man who will dare to proclaim that any one particular candidate is the choice of the man already determined upon for president. There are not enough delegates here to even give an intimation of what is likely to occur. Dispatches received here from different sections indicate that the delegates who have been sounded on the question have not yet made up their minds or they do not care to express a preference for any candidate. There is an impression that good politics of the situation would mean the selection of a man from New York, and if a satisfactory candidate cannot be found there then the next best thing to do would be to go to Indiana.

Western Democrats would be glad to have an eastern man named who would add strength to the ticket in that section. From the Nebraska point of view, and, in fact, looking at the map from Kansas City, Indiana might be considered last. Both New York and Indiana are considered battlegrounds. Both were carried for McKinley in 1896, but the confidence of the Democrats in their ability to reverse the vote in Indiana and the strong hopes they entertain of carrying New York is one of the interesting features of the situation here. It is this condition that causes the Democrats to talk of a vice presidential candidate from one of those states.

The topic uppermost in the minds of the Democracy seems to be whether or not there shall be a specific declaration in the platform for silver coinage at 16 to 1 or whether a simple reaffirmation of the platform adopted at Chicago shall be sufficient. It is believed that much depends upon Mr. Bryan's wishes in the matter, but even he may not be able to influence the action of the convention if it is deemed a wise policy to adopt the same plan that has been followed in several western states and not specifically mention 16 to 1. The interview with ex-Governor Stone and Augustus Van Wyck in St. Louis and talks with different members of western delegations who have arrived best indicate that these men do not think it important to make a specific declaration, while others make it plain that if 16 to 1 is not mentioned it will be construed as an abandonment of the principle.

The ratio declaration and the three words "16 to 1" are likely to be the stumbling block in what might otherwise be a harmonious gathering. Advocates of 16 to 1 say that to omit the declaration would be "trimming," and the party cannot afford to do any "trimming" in view of the advanced stand taken four years ago after a bitter and intense struggle.

The selection of presiding officers of the convention has not yet been determined. The national committee will prepare the name of the temporary chairman, who will no doubt be indorsed by the convention. So far as possible the committee will also arrange for the permanent chairman, and available men for that place will be canvassed at the first meeting. Mayor D. A. Rose of Milwaukee and Charles S. Thomas of Colorado have been suggested for temporary chairman, and it is expected that one of them will be chosen. Representative James D. Richardson of Tennessee has been suggested for permanent chairman. Mr. Richardson acted as permanent chairman during a portion of the Chicago convention when Senator White's voice failed.

Although the capacity of the convention hall is placed at 11,000 and many cannot hope to attend the sessions of the convention, it does not seem to deter those who have made up their minds to come and see what they cannot see from the outside. The candidates are scheduled to arrive here on July 4, the opening day. The railroads centering here are prepared to run excursion trains from points in Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, and it is expected that the people who can reach the city by train will celebrate Independence day by coming to the convention. Besides this there will be a great outpouring from Bryan's state in order to exemplify the enthusiasm that exists there for him. Crowds are expected from other states also, who will remain during the convention.

Webster Davis, who was assistant secretary of the interior and resigned to take up the Boer cause, is a resident of Kansas City. He said that he was going to do all he could to get a plank in the platform expressing in the strongest terms sympathy with the Boers. He is quoted as saying:

"I did all I could in Philadelphia, but failed, and now I am determined to do what I can here in Kansas City. I am strongly in favor of the Boers, and I am determined to stick to them whether it suits anybody personally or politically."

Sulzer Sees Bryan.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 30.—The vice presidential boom of Congressman Sulzer of New York received local impetus with the arrival of that gentleman in Lincoln. Mr. Sulzer came on the morning train and remained until late last night. He said his mission was to talk with Mr. Bryan on matters pertaining to the success of the Democratic party and continued: "I have no higher ambition in politics than to see Mr. Bryan president, and I will gladly subordinate all my ambitions to bring that about. I am not seeking the vice presidential nomination. The platform adopted at Kansas City will reaffirm the one adopted at Chicago, with strong additional planks on the issues that have arisen since 1896. I am not in favor of the least modification of the money plank of the platform of four years ago."

Hill Carries a Cane For Luck.

ALBANY, June 30.—Former Senator David B. Hill left on the 4:20 train last night from this city for Kansas City and the Democratic national convention. He expects to reach his destination tomorrow morning. Colonel John S. McEwan and the senator's private secretary were his traveling companions. The party occupied a section of the drawing room car Formosa. A bystander at the station who noticed the senator carried a cane asked him what he was carrying it for. "Oh, my friend, I just carry it for luck, that is all," was the reply.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant is at Richfield Springs, N. Y., where she will pass the summer.

Forty million dollars' worth of manufactures were exported during May, breaking all records.

Farmers of the Quemahoning valley, Pa., armed to prevent the building of a dam by the Cambria Steel company.

Four cases of supposed leprosy have developed among Idaho volunteers who have returned from the Philippines.

Miss Margaret Carberry and her father threw a burglar from her room in Brooklyn through the window to the ground, 30 feet below.

Postoffice Robbers.

ROCHESTER, June 30.—Professional burglars entered the postoffice at Corfu, 12 miles from Batavia, and blew open the safe, seeuring between $200 and $300 in cash and stamps. A neighbor heard the report of the explosion at 3:30 and fired two shots through the postoffice windows at the safe crackers. Almost at the same moment three men jumped from a back window of the postoffice and ran away, escaping in the darkness. A drill and a kit of tools were found near the wrecked safe.

Fond of Being Arrested.

NEW HAVEN, June 30.—John McGuire, alias "Red Jack," was arrested by the police here yesterday charged with theft. This is the one hundred and fourteenth time that McGuire has been under arrest in this city, according to the police, and the crimes charged against him have ranged from petty larceny to burglary. He has served two terms in state prison and numerous terms in jail.

Enormous Output of Anthracite.

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—The indications are that the anthracite coal production of the state of Pennsylvania for the month of June will exceed that of any similar month for years. Conservative estimates place the June production at 4,250,000 tons, which is 250,000 tons in excess of June, 1899, and 500,000 tons in excess of the agreed upon tonnage for the month.

Ohio Trust Cases Undecided.

COLUMBUS, O., June 30.—The Ohio supreme court has adjourned until Sept. 25 without having decided the two important trust cases which are pending. One of them is the Standard Oil contempt case and the other a suit instituted by the attorney general to oust the Continental Tobacco company on the ground that it is a trust.

Judgment Against Armour.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Judgment was entered in the county court yesterday for $84,706 against Jonathan O. Armour, surviving partner of the firm of Armour & Co. of Chicago, in favor of John E. Cannon on an assigned claim of Beaumont & Nease of Sioux City, Ia., for nondelivery of pork loins.

Archbishop Ireland In Paris.

PARIS, June 30.—Archbishop Ireland, who will deliver the oration on July 4 at the unveiling of the Lafayette statue, has arrived in Paris. He was welcomed at the railway station by the secretary of the papal nuncio and other friends.

Fatal Fire In Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, June 30.—One fireman was killed and 11 others injured and nearly $300,000 worth of property was destroyed in a fire that broke out in the machine shop of the Best Manufacturing company on Twenty-fifth street.

Country Boys and City Men.

It is noted that since the last census showed that the tendency of the population was steadily towards the cities, there has been much discussion of the relative chances and merits of the country boy and the city boy. In nearly every instance the country boy has got the better of the opinions, with the result that migration from the farms has been greatly encouraged. Dr. Edward Everett Hale has recently generalized the situation as follows: "The empire of this country is in the large towns and small cities where the best men lead the people. The States or parts of States that dominate in American life are those that remain independent of the influences of the great cities."

Commenting on Dr. Hale's idea the Philadelphia North American says: "This is saying a great deal, and it would not do to accept it as a permanent fact, for the domination of States or sections in this country has shifted almost as regularly as the centre of population, although not necessarily in the same direction. The time must come when great cities will regain their influence in National politics and affairs. It is purely a matter of cleansing municipal politics and of getting into public life the able men which every big city contains. And the whole question will eventually hinge upon the worth of the man himself, the character of the population and the honesty of its local government, and not upon whether a man was born in city or country, or how small or how big the population is."

There is much uncertainty as to who will be selected as a running-mate for Col. Bryan, but there will be no lack of material of various degrees of merit and availability, as the following list of Vice-Presidentials shows: Ex-Congressman Charles A. Towne, of Minnesota; Governor and ex-United States Senator David B. Hill, of New York; ex-United States Senator Edward Murphy, Jr., of New York; Congressman William Sulzer, of New York; ex-Congressman George B. McClellan, of New York; Dr. John H. Gardner, of New York; William R. Hearst, of New York; Oliver Hazard, Perry Belmont, of New York; Elliot Danforth, of New York; ex-Supreme Court Justice Augustus VanWyck, of New York; Daniel J. Campau, of Michigan; Carter Harrison, of Chicago; John J. Lentz, of Ohio; ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison, of Pennsylvania; Benjamin F. Shriveley (they call him Shively) of Indiana; Admiral George Dewey, of the District of Columbia and James Hamilton Lewis, of the State of Washington. In addition the name of Chief Justice Alton B. Parker, of the Court of Appeals of the State of New York, has been mentioned.

Preliminary estimates by the Railroad Gazette show that the new trackage built in the United States during the first six months of this year is approximately 2,025 miles, against 1,181 for the corresponding period of 1899. Texas leads with 164 miles; then follow Iowa with 150 miles; Mississippi, 119; Georgia, 117; California, 104; Pennsylvania, 103, and South Carolina, 102 miles. Among the individual companies the Chicago and Northwestern leads with 156 miles, the Southern Pacific has built 97; the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, 96; the Seaboard Air Line, 95; the Gulf and Ship Island, 72; the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, 57, the Atchison, 54; and the Northern Pacific, 52 miles.

In the platform adopted by the Prohibitionist National convention at Chicago, only one question is treated—that of "the beverage liquor traffic." The convention completely ignores all other questions, which leads the Newark Advertiser to say: "For a party built upon a single idea the platform is, however, consistent. But a party that has no principles or policy in regard to the political questions of the day cannot be seriously considered as a National political organization. It is nothing more than an association like those for women's rights, municipal ownership, the referendum in legislation, etc."

Vineland's curfew ordinance has been repeated by the borough council. The vote was a tie, and Mayor Mason decided it. Members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union did not expect final action on the ordinance until next month, and arrange the anti-curfew councilmen for "ungallantry in resorting to such a mean trick." The ordinance was enacted a year and a half ago, and has proved a failure. Only three arrests were made under it and they caused such indignation that it was never again enforced.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The reporter of another newspaper went out some days ago to investigate a story and learn further particulars. It concerned the family affairs of a household. The wife received the reporter but refused to have anything to say. He begged and persuaded but in vain. She would have nothing to say. At last she tired of his importunities and declared that if he did not depart at once she would give him a shower bath of hot water. He left without delay when she started for the tea kettle.

Although comparatively few people have been aware of the fact there have been thousands of wild strawberries on the side of the mountain. Some have been picked, but the vast majority of them "have wasted their sweetness on the desert air." At the same time the wild roses have given a tint of pink to much of the woodland that borders the edge of the mountain. In the vicinity of the property of the Park Golf Club, the strawberries and wild roses have been particularly plentiful.

The seventeenth commencement number of the Targum, the weekly publication of the students of Rutgers College, New Brunswick, has been received. It concludes a very successful year for that publication. On the cover of this number is a handsome cut of the college buildings. It contains the full text of the baccalaureate sermon and the oration, poem, history and prophecy given on class day, beside full accounts of the other happenings of commencement week. One of the members of the retiring board of editors is Ernest H. Rapalje, of Fairview avenue, who looked after the athletic department of the Targum.

There is, perhaps, but a single place in this country where almost all the newspapers of the United States are read. To the Exchange Bureau of The Ladies' Home Journal practically every paper in this country comes—an aggregate of 9,000. It is the rule to read each one within a day after it is received, so a large staff of trained readers is kept employed constantly. By this plan it is possible for the editors to keep in close touch with the reading public, and accurately informed as to the topics that are uppermost in the public mind in every section of the country. In this reading such selections are made as may be of special immediate interest, as well as matter for future reference and notes that may serve as memoranda or suggest articles. Moreover, everything relating to the Journal is clipped and filed. Thousands of dollars a year are spent in this work alone, but Editor Bok regards it as a very profitable investment, as invaluable information is thus supplied that could be obtained in no other way.

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

Yours for health, C. F. MYERS.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 30—George McElvar, the ten-year-old son of James McElvar, of Washington avenue, who was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, Thursday night, to submit to an operation for appendicitis, is recovering rapidly, the operation being entirely successful. The operation was a remarkable one from the fact that in about five hours afters the trouble was pronounced appendicitis, at 7 o'clock, by Dr. Brakeley, the patient was removed to Plainfield, Doctor Hughes, the family physician, had been summoned from Brooklyn and the operation performed shortly after midnight. Dr. Brakeley, who arranged the details of the case and assisted in the operation, is to be congratulated upon its success.

A short but exciting runaway occurred on North avenue yesterday afternoon which made things rather lively for the time during which it began and ended. A team of horses driven by Paul Meyer became frightened by the neck yoke breaking and letting the pole down as they were passing the town hall. They started off at a swift pace with the pole dragging. M. B. Smalley made a brave attempt to catch them, but was dragged off his feet. He held on, however, until the driver forced the team into a tree opposite Lincoln avenue which stopped them. The only injuries sustained were those received by Smalley, whose knee was badly cut and his clothes torn.

A. F. Smith, who recently spent some time with his sister, Mrs. A. W. Warden, has arrived at the Thousand Islands. He reports having a splendid time and plenty of fishing. He says he will send a basketful of fine fish for distribution among his Dunellen friends.

Harry Kenyon is now able to cover his paper route much more quickly, with the aid of a new Eagle wheel which he purchased of N. R. Larkin.

A party of gentlemen from Newark arrived at Taylor's Hotel today where they will remain for a week. There is about twelve in the party.

Dr. and Mrs. Shotwell, of Denver, Col., former residents of the borough, were in town yesterday calling on old friends.

The Central workmen erected a new bell on the signal post in front of the station, yesterday.

Miss Florence Cooley, of Flemington, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Emily Apgar.

William H. Terry spent yesterday with relatives at Roselle and Westfield.

Charles Coriell shipped two car loads of fenders to South Amboy Thursday.

Miss Catherine Maier will spend the Fourth with relatives at Reaville.

Charles Hill has taken a position with J. G. Burdick, of Plainfield.

Mrs. Charles Hack visited friends in New York yesterday.

Miss May Apgar visited friends in Newark, Thursday.

Lewis Vroom has taken a position with Fred Stilger.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, June 30.—H. C. Gaskill's horse took a ra her impromptu tumble yesterday in front of the postoffice, but luckily escaped without injury.

Ziba P. Osmun has purchased a new road wagon from a Plainfield firm.

Charles T. Rogers and wife have returned home from Asbury Park.

M. W. Casterline enjoyed a pleasant trip to Somerville yesterday.

Miss Mabel Lefler has returned from a visit to Caldwell

Mrs. Hart, of Cranford, visited relatives in town yesterday.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 30—A number of the lovers of trap-shooting are arranging a clay bird shoot for the afternoon of the Fourth. The shoot Decoration Day developed some very good shots and there is a probability of there being a regularly organinized gun club in town in the near future. No prizes will be offered at the shoot as the affair is arranged for pleasure only.

Swimming seems to be the favorite pastime these warm days. Every afternoon the back pond is the gathering place of a large number from Plainfield and the village who are enjoying their cooling plunge.

John H. Coles, who was injured in the railroad wreck at Bayonne two months ago, is able to be around again but it will be some little time yet before he will be able to resume his position as firemen.

The subject of Rev. G. M. Shotts Sunday morning sermon will be "Growth of the Kingdom." In the evening "Lost in Storm."

The Junior Society of the Baptist church held one of their entertaining meetings in the parlors of the church yesterday afternoon.

The Library entertainment in Excelsior Hall this evening. Are you going and help support a town improvement?

Twilight Council held one of their interesting meetings in their rooms last night.

George Bullman, who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. D. F. Allen, has returned to his home in Brooklyn.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 30—A remonstrance is being circulated against the erection of the new school building on the present school site, but as it would call for another election to change the site, it is too late now, as the trustees will do well if they have the new schoolhouse ready for occupancy before October 1st.

Fred Manning has been transferred from here to Jersey City to another position on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, with a very nice raise in salary.

Mrs. Henry Teeple returned Thursday from a visit with relatives in Newark.

George Ryno gave Mr. Loizeaux's house the second coat of paint Thursday.

It Would Jar You.

In Hamburg the policemen on the streets are instructed to watch the cars sharply, and if they find one carrying a single passenger above the laws limit, the conductor is arrested and fined. Wouldn't a sight like that in this country jar you? You would think that there was something the matter with your eyes, and rush into Collier's for one of those expert optical tests, which are free to all, and never-failing in their estimate of the true condition of the sight.

New Officers.

The following officers have been elected by the Shepherds of Bethlehem: Commander, Robert Laramore; vice-commander, Mrs. Andrew Cox; scribe, Mrs. Leithauser; accountant, Mrs. Mattis; treasurer, Mrs. V. W. Nash; chaplain, Mrs. Ellis; conductor, Robert Goldsack; master of ceremonies, Miss Ada Nash; inside guard, Pierre Moore; captain, Mrs. W. J. Ford.

Twenty Cents to Boynton Beach.

The management of Boynton Beach has held a conference with the management of the trolley road which runs from this city to the Beach, and has secured a fare of twenty cents from any part of Dunellen or Plainfield. Some of the new cars just received by the trolley company will be used on that line.

Unity Lodge Officers.

Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., elected the following officers this week: Chancellor Commander, Joseph F. Sheppard; vice commander, T. C. Smith; prelate, R. H. Rushton; master of work, E. P. T. Smith; master at arms, Geo. Radford; inner guard, Amos Gray; outside guard, Frank Humpston.

His Sweetheart's Eyes.

"Your eyes are the brightest that ever were seen."
He said to the maid as the stars looked down.
"No jewel was ever more lustrous, I ween,
Though gem of all gems in the costliest crown:
They're bright as, they're bright as"—then pausing to pry
His wit some appropriate climax to see—
"They're bright as the glow of the coals I buy
Of Geo. O. Stevens & Co.," said he.

Cranford Wants a New Depot.

The Cranford commuters are still agitating the matter of a new depot. They claim that one was promised them several years ago when the Westfield depot was built and threaten to take the trolley to Aldene and go to the city over the Lehigh Valley, if their demands are not granted.

Scraper Working in West End.

The city street scraper has completed its work on New street and is now putting Lee place in order. The scraper will remain in that neighborhood until the macadamized streets there have been properly leveled and put in good condition.

To Preach Opening Sermon.

The opening sermon of the Virginia Theological Seminary at Lynchburgh, Va., will be delivered by Rev. E. E. Jackson, of this city, October 1st.

Miss Estella Brooks, of Duer street, has accepted a position as stenographer in the office of Silas D. Drake.

OPEN AIR DANCING.

Pleasant Affair for the Friends of the Misses McInerny.

The spacious lawn of the Misses McInerny, of South Second street, was thronged with over 100 guests last evening on the occasion of an invitation dance given by the young ladies. A platform for dancing had been placed on the lawn and the surrounding trees were strung with Chinese lanterns, making a very pretty scene.

Prof. O'Reilly's orchestra furnished music for the dancers in the usual excellent manner. The shower interrupted the festivities for a short time, but the young people adjourned to the T. A. B. hall, where the merry-making was continued. They afterward returned to the lawn where refreshments were served, after which the guests left for home thanking the hostesses for the evening's pleasure.

Booming at New Village.

Twenty carloads of steel frames have been received at the Edison Cement Works, at New Village, for the erection of the many buildings needed. At present 500 hands are employed, and when the works are in running order, which will not be until about a year, the number of employes will be increased three-fold.

Don't Marry for Money

Some of the cheaper grades of butter sold elsewhere are often tasteless. Our lowest priced goods are of excellent flavor.

NEUMAN BROS.,
WATCHUNG AVENUE.

Accidentally Shot.

A. M. Vanderbeek, one of A. M. Griffen's clerks, had a narrow escape from a serious shooting accident about noon today.

A customer was examing revolvers and selecting one that suited, he purchased it, and it was loaded with cartridges.

Returning a little later he was complaining to Mr. Vanderbeek about the working of the revolver, and all the cartridges were supposed to have been removed before Mr. Vanderbeek examined it.

Such proved not to be the case, one cartridge being in one of the chambers, and as it was being taken apart it was discharged and the bullet lodged in Mr. Vanderbeek's left hand.

Dr. Clawson removed the bullet and Mr. Vanderbeek expects no serious results.

PERFUMES IN AGAIN.

Society Dames Have Returned to the Use of Fragrant Extracts After a Season of Sachets.

Perfumes are again used by the smart set after having been long tabooed. For several years extracts of any kind have been considered vulgar by those who set the fashions.

Sachet powders and scented amulets were scattered in profusion in trunks and wardrobes, and to the apparel of fashionable women clung a faint, sweet, indefinable odor. It did not resolve itself into the perfume of any flower. Often a gown was hung in a case prepared for that purpose and costly oils burned under it until it was saturated with a sort of incense.

That was an expensive fad, however, and only within the reach of a favored few. Mrs. Howard Gould had a gown perfumed in this manner.

Now a particular flower is selected and the real extract used by women of the most fastidious taste. Violet is not so great a favorite as lily-of-the-valley.

The sweet, spicy fragrance of the carnation is also in high favor. One of the newest of these perfumes is a rose extract that breathes the sweetness of a handful of shattered rose petals. But some people with sensitive nerves find this perfume nauseating. Newmown hay, once so popular, is seldom used. Of course nothing that in any way suggests musk is permissible.

These perfumes are never poured on the handkerchief. They are sprayed on the entire costume with the most delicate of atomizers. They must be used sparingly. One society leader in New York has her clothes receptacles lined with quilted sachets of orris root and lavender. She always suggests the faint, clean odor of the linen chest of the grandmother of long ago. She has never used any other perfume.—N. Y. World.

Remarkable Fossil Fish.

Some curious spiral fossils recently discovered in rocks of the Permian period in Russia appear to represent a kind of sawlike appendage, armed with enameled teeth, and capable of being rolled in the manner of a sprial spring, which once belonged to a species of fish related to the rays and dogfish of to-day. A French geologist, M. Priem, suggests that the fish carried this singular weapon as an extension of its upper jaw. Except in its capability of being rolled up, such an appendage seems to be no more wonderful than that of the sawfish or swordfish.—Youth's Companion.

Very Considerate.

Dorothy was taking her first ride in the country, when suddenly the carriage wheels began to squeak. After a few moments she exclaimed, in apparent distress: "I—I think I'd better get out, the wagon's groaning so!"—Youth's Companion.

Extending Gas Mains.

The Plainfield Gas Company has commenced extending its mains on West Sixth street, below Grant avenue.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

☞ Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

TO HIGH BY SIX INCHES.

Grade Will Have to be Lowered to Allow Double Truck Cars to Pass Under Watchung Avenue Bridge.

The new double truck open cars of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company are to high to pass under the Watchung avenue bridge. By going through Fourth street and under the Grant avenue bridge, it was possible to take a trial trip over the Plainfield lines. Before the cars can go into regular use the trolley company will try to have the grade at the Watchung avenue bridge lowered six inches. Application will be made to the Common Council Monday night to allow the change in the grade to be made. Until the change is made, none of the cars of the Brunswick Traction Company or the North Jersey Traction Company can pass through although it is possible to go around by the way of West Fourth street and Grant avenue.

ECHO OF FACE SLAPPING.

Mary Carr Has Annie Fisher Haled Before Justice Mosher—Complaint Dismissed.

As an outcome of the fight on West Third street Thursday night, Mary Carr appeared before Justice Mosher yesterday and made a complaint of assault and battery against Annie Fisher. The trouble arose over the Carr woman being seen in the company of Mrs. Fisher's husband.

The injured wife declared that if she caught Mary with her husband she would slap her face The opportunity came Thursday night and Mrs. Fisher grasped it. It was not a one-sided affair, however, for Mary did a little face slapping herself. Nevertheless the complaint was made and Mrs. Fisher was haled to court. William G. DeMeza represented the defendant and Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., the complainant. After hearing both sides of the case the Justice decided both were to blame and dismissed the complaint.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Westfalen.

Schwelm. Der Botenfuhrmann Friedrich Wilke und der Schneidermeister Becker unternahmen mit ihren Frauen und Kindern eine Vergnügungsfahrt. Dabei wurde das Pferd scheu und ging durch. Der Wagen schlug um, und sämmtliche Insassen fielen heraus. Wilke, der das Fuhrwerk geleitet hatte, war sofort todt, Frau Becker erlitt einen Schädelbruch, zwei Kinder der Eheleute Becker sowie ein Kind des Wilke wurden lebensgefährlich verletzt. Becker trug eine erhebliche Kopfwunde davon und wird auf einem Auge die Sehkraft einbüßen. Frau Wilke kam mit leichteren Verletzungen davon.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Der Stadtrath hat beschlossen, auf die Jahre 1901 bis 1903 folgende städtische Unterstützungen zu gewähren: Dem Vereine für die evangelisch-lutherische Diakonissenanstalt, wie seither, 5000 Mark jährlich, dem Bezirksvereine Johannstadt für seine Volksküche 800 Mark jährlich, statt der bisherigen 600 Mark, dem hiesigen Frauenverein für seine Zufluchtsstätte zur Fürsorge für die weibliche Jugend 300 Mark jährlich.—Anhier wohnten mehrere Mitglieder der königlichen Familie, darunter Generalfeldmarschall Prinz Georg von Sachsen, ein Bruder des Königs Albert, der Vorstellung in Barnum u. Baileys Cirkus bei.

Grimma. Wegen Unterschlagungen in Höhe von 3000 Mark wurde der 23jährige Rathsexpedient und stellvertretende Standesbeamte Thierschmann in Haft genommen.

Krimmitschau. Der hiesige, sehr segensreich wirkende Verein für Kleinkinderschulen hatte im letzten Jahre eine Einnahme von 8214 Mark und eine Ausgabe von 8121 Mark; für Beköstigung der in zwei Anstalten untergebrachten kleinen Pfleglinge wurden über 4400 Mark ausgegeben. Die für die Weihnachtsbescheerung der 130 Kinder erforderlichen circa 700 Mark wurden durch freiwillige Liebesgaben aufgebracht.

Leipzig. Die unlängst verstorbene Frau Emma Auguste verwittwete Metzler vermachte der Stadtgemeinde ein Kapital von 20,000 Mark mit der Bestimmung, daß die Zinsen des Kapitals für arme Waisen der Stadt Leipzig verwendet werden.—Hierorts hat eine große Verlagsbuchhandlung die Subskription für einen lokalen Gutenberg-Fonds mit einem Beitrag von 100,000 Mark eröffnet.

Pausa. Zum Zwecke der Aufforstung sind in letzter Zeit vom Staate in hiesiger Gegend verschiedene Grundstücke angekauft worden, das 225 Scheffel umfassende Scharf'sche Gut in Oberlinda, 98 Scheffel auf Thierbacher Flur und zwei Grundstücke der Stadt Pausa, der sogenannte „Friedensacker" und die „Kuppel."

Thüringische Staaten.

Gera. Vor Kurzem tagte hier die Versammlung des Deutschen Bundes der Vereine für naturgemäße Gesundheitspflege und arzneilose Heilkunde. Dem Bunde gehören zur Zeit 788 Vereine mit 97,500 Mitgliedern an. Das Vereinsvermögen beläuft sich auf 24,035 Mark. Die Versammlung nahm eine Erklärung gegen das dem Bundesrath zugegangene Reichsseuchengesetz an. Als Vorort der nächsten Versammlung wurde Magdeburg bestimmt.

Koburg. Letzthin ist Medizinalrath Dr. Friedrich Berger, Direktor des Landkrankenhauses in Koburg, ein allgemein beliebter und geschickter Arzt, gestorben. Der Dahingeschiedene war ein Schwiegersohn des im Jahre 1866 in Neuses bei Koburg verstorbenen Dichters Friedrich Rückert.

Weimar. Das weimarische Kultusministerium hat genehmigt, daß Volksschullehrer, die in der Entlassungs- und Anstellungsprüfung die erste Censur erhalten, zwecks Studiums bei der Jenaer Universität immatrikulirt werden, so daß ihnen die Möglichkeit offen steht, akademische Examina abzulegen.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Die Totalanzahl der Auswanderer, die während des Monats Mai 1900 Hamburg und Bremen passirten, betrug 33,094, gegen 20,683 im Mai v. J. Hiervon entfielen auf Bremen 14,027 Auswanderer, gegen 12,042 im Monnemonat 1899. Die Gesammtzahl der Auswanderer in den ersten fünf Monaten des laufenden Jahres war 97,818, gegen 65,871 in derselben Periode des Vorjahres. Davon kamen auf Bremen 47,861, gegen 35,677 im Vorjahr. Die Zahl der ausgewanderten Deutschen belief sich im Mai d. J. auf 2389. Im Mai 1899 wanderten 2153 Deutsche über Hamburg und Bremen aus.—Das Projekt einer Schwebebahn für Hamburg, das die Kontinentale Gesellschaft für elektrische Unternehmungen zu Nürnberg dem Senat eingereicht hat, wird gegenwärtig von der Baudeputation einer eingehenden Prüfung unterzogen. Nach dem Entwurfe hat man in Aussicht genommen, analog der in Elberfeld-Barmen über den Lauf der Wupper gezogenen respektive diesem folgenden Schwebebahn, die Fleete als Fahrstraße zu benutzen.

in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. The "John Worthy School" and Politics in CHICAGO

Inside the high stone walls that serve as a barrier between the convicted criminals of Chicago and society the city has erected a new building. It is a large, low building, the entrance of which is barred by a heavy steel door, at which stands a uniformed guard. The lock on the door turns with a massive key, and the great door swings open to permit the passage of only those who are armed with the necessary permission to go and come.

A Chicago School House Door.

Inside this building there are bare floors of stone, bare walls of steel and stone, and passage between the different rooms must be through other heavily barred steel doors, opened by uniformed guards with great keys.

A large room, that extends entirely along one side of the building is filled with smaller rooms. These smaller rooms rise tier upon tier from the floor to the roof. Their partitions are of steel, and are fastened with the same great locks that guard the outer entrance. They are furnished with a small iron cot and a miniature table in each, and are made to accommodate one person.

In other rooms there are long work benches covered with tools of all kinds, there are raised platforms for guards from which their vigilant eyes can search every corner of the rooms. In still other rooms there are rough wooden desks, and at each desk a wooden bench. To look from this building upon the outside world one must gaze through steel-barred windows that are but little more than ventilators.

But this prison house is a place of educational training; it is the "John Worthy school" of Chicago.

Inside the "John Worthy" School.

Inside this building, that serves as prisonhouse and school combined, are hundreds of boys from 12 to 18 years of age. Among them are truants who would not attend the city schools when opportunity was offered; others are petty thieves and criminals of other classes, and still others are but the juvenile vagrants of a great city, but all have passed through the mill of the city's juvenile courts, and have been sentenced to imprisonment in this peculiar educational institution.

Pupil in a Chicago School.

In appearance, the institution is a prison quite as much as the larger one beside it, but in the matter of discipline it seems far from it. By the person who visits this school prison the first question that is asked after the system is investigated: "Is this a place of punishment, or a picnic?"

Study is compulsory for the length of the regular school hours each day, and during that time the boys may pick up a certain amount of valuable information, but once the school hours are over, anything in the nature of punishment ends, excepting, of course, the confinement, which is seemingly not minded.

The cells in the cellroom are closed and locked, the beds that are in them are unused, and instead the long corridors are filled with the neatest, and most inviting of sleeping places. Here in these corridors the boys sleep. Each has a bed of his own; a bed that is probably better than any he has ever known outside the prison walls. They talk and sing and make merry at the expense of the guards, whose orders seemingly leave them powerless to make the time of imprisonment other than a long picnic for the small offenders.

A Prison Without Discipline.

At meal time the long tables in the great dining-room are filled with much better food than the majority of the boys have known at home. There are good meats and vegetables and bread and butter, and the more fortunate are provided with sweetmeats by sympathizing friends and relatives from the outside.

Discipline Is an Unknown Quantity.

Outside of school hours and on holidays the youngsters are turned loose in large playrooms for a good time, and they certainly have it.

I paid the scnool a visit not long ago on one Saturday afternoon and pandemonium seemed to reign supreme throughout the institution. The guard who was conducting me through the place proposed to turn me loose inside the great playroom, where from 200 to 300 boys were scrambling and howling and fighting to their hearts' content, though the fighting was of a harmless nature.

"You had better button your coat pretty tight, and keep your hands in your pockets," said the guard, as we stood before the great steel-barred door through which I was to enter. "Those kids in there are not the pick of the town, and they will steal you blind if you give them the opportunity."

I acted upon the advice given me, and before I was ten feet from the door was glad that I had done so. Almost instantly I was the center of a pyramid of boys pulling at my clothing, making frantic efforts to get into my pockets, and begging for tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, money, and everything and anything that a boy who has been raised on the streets has learned to prize. When I called for the guard to rescue me he had to almost fight his way through that struggling mass of juvenile humanity to get to me and back to the door again.

There Are Many "Repeaters."

"Is that what they call punishment for the truants and juvenile offenders?" I asked when once outside the steel-barred door again.

Outside in the Winter Time.

"That's what they call it, though I guess the kids don't mind it much," replied the guard.

I asked why the imprisonment was not made a punishment if it was intended to teach a needed lesson.

"The reason is that most of them have fathers or brothers or other relatives who are voters, and these relatives won't stand for it," said the guard. "Sometimes I feel like I would like to get inside and pound some sense into their heads, but orders don't permit it. At first they had prison discipline in every way, but the kids complained to their friends, and the friends, who usually have a pull, complained to the officials, and the orders were changed. Now if any of us were to attempt to enforce the discipline that is needed we would lose our jobs in a hurry."

"Do you often have the same boys twice?" I asked.

"Yes, most of the kids in there now have been here before. They are not sent up for any definite time, but stay until their friends work the necessary pull, and then they get out for a time, but they don't stay out long, and there ain't many of them that want to, especially in the winter time. Here they have a good place to sleep, plenty to eat, and are always assured of a good time, so it don't take them long to get back again."

Properly conducted the "John Worthy School," of Chicago, should be a good thing, but to me its efficiency seems lost because of the lack of discipline and punishment.

The Price of a Vote.

It doesn't take much to buy some men's votes. Throughout the First ward of Chicago hundreds of them can be purchased for a drink of whisky each, or at most a silver dollar or a week's board in a cheap lodging house.

It Purchased Many Votes.

In the residence portions of the city such things as this is severely condemned, and the man who would sell his vote is pronounced unfit for American citizenship, and yet I know of cases where even less things have turned the votes of men classing themselves among the reputable citizens of the great town. They probably did not think of it as selling a vote to the opposition, but that is what it amounted to.

The recent republican primaries in Chicago were the hardest political contest of the kind that the city has seen for a long time, and every effort was made by both candidates for the republican nomination for governor to poll every vote for himself that was possible. Hundreds of conveyances of all kinds were engaged for the day to bring the voters to the polling places, and among these conveyances were many automobiles. It was the automobiles that changed the votes.

In one primary district on the South side I know of six reputable citizens who had intended to vote at the primaries, and who if let alone would have voted directly opposite to the way in which they did vote, but when they got off of the suburban train that had carried them from the down-town section to their primary districts they were met by "workers" for both candidates with conveyances to take them to the polling places. These men looked at the different conveyances offered, and accepted a ride in an automobile in exchange for a vote for the opposition candidate. The same thing was true to some extent in practically every primary district in the residence portion of the city. To-day the automobile is a factor in Chicago politics.

THE BAPTIST UNION.

Will Meet in Annual Session at Cincinnati, July 12-15.

Powerful Religious Organization of the Young People of the Denomination—History of the Society.

[Special Cincinnati (O.) Letter.]

CINCINNATI, 1900! will be the rallying cry this year of Baptist youth, from Prince Edward island to the yellow waters of the Rio Grande, from San Francisco to New York. The tenth international convention of the Baptist Young People's union of America is to be held in Music

JOHN HENRY CHAPMAN.
(President Baptist Young People's Union of America.)

hall, Cincinnati, July 12-15, 1900. The beautiful city of which Longfellow wrote:

"And this song of the vine,
This greeting of mine,
The winds and the birds shall deliver
To the queen of the west,
In her garlands dressed,
On the banks of the beautiful river," will open wide her gates to the noble army of young people recruited from every state in the union, as well as the British provinces. This great gathering in the century-old Queen City will challenge attention of the religious public everywhere. It will divide interest with the Christian Endeavor convention to be held in London, England, at about the same time.

The idea upon which the B. Y. P. U. is based is that of federation; that of cooperation of the churches having local young people's organizations with each other in fraternal unions for the purpose of common enlightenment, enlistment and encouragement in the work. It is based on a union not of uniformity of name or method, but the fact of their being young people of Baptist churches; a union which would secure the support of all Baptist young people's societies, many of whom stood out against an interdenominational organization.

The powers of the international union are simply advisory.

The attitude of the B. Y. P. U. A. toward other young people's organizations, such as Christian Endeavor and Epworth League, is one of cordial good feeling and cooperation.

"Nothing in the history of modern Christianity," writes Prof. Vedder, in a historical sketch of what is known as "the young people's movement," "is more clearly providential in origin and guidance than this movement." The Baptist Young People's union of America is an integral part of this general movement, and has made to it a distinctive contribution, the value of which is steadily gaining recognition. The distinctive features of the B. Y. P. U. A., as embodied in its constitution, and wrought out in its working plans — "Federation," "Education," "Denomination"—give new direction to the movement and make its forces contributory, not only to the development of the religious life of the individual, but also to the enlargement of the life and activities of our denomination. The principle of "Federation," of affiliation, is in harmony with the genius of Baptist policy. "Education" in the knowledge of Divine truth and in the history of missions is needed to sustain and wisely to direct the impulses of enthusiasm. A proper emphasis upon the word "denomination," and upon the distinctive features which make separate existence a necessity, is required to counteract disintegrating tendencies which are at work, and to inspire an intelligent and self-respecting denominational loyalty.

Among the mooted questions now eliciting lively discussion in the B. Y. P. U. A. is that of biennial sessions. Beginning at Chicago in 1891, some great city of the land has each year witnessed the outpouring of young Baptists. But, owing to the vast extent of country covered by the order and the expense of attending annual meetings, there is steadily growing a sentiment that biennial sessions are desirable—some even advocating triennial gatherings. This question will most likely be settled at the Cincinnati 1900 convention. Denver is clamorous for the convention in 1901, and this may be a factor in the final decision.

One question which seems to give trouble to some religious bodies does not vex the B. Y. P. U. A. From the beginning women have been admitted as delegates. In the eyes of Baptist Young America there is nothing revolutionary or destructive in giving women a share in the guidance of the work. There is a universal and hearty recognition of the moral power and immense effectiveness resident in Christian womanhood.

John Henry Chapman, now seeing his tenth term as president of the B. Y. P. U. A., will undoubtedly be reelected. His service has been so unselfish and his ability so marked that no one else is even mentioned as a candidate. Mr. Chapman was born in England, but came to this country when a boy and underwent great difficulties in reaching his present high place in Chicago commercial circles. He never does anything in a half-hearted way, and is in the front rank of religious workers as well as in business. Mr. Chapman is happily married and has a charming family of bright children, three boys and a girl.

For field secretary there will be no opposition to Rev. Dr E. E. Chivers. He is a forcible writer, an eloquent platform speaker, and has organizing ability of the highest order. No man among American Baptists has warmer friends or commands more universal confidence.

Music hall in Cincinnati, where the convention is to meet, is celebrated among the world's great auditoriums. It has been the scene of memorable political, as well as commercial and religious, gatherings. Great orators, singers and statesmen have appeared upon its platform. The great organ in Music hall is known far and wide on both sides of the Atlantic. The ordinary attractions of the hall will be greatly enhanced when the decorators have done their work.

At the beginning of the Baptist Young People's movement the southern states were not represented. This was in 1891. But gradually the young people of the south and their leaders awoke to the advantages of utilizing the forces of youth and hope, and now every southern state is represented and great progress has been made.

The movement has gained a force which promises to be far-reaching and cumulative. The new conditions which have arisen in our national life are contributing to this unification. One of the partial compensations for the strife of war upon which our nation has entered in freedom's name is the quickening of the consciousness of a common life. Differences have been forgotten; dividing lines have been obliterated; in enlistment in a great common cause there has been a fusing of the nation's life. To-day in the face of a common foe there is no north, no south, no east, no west, but one nation loyal and indivisible, all hearts pulsating with the passion of a noble patriotism. In like manner, in the defense of a common faith and for the maintenance and diffusion of cherished principles the young Baptists of this land are being brought together in fraternal union.

GEORGE E. STEVENS.

All He Had to Know.

Epictetus taught that people when they talk should be careful that they know just what they say, and that they should not say things that they do not know or which are aside from the subject. Epictetus evidently had a disciple in a colored man who kept the hats at the door to a restaurant, of whom an amusing story was told by Prof. Eliot, of Harvard university, at a dinner of the Cornell club in Boston lately, says Youth's Companion.

"A friend of mine, a college professor," Dr. Eliot said, "went to a crowded restaurant in New York city for luncheon one day. The colored man in charge of the corridor took my friend's hat and gave no check for it in return. An hour later, when the professor came out of the dining-room the colored man glanced at him, turned to the shelves and handed him his hat. The man's ability to remember so faithfully to whom each article of clothing belonged struck the professor as being something wonderful, and he asked:

"'How did you know this was my hat?'

"'I didn't know it, sah,' answered the colored man.

"'Then why did you give it to me?'

"'Because you gave it to me, sah!'"

Elephant Attacks a Train.

Railroading in the Straits Settlements must be lively. Not long ago a freight train was lumbering along, when a big elephant came out of the woods and undertook to butt the engine off the track. The engineer was afraid to charge the brute, for fear of an upset, and several times reversed the engine in the hope that the elephant would take that as a sign of surrender, and retire, but it wouldn't. Finally the elephant backed into the engine, and, settling its forefeet firmly between the rails, endeavored to push the train backward with its hind quarters. The engineer promptly put on all steam, toppled the elephant over a small embankment, and before it could recover its senses the train passed on.

THE "QUEEN'S PIPE."

Queer Old Oven Where Confiscated Tobacco Was Burned.

Fields Twenty Thousand Dollars Per Year to the British Government—Details About a Furnace with a History.

If it were a favorite pastime with the American newspaper reader to plod through the weighty reports of the various branches of the British government he might one day be astonished and pained by alighting on this off-hand entry: "Queen's pipe, $20,000."

Probably his first sensation would be twofold, a mingling of regret at learning that her majesty was the victim of the tobacco habit, and of surprise that no attempt is made at hushing up the sad matter, instead of blazoning it forth as if it were a source of national pride.

But his surprise over these two points would be a small thing beside that which he would feel upon realizing the extent of the sum apparently exhausted in gratifying the queen's unfortunate appetite—$20,000 a year. If he looked again, to make sure, his bewilderment would only be increased by the discovery that this large sum was set down, not as an expense, but as a revenue.

As a matter of fact, says the Cincinnati Commercial, it is a revenue, and that item of $20,000 doesn't mean that the queen of England is either so luxurious or so energetic a smoker as the mention of this sum in connection with her "pipe" would seem to indicate.

Her majesty's admirers may be of good cheer—her "pipe" has been out for 40 years, although it can be seen yet by the curious. Few people do see it, however, and, beyond those who work around it, few even know where it is.

The queen's pipe is a mysterious old square furnace down in the underground recesses of the customs building in Billingsgate, on the Thames.

(Oven in Which Smuggled Tobacco Used to Be Burned.)

Until about 1858 it used to be charged and lighted once a year. All the tobacco that unscrupulous folk attempted to bring into the kingdom without the formality of paying duty thereon and which was pounced upon by her majesty's alert customs officials was dumped into that furnace and a burnt offering made of it. The customs people of to-day say "all" with perfect gravity, and they shook their heads severely when I frivolously hinted that some brands occasionally might have been saved from the burning for the private delectation of their predecessors in office.

There used to be some absurd old formality that had to be gone through with when the tobacco was burned—just what, nobody now can tell—but the whole business was done away with long ago, and the captured "smoking mixtures"—which last year amounted to 6,115 pounds—are put to better use. Lunatics and bugs get the benefit of them. The first are in the government asylums for the criminal insane, the latter have their local habitations among the plants in the Royal Botanical and the Kew gardens. Neither the lunatics nor the bugs get cigars—these are sold at public auction in Mincing lane—but the best of the captured smoking tobacco is served out to the inmates of the three great British institutions mentioned.

The greater part of all this tobacco, practically the whole of it, in fact, comes from Holland and Germany, and is brought by the lowest class of common sailors, who try to "run" the tobacco, either for their own enjoyment on land as a gift to their friends, or to sell to small dealers, and it is almost invariably of the poorest quality. The sailor's methods of hiding the tobacco are frequently original and crafty, but the customs "rummagers," as they are called, have proved themselves even more astute, bringing the carefully secreted stores to light with so much ease that the army of petty smugglers is gradually becoming discouraged. Of course, every one of the detected men is "brought up" and fined, and, while ten years ago the yearly bag of seafaring men with unrighteous proclivities used to be nearly 4,500, it has now shrunk to 2,200. Although $20,000 worth of tobacco is captured for "the queen's pipe," the government doesn't make much, if anything, out of the transaction, for it has to keep a perfect army of officials, boatmen, etc., to attend to the job of detection, 3,600 of them in all. Every ship that comes into England, no matter from what port she hails, or who is aboard of her, is searched for smuggled tobacco and spirits, and the majority of the culprits are run to earth at Hull, Southampton, Folkestone, Gravesend and the other ports of merchantmen from the continent. Ships from America rarely offend in this direction.

SPORTING.

GOLF

As there is no regular event scheduled for the morning of Independence Day on the links of the Park Golf Club, the green committee has decided to arrange a ball sweepstakes for that time. It will be open to club members.

Besides today, there will be only two days more of play for the Hooley cup on the links of the Park Golf Club until fall. Last season nearly all of the competitors for the ladies' cup were away during the summer and thereby lost their chances of making any kind of a showing for the cup. To prevent a repetition of such a state of affairs this year the green committee has decided to stop the competition for the Hooley cup after Saturday, July 14, and not resume play for that trophy until September. The contest for the President's cup, however, will go forward every week as there are enough competitors right through the summer to make that competition a lively one.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Dr. H. S. Cox, of Washington, and R. S. Mulhall, of Morristown, have posted $500 a side for a race between their pacing geldings, Benito and Sunnyside. The race will take place at the Hackettstown Driving Park on the afternoon of July 4. Several other races will also take place between Hackettstown, Washington and Belvidere horses.

Reception in Honor of Rev. Mr. Murphy.

Last evening a very pleasant reception was given by Miss Julia Philpitt of 457 West Front street, in honor of Rev. T. L. Murphy, who returned this week from an extended trip abroad. The affair was held on the lawn, which was prettily decorated and illuminated with Japanese and Chinese lanterns, as well as choice flowers and greens. A goodly number of people gathered to welcome Mr. Murphy, enjoy a social time and hear something of his trip. During the evening refreshments were served, after which the happy event came to a close.

—The scholars of the Friends Sunday-school are picnicing today at Glenside Park.

—Do not miss the Fourth of July races at the Plainfield Driving Park. Well worth seeing. 6 30 7 3

CAME BY SHANKS HORSES.

Trolley Officials Compelled to Walk From Picton to Westfield Last Evening.

Engineer H. C. VanEmburgh and Superintendent John Adelmann made a discovery last evening. They also had an opportunity to carefully inspect the lines of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company between Picton and Westfield. They were in Woodbridge yesterday in company with Col. Hine, watching the unloading of two of the new double truck open cars there. These cars will be used between Picton and Rahway and Boynton Beach.

Superintendent Adelmann had made arrangements so that a car was to meet them last evening at Picton when they were ready to return to Plainfield. It was late when they reached Picton, but there was no car there. No means of transportation remained except to walk. So they walked to Westfield and reached home at 1:30 o'clock.

DIED AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Miss Sarah Elizabeth Martin Passed Away Yesterday.

After an illness lasting about three years, half of which time was spent in the house, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Martin, daughter of the late Dr. Martin, and sister of Collector James Martin, died yesterday at her home on Westervelt avenue. Miss Martin's illness was caused by a complication of diseases, and though she suffered intense pain at times, she was uncomplaining and bore her suffering patiently.

Miss Martin was the oldest of the children of the late Dr. Martin, who lived for many years at the corner of Park avenue and Second street. She was born in this vicinity and has always lived here. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church, where she attended as long as she was able. She is survived by a sister, Miss Catherine Martin, and two brothers, James Martin, city tax collector, and Augustus H. Martin, the West Second street grocer.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the house, 64 Westervelt avenue, at 3 o'clock.

Election of Chiefs.

The semi-annual election of the chiefs of Miantonomo tribe of the Improved Order of Red Men was held at the meeting of the tribe last evening. It resulted as follows: Prophet, Howard Woolston; sachem, Foster M. Johnson; senior sagamore, Andrew Nolan; junior sagamore, Frank Van Pelt. Five propositions were received and the warrior's degree was conferred on six candidates.

To Stop Dripping Water.

Employes of the Jersey Central Railroad are now engaged in putting new canopies under the railroad bridges in this city, and to remove the annoyance of having water drip from overhead when it rains, corrugated iron roofs are being put on top of the canopies. This will effectually put a stop to this nuisance.

Bridge Accident Stops Trains.

A break occurred yesterday morning in the machinery that runs the Raritan drawbridge at Long Branch. As a result trains on the New York and Long Branch Railroad were delayed about two hours.

Jersey Fifth Life-Saving District.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, June 29 —On and after July 1 next, New Jersey will be located in the fifth life-saving district instead of the fourth, as at present. This does not mean, however, that New Jersey is to be moved from one district to another, or that the boundaries of the present district are to be changed. It simply means that the number of the present district is to be changed from the fourth to the fifth. The change applies not alone to the one district, but to all the present districts above the third, which are each advanced one number, the change being made necessary because of the division of the third district into two districts, to be known as the third and fourth, the third being the new district, with a new district superintendent.

Expects a Fortune from Gravel.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Long Branch, June 30—The Wharton Barker property at Elberon, which now contains about 72 acres of woodland, has been purchased by John R. Jeffrey, a resident of this place. The purchase price is said to have been $65,000. Aside from the property being very valuable on account of the location, which is just a quarter of a mile from the ocean front, Mr. Jeffrey recently discovered upon the propery many acres of gravel which has been pronounced by experts as the very best that could be obtained anywhere. He expects to reap a fortune from the gravel, and will also put the property on the market. He will give it the name of Elberon Park.
